Historical, Monumental, and Genealogical Collections Relative to the County of Gloucester, Ralph Bigland
(1791–1899). Edited by Brian Frith.

Ralph Bigland was distantly related to the Bigland family of Bigland Hall, near Cartmel, Lancashire. He was a herald of the College of Arms, becoming Garter King of Arms in 1780. His interest in Gloucestershire was awakened in 1737, when he married Ann Wilkins of Frocester, and he embarked on research for the Collections in 1750, aiming to produce a new county history in the mould of Sir Robert Atkyns's work. On his death in 1784 at the age of seventy-three none of the Collections had appeared in print, and the task of seeing his work through the press fell to his son Richard, the Rev. James Dallaway, Sir Thomas Phillipps, and T. Fitzroy Fenwick. The volumes covering parishes from Abenhall to Newent appeared in 1791 and 1792, but the parishes from Newington Bagpath to Yate followed only gradually between 1836 and 1899.

The Gloucestershire Collections is a work of considerable value for local historians. The author's interest in genealogy and history is strongly represented. Bigland and his assistants copied the arms and inscriptions on monuments throughout the county, a massive undertaking in ill-lit church interiors and in churchyards where tombs were frequently masked by moss and lichen. Many have since been lost or obliterated. The historical material for each parish includes manorial descents, the names of incumbents, tables of marriages, births, and burials, and comments on markets and other features of the local economy. For some parishes there are brief essays on geology and botany. The work is enriched by engravings by Thomas Bonnor, Thomas Ravenhill, and other artists including the author.

This new edition will make this rare work accessible. For some parishes only fifty copies of the original edition were printed, and complete copies are extremely scarce. Several plates intended for the last parishes were not published in the nineteenth century and will be reproduced for the first time. The new edition will be in four parts, each of over 400 pages, with the bulk of the editorial apparatus in the fourth part. The commentary will provide information about the author and his method of work, and will evaluate the Collections. Personal-name and place-name indexes will be provided for a work whose original indexes followed no scheme and were incomplete

FOREWORD

The present volume, being the third part of Ralph Bigland's Historical, Monumental and Genealogical Collections, Relative to the County of Gloucester, covers the parishes from Naunton to Twynning (or Twining as it appears in the older form) and includes a number of important towns such as Newland, Painswick, Stroud and Tewkesbury. Also included is Sutton under Brailes, now in Warwickshire but formerly in Gloucestershire.

Whilst many comments made in the two previous Forewords still apply to this volume, it will be seen that there is a tendency for the spelling of the parish names to be less at variance with those accepted to-day, with one or two minor exceptions. It will also be seen that after the parish of Newent, the typefaces tend to appear more modern, and whereas many of the earlier parishes had historical notes prefacing the lists of monumental inscriptions, these later notes (some of considerable length) were often added after the inscriptions. The influence of the editor, Sir Thomas Phillippis, and his collaborators can be seen in these notes, as well as occasional examples of Phillippis' Middle Hill printing, especially in connection with some of the pedigrees he inserted. The supplementary notes consist mainly of descents of estates, the church, and population and taxation. In some instances reference is made to those who contributed information on the later parishes; at North Leach, for instance, work of the much-criticised Abel Wantner has been used.

It would seem that those who copied the memorial inscriptions may have inadvertently omitted some. At Swindon, near Cheltenham, it has been shown that four slabs covering vaults under pews near the west end of the south aisle were not recorded by Bigland or his successors. This covering over of inscriptions is likely to have occurred in other churches, so that they may be out of sight even to the present day. At Tewkesbury some of the inscriptions are given only in the briefest of forms, whilst mere references to surnames on other stones are recorded. It would appear that the checking of the names was hampered by the church being then in the process of restoration, which suggests a date for this being done as about the year 1874. There are lengthy notes on the subject at the end of the monograph on Tewkesbury.

A number of plates had been prepared for use in this work before the death of Ralph Bigland's son Richard, which the latter had intended to use for illustrating the later parts which he did not complete. Some of these plates were used by Fosbrooke for his History of Gloucester in 1819, and the remainder were never used. These plates are included in the final two volumes. To enable the reader to appreciate them the better, some plates originally designed to share a page have been printed separately which has also allowed them all to be located within the text for the parish to which they relate. Some originally lacked captions which have now been added. Needless to say, these plates are not so well known as those which appeared earlier, and some of them are of considerable interest. For example, the plate of Stonehouse Church is enlivened by the presence, in the foreground, of a gondola-like barge, bedecked with flags, including one with the words 'Stroud Water Navigation 1781' as well as three men blowing horns, whilst four men row the barge.

Not all the plates and illustrations are the work of Bonnor or Ravenhill, and some illustrations appear of varying quality, as, for instance, that for Sevenhampton, which is an example of a graphotype, and thus not earlier than about 1866.

Some copies of this work contain inserted notes of a minor character, but the main monographs are identical although that for Stanton will be seen to have some subtle variations, as it was printed in two forms. Some surprising notes appear, such as at Shipton Moyne, where we are told that 'A Pipe Water Service with Taps is laid on in the Streets' whilst at Tainton it seems that in the year 1700 a gold-mine was discovered there.

The later parishes covered by this volume are numbered both in Latin and Arabic numerals, and from Pitchcomb onwards these are rarely consistent, and should be ignored. The re-pagination has been continued, some of the pages in later parishes having originally been un-numbered. The reader is again reminded that some errors and blemishes in the first printing could not be removed. The final volume will contain the important indexes to the whole work.

WARTON.

CLXXIX. N A U N T O N,

DENOMINATED in Domesday Book Niwetone, or Newtown, is a Parish of the middle Size, situated on the Cotefwold Hills, and divided between the Hundreds of Lower Slaughter and Bradley. The Turnpike Road from Stow to GLOUCESTER leads through it, from whence it is distant nineteen Miles on the East, and seven from Winchcombe on the South-east.

This Parish appears to be remarkably healthy, and includes about 3300 Acres, of a light Soil, chiefly applied to Tillage. About 1800 Acres were lately inclosed, and a proportionate Part was then allotted to the Rector in Lieu of Tithes, making together, with the Glebe Land, about 500 Acres. Exclusive of the above, the Rector has the Tithes of about 600 Acres of the old Inclosure.

The Living is in the Deanery of Stow.

The Church is a handsome Structure, dedicated to St. Andrew, consisting of a Nave, attached to which is an Aisle on the North Side, appropriated to the Sepulture of the Family of AYLEWORTH, who resided during many Centuries in this Parish, and for whom is a raised Tomb, without Date or Inscription. The Font is a curious Piece of Sculpture, of an octangular Form, resembling that in Southrop Church.

The Tower is handsomely finished with Battlements and Pinnacles, and the Church retains some Fragments of painted Glafs, with which it was once profusely decorated, but Time and Injuries have left but few perfect Specimens. In the South Window is a Figure of a Saint, with this Inscription on a Scroll round his Head: "Inde venturus ut iudicaret vivos et mortuos;" at his Feet the Effigies of a Man and Woman in a praying Posture, and under is the following imperfect Legend, "Orate p' bono statu bayle"

In the same Window is another Figure of a Saint, with this Inscription: "Credo in spiritũ sanctũ sanctam ecclesiã catholicã;" and at his Feet a Man and Woman praying; underneath, "Orate p' bono AYLEWORTH et ELSABETH;" and on an adjoining Pane of Glafs are a Group of Figures kneeling, "Eius et omniũ fidelũ defunctor". In the South Window of the Chancel is the Figure of our SAVIOUR, round whose Head is inscribed, "Ascendit ad cœlos fedit ad dexteram patris omnipotentis;" and near it St. JOHN the Baptist, with this mutilated Inscription, ". est de spiritu sancto in eremam." In the North Window are the Portraits of St. CATHERINE and St. STEPHEN, in good Preservation; and on an Atchievement in the Chancel are the following Arms: Argent, two Bars between nine Martlets, three and three, Sable;—with an Impalement.

There were antiently three Manors in Niweton, reckoning Ayleworth as one.

Domesday Book recites the first to have been taxed at five Hides; the Property of ROGER DE OLG1. Another was taxed at nine Hides, and held by CVENILD the Monk.

By the Escheator's Return in 1281, 9 EDW. I. it appears that the Priors of St. Oswald in Gloucester, and Lesser Malvern, held the Manor of Niwetone at that Time. After the Dissolution of the Monasteries it had several successive Proprietors; and in the Beginning of the last Century, GILES VENFIELD and JOHN COLLETT were joint Possessors of it, since which Period it has had many Claimants, but no Court has been held for it of late Years*.

This Parish comprises two

H A M L E T S.

1. Ayleworth, a distinct Manor, which gave Name to a Family who were the early Possessors of it; and it is specified in Domesday Book to have been held by WILLIAM GOIZENBODED, and taxed at one Hide, in the Reign of WILLIAM the CONQUEROR. PETRONELLA DE LA MERE died seized of it, 47 HEN. III. and in the Reign of EDWARD I. a quo warranto was brought against GILBERT DE CLARE, Earl of Gloucester, which allowed him a Court Leet, and other Privileges in this Manor and Hartford.

* This was one of the sixty-one Manors of ROBERT DE OILET, who built the Castle of Oxford in the CONQUEROR's Time. The

The Priory of St. Oswald's in Gloucester held it till its Dissolution, when it was granted to RICHARD ANDREWS and NICHOLAS TEMPLE, in Trust, 35 HEN. VIII. A Farm in Ayleworth was held by the Priory of Lantony, and was granted to VINCENT and RICHARD CALMUDEE, 6 ELIZ. Other Lands in Ayleworth, and a Grove belonged to the Chantry of St. Mary in Westbury, and were granted to ANTHONY COPE, 10 JAC. RICHARD AYLEWORTH had Livery of the Manor, 9 ELIZ. From this Family it passed by Purchase to — HERRING, Esq. at the Beginning of the present Century, and from him to the Family of BLAGG of the County of Nottingham, who are the present Proprietors.

The other Hamlet, called Harford, is also recorded in Domesday Book, and recited to have been held by GISLEBERT, the Son of TUROLD, and was taxed at one Hide, two Plough Villages in demesne, four Villeins, and one Bordar, with two Plough Tillages, two servi, and a Mill of 5s. WILLIAM DE CLINTON, Earl of Huntingdon, died seized of Harford, 28 EDW. III. and RICHARD, the Son of JOHN BROWNING, 2 HEN. IV. The Priory of Lantony had Lands in Harford and Ayleworth, 13 HEN. IV. WILLIAM MOORE, Esq. died seized of Harford, in Right of his Wife, about the Year 1771.

The College of Corpus Christi in Oxford held a considerable Estate in this Parish, called Lower Harford, now in Lease to Mrs. TRACEY, Relict of THOMAS TRACEY, Esq. and Heiress of Sir WILLIAM DODWELL.

The principal Estates are vested in the Families of BLAGG, SNELL, DAW, CHARLES, TRACEY, RUCK and CHANDLER.

NEWENT

TOMB IN NEWENT CHURCH.

CLXXX. NEWENT, OR NOENT.

THIS Parish is of so considerable an Extent, as to include a Circumference of nearly Twenty Five Miles. It is situated upon the Borders of Herefordshire, in the Hundred of Botloe, distant Thirteen Miles Westward from Tewkesbury, and about Eight North Westward from Gloucester.

The Soil varies from Sand and Gravel to Clay, is chiefly applied to Arable, although with a considerable Exception of Pasture, and is of extraordinary Fertility, covered with extensive Woodlands. The principal Fossil Production is Coal, Strata of which have been discovered, and Mines sunk some Years since at Boulston, a Tithing in this Parish, by the late Mr. NOURSE; but, as the Success did not answer the Labour and Expence of the Pursuit, they were soon afterwards discontinued. The Estate is since sold to Mr. HARTLAND, fresh Coal Pits have been discovered, and, as a Canal from Gloucester to Hereford is now cutting within about a Mile of the Works, the most sanguine Hopes are entertained of their proving highly advantageous. On an Estate called The Lower House Farm, belonging to Messrs. PHILLIPS and WOOD, which are now Working with a good Prospect.

A Brook, called the Ell, runs through the North Part of the Parish into the Leden.

Newent appears to have been formerly a Place of considerable Importance. It is said by LELAND and other Writers, to have received its Name from a New Inn, built in ancient Times for the Accommodation of Travellers passing between England and Wales, and which, becoming a Place of great Resort, gradually collected Dwellings around it. Whether this Derivation of its Name be accurate or not, it is certain that the Town was once large and populous, and consisted of no less than Nine Streets or Lanes.

The Benefice, which is discharged in the King's Books, is a Vicarage endowed, an Ancestor of the present Lord FOLEY having veiled it with all the great Tithes, except those of Yartleton Woods.

Of the Church, which is dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and in the Forest Deanery, the Reparations in the last Century have left no Traces of its original Architecture. Previous to that Period, the Windows were ornamented with painted Glais, the last Fragments of which were totally demolished by the entire Decay of the East Window of the Chancel. The present Structure is spacious and handsome, and was opened for Divine Service in the Year 1679. The Roof of the Nave is supported by Screws without Pillars, like that of the Theatre in Oxford; and over the Porch is a lofty Steeple containing Six Bells.

Two Chuntries were founded in this Church, one dedicated to St. James and St. Anne, whereof PHILIP WYATT occurs as the last Incumbent, with a Pension of £.4. The other was dedicated to St. Mary, of which WILLIAM BROOK was the last Incumbent. The Prior of the Hospital of St. Bartholomew, in Gloucester, presented to the former of these Chuntries in 1538. Lands in Newent, belonging to these Chuntries, were granted to RALPH DOBBINS 3 JAC. and a Tenement called Porch House, and Culford, belonging to St. Mary's Chantry, were granted to ROBERT EARL of LEICESTER, and JOHN MORLEY, 24 ELIZ. The Founders of these Chuntries are not known.

Adjoining the Church is the Court House built upon the Scite of the ancient Priory, which, at the Instance of ROGER EARL of MONTGOMERY, became a Cell to the Abbey of Cormeille *, in Normandy, in the Reign of WILLIAM the CONQUEROR, and was then endowed with the Manor and Benefice. KING HENRY IV. and EDWARD Duke of YORK granted these Possessions to the newly-founded Collegiate Church of Fotheringhay, in Northamptonshire †; but, after the general Dissolution of Religious Foundations, the Manor and a Wood called Yartledon, were bestowed on Sir RICHARD LEE, 1 EDWARD VI. It was afterwards sold to Sir NICHOLAS ARNOLD, who transferred it by Purchase to Sir WILLIAM WINTOUR. His descendant, Sir JOHN WINTOUR, resold the Manor to an Ancestor of the present Proprietor, the Honourable ANDREW FOLEY, youngest Son of the late THOMAS Lord FOLEY, created a Baron by Patent in 1776, whose Arms are, Argent, a Fess within a Bordure engrailed between Three Cinquefoils Sable.

Newent is reputed to have been a Borough Town, and governed by a Bailiff. The Tradition is confirmed by very ancient and authentic Records. In the Register are various Entries of Persons so styled,

* The said EARL of MONTGOMERY, or the said Abbey, most probably founded the Cell. See STEVENS, Sup. vol. I. p. 273. and TANNER's Not. Mon. Glouc. N° 26.

† Ibid. Northamp. N° 16, LELAND's, Collec. p. 43. This Charter is recited by Sir ROBERT ATKINS, p. 292, edit. 1712.

and a House now dilapidated still retains the Name of the Booth-Hall *. WILLIAM WHITE occurs as the last Bailiff. It is also mentioned by CORBET †, in his History of the Government of the City of Gloucester, as the Seat of many Military Transactions during the Civil Wars.

Two several Grants for Fairs and Markets, with other Privileges in Newent, were purchased by the Abbey of Cormelle so early as the 10th and 37th of HENRY III. which were allowed in a Writ of Quo Warranto 15 EDWARD I. and the Grant was renewed in the Reign of HENRY VIII. JAMES I. confirmed these Privileges, and with a new Charter for two additional Fairs: there are now Four held Annually, viz. on the Wednesday preceding Easter and Whit Sunday, on the 1st of August, and on the Friday next after the 8th of September.

TITHINGS and HAMLETS.

1. Compton Tithing comprises Carfwall, the Water's End formerly called Atherlord's Place, Hays, and Stardens. In Compton Tithing is Waldens Court, once vested in the Family of the BRAYS of Barrington, now the Property of Mrs. JONES and EDWARD BEARCROFT, Esq. in Right of his late Wife, Daughter and Coheirs, with her Sister Mrs. JONES, of the late Mr. ROGERS, of Okle, in this Parish. Carfwall is specified in Domesday-Book as a distinct Manor, and in the Reign of King EDWARD the CONFESSOR was taxed at one Hide and one Yard Land, with one Plow Tillage in Demean. It anciently belonged to the PAUNCEFOOTS, the remote Proprietors of the Manor of Hasfield and Benefactors to this Parish, and is at present the Property of Sir GEORGE BROMLEY SMITH, of the County of Nottingham, Bart. The Water's End, variously called Atherlord's Place, and the Scarr of which Mr. SERGEANT, of Mitchel Dean, is Proprietor; Hays originally the Estate of the WALLS, now of Sir HENRY TEMPEST, Bart. in Right of his Wife, the Daughter of — LAMBERT, Esq. who obtained it by Marriage with the sole Daughter and Heiress of — PRITCHARD, Esq. of Hopend, near Ledbury. Stardens, the Property of A. FOLEY, Esq. who has other considerable Possessions in this Parish.

2. Maulfwick, which comprehends Okle Clifford, Okle Pritchard, and Okle Grandison; of which Manor the Family of ROGERS were Possessors in the Beginning of the present Century, whose Representatives EDWARD BEARCROFT, Esq. and Mrs. JONES, Daughter and Coheirs of Mr. ROGERS, are the present Proprietors. It is traditionally said that there was once a Chapel in this Hamlet, but no Vestige thereof remains.

3. Cugley, in which Tithing is a considerable Estate descended from the WOODWARDS to EDWARD CHINN, Esq.

4. Bouldefdon, which gave Name to a Family, who were the early and long Possessors of this Manor, as appears by the ancient Records. THOMAS PORTER, Esq. had Livery of it 1 ELIZ. and in the Beginning of the present Century it was vested in the Family of NOURSE, from whom it passed by Purchase to Mr. J. NOURSE MORSE, the Hon. ANDREW FOLEY, Mess. PAUL, MATTHEWS, HARTLAND, and others. have considerable Estates, in this Tything.

5. Kilcot, late the Property of Mr. NOURSE, now belongs to Mr. MORSE, who holds a Court Leet. A Chapel dedicated to St. Hillary near Gorsly Common within this Tithing, has been for ages totally demolished.

May Hill, which commands an extensive View of the Country for many Miles round, and which is so called on Account of the Festive Games held there on May Day, is partly in this Parish, and was anciently called Tartledon Hill. The Manufacture of Glafs is said to have been established in this Parish, and as Part of Tartledon Hill is still distinguished by the Name of the Glafs House, and as there are in the Register many Entries of Persons christened and buried from the Glafs House, there is no doubt of the Fact.

Estates in the Parish of Newent, exclusive of those already mentioned, belong to the Families of BEALE, PAUL, WOOD, MATTHEWS, and the Honourable Mr. GROSVENOR.

The present Register, which is a Transcript only, has its first Date in 1557. In the first Two Years the Names of the Sponsors, as well as those who were baptized, are inserted with great Precision, and

* In an old Dwelling-house at Crooks are these Arms painted on Glafs: 1st and 4th Quarterly, France and England, Quarterly; 2d, Scotland; 3d, Ireland. On other Squares of Glafs are Heads, one crowned, under which is inscribed, "JAMES Duke of York." 3. HENRY Duke of GLOUCESTER, over which is written, "Omnium Rerum Vicissitudo."

† "Every Corner of the Country is pestered with the Enemies Garrisons, as Newnham, Lidney, Monmouth, Hereford, Worcester, Dimmock, Newent, Higgleaden, Tainton, Tewkesbury, Sudely, Saperion, Beverston, and Berkeley." CORBET'S Military Government of Gloucester, p. 64.

"The Enemy advanced with their whole Body of Horse and Foot, but, before they came within a Mile and a Half of the City, it was open Day, when having lost the Time by the slowness of their March, they durst not come on, but instantly retreated to Newent; from thence Captain BACKHOUSE was informed by Letters of the Reason of their Failings, which induced us to believe that the Enemy did not know that their Design was destroyed." Ibid. p. 80.

"Wherefore they joined with a Party of our Foot, and made an Attempt upon Newent, Colonel MIN'S Garrison, but were called off in the midst of the Service by a special Order from the L. General," Ibid. p. 85 and 86.

also the following curious Memorial of Longevity, "A. D. 1602, Feb. 24, ANNE WILSON, Widow, Mother of JOHN WILSON, buried, aged 115.

One HORNE was burnt in the Yard, belonging to the Priory, during the persecuting Reign of Queen MARY.

NEWINGTON BAGPATH;

OF which the following very minute and authentic Account is given in the Collections of JOHN SMYTH, Esq.

"Bagpath called also Newton, also Newenton Bagpath, because Newton also Newenton is within the Parish of Bagpath.

"Of this Manor of Bagpath, AMBROSE WEBB, Doctor of Divinity, is Lord, and also Patron of the Church; and Mr. FIELDING, his Son-in-law, Incumbent, whose Presentation is said to have been his Marriage Portion with Doctor WEBB's Daughter.

"Church—Though scarce any Church (worthy the name of a Church) can be less or worse built, yet within the Parish thereof is Newenton Bagpath, Coldcote, and Owlpen; and though the Manor-house, or capital Messuage of Lasseborrow (the seat of Sir THOMAS ESCOURT, late deceased,) be in the compass of this Parish, & also of this Hundred of Berkeley, yet within both Parish and Hundred is the Garden Ground adjoining, and a great part of the Parish, also enclosing both House and Garden.

"Newenton—Newton also, Newenton, is a poor Hamlet of 3 or 4 Dwelling Houses, seated nearer that Church, well nigh by half a Mile than that of Bagpath, often in old Records written (as justly may) Cold-newenton, from which Quality and Constitution of Air in Cold-cote, its Neighbour, now called Cold-cote, a Farm heretofore Parcell of the Possessions of the Abbey of Kingswood, and now of the Lords of Lasseborrow adjoining.

"This Newenton was part of the old Land of the Ancient Family of the Berkleys of Dursley long before the Conquest, as was his Hide of Land in Dursley, where his Dwelling-house and a place of Abode was, so no part of the Manor of Berkley, nor of Berkley-herness, at any time, no more than the Manor of Slembridge, another Part of their old Possessions; for which see the Certificate of Roger Berkley to King Henry the Second, after in Vol. I. 77. In Newton Bagpath, is a Place, obvious in many evidences, called Nutgarshall also Lurgeshall.

"Newenton—In 15 E. I, Henry Berkley of Dursley, is by Inq. found to die seized [inter alia] of the Manor of Newenton, holden of the King in capite; and by a book of the Knights Fees in the Exchequer, somewhat more ancient than the aforesaid Inquisition, remaining with the Remembrancer to the Lord Treasurer, Henry de Berkley of Dursley, holds Dursley and Newenton of the King in capite by two Knights fees.

"Church—In the Court of Pleas at Westm. Term. Pasche, 26 H. 3. Rot. I, in dorso [elder than either of the two former Records] the Church of Newton is said to have been questioned by Roger de Berkley, Grandfather of John de Berkley; from which Record in haste I took my Notes too short. By Rot. Patent. 15 E. III. Ys. 2. in dorso, John de Berkley de Dorsley, and Hawisia his Wife arraigned an Assize against the Abbot of Kingswood and others, for Lands and Tenements in Coldnewton.

"In Trin. Term E. 4. Rot. 335. in the Court of Common Pleas at Westm. John Wikes, Esq. then Lord of Dursley demands against Edmund Berkley, Son and Heir; also dict. John Planch, [of whom are the Families of the Berkleys of Shropshire] the Manors, Dursley, Newenton Bagpath, and Stanley.

"And the Year before, by Inquisition, 13 E. 4. Thomas Wikes, Esq. is found to dye seized of the Manors of Dursley, with Cold Newington, and Bagpath, being Parcels of the Manor of Dursley; holden in capite by half a Knight's fee; and that John Wikes, Son of John, Son of Thomas Wikes, is his heir, 30 years old. And by Inquisition, in 1 Henry 7. it was found, that John Wikes dyed seized of the Manor of Dursley, with Cold-Newton, & Bagpath, Parcels thereof, as in the Inquisition 13 E. 4, & that Edmund Wikes was his Son and Heir, 17 years old. Also there is another Inquisition in 3 H. 7. virtute Officii after the death of the said John.

"Church—As well by a Writ, called ad quod damnum, 10 April, 35 E. I. as by an Inquisition taken by virtue thereof, the same Year, it appears that the Abbot of Kingswood purchased of the Abbot of Glouc. one Acre of Land in Bagpath, with the Advowson, Owsleworth & Westnewenton (so this is called) by way of Exchange between them, or ten pounds rent in Hasledon & Cul-kerton, given by the said Abbot of Kingswood to the Abbot of St. Peter, of Glouc. and that the said Churches are holden of John, son of William de Berkley of Dursley, in ward to the King, in pure Almes; and that the said £10 Rent to be holden of Peter de Breouse, in pure Almes also.

25 E. I. it appears that the Abbot of Kingswood purchased the Advowson of West Newington and Owlpen or Oldpen of the Abbot of Gloucester.

The Village of Bagpath in the Hundred of Berkley, and Deanry of Dursley, is distant Four Miles Eastward, from Wooton Underedge, Six Westward from Tetbury, and Seventeen South from Gloucester. It consists of a few Houses only, irregularly dispersed at the Head of a narrow Valley whose green & winding Slopes form a pleasing Contrast to the open Country above.

The Parish (within which is part of Loughborough Park) is Two Miles and a half in length, and half a Mile in breadth.

The Soil is light Stonebrash, and chiefly applied to Tillage. Petrifications of the Bivalve kind particularly of the Gryphites, remarkably curved upwards at one end, are to be found here. Roman Coins have been dug up.—The Air is thin, sharp and healthful.

The Inhabitants were formerly employed in the Clothing Manufacture ; but in 1801 Farming.

The Benefice is a Rectory, to which the Chapel of Owlpen or Oldpen was formerly annexed ; but in the Year 1503 the Rector of Newington was exonerated from the Duties of the Chapel.

The Church, consisting of a Chancel and a Nave, is of small dimensions, dedicated to Saint Bartholomew, having a low massive Tower at the West End.

Of the Manor, the Extracts from the above valuable Manuscript render it unnecessary to add further, than that it is now vested in Robert Kingscote, Esq. of Kingscote.

The only circumstance worthy of further remark in this Parish, is an old Conventual Barn on a Farm about a mile Eastward from the Chapel, called Calcot, or Caldecot, from the coldness of its situation, built by an Abbot of Kingswood ; upon the Porch of which is carved in old Saxon Characters ; “Anno Græ. MÖCCC. Henrici Abbatis 29, fuit domus....Edificat.....Some Years ago it suffered by Lightning, and it is probable the Date of its Erection was then destroyed.

This Estate is vested in the Family of ESTCOURT.

Edward Turner, whether by Deed or Will is uncertain, left Five Pounds, the interest of which to be divided Yearly between Five Poor Householders who do not receive Alms. The payment of this Charity has ceased for some Years.

NEWLAND.

NEWLAND

Is distant West from Gloucester twenty miles, and four East from Monmouth.

This is the largest Parish in the County, being an ancient assart out of the Forest. The ground is hilly, with occasional picturesque spots, intermixed with bleak nakedness. Of ten thousand Acres only about one thousand is in Wood; the rest is mostly pasture. The Village, which has numerous good houses, is principally built around the Church. This fabrick is large, consisting of a Nave, Chancel, North and South Aisles. It has battlements with open trefoils, and a West Tower pinnaced.

The Manor, without Estate belongs to the Crown, as Parcel of the Lord Wardenship of the Forest of Dean. The Estates are numerous. In the division of Newland, the chief property was for centuries vested in the family of Hall, of whom John de Aula of this place is named, as the common ancestor, so early as the 13th century.* To this Estate, called High-meadow, the noble family of Gage succeeded, by marriage of Thomas Lord Viscount Gage, with the daughter and heir of the last Benedict Hall.

Edmund Probyn, Esqr. has a Seat and Estates. They derive these from Lord Chief Baron Probyn, who dying in 1742, devised his Estates to his nephew, John Hopkins, Esqr. whose descendants bear the name and arms of Probyn. Another Edmund Probyn, Esqr. of a distinct family, had also a House and Estates, which has descended by inheritance to William Perry, Esqr. of Bristol.

Wye Seal belonging to the Chapter of Hereford, formerly held in lease by the Bonds, was since alienated to Lord Sherborn, and again to the Rev. Mr. Powell, of Monmouth. Manorial rights are claimed, and fishery in the Wye.

Red Brook, where are large Iron and Copper Works is called a distinct Manor, of which Lord Sherborn is Lord.

Clowerwall—Clearwall.—This Estate, according to Sir R. Atkins, once vested in the family of Joce, or Joyce, of whom there are memorials here, as early as the reign of Edward 2.† was in the 15th century vested in Robert Grendour. His sister, Lady Joan Lichfield, was, on the death of Lady Delaware, Robert's daughter, (afterwards Countess of Worcester,) her aunt & heir. William Walwyn, son of Lady Joan, was father of Alice, daughter & heir, wife of Thomas Baynham. With Cicely, daughter and coh. of the last Sir Thomas Baynham, the Manor passed to Sir Wm. Throgmorton, Bart., who died in 1628:‡ they had issue, Sir Baynham Throckmorton, Knight of the Shire in 1661, he died July 31, 1681,¶ soon after which the Estate was alienated to the Wyndhams, of the same family as the Earls of Egremont. The House, engraved by Kip, was pulled down by Thomas Wyndham, Esqr. and rebuilt by him in the style of a castellated mansion, in the middle of the last century. It has a very fine effect, because of sufficient dimension for the plan adopted.

Longney Farm belongs also to this Estate.

Colford is a small Town, which has a weekly market on Friday. It has a Wool Fair on the 20th of June, and another on the 5th of December, by grant of James the First. The market house was built in 1679, towards which Charles the Second contributed £40. In 1712 the Town consisted of 160 houses.||

A Manor in this Tything, called Brenock Court, belongs to Sir Richard Simmons. The principal Land Proprietors in this Tything are Yarworth, Dew, Fryer, and Lord Gage, according to Mr. Bigland's papers, to which printed accounts add Edmund Probyn, Esq.; and Upper and Lower Eden-wall, the property of William Partredge, Esqr.: an ironblast furnace belongs to Messrs. Teague & Co. and a pottery, where casting pots are made. A silk-mill has been recently set up by

The Chapel consists of two aisles decently pewed, with a gallery at the West end; a small turret contains the Bell: it is founded upon the ruins of another destroyed in the civil wars. Queen Anne gave £300 towards the endowment of it, and it has been further augmented by the bounty. The Bishop of Glocester appoints the Curate.

Bream is another hamlet, which has a small Chapel, consisting of a nave only. The Curate is appointed by certain trustees. The principal Landholders mentioned in Mr. Bigland's papers are John Paul, Esqr., William Partridge, Esqr., Mr. Richard Gough, and Mr. John Elsmore. The printed accounts add Bream's Lodge, a handsome house, with a good estate, once the property of Mr. Barrow Laurence of the Shurdington family, who died in 1773, and since vested in John Mathews, Esqr. of Neunham. Also Pastor's Hill, once the property of ... Gough; sold to Wm. Partridge, Esq. Lastly, Yarkley Court, belonging to Mr. Packer.

Lea Bailey is a hamlet near Michel-dean. According to Sir Robert Atkins it was once the estate of the Talbots of Castle Godrich: it seems to refer to the bailiwick held under the Crown out of which John Joyce, or Inge, was ousted wrongfully 43 E. 3. by John Talbot, of Castle Godrich.* Modern accounts state the property to be much divided, but the principal share to belong to Maynard Colchester, Esqr.

Some ancient Landholders were Kynardesley 39 H. 3. The See of St. David's 5 E. 1.—Howell 15 E. 3.—Burnell 30 H. 3.—Flaxley Abbey—Sir Anthony Kingdon, grantee 36 H. 8, Bell 43 Eliz.† Lord Sherborne is principal proprietor of the Woodlands.

In 1296, John de Monmouth, Bishop of Landaff, impropriated the rectory to the See.‡—The King E. 1. (34th of his reign) had ordered Walter de Glocester and William de Harden to make enquiry, concerning the tythes, both great and small, of the assarts newly made; and the Jury found that the King might bestow them upon whom he pleased, as the assarts were not within the bounds of any adjacent parish.¶ The Dean and Canons of Hereford, and the Incumbents of S. Briavel and Lidney, carried away by force these tythes, asserting that they were within the limits of their respective parishes; but in the next reign the Bishop obtained peaceable possession, and it has since continued in the See.‖ When the lease was advertised for sale in 1774, the whole proceeds were £182 7s. per annum.‖‖ The Church appears to have been founded about the period of the first endowment. At the East end of the south aisle is a place called Wyndham's Chapel, another on the south side called Probyn's Chancel, and at the East end of the north aisle, a building called Lord Gage's Chancel. These are Modern appellations, and seem to point out the sites of chantries, of which one was founded by a Bishop of Landaff, 2 E. 2. another 24 H. 6. by Joan, wife of Robert Grendour. (On the base of the window in the North aisle is a large figure of a woman in an antique dress; probably this lady.)—The endowment of this chantry, Blakebroke field, Byshe meadow, &c. was considerable, and the grantees were Francis Philipps and Richard More, 6 Jac. 1. and William Birch and William Blake 21 Jac. 1. In the south aisle, on a tomb, near Probyn's monument, are the figures of a man and woman in the costume of the times; these Sir R. Atkins applies to Sir John Joyce and which Sir John, he makes once owner of Clowerwall, and founder of the Chapel and Chantry. He places three Chantries here, and the grantees to be Lewis Williams, 1 E. 6. and Oliver Cromwell 5 Jac. 1.

Offa's Dyke runs through Coleford on its way to the Dee. During the wars of Charles the First, a parliamentary regiment was placed at Colford, by way of garrison for defence of the forest: it was attacked by the Earl of Worcester, and his son, Lord Herbert. The rebels were driven out by superior numbers, but not without the loss on the King's side of Sir Richard Lawdy, Major-General of South Wales. On the Parliamentarian's, few were killed, but Lieut.-Colonel Winter, and some inferior officers, with about forty privates, were taken prisoners.§—High Meadow house (perhaps more properly in the parish of Staunton) is said to have been occupied during the civil wars by Colonel Kyrle of Walford Court in Herefordshire, on the part of the King, & to have been surprised by the Governor of Gloucester in the night. As this seat is destroyed, the following description may be of some interest: it was a large building; as to external appearance, of no great antiquity or modern elegance. Over the door of the East front were the three following Coats of Arms—1st. on a chevron between three talbots' heads erased an estoile, for Hall. 2nd. as before, impaling on a fess 5 Ermine spots for winter. On the 3rd shield, the last coat only. Over the above arms was the date ANNO DOMINI 1633.—Before the house, on the same side, was a large statue of a man with a musical instrument* of the flute kind in his hands, holding the same towards his mouth. Over the iron gates, on the East side, were the arms, supporters, and motto of Lord Gage, in the middle on an escutcheon of pretence, the arms of Hall. Before the West front, on iron railing, around two flights of stone steps ascending to the door, were the arms of Gage, and motto as before.†

BENEFACTIONS.

Edward Bell of Writtle, in the County of Essex, Gent. gave a School Room, with a House and Garden for a Master to teach Grammar to the Children of this Parish. NEWNHAM.

This small Market Town, in the Hundred of Westbury, and Deanery of the Forest, is distant from Gloucester on the S. W. twelve miles. The site is airy and picturesque, consisting of deep glens and fine elevations rising toward the West in amphitheatre, beyond each other; on the East is the Severn, of majestic width. The view from the Cliff, upon which the Church stands, embraces a serpentine curve of the river, and the fine rising mixed country on the other side. The Town itself consists chiefly of one very wide street; a circumstance which, at all times, is peculiarly advantageous to towns and cities, in point of ornament. The ford and ferry over the Severn assuredly first brought the spot into notice, and occasioned the foundation of a town. Anciently it was more considerable, having had various streets, now unknown, and a Castle, presumed to be the first fortification erected on the West side of the Severn against the inroads of the Welch. From the word Newnham probably signifying New Town, it has been conjectured that there was another more ancient place, opposite to Framilode passage, called by Baxter the Durotuobrigi of the Itinerary. Of the absurdity of placing a station upon ground subject to inundation, it is needless to speak, because contrary to the established practice of the Romans. The parish was taken out of Westbury, which was royal demesne and the New Ham or New Mannor merely alluded to this distinction, which originated on or about the Conquest, by a severalty becoming vested in private persons.

The Church stands at the South side of the Town, consisting of a Chancel, Nave, and small S. ile. It has a low wooden spire at the West end. It is dedicated to St. Peter. In the Chancel window is France and England quarterly. In Mr. Bigland's papers is a memorandum, which says, "There was formerly a very fair spire Church which stood close by a certain place, called the Nabb's end: but better known by the name of Newnham's Ladder, which was an inlet of ground that pointed unto the River Severn, whose floods (being there very violent) by little and little had washed away the earth from almost the very foundation of the Church, whereupon the inhabitants of the Town agreed to have it pulled down, fearing lest in some small time it should fall into the river, and with the materials of that large Church they built the little Church, that now is." No priest is mentioned in Domesday, but as Sir Robert Atkins states the donation of the ground, upon which the present Church stands, by Humphrey de Bohun in the reign of Edward III we have the date of its erection, for the mere zig-zag moulding of the Chancel arch, &c. is either part of the old Church re-erected here, or infers no Norman antiquity, being found in the æra mentioned.* As to the wooden Spire, a Brief dated 1755 says, "The Tower being built of a sort of clay stone very small, and without a proper quantity of lime to bind it together, is very much shattered, and to lessen the weight upon the walls, it was found necessary many years ago to take down great part of the stone work, and to raise upon the remainder a superstructure of woodwork." Thus traditional accounts: but it appears from the National records of the date of Henry III, that the Church was the King's Chapel, and parcel of Westbury royal demesne, and that there was also a royal Hospital: the above King having granted the Chapel to William Persore for life, on condition that he repaired it, and removed the King's Hospital here, from the place, where it then stood, and annexed it to the Chapel¶ The Licence for impropriating the benefice to the Hospital of St. Bartholomew's, Gloucester, is dated 17 Ed. III, and it was probably given by William de Bohun, because the Hospital here had decayed, and thus a kind of transfer took place of situation only. The benefice still continues a Curacy in the gift of the Corporation of Gloucester, as governors of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Chantry lands were granted to the Parishioners to find a Priest to celebrate in the Church, and the Prior of St. Bartholomew granted in 1564 the custody of the Chapel of Little Dean to the Parishioners.†

The Manor at the time of the Norman survey merely consisted of a single hide of land, occupied by three tenants in vassalage, and as many cottagers with considerable holdings. There was a wood a quarter of a mile long, and a furlong broad. The then Lord was William Fitzbaderon. With the commencement of record, we find the Manor vested in Bernard de Newmarch, whose daughter Sibil carried it to her husband Milo Earl of Hereford. She was mother of Margaret, wife of Humphrey de Bohun, father of Humphrey, father of Henry, who resigned this Manor to the Crown 1 Jno. It continued there till 9 Ed. 2. soon after which it was granted to Hugh de Despenser, and upon his attainder to Thomas de Brotherton, Earl of Norfolk, 1 Ed. 3.‡ He resigned this Mannor to the Crown five years after|| (6 E. 3.) and it was immediately granted, as late his to William de Bohun,§ from whence as being held by the service of the Constabulary of England to Humphrey de Bohun. Thomas of Woodstock, Duke of Gloucester, succeeded in right of Eleanor de Bohun, his Duchess; and after him King Henry V. whose mother was Mary daughter and coheir of Humphrey de Bohun, son and heir of William de Bohun the grantee. But the Manor during the reign of Henry 4. having been vested in Humphrey Stafford, Earl of Hereford, in right of his wife Ann Plantagenet, daughter and coheir of Eleanor de Bohun, Duchess of Gloucester. Henry V. upon petition of this Anne, gave the Maor up to her, as his (sic) purparty in the Bohun Estates. Accordingly it continued in the Staffords, Dukes of Buckingham, till the attainder of Edward, Duke of Buckingham, when it continued in the Crown, till Henry Lord Stafford was revested by grant 1 Mary, in all his ancestors' possessions, which the crown had not alienated. It was in the Staffords in 1712, and followed the progress of Thornbury to the Earl of Effingham, and Lord Henry Molineux Howard.

Rodley. This Manor, the joint gift of William Bluett in the reign of William Rufus, and of King Henry 1. to Gloucester Abbey, was then held as a Hamlet of Churcham. It was granted 4 Ed. 6. to Sir William Herbert, who 4 Mary alienated to Sir Giles Poole, who died in seisin of it in 1588, 31 Eliz. It was afterwards purchased by the ancestors of Roynon Jones, Esqr. and in that family, which has nearly all the land in the tything, it still continues. Hay-Hill is their seat. The hamlet had anciently a Chapel.

Richard de Blechesden held lands here 20 Ed. 2. under the Abbey of Gloucester; and the Abbey of Evesham bought a small estate of John Whitchurch, and 6 Ed. 2. imparked a Wood in this hamlet.

Staure, or Stairs, in some records called a Manor, was the property of the family of Staure, during at least the 14th and 15th centuries, perhaps before; but was vested in William Ailborton 1 Hen. 8. William Marwent held in 1712 and that estate was devised to Baron, whence it was sold to Morris, and is now said to be divided;* but a Mr. Ailborton, a Mr. Chinn, who married an Ailborton, and Trigge, continued to hold estates during Marwant's proprietorship.

Bluett's Court was so denominated from a family of the name, so early as 1305 at least; and was afterwards 31 Hen. 8, in William Ailborton. It became part of the estates of the Pirkes of Little Dean, and the property of Thos. Beale Esqr.

Hill House, formerly Trigge's, afterwards Mr. Pirke's, is still in that family,† who also hold Cockshoot, once the property of Rowles.

The ancient inferior landholders were the Priory of Lanthony, Flaxley Abbey, Sir Anthony Kingston, grantee 36 H. 8. (Fosbrooke) William Marshall, a Fishery 16 H. 7. Jeffery Griffith 21 H. 7. (Sir R. Atkins.) Mr. Beale of Newent owns the Culver House, Mr. Lancelot Cannock holds Hyde. (Bigland Papers.)

Of the history of the Town it is necessary to correct an important error. The vill of Newnham given by Leofrice, Earl of Mercia, to the Monks of Coventry, as stated by Sir R. Atkins‡ was certainly not this place, but one of the Warwickshire Newnhams, most probably at least, there being twenty Newnhams or more in England; but Coventry lies in Warwickshire. There was an ancient castle, erected no doubt to secure the ferry and the ford, as was usual in such situations, from being occupied by the Welch, and to facilitate advance into Wales, when necessary. Strongbow met Henry the Second here, on the former's return from Ireland. The Town is said to have been once a distinct property from the Manor, which seems to be founded upon its once being a demesne of the Crown, and the Ferry and Castle being a Royalty.—Of the Fortress there are no remains; probably because Caldicot Castle, near Chepstow, also belonging to the Constabulary of England, superseded it, as place of residence, or occasional visits. The Town was one of the five boroughs within the County, in the reign of Edward 1, and was governed by a Mayor and Burgesses. The sword of state given by John is still preserved. It is of steel finely polished, and of curious workmanship. Its whole length is 6 feet, and that of the blade 4ft 4in, on which is this inscription, "John Morse being Maier, this sword did repaier, 1584." But the election of Mayor has been long laid aside: and the Town Police placed under two Constables, elected at the Manerial Court. Sir Edward Mansell in the reign of Charles 1. erected here the first glass-house in England (as affirmed), and as it was worked with stone-coal, no doubt on account of the vicinity and cheapness of that fossil. It is entirely destroyed. But the Town still carries on a considerable home trade, and some ships are built here. Bark and Timber are the Exports, and Wine Imported.

The Town had a considerable share in the military events of the civil wars. As Corbett's account has been repeatedly printed, it is of course better to give the actual dispatches of Massey, as they appear in the journals of the day. It will be seen that they say nothing of the explosion of a barrel of Powder in the Church, as Corbett has reported; and that Colonel Congreve was not killed before the capture of Newnham. but afterwards.* Massey says that his soldiers fell upon the works, and the horse pursued, but Corbett states the deserters not to have run away down the Hill, as Massey, but to have fled into the Church, whither they were followed by the Parliamentarians, and a Powder barrel fired, by which both parties were hurt but none killed. Tipper the supposed incendiary was slain, and near twenty others, by the irritated rebels.

Letter from Colonel Massey to the Committee for Gloucester, and read before the House of Commons.

Gentlemen,—You may please to take notice, that three days past I writ unto you, and therein advertised you of my condition at that time, and the necessity and haste of march, referring a fuller satisfaction to be given to you to a fitter opportunity, and that likewise being then upon march, that having assigned Lieutenant-Colonel Ferrer for the march with that part of the Lord Stamford's regiment, I could not at that time stay him, and to proceed with him according to that order I received from the Parliament, without much prejudice and stop to our designs at that time, and therefore, as the best way, have deferred the execution thereof till my return to Gloucester; since which letters of mine I have received from my Captain Backhouse your letters of the 4th of May, but for particulars to answer until an opportunity better fit, my being upon my march to be assured, that there is no syllable therein contained, that shall not find my due observance of the same, and unto which (with what speed may be) give the Parliament and yourselves such accompt, as shall take off all occasion of their and your dislike in the same. For the present, my duty to them and your (?) beseecheth you to accept of this history, the true relation of our proceedings since the last.

The 7th present, I marched from Gloucester with some 900 Musqueteers and 100 Pikes of my Lord Stamford's, Colonel Devereux, and my own regiment with Colonel Purefoye's and my own horse towards Westbury, and this evening assaulted and took the same, slew only eight or nine, and took one Captain Bret, one Lieutenant, one Ensign, with their inferior officers and soldiers to the number of 60 already produced; some made their escape but not many, as I can guess. Praised be God, no loss on our side, although we killed before our entrance five or six of the enemy. That night I marched with the regiment to Little Deane with some horse of Colonel Purefoye and mine own, sending before, three troops of Colonel Purefoye's, & one company of Dragoons, by me raised, and commanded by Captain Gainsford, who, passing Little Dean, met with Lieutenant Colonel Congreve, Governor of Newnam, and one Captain Wigmore with a party of the enemy to the number of 34 or 35. The Lieutenant-Colonel and Captain slain with seven or eight more, and 13 taken prisoners there by them. Saturday morning I advanced to Newnam, where the enemy had put on their best resolution to have defended the same, their provisions being for some days. They fired upon my trumpet, sent with the summons, which made the enemy more speedily beaten into their chief works about the Church (which are good and strong) thus we brought our approach close to their works, and having drawn up (whilst others plyed them with small shot) purposing to have stormed them in all places convenient, the enemy beat a parley, but in the mean time divers of them runn away down the hill, then our soldiers fell upon the works, and others of our horse pursued the enemy, took some, and slew others; so God delivered them and that Garrison into our hands, wherein all that I can be informed of there was slain about 18 persons, amongst whom one Captain Boller an Irish rebel, and one Master John Typper an inveterate enemy to the Parliament, and Sir John Winter's minion; the rest taken prisoners as in the enclosed specified: thus, Sirs, have I given as near an accompt or relation as I can of God's late mercies to us, by which I hope a good way is made for our further progress in this poor country's redemption, which by the papistical tyranny of Sir John Winter and his accomplices hath hitherto been made miserable. I am now marching forward into the Forest, and, as we shall find occasion, shall, God willing, proceed, beseeching the Almighty's protection and further mercy to accompany us, unto whom we desire to return the praise and glory of his mercy to us, and to the Parliament, herein praying the Almighty to prosper all their forces and designs in whose service I shall live and die.

Sirs,

Your most humble and faithful servant,

EDWARD MASSIE.

Newnham, 9 May, 1644.

I return unto you humble thanks for your care of us, and shall be careful in the disposal of the moneys sent us, which will be of much use unto us, the want of which made our foot to mutiny at our coming forth, but with good promises I reclaimed them.

A List of the Officers and Soldiers taken at Newnam, May 8, 1644:—Captains, Henry Mallory, Matthew Morgan, Hetford Bramy;—Lieutenants, Peter Trevell, Luellin Evans, William Egglesby;—Ensigns, John Havard, William Hill, Roger Meredith, Charles Brany;—1 Chaplain, 12 Sergeants, 14 Corporals, 4 Drummers, 1 Provost Marshal, 4 double barrels of Powder, 60 skaynes of Match, 1 Fawkner, 3 Hamber Gunnes, 4 more Pieces of Ordnance, besides 130 common soldiers taken prisoners; the Arms not yet known; 25 slain in the pursuit.—Perfect Diurnal, May 13—20, 1644.

Westbury—At Westbury, May 7, the Garrison with officers and soldiers, 1 Captain, 1 Lieutenant, 1 Ensign, besides other inferior officers and soldiers to the number of 60, and slain nine; two barrels of Powder in whole and broken parcels with 12 or 13 skaynes of Match, and about 60 Muskets.

Newnham—At Little Dean slain this day Lieutenant Colonel Congrave, Governor of Newnham, Captain Wigmore, and seven or eight more, and taken prisoners 15.—Perfect Diurnal, May 13—20, 1644.

Newnham, Sept. 30, 1644, Colonel Massey is gone from Newnham to Ross. He delights in action, and loves to scour the country about him of the nests and viperous brood of ungodly cavaliers, and he hath now blocked up almost all ways to hinder relief from coming to Sir John Winter, that arch Papist, that was the Queen's Secretary.—Perfect occurrences from Sept. 27 to October 4, 1644.

NORTH-LEACH.

NORTH LEACH.

(From Abel Wantner.)

It's Situation & Government :

The Town is situated in a fertile bottom a little beneath the great Foss or high road way that leadeth from Cirencester to Stow, which is surrounded with a rundle of intermixed hills (or hillets, of arable, pastures, and woodie grounds, having Essington in the East, Hampnet in the West, Farmington in the North, and Stowell in the South. The first Charter of Priveledges was granted to this Town by K. H. 8, and since renewed in the reign of K. James 1.

Of the Church :

The Tower Church of North Leach standeth in the West end of the Town, and is dedicated to St. Peter, being a very amiable structure, and finely adorned with sundry embossed pinnacles, which beautifieth the fabrick very prettily.

The body of this Church was built at first very low and dark, and therefore to make it more lightsome and splended, one Mr. Forty, a wealthy clothier of this town, at his own proper cost and charge, pull'd down the roof of the Church and raised the walls* thereof nearly half as high again as it was before and covered it with lead.

The aforesaid Mr. Forty and his wife are both interred in this Church, in the Abbey before the pulpit, upon whose gravestone are incised their effigies in large plates of brass.†

There is more effigies of men, women, and children, incised on plates of brass, in this Church, than is in any one Church belonging to this County.

But as for any other monuments or memorials there is not one.‡

NORTH LEACH. (By Bigland.)

The Church is large, consists of a Chancel, North & South Ailes, very spacious, with large handsome windows and pinnacles. The Tower is large and handsome, therein six Belle: the Chancel belongs to the Improriator, the North Chapell belongs to the Parish, and the South Chapell, called Bicknell's Chapel, belongs to Sir Ralph Dutton. John Forty, a clothier, built the body of the Church, William Bicknell built the South Chapell 1489 (which date is on the Chapele), a good large Gallery at West end and at the entrance of the Chancel. On the pulpit this date, 1688. Painted on the wall, Thomas Stone, Simon Ryder, Churchwardens 1718.

In the Town are several Alms Houses, and a good Gramer School, which is free to all the boys of the Town; and is endowed with Eighty Pounds per annum, by Hugh Westwood, Esq. and by a decree in Chancery in the reign of King James 1st, this School was settled on Queen's College, Oxford. At the end of the Town, towards Gloucester, is one of the County Gails.

..... Rice, Esqr., Lord of the Manor.

Thomas Wilkinson, Vicar.

Chas. 2.—Edward Carter, Gent., by his last Will, gave £50 to remain to the use of the said Town of North Leach for ever.

Anne 1.—Roger Westmacott, Gent., gave £2 10s. to remain a stock for ever.

Geo. 1.—James Thynn, Esqr., gave £100 to be distributed among poor inhabitants of this Town, Anno 1715.

Joshua Aylworth, of Aylworth in this county, Esqr., deceased, gave to this Town of North Leach £100 the profits thereof to be distributed yearly to the Poor of the said Town for ever, which are not in the Poor's Books Anno Dni. 1720.

Charles Trinder, Esqr., gave £5 to be distributed to the Poor of this parish Anno Dni. 1719.

The Rev. Mr. Simon Hughes, Rector of Hampnet, left £20 yearly, Ten for a Sermon on Good Friday, and Ten to be distributed in bread to the Poor on Good Friday. The said benefaction is settled on his Estate at Hampney, 1771.

Anno 1692—John Parker, Esqr., gave 10s. for the preaching of a Sermon on St. Luke's Day and 10s. to be given to the Poor yearly in bread.

Mrs. Mary Parker, eldest daughter of John Parker, Esqr., gave the Cushion and Pulpit Cloth belonging to this Church, Anno Dni. 1704.

The said Mrs. Mary Parker gave a large gilt Flaggon for the Communion Service.

Mrs. Elizabeth Emes, daughter of the said John Parker, Esqr., gave a large gilt Salver and Chalice to the Communion Service, for the use of this Church, Anno Dni. 1707.

Mrs. Mary Parker bequeathed £50 to be distributed amongst the Poor of North Leach immediately after her decease Anno 1724, which sum was distributed accordingly.

Mr. Robert Charles, Mercer, gave by Will Twenty Shillings to be distributed annually in bread amongst the Poor of the parish on the 16 day of October, at the direction of the Minister and Churchwardens for the time being.

The said benefits were afterwards confirmed by Samuel Howell, of Shirenewton, Monmouthshire, and by him as a Rent Charge for ever, issuing and payable out of a certain Tenement and appurtenances late Ackley's, situated in the East end of the Town.

Sir John Atkinson's Lady of Stowell gave a Meadow in Hampnet, and 17 score Sheeps Pasture for 99 years, which yeildeth £17 per annum, which is employed in the keeping of 8 poor children at school till they are capable of Trades, the children to be disposed of at the discretion of the Trustees.

Observation :

In my Second Paragraph of Charitable Endowments given to this Town, I have there mentioned Hugh Westwood, Esqr., who founded the Free School in North Leach, &c. Now it fortuneth that the said Westwood growing low and poor in the world, made his application and addresses to those whom he had before made Trustees of that his Benefaction, that they would vouchsafe (knowing him to be a Scholar) to grant him the Schoolmaster's place (which was then void) for his subsistence, which was denied him.

Here lies a youth that few can find
The like for goodness left behind
No evil customs of the age
Made him in any Vice engage,
But Virtue, Innocence, and Truth,
All lived together in the youth,
Whose well spent life and honest fame
Will still bear record of the same,
His Maker knew what time was good,
Roses are gathered in the bud,
Parents from tears and grief refrain
Forbear to sorrow for his gain,
To you some comfort be it known
God took no other but his own.

To the memory of Mrs. Susannah Stone, wife of William Stone, Gent., who died Oct. the 29, 1697, in the 55 year of her age.

If faithfulness unto the nuptial bed,
Or if a life by th' Rules of Virtue led,
If gentleness and meek humility
If prudent carriage and civility,
If Piety, the only ornament
Of age; joy would with Patience and Content,
If pity, tender heartedness, or love,
Could Death, th' inexorable Tyrant,
move,
Then we had longer her dear self enjoyed,
Nor had she in this doleful Tomb been laid,
These only these of all that she possess
Now gives her Soule eternal Peace & Rest.

OLDBURY on SEVERN

A Chapel of Ease to Thornbury.

The Church is in the Deanery of Dursley, and is annexed to Thornbury; consists of a Chancel, Nave, and Two Aisles; it had a Spire Steeple which was blown down in a storm, and now only a Tower remains; therein One Bell.

The Parish is partly Arable & Pasture. This was once a Free Chapel, & had lands of £70 per annum, and the Proctors of this place were to pay to the Chauntry of Bray 2d per annum. It had Parochial rights, and pays 2d per annum to the Church of Thornbury. Old people report that upon the dissolution of this Chapel and Chauntry, the Churchwarden sold a great Bell called Gabriel, and plundered the place for his own use, and as a judgment on his sacrilege his house was burnt to the ground, no one knew how. The Nave was repaired by the inhabitants, and the Chancel by the Vicar who is to serve it. The Church stands on a high hill which has a beautiful prospect over the Severn.

At this place there is a large Roman Camp, with a Campus Major, within which compass is included 30 acres of ground, it seems to have been of a triangular form, and the fortifications manifestly appear. Here was formerly the passage over the Severn.

No Benefactions to the Poor.

Duke of Norfolk, Lord of the Manor.

..... Lewellin, Vicar.

And who thus ejaculates:—
Dic mihi quae super astra latent Charisma nota.

Tell me, dear saint, what joys from God distill
Upon thy blissful soul? now take thy fill.

Her answer:—

Guadia quae fari nescia tanta Pater.
Unless Heaven's joys I should extenuate,
The bliss I see I cannot well relate.

the 29th of September, 1727, aged 63 years, to whose memory his living master laid this stone.
Now turned to dust, here lies a wonder rare,
If you the practice of this age compare;
A servant, faithful, diligent, and just,
Grateful as well as careful of his trust.
May his soul rest with God for ever find,
And his example teach those left behind.

He left issue William, Henry, Grimbald, John, Eleanor, Elizabeth and Jane, all of beauty, probity, and hope.

Dear children all, I pray take some Advice from your Father's Tombe:
Still pray to God and give him praise
For all you have, walk in his ways.
Be humble, just to everyone,
Give to the poor, save for your own;
And do your best one for the other.
To ev'ry child and elder brother.

PRESTBURY.

THE Church consists of a Chancel, and Nave, North, and South Aisles. The North Aisle is equal with the body of the Church, but the South some what shorter. A Gallery is over the West End, and North Aisle.

In the Window was fair painted Glass, but now all broken, and almost all gone. The Tower is at the West End, with Battlements: in it are six Bells.

The Impropriation belonged to Llantony Abbey. The Vicar hath [a portion of] the Tythes. The Barton Demesnes did belong to the Bishop of Hereford, but are now sold, and the Tythes of them are parted between the Impropiator and the Dean, and Chapter of Hereford.

There is a Church House, which the Church Wardens set for 11s. yearly. A Ground called Culver Breach, or the Poors Ground, which is set for 3 years, when a Field, called Nutfield, is sown with Corn, for about 3£. a year, one year with another, and the fourth year it lyeth fallow with the said Field. It is settled by Deed for the use of the poor, and distributed to them by the Church Wardens, with consent of some others.

The Riverlet Swilyate has its first rise out of Prestbury Hills.

SEBASTIAN BENEFIELD was born here.

Present Lord of the Manor.

(Temp. Elizth.) Lease to Sir T. Chamberlaine

1600. Grant in reversion, (after Lease) to Reginald Nicholas, (Orig. 33 Elizth.)

Thomas Nicholas, by Descent son, & heir, (Steward of the Crown Manor of Cheltenham, at the time of the Survey thereof.)

John Plott, of Cirencester, Tho. Hungerford of the Lea, Wilts. & Henry Powle, of Shottesbrook, Berks. Esqrs. and William Powle, of Coln St. Alwins, Gent. by Grant upon Trusts for Sale for payment of the debts, and Legacies of T. Nicholas.

14 Car. Will of T. N. confirming Sale Deed, William Powle, Exor. 1647. T. N. died without Issue. (See "Stratton.") The 4 Coheirs of T. Nicholas were 1. Margt. Robins, of Harefield, his Sister, (whose eldest Son, & heir apparent was Richard Robins of Charlton Kings, Gent.)

2. Mary Cox, of Farmington, another Sister,

3. Thos Harris, of Prestbury, Gent. eldest Son, & heir of Ann Harris, another Sister,

4. Thomas Lymerik, eldest Son, & Heir of Elizth. Lymerik, the other Sister.

The Bishop had here a Park wherein stood a handsome Stone House moated about. It must have been in this House, that King John, had his Chamber, between Worcester, and Ludgershall, in Wilts. 4 Feb. 1209 (Itinerary) and herein also must have been the Common Wealth Garrison of 150 Men under Col. Devereux. It was occupied by Reginald Nicholas, and in 1648 by Robt. Brereton. But must have been destroyed soon after. The Moat remains in a field in the Bowbridge, or Manor Lane on the Prestbury Park Estate.

1732. At the Inclosure an allotment was made to Edm. Chamberlaine, in respect of the Manor Court House, or Site of the Manor.

As there was but one Presbyter for Prestbury, and Sevenhampton, or Prestbury on the Hills, this House must have been kept for Purposes of State rather than Mission Work. The Estate was held per Baroniam.

Other Estates, some perhaps Freehold Tenements of Manor:—Robert, of Prestbury had Lands there which he aliened to Thomas, of Uphatherley, 10 Edw. 3. (Inq. ad quod damm.)

These Persons had according to the complaint of Alisot, Wife of Henry of Uphatherley, (Rot. Parl. 4 Ed. 3.) been engaged in a Wicked conspiracy against her Husband. She alleged that they dispossessed Henry, while a Captive in Scotland, of his Lands in Uphatherly, carrying off materials to Robert's Lands at Prestbury, and plundering Henry, of his Goods, then on Henry's return, and re-entry on his own, they charged him with robbery, and got him imprisoned in Gloucester Castle. After his acquittal, & discharge by the Judges he sued them at Law for false imprisonment, and they retorted with greater force, and brutality than before, coercing him to give up his Lands for a Life Annuity, and finally on Robert's Return with the Queen from France, he again imprisoned Henry, and detained him until he released his Annuity.

It is to be regretted that these charges so indicative of the lawlessness of the period were not investigated. Alisot's Complaint being set aside on the ground of informality—if her Husband was alive the grievance was his, and if he were dead, the complaint was a nullity.

John the Clerk, had a Court, and a moiety of Lands at Prestbury which appear to have come to his Brother Philip Fitzralph. This Moiety Philip aliened to Philip Sinetelf retaining the Court, He (Philip Fitzralph.) also aliened to Sinetelf his portions in Muscroft, Gozen'scroft, Southdown, Bergworth (Berryworth,) Bergferlong, the Breach at Calderwell, and near the House of Hugh de Breach, and at Greenditch, and Oxenditch. Confirmed by the King. (Cart. 5, & 9. Joan. & Rot. Claus.)

PRESTON upon AVON.

THE Parish joyneth on the west to Queinton, from which it is separated by a small brook called Redbrooke, in Queinton parish on the North, and East of Alderminster, in Co. Worc. South Whitch, Com. Warwick, from which it is separated by a small brook called Humler. From East to West 'tis two miles, from North to South not fully a mile. The whole parish was the lordship of John Marriott, Esqr., but now belongs to James West, Esqr., who hath there a court baron, and a leet. Two hamlets, or Tythings, Preston, and Alscote, separated by the River Stower. There was a Chapel of Ease, now totally demolished, out of which ruins arose Alscote House, belonging to James West, Esqr., who hath a Park granted by Charter, 27th. March, 1615. This Hamlet is joined to Preston by a small Bridge, built by Sir Richard Brawne, Knt., whose successors repair the same out of courtesie.

The Church is extremely handsome, and consists of a Chancel, and Nave, (which is divided from the Chancel by Iron Rails,) with a Gallery at West End. The east window has beautifully painted glass, from sacred history.

In the centre are these Arms; Argent, a fess dancette, sable, in chief a martlet of the second, WEST, impaling Or, on a chevron Gules, between three demi lions passant, Sable, three cross crosslets Argent,—STEVENS. Crest. Out of a ducal coronet, Or, a griffin's head Azure. Underneath is written, "Jacobus West fieri curavit 1754"

On the declivity of a hill stands the Church, with a square steeple forty feet high, and therein three Bells. No dedication, or wake. Nothing for School, Hospital, or Poor. The soil—plenty of Corn, the chief commodity of the place.

THOMAS STEAVENS, Esqr.
 Son of Sir THOMAS STEAVENS, Knt.
 by MARY, the Daughter of Sir WILLIAM STEAVENS, Knt. of Dermundsey, in the Co. of Surrey;
 His Genius on its first opening was quick, and lively, And as it gradually expanded itself, it received the highest lustre from the best Education not only at Home, but in the most celebrated Courts of Europe:

The most extensive Knowledge, the nicest principles of Honour, and the most pleasing Elegance of Manners displayed themselves in him, beyond his years, and with the finer Grace, by being happily temper'd with the softest Affections, with love to his Sister, Sincerity to his Friends, and Benevolence to all.
 But the fairest Blossoms of future Excellence were by a weak
 Constitution soon blasted.

He died June 20th. 1759, Aged 31.

His only Sister SARAH, the Widow of JAMES WEST, Esqr.

of Alscot, in this Parish, as a Token of her sincere Affection for him, Erected this Monument.

See from the earth the fading lily rise,
It springs, it grows, it flourishes, it dies,
So their fair flower scarce blossomed for a day
Short was the bloom, and speedy the decay.

Heere lyteth shee that could not heare, yet
By signes, and tokens, would all virtues get
For when to Church she went with pious feare
Shee had the worde, although shee could not heare,
Nature's defect (withall) she made amends
And had the Scripture at her fingers ends.
Her worth was large, all language doe
outweye
Beyond the compass of an Elegie
Or marble test, But yet I were to blame Should not I honour her that loved our name.

Esq., of Oldbury House, in this county. Charles, as the present heir, erects this monument in memory of these the best of parents.

Here rest in peace consigned to native dust

This honor'd pair, who, faithful to their trust,

Through life's whole day pursu'd one even track,

And, as the night drew near, with joy look'd back.

Her sense, good humour, dignity and ease Which taught each action of her life to please,

Soft'n'd at once and happily refin'd The sterner virtues of his manly mind, Where honour shone with undiminished ray

And firm integrity bore constant sway: Who not profuse, though charitably great,

Ope'd wide to all, his hospitable gate. Happy the few who in these paths have trod,

And lov'd their neighbour in the love of God.

Frances Hayward, spinster, only daughter of Thomas Hayward, Esqr., and Mercy his wife, of this parish. Born November 1st, 1733. Died July 25th, 1786,

'Tis o'er! The last sad obsequies are paid. With kindred dust the hallow'd dust is laid.

Clos'd is the scene that agonized my heart,

But time's soft balm alone can heal its smart.

Lov'd in thy life, lamented in thy end, The kind relation and the faithful friend.

Of such endearment let a brother tell To sooth his sorrow in a long farewell.

CCVII, OR 210.—QUEINTON.

QUEINTON.

(NEAR CAMPDEN.)

The Church is large, and consists of a Chancel, Nave, North and South Aisles, with a Gallery at the west end. A tower and high spire at west end, therein six bells. Dedicated to All Saints.

There are 3s. a year in land given to the Church, but the donor's name is carelessly forgotten. £100 was given to the use of the poor by Mrs. Davis.

The parish is two miles in length and breadth.

Manors in Queinton Parish are—1, Adminton, belonging to the Lord Brook, two parts, and the freeholders one. 2, Lower Queinton Lordship belongs to Magd. Coll. Oxon. 3, Raddbrook, to — Lingen, Esq.

The soil is rich, and fruitful in corn and pasture : air temperate.

EXTRACT FROM THE REGISTER BOOK.

"There is also a parcel of land belonging to the Church of Quyneton, called the Church Land, containing 13 lunds and bayes, and a siding of grass, bee yt more or less, lying and being in the common fields of Over Quyneton and Neather Quyneton, and now in the possession of Thos. Ryland, the elder, for which he payeth yearly to the Church Wardens £3 to the use of the said Church; and Thos. Jackson, of Over Quyneton, payeth to the Church Wardens 2 shillings yearly, which 2 is paid yearly by the said Church Wardens to one Hanway, of Mart Cleeve, Co. Warw. for the chief rent of the said Church Land, and it is to be paid upon St. Peter's day. The deeds for this land remain amongst the deeds of Hanway his ancestors, and more than three score years past were burnt by casualtie of fire, whereby the said Hanwaies house in Mart Cleeve aforesaid, with the deeds of his lands, and the Church Land of Quyneton were utterly consumed.

Dated the first day of June, 1628, by me, HENRIE HORNBIE, Vicar of Quyneton.

The Roofe of the Church was repaired, painted, glazed and payed, 1626.

THOMAS RYLAND, THOS. UNDERHILL, Ch. Wardens.

On the Vicarage door is, "Orate pro Aia. Richardi Phillip," who was the parish priest in Henry 6th's reign.

Roger Marmion had the place that belonged to the Nunnery of Polesworth, in Warwickshire, given him by the Conqueror. King William I., who expelled the Nuns hence, whose son restored the Church of Queinton, which was impropriated by the Nuns, 12 R 2.

In the body, under an arch near the south aisle, is the figure of a man lying at length in armour, with a dog at his feet. [Supposed to be a Marmion.—Ed.]

QUENINGTON.

THE Church, consists of a Chancel, and Nave, with a Gallery at the West end. It has a small Tower with One Bell. Over the North Door is carved in Stone the figure of Christ, with his Cross, treading on the Devil's head, and foot, and three Saints praying, with erected hands, to Christ, the sun shining on him. On the South Door are various carvings in stone with the emblems of the four Evangelists, and a Church by them. There was formerly a Spire in the middle of the Church, with Six Bells, but now demolished, and the small tower built instead.

Near this Place lies Interred the Body of JANE, Daughter of ROBERT BERKELEY,
of Rendcomb, Esqr. by REBECCA, his Wife. Descended from an ancient, and noble Family, She was of a meek Temper, and obliging Behaviour, dutiful to her Parents, pious, and Exemplary in her Life, and Conversation, and a true Daughter of the Church of England; in short She was free from all modish Vices, and Failings of her Sex, and Age, and en-dued with all those Virtues, and Graces that could render her Life charming, and desirable on Earth:

or could qualify, and dispose her for the Rewards of Heaven,
She died in the 19th. Year of her Age,
Anno Dom, 1672.

This Monument was erected by

This Monument was erected by their most dutiful, and most obsequious Daughter REBECCA BERKELEY,
Robert, that always was both good,
and just,
Of high Descent, years since returned to Dust:
Who on his God at Home, & Church did call;

Was ever loyal, and Episcopal:
The best of Husbands; and so loving was
That he to Fathers been a Pattern has.
And now prepared for her long repose;
His Wife REBECCA, by his side lies close,
A tender mother, of a Godlike mind—
Was to his Children all, and Neighbours kind,
A pious Dame; still ready to fulfill Her God's, and her obliging Husband's will,
Thrice happy Souls who never can miss Best,
Who striving here each other to love best;
Were then with Peace, and now in Heav'n are bless'd.

This Estate had been worth 7*l.* and was then worth 100*s.* (Yearly.)

II.—Rendcome, this contained 3 Hides taxed. Culture—in demesne were 2 Plow tillages, and in Villenage, (4 Villans, and 3 Bordars,) 2 Plow tillages. There were six Serfs. A Mill of 5*s.* (a Year,) and 3*s.* of Meadow. The (Yearly) Worth of the Estate 6*l.*

Aluric had been the Saxon Owner; Gislebert, the Son of Turold, held both Estates in Chief, and the 2nd. was held under him by Walter.

Domesday Survey.

As to 1st. and Chief-fee of 2ad. Rendcombe, These were by Wm. II. Confiscated, and Granted to Robert Fitzhaman, whose dau. and heir Mabel, marr. Robert Fitzroy, Earl of Gloucester. His son William, succeeded, and left a dau. and heir Amice, m. to Richard de Clare, Earl of Hertford, (8 Joh.) in which family it continued for 4 descents when (7 Edw. II.) the Gilbert de Clare, who was slain at Bannockburn, died without issue, leaving 3 Sisters Coheirresses; of whom Margaret, m. 1st. Gaveston. 2nd. Hugh Audley; (created Earl of Gloucester.) Margaret, the daughter, and heir of Hugh Audley, and Margaret de Clare, m. Ralph, L. Stafford.

46 Edw. III. Hugh, son, and heir.

9 R. II. Thomas, son, and heir.

William, brother, and heir.

4 H. IV. Edmund, brother, and heir. Slain at Shrewsbury.

23 Hen. VI. Humphry, son, and heir, (Duke of Buckingham.)

38 Hen. VI. This Humphry, Duke of Buckingham, was slain at Northampton, and the Estate was confiscated by Edw. IV. in favor of Richard Nevil, Earl of Warwick.

1471. He was slain at Barnet, Attainted, and his Estates came to the Crown.

Rendcomb, No. 1.

1498. John Tame, by Crown Grant.

1500. He died seized.

Sir Edmund, son, and heir.

25 Hen. VIII. Sir Edmund, died seized.

Edmund, son, and heir.

36 Hen. VIII. He died seized, without issue, leaving 3 Coheirresses, Margaret one of whom married Humphry Stafford.

Sir John Berkeley, by purchase from them.

He died seized of Rendcombe, held of the Honor of Hereford.

Sir R. Berkeley, son, and heir.

Rendcomb, No. 2.

The greater Manor is supposed still to be held of Hereford Honor, as is also the chief-fee of the lesser Manor, the sub-fee in Walter, temp. Domesday, in which, is not traced from him. But De la Mare, had an Estate here, and in some records the De Clare Manor is said to be held of De la Mare, and again in Rot. Hund. 2 Edw. I. in combating the Earl of Gloucester's Claim to return of Writs in Rendcombe, it is noted that William De la Mare, who first held the Manor set up no such Claim. Hence it may be considered that the De la Mares, conveyed their fee to the De Clares, or Staffords. But the De la Mares, by fine, or grant alienated divers parcels:

20 Hen. III. Fine William Molendinarius, Plauntiff William De la Mare, Deforciant

Marsden farm. ?—

23 Hen. III. Bruern Abbey, by fine, or Grant from William, and Geoffry de la Mare. Charta Miscella Arguemia.

The Crown by Surrender.

It would appear that that the lesser of the Manors, (that to which the Advowson was not annexed,) belonged to the Staffords, after the Grant to Tame, of the other, and that they did not become united until the Heir of the purchaser from Tame's Descendant purchased from Edward, Lord Stafford.

14 Hen. VIII. (1522.) Henry, Lord Stafford, (Son of the attainted Humphry, Duke of Buckingham,) and Ursula, Wife of Henry, had Lands by Crown Grant.

2 Mar. He was restored. On his death

13 Eliz. Edward, Lord Stafford, son of Henry, had Livery.

Sir R. Berkeley, by purchase.

Other Estates:—

One Messuage. 1 Plow tillage. 10*a.* of Meadow. 20*a.* of Wood.

5 H. V. Thomas Brook.

15 Hen. VI. Joan, his Widow in dower.

Rendcomb Parva:—

32 Hen. III. A fine between William de Bosco, plaintiff, and Matilda de Solareis, Deforciant.

De Bosco, is probably the same person, or family as the Atwood; mentioned under Eyecote, below.

Bruern Abbey, by Grant from W. de Solers.

Charta Miscell. Augment.

Hen. VIII. The Crown by Surrender.

During the Berkeley's possession were reunited:—

The Bruern Abbey Estates in Rendcombe:—

28 Hen. VIII. Sir John Berkeley, by Crown Grant.

37 Hen. VIII. He died seized.

6 Edw. VI. Livery granted to Sir R. Berkeley, his son, and heir.

Egcote:—

III.—Accote is the third Estate in Domesday Survey

It then contained 1 Hide. In Culture, in Demesne were 2 Plow Tillages, and Villenage, (2 Villans. 4 Bordars.) 2 others. There were 2 Serfs. 8*a.* of Meadow, and a Mill of 4*s.* 6*d.* (a Year.) Its worth had been 20*s.* then 30*s.* (a Year.)

The Church of Worcester, held it.

And Ordric, held of the Bishop. Domesday Survey.

The devolution of the Sub-fee is not clear, and the chief-fee is lost sight of.

Under the Bishop:—

Temp. Hen. III. William Russell, held.

And 49 Edw. III. Thomas de Berton, held, what seems to have been the same Estate, a suit arising afterwards between their descendants Russell, and Berton, which terminated favour of Russell's Descendant Atwood.

De la Mare, from Atwood, by purchase.

7 Hen. IV. John Penger.

6 Hen. VI. Beauchamp, E. Warwick, and others.

Winchcomb Abbey, by the Grant of the Earl, and Berton's Descendant Andrews.

Hen. VIII. The Crown by Surrender.

Sir John Berkeley, by Grant from Crown.

The 3 Manors, and reunited Estates:

1629. Sir R. Berkeley, died seized.

Maurice, son, and heir.

Sir Gyse, by purchase, whence as Elmore.

In Sir John Guise's time, Pope was on a Visit to him. see His Letter to Mr. Blount, dated Rendcomb, Oct. 1721. wherein he notices the fine Woodland features of this Seat.

II.—Church:—

7 Edw. II. The Advowson went, with Manor, No. 1.

1 Hen. VII. After the Duke of Buckingham's attainder, it is said by Atkyns to have been granted to Sir Richard Cornwall.

The Value of the Rectory was £8. 6*s.* 8*d.* in Pope Nicholas Taxation, and £13. 6*s.* 8*d.* by Valor Eccl'us.

There were 48*a.* of Glebe.

Sir Robt. Atkyns, notices 5 Incumbents of the same name, Broad, presented by different Patrons.

III.—Taxation, Population, &c.

Area 2532*a.*

Population 1831—218.

1861—246.

1835. Average of 3 Years Expenditure on Poor 202*£.*

1866. Rateable Value 2916*£.*

THE Church is large. It is built in the form of a Cross with a Gallery at the West-End, and a very broad but low Tower in the middle.

THE Church dedicated to St. Peter, is very neat, It consists of a Chancel, and Nave with a Gallery at the West-end, and a Tower at the same end, therein one Bell. It was built by ... Wakefield, who lies buried in the Chancel, but the brasses have been stolen many years back. [The Chancel is early English, too early perhaps for Monumental Brasses. There are two short modern Transepts of poor design. Three Bells. The Register commences March 1739. 1872.]

Here lyeth the Body of WILLIAM QUINTON, Parson, who died ye. 6th. day of Dec.
A. D. MDCXLI.

Here lyeth a Preacher which being dead doth Teach, and from his Coffin you a Sermon preach; his Text Mortalitie which if you looke in the Acts of Nature is the last Look.
The Point is death, the use soe dis-to sin, as being Dead thy life may then begin.

Within this place a Virtuouse
Virgin lies, much like those Virgins that were counted wise.
Her lamp of life by Death being now put out;
Her lamp of grace doth still shine round about.
And though her Body
Here doth sleep in clay,
Yet is Her soul still Watchfull for that day, when Christ the Bridegroom,
Of her soul, shall come
To take her with Him to the Wedding room.

RODBOROUGH.

THE Church consists of a Chancel, Nave, and North Aisle, with Galleries at the West-end, and over the South [North] Aisle. It hath a handsome Tower, with Pinnacles. Therein is one Bell, there were formerly 4 but in the Wars of King Charles the 1st. they were embezzed. It is dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen, is in the Deanery of Stonehouse, and a Chapel of ease to Minchin Hampton, It stands on very high ground, by the road side, near to the Top of the Hill. [The Church was rebuilt about 30 Years ago, An Aisle, and Vestry added, the Galleries taken away, 1872.]

[The Tythes worth between 40, and 50 £. per ann. belong to the Rector of Hampton. In the time of Henry Chicheley, Abp. Canterbury, 1435, there was a Petition of the inhabitants of Rodborough, against Robert Lower, Rector of Hampton in Casu subtractionis sive spoliationis Foundationis, et Exhibitionis unius Capellani in Ecc'a. Capel St. Mar, Maude-lenie Villulæ sive hamlettæ de Rodborough, ab Ecc'a. Parochiali de Hampton, monial. Wigorn. Dio. Prov. Cant. depen-dente quæ in pr'dentia ipsius Patris Jure legationis suæ, etc. Coram Thom. Beckington, L.L.D. Official Cur. Cant. A. Magro, et Joh. Lindwood, L.L. B. Decan Eccl'c. B. Mar, Arc. London. In which it is set forth that the Rector of Hampton, and his Predecessors time out of mind had found a Chaplain to say Mass three times a week in the Church of Rodborough, Wednesdays, Fridays, Sundays, and Holidays, [Trinity Sunday, and the day of the dedication of Hampton Church only excepted,] which Curate was also to perform all other accidental Dutys of Christening, Burying, &c. The definitive sentence passed in Bow Church, 27 June 1435, by Thomas Beckington, Dr. of Laws, and Official. Afterwards after a long contest before the Commissioners for Charitable uses, and before Lord Ellesmere, Lord Chancellor there was a decree made for the payment of 40 s. per Ann. to the Lecturer, and 5 £. towards the repairs of the Chapel, and that the Rector of Hampton, as his predecessors formerly did time out of mind, should send a Curate to celebrate Divine Service at Rodborough, all which was effected at the Petition of Mr. Richard Webb, Preacher there against Anthony Laphorne, Rector of Hampton. The Commissioners for Charitable uses that heard the Cause were William Dutton, Richd Daston, Esqr. and John Leaman, Dr. of Laws Chanc. of Gloucester, and Henry Aisgill, one of the Preadends of Glouc.

By a Commission out of Chancery for Charitable uses 43 Eliz. and by another 1 July, 1 James, it was found that two Messuages, or Tenements, and certain Lands, Arable, and Meadow, of Pasture, called Durgards, and certain Lands called Hansteeds, Amberley, and Byshams, and certain parcels of Wood called Rodborough Wood, situate lying, and being in the Precincts, and Hamlets of Bisley, King Stanley, Hampton, and Rodborough, were enfeoffed for reparation of the Chapel of Rodborough, and for celebrating Divine Service there. They are now disposed of to a Lecturer every Sunday Morning who is to be a Master of Arts, at least, nominated by the principal, and greater part of the Fellows of King's Hall, and Brazen Nose College, Oxon., and allowed by the Bishop of Gloucester.

In the course of the contention referred to, concerning the Gift ad sacra celebranda a suit in Chancery was instituted by William Ryecord, John More, and Edward King, Lieutenants of Rodborough, against Richard Payne, and Edward, and William Halliway, Crown Grantees of Chantry Lands, for converting the Gift of Margery Brimscombe, as a pious, and not a superstitious use.

Ch'cy. 1 rogs. temp. Eliz. R. 12.

Rodborough is noted in the annals of Non Conformity, for its early, (1701) Presbyterian Congregation, in Simon Knight's House, and somewhat later for its Tabernacle, in which for many years previous to his Death the Revd. T. Adams, had been Preacher, and which under the directions of his Will, was by Deed, 1770. devoted to the assembling of Worshippers holding the doctrines of the Church (of England.) Articles, and the profession of the Revd. G. Whitfield. In this Tabernacle that zealous Apostle of Church Metho. ism, had preached, and taught what he professed. Now it appears that the Congregation are now independent.

The Chapel was rebuilt in 1836.

Et dolor inferni, sunt meditanda tibi.

Trust not the World, Remember Deth,
And often think of Hell.
Think often on the great Reward
For those that do live well.
Repent, amend, then trust in Christ,
For thou in Peace shalt dye,
And rest in bliss, and rise with Joy,
And remain eternally.

practice,
And was therefore an eminent Example
Of all those Virtues that ought to be Endearing to Men; and, which was his chief Vice,

That he knew well, pleasing to his God.
Reader! if thou can'st be prevailed upon
To learn from him, how to live,
Thou wilt secure to thy self
The invaluable Blessing of dying
The Death of the Righteous:

He died on the 14 of February in the Year of our Lord 1730, and the 75th. Year of his Age.

Supplementary Note of I.—Estates. II.—Church. III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

[The List of Patrons, and Incumbents, and other Information derived from the Revd. Canon Lysons.]

In Domesday Book among Particulars of Property, and names of the Norman, and late Saxon Owners thereof returned for taxation purposes, are interspersed Notices of persons, and things belonging to an older Race than the Anglo-Saxon. "Servi" and "Arcilla" were probably in the main remnants of the Britons, who unable to make good their escape from places in Albion into Cornwall, or Wales, were spared by the Saxon Invader for the sake of their services.

In Saxon Chartularies of Granta of Land, mention is sometimes made of this earlier people.

The names of stray Villages, as Walton, Whalley, &c. also attest the British Nationality of their Inhabitants in those times; and the dedication of Churches in Villages to British Saints show that early Christians (not Romish) of that race were there settled. Such are some of the literary Vestiges of British Occupation; others there are of a more enduring character. Such are the Barrows, Burying Kems, and Cromlechs of sacrificial stones, of which an instance is found at Windmill Tump in Rodmarton.

But whether we can regard these as the Monuments of departed Settlers once of celebrity, or rather as heaps raised to mark the scenes of great exploits such as Battles between rival tribes, or rival races, whether of the settled, or wandering type seems uncertain. And here, as is the case too often of later Monuments the Work remains, but all traces of the inscriptions are obliterated. In this respect (important in a local point of View,) the question "what were they"? remains unanswered.

Next, of Roman residence, and military Occupation this place furnishes remains at Hockbury, and Haselton. Both * have been explored by Members of the family of Lysons, who brought zeal, wealth, and talent to the study, and illustration of these curious pages of history in a place in which they had the special interest of residence, and Property connection.

The Parish of Rodmarton comprises several Hamlets: Rodmarton proper, Culkerton, Haselton, and Tarleton. These were distinct for Civil Purposes, and Domesday Survey separately registers the Estates therein.

In Redmertone (proper) there were 2 Estates which for distinction's sake may be called the King's, and Lewin's. Kings R. contained 3 Virgates geldable, and in culture one Plow tillage, it was worth 10s., and had been worth 20s. Oswald held it of the King.

Lewin's R. contained 2 Hides; in culture were in Domesne 2 Plow tillages, and in the hands of 1 Villan, and 2 Bordars another Plow tillage, there were a Priest (with one Plow tillage,) and 2 Servi. This was worth 4£. and had been worth 5£. In Saxon times. The Owner of this was Lewin, but after the Conquest Gislebert, Bishop of Liseux, supplanted him; and under this Bishop, Hugh Mammot held.

Culkerton.—In this were 3 Estates:—1. Scirewold's, 2. Grime's, 3. Aluric's. As to the 1st. it contained 3 Virgates, and 5 Acres. In Culture was 1 Plow tillage in Domesne, and there were 2 Servi. It was worth 35s. This, Scirewold held in Saxon times—But after the conquest Wm. de Owe, held and Herbert under him, and Ralph de Limesi, had held it. As to the 2 (Grims) of 2 Hides, and 2½ Virgates, whereof in Culture were 2 Plow Tillages in Domesne, and in Villenage of Six Tenants, 3 Plow tillages, it was worth 4£. In Saxon times this had been Grim's, but after the conquest, Durand the Sheriff, and under him Roger Ivry, held it. And as to the 3 (Alurics,) of 1, and ½ Hide; and in Culture 2 Plow tillages in Domesne with 4 Servi, it was worth 30s. and had been worth 20s. The Saxon Aluric had held this, and Anchitil under him, but after the conquest Roger de Lucri, had it.

Supplementary Notes I. as to Forest of Dean. II. Devolution of Estates. III. Church. IV. Population, Acreage, &c.

I.—Ruerdean, is a Vill of the Forest, and its boundary against Herefordshire, and the Wye River. From the latter circumstance it has according to Atkins, its distinctive Name.

An account of the Forest of Dean is contained in the 1st. Vol. p. 457. In 1787. after, as it would appear, that account was written, the Forest was surveyed by Driver. It then contained 24,000*a.* but in that area were several private Estates, and a large number of unlawful Inclosures. After the Survey the abuse of Encroachments prevailed until 1832; when an Inquiry was made before Serjt. Ludlow, and other Commissioners into the condition of the Forest. It was then surveyed by Hosmer. Inclosures encroaching on the Forest to the extent of 472*a.* in Little Dean Walk; 528*a.* in Park End Walk; 865*a.* in Worcester Walk; 441*a.* in Blakeney Walk; and 560*a.* in Ruardean Walk were shewn on the Map, and they were severally investigated by the Commissioners who took evidence on the spot. The effect of their adjudication was to divide the Encroachments into 3 classes which they distinguished by 3 colors on the Map, 1. those made before 1787, Red; 2. those made between 1787, and 1812, Blue; and 3. those made within the last 20 years, Yellow. To most of the Occupants Leases were awarded of terms corresponding to the length of their possession.

The Commissioners' 2nd. printed Report, dated 1 May 1834, gives the Names of the Occupants. They also made a Report in Writing of the evidence taken in each case. A Copy of the printed Report, and a written Copy of the Evidence were deposited among the Records of the County, 30 Nov. 1845. These Documents exhibit a curious picture of the Foresters' customs, and practices in regard to Occupancy over the forest in contravention of the Statute 20 Car. 2. c. 8. which annulled, or rather precluded, the acquiring by such means of Estates in the soil. It also shews to what an extent this fine public Property had been neglected by its Guardians who had allowed such Trespasses, or in forest parlance, purpurses, to be made, or done.

The Act 1, and 2 Vic. c. 42 legalized the above mentioned Red Inclosures; and authorized the granting of Leases for Lives renewable of the blue inclosures with purchasing Powers, and Leases for 14 years of the yellow inclosures, and subject to this arrangement the Act of 20 Car. 2. was thereafter to remain in full force in the Forest. The Court of Verderers had a summary jurisdiction given to them to decide on Complaints of Encroachment.

Another Act 1, & 2, Vic. c. 43. For regulating, and working of Mines, and Quarries in the Forest of Dean, and Hundred of St. Briavels in the County of Glouc. appoints Commissioners for a limited period to carry its purposes into Execution. It defines Free Miners, directs that they be registered by the Gaveller, from whom an appeal lies to the Commissioners, and when their Office expires, to the Quarter Sessions, or Court of Verderers. The Commissioners had to make an Award concerning Miners Rights fixing the Royalities to the Crown, and prescribing Rules for granting, and working Gales, or Claims. Inconsistent Customs of the Free Miners were to cease, But the Free Miners might appeal to the Privy Council against the Award. The Commissioners had powers to grant Leases for purposes of mining, quarrying, getting clay, sand, &c.

II.—With regard to Estates in Ruardean, when some time after the Conquest this place became English Territory, here was a Manor held in Capite by service of St. Briavel's Castle by W. de Alba Mara, (Albemarle) whose Estate devolved to Coheirs.

40 H. 3. Tho. D'Everty, son of Annora, and William Stralling, son of Katharine Albemarle, and W. de Hateswy, (Hatheway,) and Isabella, and Matilda Albemarle. Esch.

Among them, Partition must have been made, as we find that their descendants Deverty, Stralling, and Hatheway, held parcels of Albemarle's Lands in severalty, 12 Edw. 1. Esch. 28 Ed. 1. Fin. And Deverty, was Constable of St. Briavels Castle as Albemarle had been.

Another manerial Estate:

34 E. 1. A. de Bykenor's was held in capite part late Urry's, and part late Langley's and 4 Ed. 2. A. de Bykenor had licence to embattle his House at Ruerdean.

9 Ed. 1. Alex. de Bykenor, T. Deverty, and W. Hatheway, returned as Lords of the Vill of Ruerdean. Nom. Vill.

Part of Bykenor's Estate was settled on Alex. de Karent, and Margery, his Wife. 60 Ed. 3. Inq. p. M. No. 34.

6 Ric. 2. John Carent, by descent son, and heir.

Esc. No. 21.

Edward Carent, by descent brother, and heir.

The Hatheways held a Subfee under Bykenor, and the Lordship paramount passed to Whittington; they also held Lands in capite.

4 Ric. 2. Their Estates passed to Coheirs of whom Sibill Hathewy, m. W. Walwyn, who in her right was seized of a Messuage 60*a.* of Land, and 5*a.* of Meadow held of R. Whittington, as of Ruerdean Manor.

2 Ed. 4. Wm. Walwyn, died leaving Alice, his Daughter, and heir who married Thos. Baynham. Esch. No. 26.

Joan, the Heiress of the Baynham's. m. John Vaughan, and according to Fosbroke, the Heiress of the Vaughans, m. Gifford, from whom Sir John Gifford, and from him by purchase, Mr Clarke.

But John Clarke, Esqr. is named in the Survey of 1641, as Possessor of Ruardean Woodwardship then containing 1936*a.* whereof all was wood except 597*a.* open Land.

And the Vaughan family held after that date as is seen by the Inscriptions on their Tombs, and by the Enrolment of their Deeds in the Office of Clerk of Peace under the Papists' Estates' Register Acts.

John Pearce, was Lord at the Forest Survey, 1832.

There were also other Estates:

Flaxley Abbey held an Estate which after its dissolution was granted to Sir H. Kingston, and thence as Flaxley.

Two Messuages with Land one called Webb House in Ruerdean:

John Smith, and Wife claimed in right of the Wife, as Heir in tail against Hy. Rudge. III. Chy. Proogs. Eliz. p. 58.

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE CHURCH.

CHANCEL.

ON A HANDSOME MONUMENT.

In Memory of
MARY, the beloved Wife of
THOMAS BROWNE, Esqr.
An amiable Woman, a tender Parent,
And a good Christian.
She died Nov. 20, 1758,
Aged 55 Years.

THOMAS BROWNE, their 2nd. Son, who died 16 May 1761,
Aged 21 Years.

SUSANNA, 2nd. Wife, of the above
THOMAS BROWNE, Esqr.
who died Febr. 29, 1784,
Aged 77 Years.

In Memory also of
THOMAS BROWNE, Esqr.
who finished an active, and well spent Life, on the 18 April 1788, in the 75 Year of his Age.
May the Industry, Probity,
Justice, and Innocence of so valuable a friend to Society,
Be perpetuated to the World
In his latest Posterity.

many mullets Argent.

In Memory of
JOHN BROWNE, Esqr.
whose Remains are interred in this Chancel.

He was the only surviving Son of
THOMAS BROWNE, Esqr.
of this place, and intermarried with MARY, the Daughter, and afterwards the sole Heir of JOHN BEALE, late of Temple Guiting, in this County, Gentleman,
By whom he had 3 Sons, and 2 Daughters.

He died 6 Sept. 1782,

Aged 46 Years.

Also in Memory of MARY, the Wife of the said JOHN BROWNE, who died 21 of the same Month,
Aged 40 Years,
Whose Remains were deposited near her Husband's.

They were both eminently distinguished for those Virtues which afford comfort in this World, and insure happiness in the next.

RICHARD, their youngest Son, died the 9 Febr. 1788,

Aged 6 Months, and 14 Days.

ANN, their Youngest Daughter, died 22 Oct. 1782,
Aged 6 Months.

JOHN BEALE BROWNE, Esqr.

eldest son of

JOHN BROWNE, and MARTHA— SUSANNAH, his Wife, who to their inexpressible grief departed this Life, on the 9 April 1824, Aged 24 Years.

He was endeared to his family
by the warmest affection, to his friends by the kindest disposition; while the excellent qualities, and good sense which marked his character in early life induced a confident anticipation, that if his days had been prolonged,
he would have filled his situation in society with credit to himself, and advantage to those around him.

ON ANOTHER TABLET.

This Tablet is erected to the Memory of the beloved Children of
JOHN BROWNE, Esqr.
and MARTHA SUSANNAH, his Wife, who departed this Life,
at the following Ages:

MARTHA SUSANNAH, died the 28 Decr. 1803, Aged 9 Years,

Aged 3 Years, and 9 Months.
MARY ANNE, died 7 June 1812,
Aged 4 Years, and 3 Months.
JOHN, and ROBERT BEALE, died in their Infancy.

These amiable, and engaging Children were thus early taken away from their sorrowing Parents who humbly hope their Change is from this World to a better.

CHANCEL MEMORIAL WINDOW.

This Window is erected to the Memory of
JOHN BROWNE, Esqr.
of the County of Gloucester,

Aged 75 Years.
Also to MARTHA SUSANNA, Wife of JOHN BROWNE, Esqr.
of Salperton,
who died Jany. 17, 1843,
Aged 75 Years.
Beloved, and Esteemed by all who knew them.

This Monument is erected in sincere Regard to the Memory of THOMAS BEALE BROWNE, Esqr.
second Son, of the late JOHN BROWNE, Esqr. and MARY, his Wife, whose amiable disposition Engaging Manners, and probity of heart, Endeared him to all his acquaintance, and whose early dissolution was most severely felt by all his relations, and friends.

He exchanged this transitory Life,
For a blessed, and joyful immortality,
On the 12th. day of Jany. 1795,
Aged Eighteen Years.

(This Inscription was formerly in the Church.)

In Memory of

JOHN BEE,

Impropriator of this Parish,

He died Augt. 29, 1731,

Aged 69 Years.

Also of CATHARINE BEE, his Wife, who died July 12, 1788,

Aged 73 Years.

Pious to God, Friends to the Church, and Poor,—
Of none surviving can be spoken more.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Estate; II. Church; III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Salpertone in Bradley Hundred, contained 10 Hides taxed. Under culture were 3 plow tillages in Demesne, 7 in Villenage, (10 Villans.) and 11 among the Serfs. A Priest. There were 5a. of Meadow, and a Water Mill. The Estate was worth 7£. and had been worth 9£. Wulward had held this Estate, and Hugo L'asne then held it.

There was another Estate:—Ralph, held 4 Hides in Sapleton of the Church of Worcester, as of Cleeve Manor. (Domesday Survey.)

From L'asne the chief Manor came to the De Laci family, and is probably now in the Crown.

Hen. iii. Of them the Knights Templars, held this and Guyting, to whose Court the Inhabitants gave service.

After the suppression of the Templars we find it in the hands of Cirencester Abbey, and in Valor Ecc'us. it is thus scheduled:—

	£.	s.	d.
Rents of Assize of free, and customary tenants ...	lxvii.	iii.
Farm of Site of Manor, and demesne Lands ...	xxvi.	vij.
Farm of the Pasture called Frogmarsh ...	xxvi.	vij.
Farm of the Sheep Pasture together with 16a. of Meadow at Latton, Wilts. assigned for Hay for the Sheep.	xi.
Perquisites of Court there held	...	iii.	iiij.
Clear Yearly Value	xii.	v.	vij.

On the dissolution of Monasteries: Winchester College, by Crown Grant in Exchange.

The Demesne Farm of Winchester College, was over 300a.—with the right to take 16 Loads of Hay, from the Meadows by the Thames at Latton in Wiltshire, a provision for winter feeding of Stock.

Of this farm W. Roberts, Steward of the Manor of Cheltenham, was Lessee at the end of the 17th. Century. Afterwards members of the family of Browne were for many Years Lessees.

There were between 500, and 600a. of Copyhold, and some freeholds of smaller extent.

1753. Thomas Browne, acquired from Freeman, Dobbins, and others a good Estate partly of freehold, and partly of copyhold Lands.

1760. Settlement on the marriage of John Browne, only son, and heir of Thomas, by his former Wife, on the marriage of John, with Mary Beale, Daughter of John Beale, of Temple Guyting, Gent. Of this Settlement John Beale, the Younger, of Rood Lane, London, Grocer, and Edward Sampson, of Henbury, were Trustees, and to them the Lease holds were assigned, the freeholds conveyed, and the Copyholds surrendered.

At the Inclosure 1780, Allotments were made of the 1334a. Commonable Lands to—Winchester College, Lords of the Manor, and E. Sampson, as their Lessee. And Among Freeholders to—J. Browne, Corpus Christi College, of whose farm (30a.) J. Browne, was Lessee, Hanks, and others, and among Copyholders to—T. Browne, (80a. Winchester College, 53a.) Rogers, (22a.) Walker 150a., and 71a., and others.

The Copyholds were enfranchised about 1866, and the Reversion of the Winchester College Lease sold to the Lessees.

There is a Farm of Corpus Christi College, Oxford. An Estate was held by the Studley, and Cantilope families.

II.—Church:

A Priest there was at the Domesday Survey. It was afterwards an Appropriation belonging to Stodley Priory, Warwickshire. 6 Dugd. Monast. (Ellis.) 185.

On the Dissolution of Monasteries, 35 Hen. viii. Richd. Andrews, and W. Temple, (In Trust,) by Crown Grant.)

After passing through the hands of J. Bee, (see Church Inscriptions.) Cosley, of Bristol, Tracy, Fane, (Lord Westmorland.) we find Thomas Browne, Esqr. as Impropriator at the time of the Inclosure Act. He received an Allotment of 211a. 2r. 36p. for Tithes, which were all extinguished by the Act, and an Allotment of 85a. for Glebe.

The Curate is entitled to a stipend.

Supplementary Notes I. as to Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Tazation, &c.

I.—Sandhurst Parish derives its Name from "Sanher" Manor a small Estate mentioned in Domesday Survey as being in Dudstone Hundred, and claiming to be taxed but for 2 Hides, and whereof were under culture 8 Plow tillages in Domesne, and 5 in Villenage, (4 Villans, 4 Bordars, and 30 Serfs,) and which had meadow sufficient for the plowed Land. This Estate with Hersefel and Athelai, (Haresfield, and Hatherley,) had been in the Confessor's time the property of Edmar, a thane having free power of disposition. But they had been taken from him by Harold; and with Herscomb, and Broctrop late of other Thanes, were let to farm for 46*£*. 3*s*. 4*d*. to Robt. de Lurei.

Domesday Survey.

Other Portions of Sandhurst Parish lie within the Villa, or places of Culverden, Moreslade, and Bruern, which had been carved off the Manor of the King's Barton, near the Palace at the Holme by Gloucester, of the Saxon Kings.

Of these Bruern only is mentioned in Domesday Survey.

"Brewere one of the Members of this Manor (Berton,) contained 3 Yard Lands, and 3 Men, Eldred, Archbishop of York, holds and Milo Crispin, under him. Milo Crispin, holds 3 Yard Lands in Dudstone Hundred, Wigot held them; under Culture, were One plow tillage in Domesne, and 2 in Villenage, (7 Bordars,) and there was half of a fishery. It had been worth 40*s*. then only 30*s*."

There are many Entries in the Records, as to these Places, but it is not easy to apply them discriminately.

Sandhurst:—this Manor with Lands in Culverden, also, belonged for centuries to the Willington family whose connexion is still preserved in the name Willington Court Estate.

2 Hen. iii. M. of Sintes was then in Ralph de Willeton, who had a Grant from the Crown of a Market franchise there.

Rot. Claus.

11 Edw. ii. H. de Willington, had licence to embattle his House at Culverden.

Rot. Pat. 2nd. Pat.

He fell into the power of the Spencers; was executed at Bristol, and 17 Edw. ii. a Commission was issued to inquire concerning the Miracles falsely feigned to be done over the Bodies of this Henry, and Henry de Montefort.

Rot. Pat.

The Estate appears however to have remained in the family. It devolved like Frampton Cotterell, Abington, &c. Vol. I. No. cxxii. till 1505, 20 Hen. vii. when the Heirs general conveyed it to several as Trustees for the Crown.

Giles, Lord Daubeney, by Crown Grant.

6 Hen. viii. Henry, Lord Daubeney, by descent, he was made Earl of Bridgewater On his death without issue, the Crown by Escheat.

Edward, Duke of Somerset, by Crown Grant.

4 Mary, John Bassett, by Crown Grant.

7 Eliz. Arthur Bassett.

P. Winstone, by purchase.

see Church Inscriptions to this Family.

..... Viney.

Willington Court, and 300*a*. Land, were sold to Ralph Fletcher, of Gloucester, to whose Trustees it belongs.

Culverden, and Walesworth within Berton:

Lands in Culverden, wereheld by Robert le Savage.

5 Hen. viii. Christopher Throckmorton, died seized of Culverden, and William, his Son, had Livery of it, and of 20 Messuages in Sandhurst.

Inq. post Mort.

9 Eliz. Livery was granted to Thomas Throckmorton.

This Estate came to the Bell family, and afterwards to Samuel Hayward, Alderman of Gloucester, whose Grandson of the same Name built Wallsworth Hall, the House on the Estate. He married Catharine Saunders, of Gloucester. His Daughter, and Heir Catharine Augusta, m. Walter Wilkins, of Radnorshire, (De Winton,) from whom it has devolved to the present Proprietor. Wallsworth, (the place where the Welsh dwelt.) was an Estate, granted out by the Crown on services of petty serjainty to persons called from the place William, and Ralph de Walesworth.

Moreslade; and Ablodes Court:

Hen. i. This was held of Kings Barton Manor, by the Abbot of St. Peter, Gloucester.

9 Edw. i. The Abbot, and John de Willington, were returned as Lords of Sandhurst.

Six Ridges of Land were granted by Ralph de Willington, and Olympias, his Wife, to the Abbot.

17 Edw. iii. The Abbot held. (see Pope Nich. Tax.)

3 Plow tillages of Land worth 40*s*.

Rent of Assize 2 Marks.

Profits of the Stock 10*s*.

Compensation for Work, and Taxes 6*s*. = *£*4 4 8

33 H. viii. The Crown by Surrender; and this Manor with half Woolridge Wood, were granted to the Dean, and Chapter of Gloucester, by Crown Grant.

Buern:

The ecclesiastical fee passed from York see, to St. Oswald's Gloucester; and then, probably as Churchdown.

Buern, and Park part of the Honor of Wallingford:—

15 Edw. i. The lay fee was in the Boteler family to 36 Edw. iii. Quo Warranto.

6 Hen. iv. John Kenn, died seized.

This Estate was afterwards Carpenter's who presented it to the Living 1753, and from them it came to Vernon.

The Moat Farm belonged to Lysons, from which name it passed with their Norton Estate.

At the County Election in 1776, the following voted for freeholders in this Parish.

Butler, John.	Kent, Thomas.
Bertie, Chas. (Clerk)	Lane, William.
Daniel, George.	Mills, John.
Drinkwater, Joseph.	Organ, Charles.
Ellis, Robert.	Rogers, Samuel. (Clerk.)
Hayward, Saml. Esq.	Salcomb, William.
Hickman, Benjn.	Vernon, W. Hughes, Esq.

II.—Church:

The Rectory was appropriated to St. Oswald's Gloucester, and it is called a Chapel to that Church.

1543. On the dissolution of Monasteries it was granted to the Bishop of Bristol.

Sir ROBERT ATKYNs, of Pinbury Park, in Gloucestershire, Knt. Son of Sir ROBERT ATKYNs, one of the Justices of the Court of Common Places in the Reign of King Chas. 2nd, afterwards Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and Speaker of the House of Lords, and Grandson to who was one of the Barons of the said Court. While he lived, he was beloved, and honoured:

Sir EDWARD ATKYNs,

And when he died, the loss of him was lamented by all who knew his Private, and his Publick Virtues. He was always loyal to his Prince, loving to his Wife,

Faithful to his Friends,

Charitable to the Poor,

Kind, & Courteous to his Neighbours: Just to all, Sober, and Serious in his Conversation, and a Peace-maker to his utmost Power,

His obliging Virtues endeared him to his Country, who chose him for their Representative in Parliament as often as he would accept of their Choice.

He lived with great Indifference for Life, and without the fear of Death, and dyed of a Dysentery at his House at Westminster, on the xxix, day of November in the Year of our Lord MDCCXI, and of his Age LXV.

He left behind him LOVISE, Lady ATKYNs, Daughter of Sir GEORGE CARTERET, of Havens, in Bedfordshire, his most dear, and sorrowful Widow, who erected this Monument to his Memory, though he left behind him one more durable, "The Ancient, and Present State of Gloucestershire."

Descent of SAPERTON Manor.

ULF, (son of King Harold.) held Sapleton, & Frantone, tempore Edwardi Confessoris.

William the Conqueror, gave them to Robert de Todeni, who died 1088. scised of Risendon, Horedon, Saperton, and Frampton, Co. Glouc.

William de Todeni, took the name of Albini Brito.

SAPERTON MANOR DESCENT.

Supplement by Sir T. P.

FRAMPTON MANSEL.

Frampton Mansel, in Saperton, belonged in Edward Confessor's reign to Ulf [? Son of King Harold,] but William the Conqueror dispossessed him of it, and gave it to Robert de Toden, who died seized of it 1088, and his Son, William de Toden, succeeded to it, who took the name of Albini Brito. From that time it is difficult to trace the descent of this Manor, For it appears not to have been included in the Manor of Saperton, held by Alard le Fleming, nor does it appear in the division of Fleming's property between the two daughters, and coheirs of the Fleming line, married to de Insula, and Hussey, Frampton passed into the Bohun family for the next earliest notice we find of it, by name, in, that William Mauncel, in 1306, held 1 mess 2 Carucates of Arable, and 20 a. of Wood in Frampton juxta Saperton, of John de Bohun, Vide Inq. p. m. 1325. Here we see it had not yet acquired its addition of Mansel. Whether it was included in the lands held by the family of Mansel under de Novo Mercatu, or Newmarche, there is nothing to shew, for although the last William Mansel held 2 parts of a Knight's fee in Com Glouc. in 1166, under Henry de Novo Mercatu, and the same or another William Mauncel held the fifth part of a Knight's fee in Tortworth in 1236, under James de Novo Mercatu, yet Frampton is not named in either of those early Tenures.

From William Mansel in 1806, we have the Pedigree clear to Philip Mauncel.

We find in the Records,

Alexander de Dutesborn. =

John Alexander, of Dutesborn. =

John Alexander, in 1321, grants to William Mauncel the Manor of Over Lypiatt, remainder to his Son William Mauncel. (Pedes Finium.)

William Alexander, of = Alice. Fynbere in Dutesborn. Will 1544.

Walter Alysaunder, Junior. 9 H. 6. 1431.

Richard Alexander, of Charlton Kings. 14 H. 8. 1523.

It is not improbable that a Match about this time took place between the Alexanders, and the Mauncels, which may account for the family of Alexander assuming the additional name of Mauncel. For it is singular that the branch of Alexander, (already settled at Charlton Kings before the 1st of Edwd. 3 1327,) took the name of Alexander, als. Mauncel, about the time of the death of William Alexander, of Fynbere in Dutesboun.

William Mauncell, 1166. tenet 2 partes feodi Militis de Henr. de Novo Mercatu.

William Mansel, 1236, tenet quintam part em feodi Militis in Tortworth. de Jacobs de Novo Mercatu.

At Saperton Hill, is one of the entrances to the Great Tunnel of the Thames and Severn Canal, the other is at Heymond. The Tunnel is 2½ miles in length, 15 ft. wide, arched throughout. It cost 30,800 £.

See "Cotes" Parish, Vol. 1.

At Denway a quarter of a mile below Saperton, is a chain of 7 Locks in the Canal.

THE Church is small. It consists of a Chancel, Nave, with Gallery at the West-end, and had a Low Tower with Battlements at the West-End, therein one Bell. [1872. The Gallery had been taken away, the Chancel reerected, and lengthened, a new North Aisle built, the Church new pewed, there is a room for a second Bell in the Tower.] On the Pulpit is carved EDMUND BEERD, and JOHN MOREN, 1638. and on the Clerk's Desk SAMUEL KING, Church Warden, A. Dom. 1674.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Estate; II. Church; III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Saul is not mentioned in Domesday Survey. Under the Name "Salley" it occurs in Nom. Villar. the Abbot of St. Peters, Gloucester, and Galfred de Frethern, being Lords. Before the Parish was formed, the Abbey Estate here was deemed to be a Hamlet in Standish.

On the dissolution of Gloucester Abbey.—

Edw. VI. Edward, Duke of Somerset, by Crown Grant.

6 Edw. VI. The Crown on his attainder.

Sir A. Cook, by Crown Grant with Standish, Hardwick, &c. Pat.

The Frethern Estate passed to Clifford, thence to Cage, by Marriage, and thence to Bayley, by purchase.

There was another Lay Estate.

1 Hen. VI. Sir Hen. Stafford.

These manerial Estates or the bulk of them became united in Floyd or Lloyd, whence to Cambridge as Whitminster.

As to R. O. Cambridge. see New Annual Register, 1803. Biog. 53.

Records of other Estates.—

R. Bullock, his son William, and Daughter Catharine, who m. J. Beale. Esc. 29 Eliz.

2, & 3 V. c. 5. Inclosure with Frethern.

1843. Award Inrolled 1846, with Clerk of Peace.

The Award assigns to Charles Owen Cambridge, as Lord of Manor 13 p. and for Recreation Ground 1 r. 17 p. and allotments for private Lands to C. O. Cambridge; Thos. Morse; Edwd. Bloxson Senr. and Junr.; Gloucester, and Berkeley Canal Navigation Company; Stroud Water Canal Navigation Company; Brinkworth, Broacher, and others.

1776. Voters at County Election:—

Bent, Jno.

Bayley, Wm.

Cullis, T.

Hall, R.

The Stroudwater Canal runs through the Parish, and joins the Severn at Framilode.

The Gloucester, and Berkeley Canal, also passes thro' the Parish crossing the Stroudwater Canal which is brought by Locks to its Level. These Navigations, and their Works are here seen to great advantage.

SEISENCOTE.

[The Church,] DEMOLISHED.

Supplementary Notes to as I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Acreage, &c.

i.—Seizincote like Eyford, (near Slaughter,) and Rowell (in Hawling,) is the name of a House, and Estate. Once it was a Village but its Inhabitants have long hence departed, and its Church been demolished. As in the case of Eyford, its decay is attributed to Civil Wars: Eyford's to the Wars of York, and Lancaster; and Seizincote's to those of the King, and Parliament. It would appear, however from the Nonse Rolls that depopulation had began earlier in these Parts namely at the Period of the French Wars, see Sevenhampton, Shipton Oliffe, &c.

As regards Property, Seizincote was much divided at Domesday Survey. There were 5 Estates:

i.—Seizincote in Celfedetorne Hundred of 2½ Hides whereof in Culture were 2 Plow tillages, and those in demesne with 5 Bordars. Its worth was 6 £, and had been 4 £. This was held by Durand, the Sheriff, and by Walter under him The Saxon Owners had been Leuin, and Leoric.

The other Estates were in Witelal Hundred.

ii.—Of 4½ Hides whereof in Culture were in Demesne 2 Plow tillages, and in Villenage, (8 Villans,) 6 Plow tillages, And there were 10 Serfs. This was in the Crown, and of the King, Walter the Deacon, (probably the same person as Durand's Sub-feudist,) held. Its worth was 60 s. and had been 40 s.

iii.—Of 1 Hide, whereof in Culture, were 2 Plow tillages, with 4 Serfs, Its worth 10 s. had been 40 s. This was held by Urso D'Abitot. Elwin had been the Saxon Owner.

iv.—Of 1 Hide having 1 Plow tillage in Demesne, with one Bordar. It was worth 10 s. This Hascot Musard held; and the Saxon Uluuin had held.

And v.—of 1 Hide having 2 Plow tillages in Demesne with six Serfs, and one Bordar, Its worth had been 50 shillings but on account of the Meadows was only 12 d.

Humfridus de Medehalle, held this; and the Saxon Aleuici had held it, for a Manor and had been taxed.

Hence it appears that Walter, held 2 of the 5 Estates; How the others got united does not appear. Dabitot's passed by Marriage to Beauchamp, and thence to Grevill.

20 Edw. 4. Sir J. Grevill.

There were other Estates:

1 Plow tillage:—

15 Edw. 1. Nicholas de Sherborne, was fined for subtraction of Services due to Kiftesgate Hundred in respect thereof. Quo Warranto.

A Messuage, and 2 Plow tillages:

33 Edw. 1. Thos. de Sezenecote, or Chesnecot held.

This was held of Robt. de Godmanston. Atkyns.

Maud Sezenecot, by descent, daughter, and sole heir.

In Senescote, the Abbey of Bruern held.—

3 Carucates of Land, each worth 12 s. £1 16 0

Rents of Assize 1 6 8

Cross, Profits of 1 10 0
Pope Nich. Tax.

These 3 last Estates were acquired by Grevill—

1 H. 7. Thos. Cokesey, (Greville,) for his demesne Lands in Seysncote, paid 2 s. fine to the Hundred.

The Heirs of Sir Edw. Grevill, dece'd by Indenture held Lands of Bruern Abbey, at Seizincote, at an Annual Rent of £6. 13s. 4d. Valor Ecc'us.

This must have been under a fee farm Grant.

Bruern Abbey Reversion:

The Crown by Surrender; Anthony Stringer, and J. Williams, by Crown Grant, And Grevill, from them.

All the Estates:

1608. Sir Edw. Grevill.

C. 2. Sir Wm. Juxon from Grevill; Lord Guildford from the Juxons (T. 4 Jac. II.) Sir C. Cockerell from Lords Guildford. 1814. Sir C. Cockerell, was High Sheriff of Gloucestershire.

ii.—The Church, or Chapel belonged to Bruern Abbey, but Winchcomb Abbey, held a Portion of the Tithes.

The Advowson at the Dissolution of Monasteries was granted with the Manor, and the Winchcomb Abbey Portion of Tithes in 1547, to Sir T. Seymour.

The Church was in Blockley peculiar Jurisdiction, and is united with Longborough, in Stow Deanery.

John Gybbons, the Rector at time of the Valor Ecc'us. returned his Tithes predial, and personal at x l. iiii s. iiij d.

There were 2 Virgates of Land, among Lands of John Grevill, Esq. and One Close in hand.

Reprizes to be deducted 10 s. 6d. Valor Ecc'us.

iii.—Population, Taxation, &c.

CCXXIX. SEVENHAMPTON.

THE Church is built in form of a Cross, with a Tower in the middle; therein three Bells. It is dedicated to St. Andrew, Adrian de Castello, a Cardinal, and Bishop of Hereford, (afterwards translated to Wells,) in the 19 King Henry 7. gave a parcel of Ground to build a Church House upon, which pays one half-penny at the Feast of St. Michael, yearly, to the Lord of the Manor.

At the Seven Wells* is the Rise of the River Colne, which, passing by Andover's Ford,† and Frog Mill, runneth from Withington, Cumnpton, and Yarnworth, under the Fuss Bridge, where it meeteth with another Stream which comes from Colne Church, and passeth through Fairford, and Lechlade, and so falleth into the Isis. (sic.)

The following is painted on the Wall in the Church.

"This Inscription gives an Account of the Repairs of the Church, which were begun in the Year of our Lord 1771, and finished in the ensuing Year. A Subscription was opened, and Money subscribed, but not sufficient to compleat the Work according to the plan, and the Money was put into the hands of the REV. MR. JOHN LAWRENCE, to lay it out in the best manner he could, which he did, untill all was expended. Then WALTER LAWRENCE, Gent. (which was an assistant to his brother's undertaking,) took it in hand, and finished the whole at his own expence, which was, the Doors, his own Seats, and all the new Timbered Seats in the lower part of the Church except MR. REDDALL'S. Likewise he gave the Hangings of the Pulpit, Reading Desk, and Communion Table, with many more things not here contained."

THE PRESENT LORD OF THE MANOR,

MR. LAWRENCE.

DESCENT of the MANOR.

The Manor of Sevenhampton was in the possession of the Episcopal Church of Hereford, at the time of the Domesday Survey, and so remained till 1549 when a Lease of that Manor was granted by the Bishop of Hereford to Richard Willyson, for 90 years who assigned it in 1553 to William Wenman, of Fringsford, Co. Oxon., and in 1568 Wenman assigned it to Stephen Hales, and October 24, 1569, Stephen Hales transferred his interest to Robert Lawrence of Shipton.

In 1562, Scory, then Bishop of Hereford, granted the Manors of Sevenhampton, and Brockhampton, to Queen Elizabeth in exchange for other Estates.

On June 7 1590, Queen Elizabeth, by Letters Patent, granted to Thomas Crompton, and others, all her Manors of Sevenhampton, and Brockhampton, &c., late the property of the Bishop of Hereford, with Rents of Assize, Customary Rents, Scite of Manor House, and Demesne, Court Baron, View of Frank Pledge, Free Warren, Fairs, Markets, Tolls, Customs, and Appurtenances.

June 29 1591, Thomas Crompton, and the other recipients of the Letters Patent, assigned their interests to Sir William Throckmorton, Knt. and Nov. 14 1608, Sir William Throckmorton conveyed the Manors, and their Appurtenances, to Anthony Lawrence, son of Robert Lawrence, of Shipton, from which time the Manors of Sevenhampton, and Brockhampton, have remained in the blood of the Lawrence family.

SEVENHAMPTON, & BROCKHAMPTON,

Documentary Chronicle relating to the Cultivation, and Ownership of Lands, at Four successive Periods, from Domesday Survey A. D. 1084, to the Inclosure in 1815.

The private documents, here-after referred to by dates, are in the possession of

WALTER L. LAWRENCE, Esqr.

1st. Period, (Anglo-Norman.) 11th, 12th, & 13th. Centuries.

(1).—Particulars furnished by Domesday Book.

Sevenhampton was a Vill held by the Bishops of Hereford with the adjacent Manor of Prestbury; its Extent was 20 Hides.

Culture:

In Tillage there were 20 Carucates, or Plough Lands, (equal to about a fourth part of the Hideage.)

Estates.—In demesne two of the 20 Carucates. 2 Tincments.

(a.) Durand,* the Sheriff, held of the Bishop 3 Hides.

(b.) Three Freemen with their Men, (servi ascripti glebe.) held 7 of the 20 Carucates.

(c.)—Twenty one Villani, or Bordarii (afterwards copyholders.) held the remaining 11 Carucates.

(2.) Other Estates.—5 John. One half Hide of Land in S. belonged to Ralph, then to Philip, and John the Clerk, and his sons, and then, by their Grant, to Philip Sintelf.

Rotuli Chertarum 5, & 9 John.

Population, and Taxation.

(3.) The Population must have exceeded 100.

(4) In '8 John. (1216.) By the Kings Precept, Ralph Musard, Sheriff of Gloucestershire, was directed to give to Walter Lacy seizin of Prestbury, and Sevenhampton, belonging to the Bishop of Hereford, the profits to reedify Hereford Castle. †

(Close Rolls.)

* Durand, was a large Holder of Lands in Gloucestershire. (inter alia) Shipton. (now Shipton Oliffe), adjacent, and Ralph held Shipton under Durand.

Durand's Heir was his Brother Roger, whose son Walter was Father of Milo, Earl of Hereford, the Founder of Lanthony Abbey, near Gloucester, whence perhaps these Lands of Durand might have passed to that Community.

† The ground, or pretext for this expropriation might be the Tax, or Obligation called Trinoda necessitas to which tax all lands ecclesiastical, as well as civil, were liable. Arcium constructio was one of the necessities. Also, this would shew how the tax was levied, viz. by the King's Writ.

The Church.

(5.) No mention in Domesday of a Presbyter here Appropriation, From Abbreviated Chartulary of Lanthony in the possession of Sir T. Phillips, Bart.

Lanthony Priory, near Gloucester, had two Churches * in Prestbury, one under the Hills, and the other on the Hills, with all Tithes, (except 2 Portions of Tithes of the Demesne,) by Gift of Robert, Bishop of Hereford. (Robert Foliot, who died 1136, or Robert de Melun, late Prior of Lanthony, who died 1148.) confirmed by Dean, & Chapter.

Also Two Virgates of Land in Prestbury, by Gift of Ernald, confirmed by his Son Ralph.

Also One half hide of Land in Callescombe in Sevenhampton, by Gift of Ernald de Bannebury, which he had by the Gift of Walter de Forthington, at a Rent. (the Lords Services to be rendered entire for this, and his other Lands, by Ernald.)†

(6) Brockhampton is not mentioned in Domesday, but must have been put under S. or Prestbury probably the former.

(7.) Hampen in Sevenhampton Parish, it would appear, was not under S. in this record.

2nd. Period.—From the Fourteenth Century to the Sixteenth (Plantagenet)

(8) Sevenhampton, and Brockhampton, Culture, The tillage Lands were in Common Fields. There were large Downs. B. is in some documents of the Period called "B in the Wold."

(9) Estates:

Manor 3 Carucates were held in demesne.

* The Church "super Montibus" was probably a building on the high ground called Old Sennington, the Site, and existence of which is preserved in memory by Tradition

† It was always an object of Ecclesiastics to obtain Gifts of Land free from secular services "in free, & perpetual alms." This was contrary to the policy of the Law which sought to preserve such services. See Statute Quia Emptores, & Stat. 31 Ed. 1. Stat. 3, & others.

A Water Mill* paid yearly 13s. 4d.

Addition to the Manor Estate:

(10.)—10 Edw. 3. Three Messuages, and Lands in Clopely,† Sevenhampton, and Whitebourn:
Bishop of Hereford, by Grant from Roger de Breyn-ton, (Clerk.)

(Inquisitiones ad quod Damnum, † 10 E. 3.)

Other Freehold Estates.

(11.)—35 Ed. 3. Edmund de Crupes of Whittington, held in capite Lands in Brockhampton. (Inq. post Mortem.)

(12.)—34 Ed. 3. Grant by Walter Frenche of Brock-hampton in the Wold, of all his Lands in Brockhampton, Whitewell, and Clopely, to William House, and John le Heyr, in fee. Witnessed by John Solers of Shipton Solers, John of Upote, (in Whittington.) Richard Shakelok, Robert Hillmond, William Genyns of Halling. Seal lost.

(13.)—11 Ric. 2. Grant by Robert Coles of North-leach, to Thomas le Frenche, of Brockhampton in the Wold, of a Parcel of Wood called Anneys wood, lying between Puckcombe, and Nash Quarry, abutting on the Bishop of Hereford's land, and extending to the King's Highway leading to Stowe. Witnessed by,—H. Bodenham, T. de Walleye, (Walley Farm.) H. Chantrel, of Hallynge, R. Olive, of Shipton. (Shipton Office.) J. Coles, J. le Heyr, T. Sotty, J. Cape-lond, R. le French. Seal.

(14.)—8 H. 6. Grant by Thos. French, Clerk, to Walter Baker, of Wynechombe, of all his Lands in Brockhampton, Sevenhampton, Clopely, and Whitewell, and the Grove, called Agneys Wood. Witnessed by,—John, and Robert Solers, Wm. Aston, T. Chapman. Seal.

Population, and Taxation.

(17.)—In the Nonse Rolls Taxation, 9 Ed. 3. of the ninth sheep, fleece, and lamb, Sevenhampton was assessed at 16½ marks.—£11. 6*s.* 8*d.* but out of this was deducted
£6. 7*s.* 4*d.* being £3. 10*s.* for Hay, and other Tithes of the Rector, and 2 Marks, £1. 6*s.* 8*d.* for 2 years £2. 13*s.* 4*d.* for that the greatest part of the arable Land lay uncultivated, on account of the inability of the Inhabitants to till it.

† Clopely is a place between Sierford, and Sevenhampton.

‡ The Writ of Ad quod Damnum was a Precept directed to the Escheator of a County, to inquire by a Jury, whether it would be to the damage of the King, or others, if a patitur al alienation in mortmain were permitted. It was a restraint upon an abuse of the amortization of Lands by religious Bodies, and was further enforced by Stat. 34. Ed.
1. Stat. 3. & several other Acts; but the Ecclesiastics found means to evade their provisions by various devices, and contrivances.

See 2 Reeves Engli*sh* Law 330.

For another instance of Ad quod damnum proceeding see Period IV.

§ It appears by the careful preservation of the services to the Lord
Bishop on Ernald's Land granted to Lanthony Priory (see above)
Tenements had been granted of the Manor of Prestbury, cum Membris
And by the account of the Rents of Assize in Tax. Nich. and of the Rents of Rents of Customary Lands in the next Period, that predial services had been largely commuted for Money and that Customary Tenure had acquired stability. Predial, or Villein Service in kind is therein mentioned for Works in Autumn, (the most pressing time of the year.)
Only some of the Holdings being distinguished as for Lives, the others must have been of Inheritance or "abi, et suis."

THE Church was rebuilt by the late JAMES LENOX DUTTON, Esqr. It consists of a Chancel, and Nave very neatly pewed with a Gallery at the West-End, and a handsome high Spire, at the West-end, therein five Bells, the entrance is on the North side by a portico supported by two free stone pillars of the Doric Order.

[The Body of the Church, was rebuilt by JOHN, Lord SHERBORNE, in 1859, the Gallery was then taken away. The neat Pews gave place to open seats, and the Grecian Portico to a Gothic Porch, the Spire has a Clock, and Six Bells. A new Cemetery on the opposite side of the Road, was consecrated in 1872.]

BENEFACTIONS.

The whole stock of the Parish is 28 £. 0 s. 0 d.: ALEXANDER READY, Clerk. gave to the Parish, £13 0. 0.

Six Pounds to be lent out for five years, upon good Security to be approved of by the Minister, and Church Wardens towards the preferment of some poor Maid that is born, married and dwelling in this Parish, £6. 0. 0.

Four Pounds more to be placed out on the like condition for the preferment of a Second Maid, in the same manner, £4.

Three Pounds for the space of one year only to some Poor Inhabitant, and then to another, £3. 0. 0.

All which poor Inhabitants, and Maidens are to be chosen by the Consent of the Minister, and Church-wardens, for the time being, by whom their Sureties are to be approved; for which sum of thirteen pounds, they are to pay 4d. in the Pound Interest, which is to be distributed the Sunday next before Christmas by the Church-wardens in the Church of Sherborne, to thirteen poor Inhabitants by equal Portions. But the design of the Donor failing by reason of the Inability of Poor persons to give Security, and other Inconveniences the sum of 13 £. (and another Stock of 15 £.) set forth at Interest to several Inhabitants of the Parish, at 1s. 6d. in the pound, which is paid by the Church-wardens to the poor on Monday in Easter week.

Also there is a small close of 40 s. per ann. towards the maintenance of a Schoolmaster, but since there is none it is bestowed by the consent of the Parishioners upon the Parish Clerk.

Close by the Church is Sherborne House, a stately Edifice built with a front, and two wings similar to a College: It was rebuilt about 1831.]

ON A TABLET AGAINST THE NORTH WALL.

To the much loved Memory of ANN CONSTANCE BARONESS DUNSANY, Youngest Daughter of JOHN, LORD SHERBORNE, this Tablet is inscribed by her deeply sorrowing Husband.
Bereaved affection would dwell upon her Virtues, But the remembrance of her dying humility, and regard for her last wishes forbid the praise of man in the house of his Maker.

In the prime of Life, after patient endurance of suffering with humble faith, and unshaken courage,
She received her Lords summons,
June 27, 1858, in the 42nd.
Year of her Age.

With her last words she testified that he in whom she trusted had given her the Christian heritage of perfect peace.

II.—Church:

1201. From an early date the Tithes, &c. of the Church were appropriated to the Abbey for hospitality, except one third of the Garb Tithe, and one Moiety of the Hay tithe, and Obventions, &c. together about 15 marks a Year, with which, and some Land the Vicarage was endowed Afterwards for avoiding Quarrels, and bad words arising between the Gatherers of the Tithes for the Abbot, and those of the Vicar, the Vicar's one-third of Garb Tithe was taken from him, and given to the Abbot. But the Vicar was to retain his arable Land, Moiety of Hay Tithe, and Obventions and also to have feeding for 6 Beasts in the Abbot's pastures A third of the 15 Marks was afterwards taken away from the Vicar, as a custom, or canon to sustain the Abbey Church. The Abbey, and successive Vicars were at Law concerning their respective Rights.

In Pope Nicholas Taxation the Church appropriation was rated at 7*l.* and the Vicar's Portion at 5*l.*

Hen. viii. Humphry Welys, perpetual Vicar returned the Benefice at 15*l.* 7*s.* 10*d.* He had 24*a.* of arable Land which he put at 6*s.* a Year, the Tithe of Wool, (the great staple,) was 7*l.* a Year. Tithe of Hay 30*s.* Lamb 32*s.* of Milk, Calves, and Honey 26*s.* 8*d.*

In the Poll Tax Roll, Ric. ii. There are besides the above Names, those of Hayse, Senegar, Bayley, Vykerly, Shepherd, Keyne, Copmer, Sterde, Attwater, Tasker, Janeworth, Wolde, Gwymalyn, Onnens, &c.

The Inclosure Act, of Sherborne and Windrush Manors, passed 12 Geo. 3. c. 106. The Award was made 15 October 1777, and is in the Office of the Clerk of the Peace at Gloucester.

Several Public Ways were set out, as from Northleach to Burford, Ashcroft in Sherborne, and from Wincheomb Mill, to Farmington, &c.

The Dutton family of old time, achieved some distinction by their Chief, then of Cheshire, bringing, by means of a posse of Men hastily levied at Chester, prompt relief to the English Garrison in a Castle (Rothlain,) in North Wales, invested by the Welsh. A somewhat similar attack was made on their own House at Sherborne at the accession of George the first, by Jacobites, (who had strong interest in the Eastern parts of Gloucestershire, and in Oxfordshire, where it is said Lord Mar's insurrection was concerted,) and it was in like manner beaten off. Their then Chief John Dutton, Esqr. was Colonel of the Kiftgate Division of Militia; and the object of the attack was probably to seize the Arms of that Regiment.

SHIPTON MOYNE, AND DOVEL.

THE Church consists of a Chancel, Nave, and two Aisles with two Transepts, the South Aisle, belonging to the Courts, and the North to the Hodges', and a Gallery at the West-end, and another at the West-end of the North Aisle; the sides of the Church are embattled. At the West-end is a strong low Tower with battlements, therein five Bells.

The Chancel has a small Vestry on the North-side, There is an Effigy of a Man in Armour, with his hands upon his Sword, cross legged, and his feet against a Lion. Also opposite is the Effigy of a Woman, with hands folded, at her feet a dog, both in niches in the Wall. Also in another niche an Effigy of a Man in Armour, with hands folded, at his feet a dog, by his side a Sword, and Shield.

[In 1864, The Church was rebuilt, the South Aisle, and Chancel being enlarged, and the Galleries taken away, and open sittings provided. A Brass plate at the West-end of the Nave records the fact that the restoration was made by the Rt. Honble. T. H. S. S. ESTCOURT, in Memory of his Father, and that he was assisted in the Work by contributions from his Family, and the Parish. Another under the Tower notes that the Porch was erected, and the Walls thereof inscribed with Scripture Texts by the Widow of Major Genl. J. B. B. ESTCOURT.

The Church was reopened in 1865. It is externally handsome, and internally much adorned, 1873.]

THOMAS ESCOURT, has a Handsome Seat, near the Church called the Manor House. [Of this House formerly Hodges's only some out-buildings remain.]

ON MONUMENTS.

Arms.—ESCOURT, as before.
Crest. out of a Ducal Coronet, Gules a demi Eagle with wings expanded Or.

Sacred to the never fading Memories
of

WALTER, & THOMAS ESCOURT, Esqrs.
the former descended from an honorable, and ancient Family
Seated here for some Ages past,
Bequeathed his Estate to the Latter,
That the fame so long conserved of his Ancestors,
might again revive, and flourish
Thro' the participation of his distinguished merit.

An Intention so great, so glorious in the bountiful Testator, was most happily accomplished in

THOMAS ESCOURT.

He was a man, Language wants Strength to Paint.

Worthy of better Times, a kind of Prodigy in these.

Steady from Conviction of Mind
To the true, and unalterable Interest of his Country,
with a Zeal uninstigated by Profit,
He considered private Happiness as dependant on public Welfare to which his Thoughts, his Words, his Actions, were devoted.

In the wide Sphere of his Extensive Fortune

Just, Generous, and Beneficent, as Reason, Pity, and Prudence demanded.

Tenants, Neighbours, Strangers
Felt it.

And from an unsought but not neglected Gratitude,

(For he took pleasure in seeing others pleased)

He was universally
Esteemed, respected, and beloved.

In the more restrained Circle of Family Endearments,

Gentle, Kind, and Good.
Servants, Relations, Friends,

Received daily instances of that Benignity of Soul,

No words can express.

Through all the Offices of Life,
A clear Head, an open Hart, were always conspicuous

In whatever he said, or did;

Untill from this World, where Virtues are often misunderstood,

And can be only applauded
He was called to that where even the most secret acts of Goodness are known,

And by the Author of all Goodness fully rewarded.

ESTHER ESCOURT,
Youngest Daughter of MATHEW ESCOURT, Esqr. and LYDIA, his Wife, died Sept. 3, 1785, Aged 37.
Her manners were pleasing, her temper amiable, and her conversation engaging,
Her piety was unaffected, and uniform, and her Charity without ostentation.

Her loss was most sensibly felt,
and lamented by all who knew her,
By none more sincerely than by her who inscribed this Marble to her Memory,
And who was indebted to her friendship for many of the Happiest hours of her Life.

In Memory of
the Rev'd. GEORGE WHEELER, M. A. for 24 Years Curate of this Parish, an Accomplished Scholar, and a profound Divine, his humility adorned his Talents, and Attainments.
These in the discharge of Ministerial duties, he employed alike to the Glory of God, and the Welfare of Mankind while his unbounded liberality, and Active benevolence; Proclaimed him the Poor Man's Friend, Of blameless Integrity, and Exemplary virtue, A Tender Husband, an Indulgent Parent, a Loyal Subject, a Disinterested Friend; in every Social relation he lived respected, and beloved having been supported through a long, and trying illness by the rich Consolation of the Gospel, and looking through his Saviour to the hope of a better resurrection, he quitted for a Season

Arms:—ESCOURT.

Sacred to the Memory of EDMUND ESCOURT,
of Lasborough in this County, Esqr.
His warmth, and consistency of character,
His firm integrity, and disinterested generosity
Made him by all respected, beloved, and regretted
He never forgot his friends nor regarded his own interests in serving them,
He gave to them that asked of him, and from them who would borrow of him he turned not away.
He died at Ramsgate,
Nov. 14, 1814, Aged 62 Years.

ON MONUMENTS.

To the Memory of the Honble. JANE ESCOURT, Widow of THOMAS ESCOURT, Esqr. and eldest Daughter of JAMES, Second Viscount GRIMSTON,
She died Febr. 3rd. 1829,
Aged 80 Years.

A Firm religious principle formed the basis of all her actions, and brought forth the richest fruits of unwearied benevolence to all around her She added to the natural dignity of her character, and the polish of her Manners, the Christian graces of Tenderness, Humility, Patience, and Charity.

In the retirement of Domestic life she sought all her pleasures, leaving a lovely image most dear, and precious on the memory of her Children, and Children's Children.
In health God's House was her favourite resort, God's word her daily food.
In life, Christ's Merits her only plea, in death her only refuge.

Underneath are interred the remains of THOMAS ESTCOURT, of Estcourt in this Parish, Esqr. who died Dec. 21st. 1818, Aged 70 Years.

He served his Country in four successive Parliaments as representative of the Hundreds of Cricklade, and for half a Century in this County, and Wilts., As a Justice of the Peace. In these Offices, and in every Relation as well of Public as of Private Life, a Truly Christian Principle, animated him with a desire to do Good, and integrity uniformly directed his conduct.

To the Poor a judicious, and unwearied friend, he studied earnestly to improve their comforts, and amend their habits; Simplicity, and benignity graced the practice of each virtue, and engaged from all who knew him affection, and esteem. But he sought not the praise of Men, The fear of the Lord was in him the beginning of Wisdom, and he closed his earthly course in a humble hope of mercy of God, through faith alone in the merits of his crucified Redeemer.

This Tablet was erected by his Brothers, and Sisters to preserve the Memory of one of the best of Family of ESTCOURT. "Not slothful in Business, fervent in spirit, continuing instant in prayer."

ON A WHITE MARBLE TABLET IS THIS INSCRIPTION.

To the Memory of ELEANOR BUCKNALL ESTCOURT, who died 23 June 1829, Aged 49 Years. She was Daughter, and Coheirress of JAMES SUTTON, of New Park, near Devizes, and Wife of T. G. B. ESTCOURT, Esqr. In her the most engaging graces of manner, and winning gentleness of disposition, were combined with a sound, and highly cultivated intellect; an uncompromising rectitude of principle, and ever active solicitude to bring up her Children in the fear of God. Her whole course of life exhibited consistent piety towards her Maker, As well as unwearied Benevolence towards her fellow creatures. And she died as she had lived Humbly trusting in the Merits of her Saviour, At the close of a Union of 29 Years, During which she was the joy, and blessing of her family. Arms:—ESTCOURT, as before. On a Scutcheon of Pretence—A canton Or.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Estate; II. Church; III. Population, Taxation, &c.

1.—In Domesday Book, 4 Estates in Shipton Moyne are mentioned:

1.—In Scipetone were 10 Hides taxed, whereof under Culture were in demesne 4 plow tillages, and 4 in Villenage, (4 Villans, 2 Bordars.) There were 4 Serfs; A Mill of 10s. and a pasture of 2s. (Yearly.) The Value of the whole had been 15 £. but at the Survey was only 8 £. yearly.

Strang a Dane had held it, and Maci of Mauritanica then held it of the King.

2.—In Scipeton were 10 Hides taxed, whereof under Culture were 3 Plow tillages in Demesne, and 4 in Villenage (4 Villans, 8 Bordars.) There were 4 Serfs. A Mill of 12s. and a Pasture of 2s. (Yearly.) The Value of this Estate had been 21 £. and but was then only 8 £. Yearly.

John, had held this in King Edward's time, and Maci, then held this also; Rumbald holding under him.

3.—In Scipeton, was 1 Hide whereof under Culture was in Demesne, 1 Plow tillage, and Half a one in Villenage, (one Villan, 1 Bordar.) Its Value had been 20s. then was only 14s. (Yearly.) Alwin a free resiant had held this, and Rainbert Fleming, afterwards but Maci, then held it also, and Rumbald of him.

4.—In Scipeton were 2 Hides, whereof under Culture were 2 Plow tillages in Demesne, and 2 Bordars, and 8 Serfs. Its Value was 40s. (Yearly.) This had been held by Wlufi a free resiant, before the Conquest, But after it, Ralph de Limas, and then Wm. de Owe, held, Hugh holding under Wm. de Owe.

Maci's Chief-fee, (1, 2, 3.) and Rumbald Sub-fee, (2, & 3, must have become vested in the Crown as 5 Hen. iii. W. le Moyne, held Scipeton under a Crown Grant in petty serjeanty.

SHIPTON SOLLERS

SHIPTON SOLERS.

THE Church is small, consists of a Chancel, and Nave, with a low Wooden Turret, at the West-end, therein one Bell. [In lieu of the Wooden-Turret, is now a Stone one, 1870.]
[This Church is now wholly disused. Neglect, and decay have done the Work of spoil, and defacement. The Font has been taken to Shipton Oliffs Church, and a broken one brought thence. The Pulpit-stand, the Hour glass, the Queen's (Ann's) Arms, and chief Pew are left; memorials sadly recording bygone times, and uses. It has been largely used as place of interment; and the pavement of the floor sinking in places into the Vaults below enforces the text of Dust to Dust. Still the rude frescoes, and holy texts, on the Walls remain; and the Roof (which is a handsome open timbered one within) is good. The Windows are,—4 perpendicular, 2 florid, and one, Lancet. Externally the Edifice bears the hand of time well, and it deserves, and it is hoped will obtain restoration, 1870.]

Supplementary Notes relating to I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Taxation, &c.

I. Devolution:—According to Doomesday Book, Shipton, (Sceptune) was in Wacrescumb Hundred, which also included Whittington, Withington, (of which Dowdeswell, was part,) and Hampen, or Hagpen. W. Hundred, was merged in Bradley, about Ed. I. Reign.

There are now 2 Manors, and 2 Parishes of Shipton—Shipton-Solers, and Shipton-Oliffe, Shipton Solers Manor, also takes in part of Sierford farm,—East Hill, now in Whittington Parish.

The Doomesday Record states the names of six several Saxon Holders of Estates in Shipton, and Hagpen, Edwy, Osgot, Walward, Bil, Pin, and Archbp. of York, (all of whom except the Archbishop were displaced after the Conquest.) There were also a Priest, and a Mill.

This Crowd of Settlers to a wealden place at so early a date was probably owing to its nearness to Wycomb, the military Station of the Romans, the Roads whereof facilitated access to the spot, and the Ruins whereof furnished materials for Building when the Inhabitants became more settled. The Look-out high places around this Station may have given a Name to the Hundred.

Edwy's Estate of 3½ Hides taxed, whereof, in Culture were 2 Plow tillages in Demesne, and two in Villenage (3 Villans 2 Bordars) and which had 4 Serfs, and was worth 2£, having been worth 4£ a Year, passed to Durand the Sheriff under whom Ralph held.

Osgot's Estate of 3 Hides, (less a Yard Land) whereof in Culture was 1 Plow tillage, and which had a Priest, 1 Villan, and 4 Serfs, and was then worth 20s. and had been worth 40s. a Year, passed to Leurie under whom Goisfrid held.

Bil's Estate of 3 Yard Lands only, yet a Manor, in Culture, 1 Plow tillage, and which was worth 10s. a Year, passed to Ansfrið De Cormeliis.

Walward's Estate, of 3 Hides taxed, and whereof in Culture were 2 Plow Tillages in Demesne, and 2 in Villenage, (4 Villans, 1 Bordar,) and on which was a Mill,—(probably Frog Mill,) and which was then worth 3£ and had been worth 4£ a Year, passed to Hugh Lasne.

The Archbp. of York's Estate of 1 Hide taxed whereof in Culture was 1 Plow tillage, and that in Demesne which Estate was worth 8s. a Year, was in Gundalf's tenure. In Hagpen, the Archbishop had also an adjoining Estate which Pen had held, and Ainsger then held, of one Hide whereof in Culture 1 Plow tillage, and that in Demesne, and which was worth 10s. and had been worth 20s. a Year.

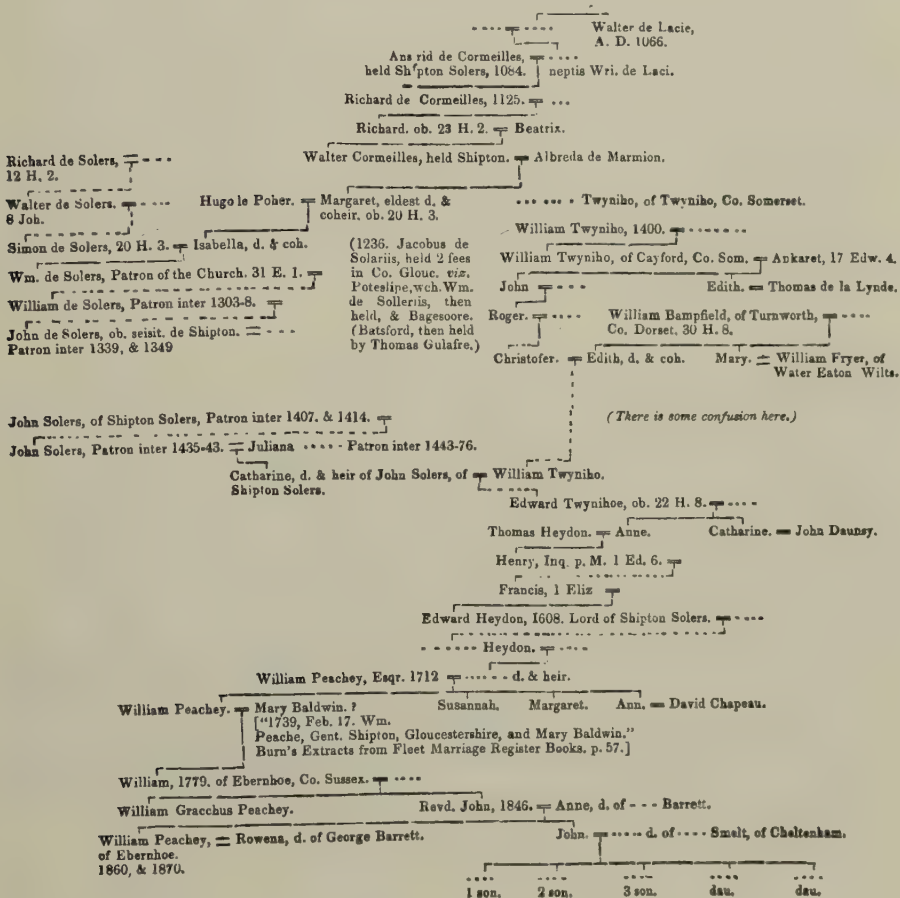

In Hagpen also was another Estate of Edwy, who was displaced by William the Chamberlain, and under whom Goisfrid held. It contained 5 Hides whereof in Culture were 2 Plow tillages, in Demesne, and 3 in Villenage. On it were 6 Villans, and 2 Bordars, and it was then worth 3£ and had been worth 5£ a Year.

This would make in the Shiptons, and Hampens 21½ Hides. As the Acreage of the Parishes of Shipton, and Lower Hampen, and such part of Upper Hampen, as is not in Sevenhampton, and Compton Abdale Parishes is according to the County Rate returns 2585 a. (Shipton Oliffe 1327 a. and Shipton Solers, 1258 a.) the old measurement of Doomesday, was remarkably exact.

Cormeille's Estate descended as shewn in the Solers Pedigree below, to Solers, Twiniho, Heydon, and Peachey.

(The following Pedigree requires to be verified. T. P.)

Descent of Cormeille's Manor.

Dansey's Moiety of Twiniho's Estate passed by Purchase to William Lawrence, (see "Taxation," Subsidy, Eliz.) and from his descendant by Sale to Heydon, who thereupon became seized of the Entirety 1760, and 1771, By a family Arrangement between Mary Peachey, and her son William claiming, respectively as Widow, and Heir at Law, and Margaret, and Susanna Sisters, and Devisees of Wm. Peachey, S. Solers, went to the Heir Claimant subject to an Annuity of 30 £. in fee to Ann Chapeau, another Sister of Wm. Peachey.

*II. Church:—*The Pre Conquest Church is supposed to be that at Shipton Solers, called in the Nonse Rolls, Shipton Chamflour. In this Parish 14 E. 3. the ninth Sheaf, &c. were valued at 20 s.

The Living was assessed at 5 £. 13 s. 4 d. in Pope Nicholas Taxation. There were several Portionists:—

Stotley Priory 15 s.

St. Peter's Gloucester 15 s. afterwards Bp. of Glouc.

Monmouth Priory 1 £.

Shipton Olyve Church dedicated to St. Oswald was on the Priory Estate.

14 E. 3. The Nonse Taxation of Ninth Sheaf, Fleece, and Lamb, was at viii. marks. vi. s. viii. d. being 53 s. 4 d. less than tax, because the Rectorial Lands tythes oblations obventions alterages, and small tythes were taxed the same year at xxiii. 4 d. and because as appears by the Jury presentment the greater part of the arable Land of the Parish which ought to be tilled, this year lay fresh, and uncultivated whose Ninths if the land had been cultivated would have been 2 marks, and within the 53 s. 4 d. was 2 s. for St. Oswald's, Gloucester.

The Shipton Solace Rector returned his Living at 7 £. 8 s. 10 d. whereout 1 s. 8 d. to be deducted for the Bp. of Worcester's Visitation, &c. Valor Eccl'us.

The Shipton Clyff Rector returned his Living at 7 £. 14 s. 11 d. less 9 s. 2 d. for Visitations, &c. Valor Eccl'us.

The Inclosure Award assigned Glebe for Tythes of all the arable common field Land, and Corn, or money Rents for Tythes of Old Inclosures.

OR SIDDINGTON SAINT PETER'S.

THE Church is dedicated to St. Peter, and consists of a Chancel, Nave, and North Aisle, or Langley's Chapel, so called, as did appear by Painted Glass which represented several Persons of that family; there were also painted on the Chapel Windows, the Coats of Sir Nicholas de Seymore, and Sir Thomas Gourney, but all the painted Glass is removed to Cirencester Church. In the North Wall of this Chapel are three Niches that have had brass figures, and Inscriptions, but now entirely gone. The Church has a Stone Tower, with the upper part finished with Wood, at the West end of the North Aisle, or Langley's Chapel, therein two Bells,—Siddington St. Mary's was pulled down in 1777, and the two Siddingtons united; but the Monuments, that were in that Church, are removed to Siddington St. Peter's. In this Parish is the Old Manor House now in the Occupation of Mr. Parker, it was built about one hundred, and fifty years ago,—Query if this is correct.

I. Estates:

At the Conquest there were 3 Manors of Sudington, and one Priest. The Anglo Saxon Owners were Ernesi, Ailward, and Oswald.

At Domesday Survey these Thanes had been dispossessed. 1.—Hascoit Musard had replaced Ernesi. This Estate is there stated to contain 10 Hides geldable, besides the Domesne. Culture:—In Domesne 3 Plow Tillages, and there were 8 Villani, and 3 Bordarii with $\frac{1}{2}$ Plow tillages.

There were 7 Servi. And of Meadow 20 a.

Then it was worth 8 £. and had been worth 10 £. Here was the Priest,

2.—Hunfrid, the Chamberlain, replaced Ailward. Anchtel was Sub-Tenant to Hunfrid. This estate contained 2 Hides. Culture.—In Domesne 1 Plow tillage, and 2 Bordarii, with $\frac{1}{2}$ Plow tillage. A Mill of 6 s. Rent. Its Value 40 s.

3.—William Fitz-Baderon replaced Oswald. This Estate is there stated to contain One Hide. Culture.—In Domesne, 1 Plow Tillage. There were 4 Servi. Its Value was 24 s.

It is stated that Ailward, and Oswald were free residents.

As to (1.) The name S. Musard, and Records attest the Ownership of the Musard family for several generations, as stated by Fosbrooke, V. II. down to the beginning of E. I. r. Parcelled off by them were:—

One Hide:—Church of Cirencester, by Gift of Constance Musard.

Reg. Cirenc. No. 2. (penes Sir T. Phillipps, Bart.)
And 1 Carucate:—Geoffrey de Langley, from the heirs of Asculf Musard.

Different Estates being called by the same name, and there being in one, or both of them a Chief fee, and a Sub-Fee, it is not always certain to which the general Name of Sudington in early Records applies.

Subsequently there is a distinction into Over, & Nether Siddington. This corresponds with the Ecclesiastical Subdivision. St. Mary's, and St. Peter's; the former being Upper, and the latter Lower Siddington, and St. Mary's is supposed to comprise what were Ailward's, and Oswald's Manors, and St. Peter's what was Musard's Manor; which supposition is not exactly true.

47 H. 3. Sudinton, (probably the chief fee) was granted to Clare, Earl of Gloucester.

The Clare Estates were partitioned among Coheireses one of whom was Eleanor, Wife of Hugh de Spencer.

9 Edw. 1.—Sodington is returned as one Vill, whereof were Lords, Hugo de Spencer, and Johan de Langley, and Geoffrey de Langley. (Nom. Vill.)

Over Siddington Manor:—Spencer's, as distinguished from Langley's, would be Over Siddington. Sodington Manor juxta Cirencester:

Hugo le Despencer pro Abbe. de Hales.

Inq. ad quod Dam. 12 Edw. II.

Supplementary Notes I. as to Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Tazation, &c.

1.—Under the name of Siston, are comprehended parcels of several ancient civil, and ecclesiastical Divisions which in the records relating to Siston are not easily distinguished from one another.

In particular there was a lay-fee—Siston proper, as it may be called, and a sub-fee under the great episcopal Manor of Pucklechurch adjoining; and there were 3 Church Seats, or places.

And 1st. as to the lay-fee, which seems to be that in Domesday Survey.

In Siston in Pullerrecce Hundred, were 5 Hides taxed, Culture: Ten Plow tilhages in Demesne, and Four in Villenage, (eight Villans, and ten Bordars). There were four Serfs, 6a. of Meadow. Its Yearly Worth was 100*s*.

Roger de Berchelai, held it, Anne, had held it.

Domesday Survey.

Roger, and his Brother Ralph were at the conquest, Lords farmers of the royal demesne of Berkeley; and after that subversion of Saxon Ownership, they not only retained their farm, but had grants of the Lands of several of their less fortunate Countrymen.

temp. Steph. William by Descent, Nephew, and Heir, son of Ralph.

3 Hen. ii. Roger, by Descent son, and heir. He was deprived of Berkeley, which was granted in-fee to Fitzharding.

Hen. ii. Robert, (a descendant,) by Gift on Marriage with a Daughter of Fitzharding, upon reconciliation sanctioned by cross marriages between the families.

After the names of Henry Berkeley, and Serlo, occurs Agatha, a descendant of Berkeley, who took by Gift on her Marriage with Rochford.

Isabell, by descent Daughter, and Heir.

20 Hen. iii. Grant of Free-Warren to Robert Walerand, who had acquired by Marriage with Isabell Rochford.

19 Edw. ii. Alan Plokenet, was possessor by Marriage with Alice, Heiress of Walerand.

In the Estate was then included parcel of Pucklechurch, Alan, holding a Manor of Siston of the Bishop of Bath, and Wells, Lord of Pucklechurch.

11 Edw. iii. Peter Corbet, Knight, was Owner.

36 Edw. iii. His Daughter, and Heir Margaret, (Ing. p. M.) marr. Dennis, whose Descendants held for 2 Centuries with some interruption, temp. 16 Edw. iv. of possession by J. Kemeys, who married the Widow of a Dennis, He had a son Roger, (a Lunatic.) and a Grandson, John, successive Owners.

1 Eliz. Maurice Dennis, held. The noble mansion, Siston Court, appears to be of this time.

1608. The Estate was in the Name of Billingsley.

Soon afterwards it came to the Trotmans; the descent in which family is carefully traced by Fosbroke.

By the antient Wills at Worcester, it appears that here were resident—John Clerke, 1508; Richard Dymock, 1538; Robert Cookson, 1535.

Fines of Lands here were levied 6 Edw. ii. by John de Abbadeston, to William de Mohun.

7 Hen. v. by Henry Goldney, and Wife, Joan, to Harshfield.

1649. by Thomas Monpesson.

The List of Voters for Freeholders in Siston, at the County Election in 1776, furnishes the Names of—Hendy, Thos.; Haynes, Chrr.; Jefferis, Thos.; Simmons, Thos.; Stone, Wm.; Strange, Math.; Tommas, Jno.; Tucker,; Whippey, Thos.; Whittuck, Chas.; Whitehood, Saml.; Wilmot, Edw.

Of Hamlets, and places in Siston, Warmley is the most populous, by reason of its Coal Works. It is now a separate Ecclesiastical District with a new Church.

In property connection with it occur the Names of Holland, (Atkyns' History.) Whittuck, (County Election, 1776.) And Dean, (Church Inscriptions.)

Mounds Court a house, and Estate for many generations in the family of Strange.

1638. E. Strange. (Church Inscriptions.)

1776. M. Strange. (County Election.)

Bridge Yate, partly in Siston, and partly in Abson.

The Name of "Meredith." (Atkyns' History.) and that of "Ivyleafe," Church Inscriptions. Abson, and Siston, have to be found.

Webb's Heath.—

Wickwick's Tenement on Webbs Heath.

1731. Demise by Thos. Trotman, to J. Oliver, for Lives of himself, Wife, and Daughter, at a Rent of 24 penny Loaves to be distributed at Easter by the Rector, Church-Wardens, and Overseers, among poor persons, and 4d. to the Lessor Yearly, The Parish has over held this Tenement.

Besides ancient Church seats, there are indications of the populousness of this place in remote dates.

At Overs "(Overt, Apertum), and other spots, there are traces of Roman, and probably of British occupation, military, and industrial.

The Elevated grounds were important for Stations, and places of look out, and the trackways cleared through the dense Woods of the District rendered accessible, and habitable many sites where the mineral Wealth lying not far from the surface, and other advantages invited settlement.

(From the British Gazette, and Sunday Monitor, 16th. December 1781.)

"A Particular description of a Young Gloucestershire Giant, Master Collett, Son of Mr. Collett, of Upper Slaughter, near Stow-on-the-Wold, only 12 Years old last April, measures four feet, one inch, and a half round the Waist, his Thighs 2 feet, 4 inches, the Calf of his leg 2 feet 4 inches, and is 5 feet, 8 inches high. He is very healthy, but so burthensome as to be unable to rise from the Ground when he happens to fall." He now (1801,) is not near so bulky, and is married, and has several Children, and keeps a School in some part of this County.)

Near this place are deposited the remains of MARTHA, Daughter of THOS. ROLLINSON, of Chadlington in the County of Oxford, Esqr. and Wife of FERDINANDO TRACY TRAVELL, Rector of this Parish, who died Augst. 27, 1780, Aged 39 Years.

Blessed with an even Cheerful Temper, a quick sensibility Tempered with no Common degree of Fortitude a Desire of obliging, and a disposition to be pleased, Her Benevolence gained the esteem of her acquaintance,

Her tenderness and Charity, Won the hearts of the Poor; Strict attention to the Duties of a retired life,

And anxiously watchful for the homely Happiness of her Husband, She was at once a Pattern, and Proof of the Highest Domestic Felicity, Skilful in the art of arranging her time, She thought no Portion of it too small for Improvement, Assiduous in the Education of her Children,

It was her earliest Care to impress their minds with the Principles of Piety, Charity, and Industry. Riper in Virtue than in Years, Her afflicted family would have been inconsolable for her loss, had they not looked beyond it to those endless joys which were always the object of her hope, And are now her portion for ever.

IN A NEW MORTUARY CHAPEL, ON THE NORTH SIDE OF THE CHANCEL, UNDER AN ARCHED CANOPY, A LARGE ALTAR TOMB, ON A BRASS PLATE OVER IT THIS INSCRIPTION.

In Memory of Rev. FRANCIS EDWARD WITTS, M. A. Rector of this Parish during 46 Years, Born xxvi. February MDCCLXXXIII, Died xviii. August MDCCCLIV.

In his own Neighbourhood as a Clergyman, as Chairman of the Stow Union for the management of the Poor, and as a Magistrate he was universally respected, and beloved. Being a constant attendant at the Quarter Sessions, his services were repeatedly sought in various departments of County transactions, and expenditure. He was a friendly Counsellor to all, even of the humblest Classes whom his unvarying gentleness encouraged to seek advice from him in their difficulties. In all his conduct he conciliated affection, without ever weakening respect. He was remarkable for combining activity of mind with tranquillity; quick understanding with sober deliberate Judgment; steady firmness with meekness, and unceasing desire, springing from the truest Christian principles, of preserving peace, and good will among men.

This Monument was erected in testimony of the regard, and esteem of many persons who possessed his friendship, or who admired his character.

The SLAUGHTER'S, and EYFORD, Supplementary Note as to I. Devolution of Estates.II. Church. III. Population Taxation, &c.

Slaughter as a place of habitation, and a name is older than the parochial subdivision. Situate near an ancient Roman, (and probably more ancient British) Road, on which stood the Town, or Station of Salmonsbury, which gave name to the Hundred, the place early attracted dwellers, and hence, doubtless, the termination "ter" or "tre" which in Celtic signified a dwelling, or home. Of the prefix "Slaugh" antiently "Sclo" no certain explanation can be given. If taken from local characteristics it should signify Water, having regard to the bright stream which flows through this fruitful Vale, and whence came the names of some of its first Inhabitants—Atwell, A Fonte, Atford. Eyford, higher up the Valley where the stream was fordable is a separate place once a parish with a Church; but now without a Church, and extra parochial, and in the County Histories usually described with Upper Slaughter.

The Crown held Salmonsbury Hundred, at Domesday Survey, and at Sloutre had a Manor of 7 Hides whereof under culture were, in Domesne 3 Plow tillages, and in Villenage (9 Villans, 1 Bordar.) 8 Plow tillages. There were 7 Serfs. 2 Mills of 1 mark of silver, a meadow of 10s. [Yearly Value.] Out of one of the Hides was paid 10s., & for the Dogs 5s. [yearly.] The Dog Rent shews that Beasts of the forest were superabundant.

The Sheriff of the County was the Steward of the Crown Estates in it. For this Estate that Officer was accustomed to return what he thought proper; and the Inquest knew not how to appraise it. But he added to the Domesne 1 Plow tillage, and let to 5 Bordars another Plow tillage, and then paid for the Manor, and the whole Hundred by tale 27*l*.

There were 2 other Manors in Sloutre. They together contained 3 Hides, in respect of one of them, 10*s*. yearly tax was paid to the Crown. Under Culture there were 4 plow tillages all in demesne. There were 4 Bordars, and 8 Serfs, and a Mill of 12*s*. Rent. Their Value was 6*l*. yearly. In Saxon times these two Manors were held by Offa, and Leuin both free residents; but after the Conquest were vested in Roger de Laci, and his Mother.

Awford, (Eyford,) was of 5 Hides' extent, all taxable. Under culture were in demesne 2 Plow tillages, and in Villenage, (12 Villans, 1 Bordar,) 5 Plow tillages. This, the Saxon Ernesi had held, but after the conquest Hascoit Musard got it. Domesday Book.

Crown Estate of Salemanesbury Hundred, and Slough-ter Manor:—Until Hen. III. this remained in the hands of Lord Farmers, (inter alios) Rd. Earl of Chester, and Lincoln, Wm. Mariscall, Everard Beaurere, or Boverer Walron de Cotes. Testa de Nevill 77. 1. Clause Rolls 231, 263.

6 H. 3. To Boverera by tort, or Contract succeeded T. Basset. Clause Rolls 4*s* 6, 507, 511.

To him in like manner Roger de Clifford, And 17 H. 3. Walter de Clifford, levied a fine, and held it 24 H. 4. apparently as a subfee.

H 3. Abbot of Fescamp, by Crown Grant in exchange for Winchelsea, Rye, &c. Rol. Parl.

Under this Abbey, Salesmonbury Hundred was discontinued, and the Villages of Slaughter went into a Hundred of that name nearly the same with Salmonsbury.

36 H. 3. The Abbot obtained a Charter of Free Warren. 15, & 28 Ed. 1. These Privileges were allowed. They led to great abuse.

The Jury presented that in the Vill of Slouthre, the Abbot of Fescamp, had return of Writs, and other royal franchises which impeded common Justice. Rol. Hundred.

And it is recorded under Bradley Hundred, That John Essewy, bailiff of Sloutre held a Court at Sloutre, & because certain of the Suitors, contradicted him in the said Court he had the Doors closed, and by armed men provided by him, slew 8 Suitors namely,—Ranulf Richer, John Fremman, and Thos. de la More. Rol. Hund. temp. E 1.

It appears by Pope Nicholas' Taxation that the Slaughter Estate of Fescamp Abbey, was mostly in the Hands of Subfeudists, the Land in possession being little when compared with the Rents of Assize for Land granted out.

2 H. 5. On the expropriation of the Alien Priory Estates, the Manor, and Hundred of Slaughter passed to the Abbess, and Convent of Sion Middlesex, by Crown Grant.

4 E. 4. Confirmation, 5 Rol. Parl. 532.

In which Record an account is given of the Rule of the Convent, which was in one part for Nuns, and in the other for spiritual Brethren.

H. 8. The Crown by Surrender.

8 Jac. George, and Thos. Whitmore, by Crown Grant. Orig. 8 Jac. 1.

Sir W. Whitmore, their Brother by descent.

1667. Rd. Whitmore, his 2nd. Son, by Will. m. 1. Eliz. George. 2. Catharine Deedes.

1771. Lieutenant General Wm. Whitmore, Grandson of Richard. m. Elizth. Pope.

George W. his only Son, died 1794.

1794. Sir Geo. Whitmore, K. C. H. m. Cordelia Ainslie. C. S. Whitmore, Esq. Q. C. their Son.

De Laci's Estate, (the Saxon Manors of Offa, & Leuin;) whether these got into the Hands of the Crown, and were included in the Grant to Fescamp Abbey, and so passed to Whitmore, is not proved but is probable. They might have come to the family of Atwell, and Slaughter, with the Subfee after mentioned. This question was in dispute between the Whitmore and Slaughter families, and was settled by a Award of J. J. Denton, and Probyn, in favor of C. Slaughter, 1729.

A Sub-fee in Over Slaughter:—Rd. Atwell, died seized. It passed by purchase to the family named "Slaughter" from this place; whose acquest, possession, & transmission through several generations, of these, and other Lands with the Advowson of the Church, appear in the following Notes of Original Documents in the Collection of W. The place of the Earl of Shrewsbury, where King Wm. III. in 1696, paid him a Visit, (see Macaulay's Hist. of Eng.) must have been Heythrope in Oxfordshire, not (as stated by Rudder,) this Eyford. On what authority the statement of Milton here composing some of his Poems rests, I know not.

II.—Church:

In Domesday Book no mention is made of a Presbyter at Slaughter.

The Parsonage of Over Slaughter, was appendant to the meane Manor of Atwell.

Patrons of Slaughter Upper:

Ricus. Attwell, 1317-22. Cobham.

W. Sloughtrre, 1401-7.

Thos. Do. 1425-35. R. Tydsale.

John Do. 1448-1476.

It continued with the Manor until the Conveyance of 1506, soon after which the Revd. F. E. Wits, on Mr. Travell's Death became Incumbent, and in 1652, Patron by purchase from Lord Sherborne, who purchased from Mr. W. L. Lawrence, Devisee of Rebecca Lightbourne, the Survivor of the Timbrell coheirs of Mary Tracy.

In Pope Nicholas Taxation it is assessed at £6 13s. 4d. In the Valor Ecclesiasticus, the Rector Lyson, by his Curate returns the Value of the Rectory at £15. 2s. 9d.

At the Inclosure the Rector, Wm. Slaughter, received Allotments for Glebe 45a. 0r. 29p.

And For Tithe 179a. 2r. 18p.

The Bells were recast, and the old Inscriptions were renewed.

1. Thomas Kyngham, ad laudem Dei facit istam campanam.

2. Serva Campanam Rogo Laure'ti fore sanam.

3. Eidanus dicor, Factoribus omnibus I. Cor.

Lower Slaughter, is not mentioned in Pope Nicholas' Taxation.

In the Valor Ecclesiasticus, it is called a Chapel to Burton super aquam, and assessed with it.

Yet there was a Rectory, and Church, and from Bishop Foliot's Letters (Fp. IV. Vol. 1. p. 10.) we learn that St. Mary's Church at Slaughter, had been attacked, its Roof torn off, firebrands, missiles hurled at the Bg. and it defiled with Bloodshed, wherefore He requested the Bishop of Worcester, (Simon) to come, and purge the Building after such sacrilege.

In St. Mary's was an endowed Chantry the Lands of which some time after its suppression:—

80 Eliz. were granted to E. Downing, and D. Dodding.

The Patrons of St. Mary's (Lower) Slaughter.

21 Eliz. Evesham Abbey.

The Advowson granted by the Crown to Sir Christopher Hatton, and now in Wadham College, Oxford.

Eyford:

The Patrons are named in the Note in the Estates.

III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

14 E. 3. 1340, The Ninth sheaf, fleece, and lamb, of the Parish of the Church of Over Slaughter, was assessed at 2 marks, being xls. less than the tax. [i. e. Pope Nicholas's tax which was taken as the basis of the calculation of the 9th.] of the Rectory, because the arable Land, pasture, tithes of Hay, Oblations, obventions, and small tithes were taxed that Year at 76s. 4d. and because the greater part of the tenants in the said Parish, were worth almost nought, and because 10 Virgates of Land fit for cultivation in the Parish whose ninths would have been worth 17s. lay uncultivated.

It would appear that Nether Slaughter, was taxed with Bourton-on-the-Water, and out of which the portion late of the Abbot of Fescamp, was deducted. Non.æ tax.

Eyford's Nona was assessed by the Jury at 26s. 1d.

Nona Roll.

In Ric. 2. Poll Tax Roll, 38 Persons are named in Upper Slaughter, among whom are of the name of Sloutre, (2.) of Vacherel (2.) Shepherd (3.) Clerk (2.) Stevens (2.) Offert, Pomeray, Eynsham.

In Lower Slaughter, the Names are Shepherd, Barlich, Caperon, Thodenham, Gyford, Hullare, Vorst, Benhall.

In the Subsidy 30 Eliz. Nether Slaughter: £. s.

These Names occur in the mortuary Inscriptions, "Prows" being vulgarized into "Spruce."

The Commonfield Lands in the Parish of Upper S. were inclosed by Act of Parliament 4 G. 2. under which Awards were made in 1731, and 1755, which are enrolled in the Clerk of Peace Office.

The allottable Lands were 1727a. all being in Upper Slaughter, except certain Lands in Lower Slaughter, given in exchange for Lands in Upper Slaughter.

1635, The Slaughters, and Eyford, were put in the Stow-in-the-Wold Union.

1835. Average of three years Expenditure on Poor of Lower Slaughter, £214;—of Upper Slaughter, £150;—and of Eyford, £41.

"Slehtanfornd" occurs as a boundary to the 4 tassets of Land given by Offa, King of Mercia, to Duddo his faithful Servant, Anno 779. Its proximity to "urbs" Sulmone's burg, and the River Wenise, (Windrush.) gives to it identification which the other boundaries—the Brook "Theodnigne" Withigford "Inwinesburg" want. *Cott. Mus. Aug. There is 10£ per annum to be paid by the Rector to Magdalen Collage, Oxford, to keep up the annual Custom there on May-day, of their Quire entertaining the place with Music, Vocal, and Instrumental from the Top of the College Tower. Here is a Church House, and two acres of Arable Land, given for the use of the Parish, about 50 Years ago. One Rood of Pasture called the Butt's. The late Rector (Revd. JOHN STONE,) purchased such another House, and Orchard adjoining to the Church House, worth 2£. 12s. per Annum, which he declared his intention to give to the Parish, the Rents to be distributed every Good Friday, among the Parents, or Friends of the Poorer Children, who are taught their Catechism the preceding Lent, 10s. to the Minister to preach on Good Friday, or 6s. 8d. if he reads an Homily, to the Church Wardens, 5s. for Overlooking. The Clerk to make an equal distribution of the remainder for which he is to have 12d. having delivered to each of the Children a 12d. loaf.

The Parish is about three Miles in Length, 2 in Breadth, and 10 in Compass, bounded on the North-east, by the Severn, the best part of a League over at full Tide, which runs up divided near each Shore with a head of Water. This is called the mad River, in the Chronicle. The Parish consists of several Tythings, Slimbridge, Hurst, Sages, &c.

Here lies he with his Offspring dear,
Joy of his heart, and solace of his care,
She fresh in Years, and tender
in her frame,
Withered, and fell by Febris'
wasteful flame.
The Parent anxious to allay the Fire
Unguarded stricken, did n'r her expire.
Oh gloomy state of Man,
when void of Fence,
Not virtue stands nor yet
can Innocence,
But sure the Good awaits a better Lot
A Child of God's can never be forgot.

In vain did Vigour crown his youthful prime,
In vain his head each modest virtue grac'd,
Too soon he fell beneath a foreign clime,
Doom'd to a grave within the wat'ry waste,
Yet cease ye weeping friends your mournful strains,

* In reference to this Inscription, the attention of the Reader is called to the following tribute of respect to Dr. Davies :—

"In an age when, according to the wise remark of Gibbon and others, too many are urging the ruin of their country, by exclusively confining their regards to opulence, it is pleasing to record, that the Revd. Wm. Davies, M. A. Rector of Rockhampton in this County, procured by his own individual unceasing exertions more than 100 Subscribers, [to Fosbroke's History.]
and moreover took upon himself the whole trouble of collecting the Money, and of other most fatiguing details. The Author hopes that this signal act of friendship, will be appreciated and acknowledged by the Readers of this Work ; and that his memory will be preserved and held dear by those who may hereafter incorporate these pages with labours of their own."

Fosbroke History Vol. 1. Preface.

What tho' his Body press a distant shore,
Know his freed Spirit dwells in heavenly plains,
Oh! seek to meet him there, where friends shall part no more.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Estate; II. Church; III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Estate:—

At the time of the Conquest, Berkeley, and its Members (Hertess) were Crown Land, whereof were Lord Farmers, or Tenants two Brothers namely Roger, and Ralph of Berkeley, who were free residents. Of Berkeley, Gossington which is now a hamlet of Slimbridge was a Member.

The same Roger had belonging to the Manor of Berkeley in Slimbridge, (Slimbridge) 2 Hides. In Cleanhanger, (Clinger now in Cam) 1 Hide. In Hersleye, (Hurst in Slimbridge.) 7 Hides. In Neutone, (Newington Esqpath.) 7 Hides. Culture: in Domesne, 10. Plow tillages, and in Villenage, (13 Villans, and 21 Bordsars.) 22 Plow tillages, 16 Serls, a Mill of 8s. The whole of these appurtenant fees were in King Edward's time worth 9*l.* and at the Survey 11*l.* 10*s.*

The record states, on the assertion of Roger Berkeley, that Earl William, (the Conqueror.) commended these Brothers to the Steward of Berkeley that he might have their Services.

As mentioned under "Siston" the Brothers retained their Estates after the conquest. Under the concord between Fitzharding, and Lord Berkeley, all "Slimebrigge" Manor, and Lands (except Gossington,) went to Fitzharding, and have remained part of the Berkeley Castle Barony. Save that—

1.—During the long period of contention between the lineal female Heir of Thomas, Lord Berkeley, (Elizabeth,) who married Richard Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and Lord Thomas, his collateral male heir claiming under an alleged Settlement, and their respective descendants, this as part of the Estates was dealt with by both the rival Claimants.

In the Preface to the "Chancery Proceedings temp. Q. Elizth." Vol. I. are examples of Pleadings of earlier reigns Amongst them temp. Edw. iv. (Preface lxxii.) is the Bill in Chancery of William, Lord Berkeley, against Margaret, Countess of Shrewsbury, for setting aside securities and assurances given by James, Lord Berkeley, and his son the said William, to the Countess, and Lord Lile, under duress at Bristowe, and Cisseter in release of the Plaintiff's rights to the Estates in which are noted the Warth, Newleaze, and Sage's land, places in Slimbridge, The Bill also charged upon the Countess the heinous offence of attempting William, Lord Berkeley's Life. This last Imputation the Countess by her Answer indignantly denied, and as to the securities she alleged that they were given before the Mayor, and entered on record in satisfaction of the claims against the Berkeleys for the Outrage, and spoil at Lord Lisle's Manor Seat at Wotton, and for the "fellowship" of the Berkeleys putting a tenant of Lord Lisle's a blindman, to the torture to extort a discovery of his Money, and other acts of misgovernance; for which crimes Lord Lile, as a Justice of the Peace had taken them into custody when he got into his possession the Warder of Berkeley Castle, and thereby procured admittance into the fortress.

35 Hen. vi. Sir E. Ingoldsthorpe, died seized.

7 Edw. iv. Margaret, Countess of Shrewsbury, daughter of Richard Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and his Wife Elizabeth, (Berkeley by Birth,) died seized.

2.—William, Lord Viscount Berkeley, Claimant under the alleged strict male entail Settlement, got possession. He had no issue. About 5 Years before his Death he alienated the Advowson of Slymbridge, for masses, and post obits, and 2 Years after this alienation (7 Hen. vii.) made a Settlement away from his family of Berkeley Castle, and Estates including Slimbridge Manor, on King Hen. vii. and his Heirs male. On the determination of the above entail—

1 Mar. Henry, Lord Berkeley, the owner of the Reversion had livery of the Estates.

There were several other Estates in Slimbridge, some of considerable extent.

Notes, &c. on Slimbridge Church.

Gossington:—

It appears in Domesday Book under "Udecestre" (Woodchester,) that Earl Godwin, held Berchelai, and that Gueda, (Harold's Mother,) being unwilling to partake of the produce of that Manor, Godwin purchased "Udecestre," and gave that to her for her sustenance while she dwelt at Berkeley. Her scruples (which did not extend to her residing there) arose from the destruction of the Abbey (of Nuns) at Berkeley. It is said in the County Histories that Gossington was part of the possessions of that Abbey, but no mention of the Abbey is made under "Berkeley" or "Gossington" in Domesday. Its Possessions must have been in the Crown in the Conqueror's time, and in the farm or tenancy of Roger, and Ralph, and mainly have gone to Fitzharding, by the pact purchase, but this part, Gossington was 9 Hen. ii. retained by Lord Berkeley of Dursley. Roger's descendant when dispossessed of Berkeley.

II.—Church:—

No Presbyter is mentioned in Domesday Book.

The living is a Rectory the advowson of which belonged to the manorial Estate until—1146. Stanley St. Leonard Priory, by Gift of Roger, Lord Berkeley.

1224. Thomas, Lord Berkeley, by Gift of Bredon Abbot of Gloucester, (to which Abbey, Stanley Priory was a Cell,) in Exchange for Loringe, or Lorrige farm in Cam, given by Lord Berkeley.

1485. Magdalen College, Oxford, by Gift of William, Viscount Berkeley, and Earl of Nottingham, reserving an Obit annually in the College Chapel on 2nd. or 3rd. Oct. for the service of Mass Prayers for the Souls of himself, and of certain Ancestors of his. 1501 Confirmation by King Hen. vii. (to whom the said Earl on being made Marquis of Berkeley, limited his Berkeley Estates in tail male.) Hen. vii. portioned, away 10 £ Yearly out of the Benefice to the College on account of its Poverty.

There is Commemoration it is said of King Hen. vii. probably representing the suffrages of the prayers, altho' that would have been a departure from the Donor's Intention, and has now, since the defeazance of the Estate granted to the Crown no foundation.

There was an old custom of a musical service on the top of Magdalen College Tower, and in comparatively modern times (i.e. since the restoration) a hymn composed by Dr. Smith, and set to music by Dr. Rogers, the College Organist of that time has been annually sung by the Choir on the top of the Tower at 5 O'clock A. M. on the 1st. of May. King Hen. vii. commemoration is now on that day, and it has been inferred that there is a connection between his Gift of 10 £. and this service. But the College Authorities consider the supposition erroneous; the original musical service being much more ancient, entirely secular in its character, and probably from a remnant of the feast of Flora.

(Information from Revd. Dr. Bloxham.)

19 Hen. vii. Maurice 5th. Lord Berkeley, recovered the Advowson of Wooton, and Slimbridge.

The "Notes Historical, and Architectural (Illustrated) of the Church of St. John the Evangelist Slimbridge, from Drawings by Francis Niblett, Architect and Member of the Bristol, and West of England Architectural Society, and the Letter Press by another Member of the same Society." There was an Act 41 Geo. iii. for inclosing Common Meadows, and Fields of Slymbridge and the large Commonable Grounds, Tumpy Ground, (384a.) New Ground (111 a.) the Warth, and with Powers to allot Lands in Cam, and Coaley, and to the Landholders of Frampton on Severn, and by consent old inclosures. Under it, an Award was made 1803, 27 July, inrolled in the Clerk of Peace Office, Gloucester.

By this Award a manerial Allotment of over 44a. was made to Lord Berkeley, Lord of the Manor; divers allotments in Cam, and Coaley, and 21 Allotments of Common-field Land in Slymbridge, were made to him. Large Allotments were also made to the Revd. W. Davies, in respect of his Leasehold Estates called Roll's Court, and Essington's, and (near 67 a.) for his Freehold Estates.

Allotments are also made to Adey, Cornock, Underwood, Phillimore, Paradise, and others, amongst them the names Pinnel, and Archer, found in the Subsidy Roll, 1 Edw. iii. occur. The property is much subdivided.

There are 4 Public Roads set out, 1 Church End Road. 2 Tumpy Green Road. 3 Shillant Road. 4 Old Hurst Road.

Provision was made for cleansing the Rine Ditch, and Lake; Two-thirds of the Cost to be borne by Slimbridge, One-third by Frampton.

The Allotment to Frampton Landholders of 125 a. was dealt with by a Private Act, 53 Geo. iii., & Award under it.

The Place retains its antient repute for fertility, some meadows yielding 3 mathes in the Year.

THE CHURCH is small, consisting of a Chancel and Nave with a Gallery, and at the West-end a Tower adorned with Battlements and Pinnacles therein One Bell. [The Church was rebuilt 1864, and then the Gallery was taken away.]

1551-2.—Bishop Hooper, put the benefited and officiating Clergy of his diocese of Gloucester, under examination as to their knowledge on these subjects:—1st. the Commandments, what they are and where in the Book of Exodus. 2nd. the Articles of the Christian faith, what and how supported by scriptural proofs. 3rd. the Lords Prayer what and where given. At that time Kenelm Deane, was Rector here; and it appeared on Examination that he knew not what Chapter in Exodus contained the Commandments, and could not rehearse them, that he knew but could not prove the Articles of the Relief, and that he answered well as to the Lords Prayer. John Piers, was the Minister, or Curate of this Place; and answered no better than his Rector. Such ignorance may seem surprizing, but as to the Commandments it must be borne in mind that the information of the Clergy was derived, mainly from the Breviary of the Church of Rome which did not give the Commandments in the order, or language of the Book of Exodus, the authority referred to.

The Number of Communicants is stated to be 130, pro-

THE SODBURIES.

Supplementary Notes I. as to Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—There are two places mentioned in Domesday Book under the name of Sopeberie, one in Ederestan Hundred, and the other in Grumbaldston Hundred. Why these camps were called by the common Name "Sope," is unknown. Some ages after the Conquest, we find the places in one, and the same hundred (that now called Grumbald's ash,) and distinguished by the additions of Great, and Little Sodbury.

Later still, Great Sodbury was divided into Chipping Sodbury, a place grown into a market town, and Old Sodbury the agricultural residue.

Sopeberie (Great) in Ederestan Hundred, contained 10 Hides in King Edward's time. In Culture were 9 plow tillages, 4 whereof in demesne, and 5 in Villenage, (12 Vil-lans,) There were 4 Bordars, and 18 serfs, one Park, and a mill of 5 s. yearly Rent. The Steward had lately added one mill of 40 denarii, There was a Wood a mile long, and one broad.

Humfrid paid for this Manor 16£ 10 s. One Yard Land in Wiche belonged to it, which paid 25 sextaries of Salt.
But at the survey Urso the Sheriff had so oppressed the Men that they could not then pay the salt. Domesday.

There are places named Wick not far off Sodbury, one joined to Abston, and the other in Berkeley. But this Urso, (Urso D'Abitot,) was hereditary Sheriff of Worcestershire; and the Virgate in Wiche the men whereof Urso had oppressed, was probably Land with Salt pits in Droitwich, which was terra regis, and whose Salt Works were in the Sheriff's care. The Manor of Muceltude, (Mickleton,) Gloucestershire, also enjoyed a Right to certain Measures of Salt from "Wiche" meaning probably, Droitwich. As to the Sextary as a Measure, its quantity is not exactly known. It is applied to the measure of Honey, elsewhere in Domesday.

Britric, the son of Algar, was the Saxon Owner of this Sodbury. With his other vast possessions, it was confiscated after the Conquest, and at the time of the Survey it was in the King's hands.

Wm. i.—Odo, Earl of Champagne, and Albemarle, by Grant of King William, i.

1096.—Stephen his Son, by descent.

1126.—William surnamed Crassus, or Le Gross, his son, by descent.

25 Hen. ii.—Hawise, his Daugater, by descent, marr. William de Fortibus, also called Crassus.

Thomas de Wayland, by descent son and heir.

55 Hen. iii.—Grant to him of Market, &c.

9 Edw. i.—He claimed to have return of Writs, assize of Beer and Ale, and pillory, and tumbrel.

19 Edw. i.—The King seized the Manor of Sobbers, for a year day and Waste, on forfeiture of Thomas Wayland, for felony and his abjuration of the realm.

Margery de Moso, his Wife and Richard, their son, petitioned against the seizure, on the ground that Thomas, had levied a fine G Edw. i. to Aspul by whom the Lands had been regranted to Thomas and Margery, for their Lives with Remainder in tail to Richard their son; and the first Estate being a joint one in both could not be seized for the forfeiture of one. This was accorded, altho it was urged that a felon's Wife ought not to enjoy his Lands during his Life.

Plac. Part.

This sub-fee appears to have reverted to the chief Lord and the accessory franchises to have been maintained. The chief-fee of this place, and the Hundred was in the De Clare family for 3 generations, and by partition among its Coheir-esses came to the 2nd. named Eleanor, who marr. Hugh D'Espencer.

41 Edw. iii.—Edward D'Espencer, son and heir was seized. He marr. Elizabeth, daughter of B. Burghersh, and died 48 Edw. iii. seized of the Manor of Sodbury and burg of Chipping Sodbury. (Esc. 2 par.) leaving Thomas, his son and heir. He was attainted, temp. Ric. ii. but his Estates were restored to his Daughter Isabel, who marr. Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick.

Hen. vii.—The King, from Ann, Countess of Warwick, as else where explained.

At the time of Leland's Visit the chief-fee of Sodbury, and the rest of the Hndred was in the Crown. "At Old Sodbury," he says there appere ruines of an olde Maner place longynge, as the Towne dyd, to the Earle of Warwicke, now to the Kyng. To the Erles of Warwicke, longed also Chipping Sodbury, a praty litle market towne, and thorough fayre to Brightetow, [Bristol.] Ther is a parke of the Kyng's by this town, sometime the Warwik's."

This Charter (which seems to have been inconsistent with the antient Grant of the territorial Borough franchise) was annulled, and Proclamation thereof made Jan. 1688. The old Borough Staff was restored.

II.—Churches.

The Church of Old Sodbury, with Chapelry of Chipping Sodbury is an impropriate Rectory originally given to the Benedictine Abbey of St. Peter, Worcester, by a Bishop of that see in 1218.

On the suppression of the Abbey, the Rectory was given by King Henry viii, to the Dean, and Chapter of Worcester.

In Pope Nicholas Taxation the Church of Great Sod-bury, was assessed at 10*£.* And the Vicar's Portion at 5*£.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

The Impropiator held a Capital Messuage in Old Sodbury, Yearly Value 66*s.* 8*d.* And the Rectory of Old Sodbury, with the Vicarage of Chepyng Sodbury, was worth in Rent, and farm, and tithes 14*£.* 7*s.* besides 4*s.*
payable to the Archdeacon. Valor Eccl'us.

Commons:

Temp. Hen. ii., and John.—William Le Cross, granted to the Bailiffs of Chipping Sodbury, for the use of the Inhabitants Rights of pasture in the Stub Ridings, and Lot Meadow Rights in the Meadow Ridings, two extensive tracts of Ground subject to a payment of 5*l.* yearly to the Lord of the Manor; 1*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to the Vicar of Old Sodbury, for Tithes, and 50*s.* to the Bailiff for an entertainment.

For this 50*s.* and 5*a.* of Meadow, the Bailiff by ancient Custom provides an Entertainment on every St. Stephen's Day for all the Males born in this Parish:

Hen. iii. Jurdan Bishop, Lord of Little Sodbury, confirmed to the Burgesses, and Inhabitants of Chipping Sodbury, the Cow Commons they had been used to enjoy on Dymmershed, and Norwood in Little Sodbury. These appear to be Kinggrove Wood, and Horwood Common, within the bounds of what was in ancient times Little Sodbury Park.

By grant, of William Green, the Burgesses had Common in Gauntsfields.

They pretended to be entitled to common Rights in the inclosed Grounds called the Nokes, Hangers, Kinleys, the Leys, and Meadows, and Moors. These Claims having led to contention with the Lord, and Copyholders of Old Sodbury, the suit was carried to the Council of the Marches of Wales, who 6 Edw. vi. referred the question to the Award of Sir Walter Dennis, and Serjeant Brook. Their decision was favorable to the Burgesses as to Common Rights in Kingsgrove, and Horwood, and Gauntsfield, but excluded them from the inclosed grounds, and Meadows, and Marshes.

And as 7 named Copyholders for Lives in Old Sodbury, had made Inclosures from the Meadows, they were by the Award excluded from Common in Horwood, and their rights were transferred to 19 named Owners of Cottages, and half Yard Lands in Old Sodbury.

The local Names of Codrington, Tilly, and one or two others are found amongst those Copyholders, and Cottagers.

The Grant of Jurdan Bishop, and Award of the Referees are given in extenso, by Rudder.

The Bailiffs, and Burgesses at their discretion distribute the pastures in the Stub Ridings to the Inhabitants yearly; and they assign the Meadow Ridings in Lots to 28 Inhabitants to hold for the Lives of themselves, and their Wives severally. The Bailiff has 5*a.* and the Hayward another parcel thereout.

The Inclosure Act 34 Geo. 3. recites Articles of Agreement 1791, between W. Henry Hartley, Esq. Lord of the Manor of Old Sodbury, and Little Sodbury, and the Duke of Beaufort, Chapter of Worcester, and other Proprietors of Lands in the North, and South Common fields, of Old Sodbury, and in White's Tynning, Grickstons, and Great Fields, of Old Sodbury, containing 688*a.* all together, and in the Common Mead, or Dole Mead, containing 106*a.* for the allotment into separate parcels by named Commissioners of the Commonable Lands amongst the Proprs. The Act confirms the Award, directs it to be enrolled at Westminster, or Gloucester, and a Copy kept in the Parish Church of Old Sodbury. It is not enrolled at Gloucester.

Transactions:

The antient borough, and old Villages of Sodbury, have been the scenes of some notable Events in civil, and religious history.

In the fine, and large Camp with a double ditch on the Hill of Little Sodbury, Edw. iv. placed his Army the eve of the day of his forced march to the fields between Cheltenham, and Tewkesbury where they lodged the night before the Battle of Tewkesbury. All the day, which was very hot his Army marched in 3 Wards having above 2000 footmen through the plains of Cotteswold, [the upland Country,] 30 miles, and by all which way, says Holingshead, they could find neither Horse meat, nor Man's meat, nor so much as Water for their Horses, except one little Brook of which they received no great relief for what with the horses, and carriages that passed through it, the Water became so troubled that it served them to no use. At a Village called Cheltenham, the King took a little refecton and caused his people to do the like with the provision of Victuals conveyed thither.

In the persecutions for Heresy, from the time of King Hen. vii. to Queen Mary.

Foxe in his Acts, and Monuments, &c.—says that a godly Woman was burnt for heresy in the reign of King Hen. vii. at Chipping Sodbury. He did not know the Woman's Name but he gives the Name of his Informant. He adds a circumstantial account of an incident which took place, to which the Bishop's Chancellor Dr. Whittington, who was the presiding official on the occasion, fell a Victim, namely that a Bull escaped from a slaughter house just at the time the Crowd were withdrawing from the spectacle of the burning, and rushing by them (no doubt as they drew on either side to get out of his way,) ran against the Chancellor who still remained at the burning place, and killed him on the spot. Sir R. Atkyns in his History says that this fact was affirmed by the Inhabitants. There is nothing incredible in the circumstances; and as to the reflections which the Martyrologist makes on the event, they are such as one might expect from a Writer who felt the horrors which he had to describe. Of fabrication which Foxe broke hints at (pious fraud,) I see no trace. It would be desirable to ascertain whether farther facts can be added in disproof, or confirmation of Foxe's narrative. It must not be assumed that it would not stand the test. In reference to another sufferer for professing the religious Opinions of the Reformation, (W. Cumberley,) burnt at Salisbury in Queen Mary's persecution, I find facts mentioned in a Record in this County which lend, unexpected support to Foxe's account of Cumberley's constancy and death, and of his Wife saving herself from a like fate by recantation, after a friend had given her an experimental taste of the torture of burning. It is an entry contained in the Rolls of the Crown Manor of Cheltenham, of a Tenement which Cumberley held of that Manor being seized as forfeited to the Queen for his Crime. But such forfeiture being contrary to the custom, the proceedings were void; and Cumberley's said Widow married a 2nd. Husband, who according also to the custom, obtained the Lands of the first Husband.

W. Tyndale, the Translator of the earliest printed English Edition of the Bible, was it is said born at Nibley not far from Sodbury, and he was in the early part of King Hen. viii. reign Chaplain, or Tutor in Sir John Walsh's house at Little Sodbury. It was several Years after this, at Antwerp, that this great Work was printed, and at Vilvord, near Antwerp, a Village where there now is a station on the Railway from Brussels to Antwerp, he received the first reward of his Labours, death at the Stake, at the hands of his Enemies.—Three Hundred and thirty Years after a lofty Monument to his Memory was erected on an eminence above Nibley. Foxe gives a good account of this Martyr.

John Pigot, it is said in the County Histories, was here burnt for Heresy at the time of the Marian Persecution. Foxe in 1555, says "the third of May, a Letter was sent to George Cole, and Thomas Daniel, to make search for, and apprehend John Bernard, and John Walsh, who used to repair to Sudbury, and carrying with them the bones of Piggot, that was burned, shewed them to the People persuading them to be constant in their religion; and upon examination to commit them to be further ordered according to the Laws. There is no mention in Foxe of a "Pigot" that was burnt in Gloucestershire, but there is of two of the name burnt elsewhere. And it may be doubtful whether the Pigot, and Sudbury, here referred to concern this place. One might have expected that Gloucestershire, the field of Bishop Hooper's zealous Labours, and of his final sufferings, would have been better explored than to have left such matters as these (which are not only of great local interest but important in the general inquiry how far the examples of suffering of Confessors strengthen, or weaken the constancy of the Brethren) still open to doubt,—But the history of the Marian persecution in this County still remains to be written.

In subsequent times, religious liberty was maintained against a too exclusive Church by the members of various dissenting congregations. The Baptists had early a church in connexion with Broadmead Bristol, the Society of Friends, the Independents, &c. had also places of meeting.

Of Celebrities the Sodburies can boast of the names of Sir John Walshe; David Hartley, the Metaphysician, Author of "Observations on Men;" his Son David the Diplomatist, for a character of whom, see Gentlemen's Magazine, Jan'y. 1814. Obituary, and for an account of whose invention to secure Houses against Damage by fire, see Lyons's "Enviours of London," under "Wimbledon," and Sir R. Phillips, "Walk to Kew," under "Putney Heath;" the Ludlows, Surgeons of whom Dr. Jenner, was a pupil, and several others.

SOUTHROP FONT.

THIS Parish takes its original denomination (Leche) from lying South of Lechbrook which however hath discontinued its course, and runs no farther than a little way from Sir R. DUTTON'S Park. There are other springs above the Church which run by Sir JOHN BRIDGER'S [The Manor House, Coln St. Aldwyn's,] into the Thames. The Parish is 3 miles in compass, one mile and a half in length, and one mile in breadth.

THE Church is small, consisting of a Chancel, Nave, small South Aisle, with a Gallery over it. It and has two small Bells between the Chancel, and Nave but no tower. [The Gallery was removed 1853. The Bells were removed to the West Gable, 1861. The Font is very antient (12th. Century,) and curious: Height 3 ft. 8 in. diameter 2 ft. 5 in. An Octagon, each Compartment 1 ft. 6 in. height with Figures in compartments 1.—Moses. 2.—Ecclesia. 3.—Synagoga. The other 5 figures represent the Christian Virtues subduing the opposite Vices,—Misericordia, against Invidia; Temperantia against Luxuria; Largitas against Avaricia; Patiencia against Ira; and Modestia against Ebrietas. And round the top of the font is a band of Tracery, 1873.]

Supplementary Notes I. as to Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Devolution of Estates:

In Standed in Witestan Hundred, were 15 Hides in King Edward's time. Culture: 3 Plow tillages in demesne and 16 in Villenage, (9 Villeins, 14 Bordars,) 17 in hands of 7 Radechenisters. There were 8 serfs, and half a fishery and a Wood half a mile long and one furlong broad.

Its value in King Edwards time was 16£. but at the survey only 12£.

This Manor was part of the demesne of St. Peter of Gloucester. But Archbishop [of York] Eldred had held it, and at the Survey Archb. Thomas, [of York.] held it.

Domesday.

It was by way of Security for money expended for the use of the then lay Monastery of Gloucester, in repair of their Buildings by the see of York, that the Archbp. held it. (Rudder.) And it was restored to the Monastery soon after the Conquest.

Besides this, the Domesday Record informs us that 2 Hides were rightly held by the Abbot of Gloucester, and one Hide was held unjustly by Earl Hugh. And that three Hides were held by Durand the Sheriff which Earl William, [the Conqueror,] gave to Roger, his Brother. These, Archbp. Thomas, claimed. The 2 Hides, which the Abbot of Gloucester still held, it must be inferred, were not in the Security. But the Archbp. must have laid claim to Durands 3 Hides on the ground that they were therein included.

The title of the Abbey to the 15 Hides, dated back to the Gift of Beornulph, King of Mercia, in 821, to it for the Poor.

1202.—T. Carbonel, 9th. Abbot, restored the whole Manor to the use of the Poor.

1346.—The Bishop of Worcester, decreed that the Almoner should pay a weekly sum for bread and 90 yards of Woolen Cloth yearly for 30 poor people.

The Income and Expenditure of Standish Manor, are thus given in the Valor Eccl'us.

Income:

"At Standish was a building called the Almyery erected for the use of the Abbey, [of Gloucester.]

The place gave name to the Chief Almoner of the Abbey. His Residence was at the Court House, part of the Almyery, the Gate way whereof still remains.

In 1516, Abbot Parker agreed with the members of his monastery that whereas the Manor of Standish among other small alms was burdened with the charge of distributing,—1 frieze Coat and 2 shillings, apiece yearly to 13 poor men. Likewise a mess called the Abbots dish, worth 8d. weekly paid in money, in Bread, or Corn, apiece to 13 poor men, which occasioned great inconvenience, therefore it was resolved to establish a Fraternity of 13 men called Peter's men to be nominated by the Abbot, 1st. of whom should be Prior and wear a Black Mantle." 6 £. 13 s. 4d. to be allowed to them for Bread, Beer and weekly pay and the Almoner to pay their other charges.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate; II.—Church; III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—This place and Woodchester were Roman and British Stations.

At King Stanley is a Roman Camp, two miles from which were lately found eight Roman Altars uninscribed but having on one face a Roman Soldier and one of them the Genius with a Cornucopia and a patera on an altar; also a brass coin of Alexander Severus, Reverse a Soldier with a Spear and Branch.' TR. P. VI. COS. III. Gough's Camden.

The distinctive addition to the name of this place shows its royal ownership of old. But whether it was a possession of the Mercian Kings, and thence transmitted to the United Saxon Kingdom, or was acquired by the subsequent Kings of England has not yet been ascertained from records.

There is no mention of King's Stanley in Domesday. It might have been included in Woodchester of which the particulars in that survey are scanty, the men of the County, not attending to render an account thereof to the Conqueror's Com'rs. In Woodchester were two Manors one then in the possession of Gueda, Mother to King Harold, under Grant from her Husband Earl Godwin; and the other had been held by Brictric of the Crown.

The first was in Longtree Hundred which comprised Hampton, Horsley, Cherington, &c. The other (Brictric's Woodchester), was in Blaclew Hundred, (now included in Whiston.) In the same Hundred were Frocester, Eastington, &c. The last Manor was of 5£. yearly Value, was tixed at 7 Hides and contained 16 Carucates of Land all in the cultivation of Villagers (16.) and Borderers (12.) A Burgess at Gloucester, paid 2s. and there was a Mill of 10s. yearly Value. It must have been a populous place. But no Presbyter is mentioned in either Woodchester.

Whether King's Stanley was originally part of the purlieus of the ancient Roman Station and Castle of Woodchester, or not, the above description of the last of the two Woodchesters, wouldnot be unsuitable to this place.

By Brictric's forfeiture his Estate came to the Conqueror; and so probably did Gueda's after her death.

From the time the Crown first parted with this Manor, temp. Hen ii, its devolution marks, for many centuries, the vicissitudes which attended the fortunes of several great families in this County.

Hen. ii. The Manor and Advowson by Crown Grant; in De Spencer.

37 Hen. iii. Adam De Spencer, son and heir of Thurstan De Spencer, was seized by descent.

53 Hen. iii. He obtained a Crown Grant of free Warren and weekly Market and yearly Fair.

Inq. ad quod dam. 15 Edw. i.

The fee paramount was in the hands of the Descendants of the Earl of Salisbury, who was the natural son of Hen. ii.

4 Edw. ii. Almaric De Spencer, died seized of 2 Yard Lands and 8*a.* of Land here.

34 Edw. i. A Sub-fee was created in John Notlyn and Wife.

6 Edw. ii. King's Stanley Manor and Advowson and Wallswood: J. Giffard, of Brimpsfield, by alienation.

Inq. ad quod dam.

15 Edw. ii. Grant of Custody of John Giffard's Land during his Minority.

Abb. Rot. Origin.

16 Edw. ii. John Giffard, was executed at Gloucester, for rebellion; and his Estates were forfeited and granted to Sir M. Berkeley.

1 Edw. iii. Yet J. Giffard is returned as having died seized of King Stanley Manor and Wallswood.

John Maltravers in tail, by Grant from Sir M. Berkeley, his Uncle.

And some possession must have been retained by De Spencer, as (2 Edw. iii.) a fee in a Message and Moiety of a Virgate of Land was subgranted or transferred by Almaric De Spencer, to John de Glanville.

27 Edw. iii. John Maltravers, left Joan, Wife of John Keyes and Alianor, Wife of John Arundell, Grand-Daughters and Coheirs; and by partition this Estate came to the latter.

Inq. post Mort.

47 Edw. iii. John de Arundell, by descent Grand-son and heir.

2 Hen. iv, 9 Hen. v, 13 Hen. vi. John, and John, and Humphry, had it successively by lineal descent.

16 Hen. vi. Wm. Arundel, by descent Uncle and heir of Humphry Fitzallan, Earl of Arundel.

1548. Henry, Earl of Arundel, presented to the Rectory, His daughter and heir, Mary married Thomas, Duke of Norfolk.

Eliz. The Crown on the attainder of their son Duke, Philip.

18 Eliz. Sir Chr. Hatton, by Crown Grant, or Lease.

1609. George Walter and John Williams, In trust for Garway.

W. Garway and others, by Crown Grant.

1568. John Knottesford, afterwards Ducey Moreton, Lord Ducey, in which family it remained until sold by Henry, Earl Ducey, to Mr. Leigh.

The Borough Manor, which is now but as seigniory was once an extensive tract which had been carved out of the Crown Manor, or comprised one, or more of the Subfees thereof. It was by sales of parcels to different persons under the reservation of feefarm Kents that this Manor became so reduced in extent.

There was a large immigration of Flemish families to this Neighbourhood in the time of Edw. iii. for the weaving and making Cloths of the Wool of the upland Country.

Of some of these families the descendants are still found here. The settlement of these Foreigners and other Parties taught by them their art, occasioned much subdivision of property in the Vallies of the streams whereon their fulling and other Mills and factories and dyeing Works were placed.

This mode of alienation by Grants in feefarm was suited to the Views of Purchasers like the Clothmen who contemplated making large Outlays in improvements for manufacturing purposes, and of Vendors who sought to keep up the semblance of a feudal superiority.

This Manor was in the Bridges family who held Woodchester, John Baker Dowell, of Over in Almondsbury, married Elizabeth, the heiress of that family and their son John Baker Bridges Dowell, died seized 1743.

1743. The Revd. Staunton Degge, by Will of J. B. B. Dowell.

1753. Samuel Paul, of Rodboro' Clothier, by purchase, Afterwards Nathl. Peach.

1809. Settlement by Sir Samuel Wathen, Knt. on Paul Wathen and his sons, in tail.

1816. Desentailing fine, and Declon by Paul Baghott, late Paul Wathen and his son Samuel Paul Baghott.

1818, 1829, & 1834. S. B. Lediard and afterwards his son T. Lediard, from Sir P. Baghott and son by Conveyance and Recovery and Confirmation by Sir P. Baghott's Assignees and Mortgagees.

1843. R. Cripps, from T. Lediard and his Assignees by purchase.

1844. Jos. Kings, by purchase.

STANLEY PONTLARGE.

[This is not mentioned in Bigland's Collection.]

Notes as to Devolution of I. Estates. II. Church. III. Tithe, Population, &c.

The addition to the name of this Parish is derived from a former Possessor of one of the two Estates of which it is composed.

30 Hen. iii.—Robt. de Pontlarch. Esch. No. 25.

36 Hen. iii.—Wm. de Valence, afterwards Earl of Pembroke, by Crown Grant, on Escheat of Pontlarch. Carta, Patent.

Pontlarch's Estate was held under Sudley and contained 2 carucates in demesne and 4 in Villenage.

In the Inclosure Act 1807. Lord Rivers the Owner of Sudley is named as Lord of this Manor, and he received an allotment of 2r. 22p. in respect of his manorial Rights. They probably represent the ancient chief fee.

Edw. i.—John de Bampton by Exchange in fee farm at Rent of 40s. Rot. Hund.

This appears to be part only of Pontlarch's Estate, "Nauntun Bampton" is mentioned in the Subsidy Roll, 1 E. iii.

Yet the Estate seems to have passed from Valence and Pontlarch to the Berkeley family and thence to their descendants, Talbot, Lisle and Beauchamp and afterwards to the Crown by forfeiture.

Hen. viii.—Thos. Cromwell, Earl of Essex, by Crown Grant.

32 Hen. viii.—Sir W. Kingston, by Crown Grant, on the attainder of Lord Essex.

Lands held of Talbot, Heir of Valence:

15 Ric. ii.—John le Rous of Ragley, who had Licenc to embattle his Manor, his House here.

20 Ric. ii.—And to whom succeeded John Rous, (son and heir) by descent. (Esch.)

The other Estate belonged to the Church of Tewkesbury.

In Stanlege are 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ Hides. Culture 1 Plow Tillage, besides 2 in Villenage, (4 Villeins and 2 Bordars,) 5 Serfs. It was free of tax. Its Value had been 4£. but at the Survey was but 40s. Domesday Book.

Both these Estates appear to have come to the family of Tracy of Stanway.

In the County Histories mention is made of sundry Owners of Lands here, but the links to connect them with the preceding and succeeding Proprietors are wanting.

An Estate here held of Sudley by $\frac{1}{2}$ a fee:

41 Edw. iii.—Abbey of Evesham, by Statute Staple purchased of W. Gylle.

34 Edw. i.—Juliana Pontlarch, by Grant of the Seneschall of Evesham. She marr. Maurice Berkeley.

27 Edw. iii.—Sir John Blankfont, Knt.

18 Hen. iii.—Hugh Croft, and Leon and Wife Agnes. Sir Wm. St. Maur, by their fine.

19 Hen. vii.—Dame Elizabeth Byconnill his Mother by his Will.

30 Eliz.—Fine of Manor of Stanley Pontlarch, between Thomas Aldersay, Plaintiff and R. Berkeley, Deforcant.

28 Edw. i.—..... Havanage and Wife, levied a fine of Lands here.

In the Act 47 Geo. 3. (1807.) for inclosing the open fields and the intermixed Meadows called Meckle and Saunders Meadows and the Award under it dated 5 May 1809. (deposited in the Clerk of Peace Office, 1861.) the Dowager Viscountess Hereford, and Messrs. Wells and Heavens, are mentioned as Proprietors of Lands.

Lady Hereford, received six allotments 148 a. 2r. 14 p.

John Heavens, two 37 2 23

Thomas Wells, four 47 0 0

John Wells, four 16 0 0

Danl Wells, Devirsee, three 13 3 30

Mary Wells, two 13 3 12

And they held old Inclosures in proportion.

At the County Elections there Voted for Freeholders in Stanley Pontlarge; 1776. Tiff, and Wells.

1811. Wells, and Witts.

1833. Heavens, Cook, and Oakley.

Lady Hereford's Estate has gone as Stanway. Heavens Estate now Mr. W Smith.

II.—Church:

Ecclesiastically Stanley Pontlarch, belongs to Todington Parish where it has the right of Sepulturs but it has a Chapel of Ease of its own.

The Chapel has a Nave and Chancel, the latter has been lately rebuilt in the Norman style in imitation of the Arch of North Door which is a good and genuine specimen of the style. Between the Nave and Chancel is the Bell Turret, therein 2 Bells.

By the Canon Law tithes were due by Land Owners to the Church in general; but they might give them to what priests they pleased. When the Lord of a Manor built a Church on his Estate he would naturally bestow the Tithe of the Estate on the officiating priest. In places situate near Monasteries the arrangement of paying the Tithes to a Monastery and obtaining from it for the Church the services of a Priest, were common, and much promoted by the regular Clergy. Their practice was to assign a moderate pension out of the Profits to the Chaplain and take the residue themselves.

For like reasons, a kind of annexation might be made to a neighbouring Church. By whatever way brought about Stanley Pontlarch is found at an early date to be an impropriation.

16 Ric. ii.—The Advowson and Chapelry of Stanley Pontlarge, was confirmed to Hales Abbey. The Advowson of Todington the Mother Church belonged to Hales Abbey circa 1352. Reg. Worcester.

Todington afterwards came to Fvesham Abbey, for a season. It was originally lay patronage and afterwards became so again Stanley Advowson seems to have gone to Winchcomb Abbey.

The Register of Winchcomb Abbey narrates the exchange by the Parson of Todington of the Tythes of Gretton theretofore in Todington Parish, with the Abbot and Vicar of Winchcomb for the Tythes of both the Stanley's theretofore received by the Abbot and Vicar.

Winchcomb Cartulary Prinn's Abridgment.

The farm (Draycot, Tenant) of the Tythes of the Vill of Stanley Pontlarge in Todington parish (beyond 4£ for the Salary of the Chaplain there conducting divine service, according to ancient composition.) was 66s. 8d. And the farm of the Glebe Lands of which J. Mason, was Tenant was 18s. Valor Eccles.

In the Inclosure Act 1807, C H. Tracy, in mentioned as Impropriator. He held the Tythes of Todington. But the Inclosure Award states that the Dowager Lady Hereford, had lately purchased the Impropriation of C. H. Tracy, And to Lady Hereford, an Allotment in respect of the Glebe was made 1 a. 3r. 13 p. And an Allotment in respect of Tythes of 69 a. 3r. 0p.

III.—Taxation, Population, &c.

1543.—In the Kytesgate Musters the names of Cole, Dobyns, Mason, Mynter, Aston and Coke, occur in this place as having Weapons.

8 Jac. i.—J. Dobyns, gen. Ann Cole, and J. Kinge, paid to the subsidy.

Area 647 a.

Population 1831.—62.

1851.—57.

1871.—54.

In 1815. Annual Value of Real Property 995£.

1866. Rateable Value 954£.

1833-5. Average of 3 Years Expenditure on Poor 45£.

In Winchcomb Union.

The Award under the Inclosure Act ascertains the boundary between Stanley Pontlarge and Alderton and sets out certain public Ways.

STANTON consists generally of good Stone Houses, in a single Street. The figure of the Parish seems to be oval, a mile, and a half in length; in breadth, near a Mile. The Eastern part is mountainous, with Quarries of White Stone, fit for Building. It has good Pasture and is Three Miles in compass and is worth 1000 £. per Ann. It hath Snowhill on the East, Stanway on the South, Wormington on the West and Laverton on the North. It belonged to the Abbey of Winchcomb and upon [some time after] the Dissolution it was bought by THOMAS DOLEMAN, of London, who [had a Grandson, MATHEW DOLEMAN, who] sold it to the Tenants and made them all Free.

THE Church is built in form of a Cross, formerly with two Aisles adjoining to the Nave: that of the North is down. A low Tower at the West-end, on which is a lofty Spire: therein Six Bells. It stands in the middle of the Village and is built of Stone. A Gallery is at the West-end. Its Dedication is uncertain, some believe it was dedicated to St. George, because his Effigy, killing a Dragon, was in a Window in the South Aisle; others think it was to St. Michael, because the Wake is still kept on the Sunday before 29 September. [The Chancel has just been restored, 1876.]

In the East Window of the Chancel there was antient [heraldic] painted Glass, but broken in the late Civil Wars:

In the first Column Azure, on a Saltire Argent, a Pellet charged with a Cross Patee of the 2d. [In the window still.]

In the second, Or, an Escallop in the dexter Canton, Sable, between two Bends Gules.—TRACY.

In the third, a Monk on his knees, with this Label issuing out of his mouth, "Fili Dei, miserere mei."

In the fourth, Sable, on a Chevron between three Bull's heads Argent, a fleur de Lis.

REGINALD WYNNIAT, M. A. Rector. (AND LORD OF THE MANOR.)

BENEFACTION TABLE.

The Revd. Mr. LAWRENCE BANKS, did give unto several Trustees, mentioned in his deed, his house, situated in Cole Street, in the Borough of Evesham, to the intent they should pay Yearly to the Church Wardens of Stanton, 6s. 8d. towards the reparation of the Church and that the Residue of the Rents should be bestowed yearly upon such of the Poor Inhabitants, as to the Trustees, or the greatest number of them, should be thought meet.

On complaint of the Charity's being abused, the Right Revd. Father in God, MARTIN, Lord Bishop of Gloucester, by a power vested in him by Mr. BANKS's Deed, appointed REGINALD WYNNIAT, Esqr. JOHN INGLES, Clerk. RICHARD CHARLES, JOHN WELLS, Gent. THOMAS JACKSON, JOSEPH EVANS, JOHN WESTON, WILLIAM HOBBS, Yeoman. and the Minister for the time being, or the greatest number of them, to execute the Trust.

It was determined likewise by the Lord Bishop of Gloucester, that the Inhabitants of all degrees in the Parish of Stanton, had a right to use the Black Hearse Cloth at Funerals, without paying Fee, or Reward to any Person.

When Stanton Hill was inclosed, it was agreed, amongst other things by Articles, dated Feb. 26th. 1709, that Mr. HENRY IZOD, and his heirs, should have that part of Shunborne Bank, which was not measured into any Man's lot paying for the same yearly, 6s. 8d. for the use of the Poor of the Parish of Stanton.

ON A MARBLE MONUMENT ON THE NORTH WALL.

Whosoever thou art whose attention
In passing may be here attracted, I pray you
To sympathize for a moment with him
Who by his late bereavement feels like one
Who has lost his all in this World,
And who has raised this Cenotaph to the Memory of AUGUSTA,
Third BARONESS ROSSMORE,
Sister of the present
EARL of WEMYSS and MARCH.
Her hand and heart were ever open to distress,

Without reference to creed or colour and her unostentatious charities,
Have embalmed her name
In the hearts of those who knew her best, and loved her most
And in the grateful recollection of the Inhabitants of Monaghan,
The protectress of the widow and fatherless,
The friend of the destitute and forlorn,
Obit July 29, 1840.

In Relief above this inscription is sculptured a Male figure sitting, with an empty choir by his side.
over this the following Text—
"Thy prayers and thy alms are come for a memorial before God." Act. xxx.

1735—Settlement on Marriage of Robert Tracy, with Anne Maria Hudson, of Stanway Hall and Estates in Gloucestershire and Worcestershire, on the Settler for Life, Remr. to his sons successively in tail male with remainder in like strict settlement to the settler's Brothers John Tracy, Thos. Tracy, and Anthony Keck, (of Great Tew, Oxon.) successively. The Settler and his brothers all died without issue.

Henrietta Susanna Tracy, Lady Viscountess Hereford, eldest daughter of Anthony Keck; Susan Charteris, 2nd. daughter of Anthony Keck, and Wife of Francis Charteris, Lord Elcho, successively in strict Settlement by Will of Robert Tracy, 1768.

Stanway House, is a fine example of Tudor architecture On a Visit by Sir Thomas Phillips, in 1842, he noticed therein besides family Portraits one of Lucy Walters and her Child afterwards the unfortunate James, Duke of Monmouth; another of Luther; another of Catharine of Braganza; another of Judge Tracy Atkins, &c.

In 1776, At the County Election the following voted as free-holders:—

Charles Richard.
Fletcher, Robert Warren.
Gibbs, John.
Old acre, Kinnill.
Williams, George

It is understood that all or nearly all the Estates are vested in the Owner of Stanway Hall.

1810.—An Act 50 Geo. iii. c. 14. passed for inclosing the open and common fields and intermixed Lands of Stanway. It states that Viscountess Hereford, was Lady of the Manor and Patron of the Vicarage and Impropiator of the great Tithes except a small part out of Lands in Wood Stanway, which excepted Tythes as well as the small Tythes belonged to the Vicar; and that Lady Hereford, was Owner of all the fields except only a small part thereof belonging to a few other persons and held by them for Lives of themselves or other persons of advanced age, the Reversion belonging to Lady Hereford, and a certain other small part attached to the Living.

Allotments were directed to be made in lieu of Tithes out of old Inclosures where necessary. The Award was to be inrolled, and a Copy deposited in the Mansion House at Stanway, there to be seen and examined at all seasonable times by persons concerned or interested therein.

The Award is not enrolled at Gloucester.

II—Church:

The Church was appropriated by the Abbey of Tewkesbury, saving a small Endowment to the Vicar in lieu of great Tithes.

The Impropriation at one time belonged to Lawrence, but with this Interruption has gone with the Manor.

In Pope Nich. Tax. the Church of Stanway with Lemington Chapelry is rated at £7.

In the Valor Eccles. at £9.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Stapleton is a hamlet, or vill of the Manor and Hundred of Barton Regis, the Barton farm of the Royal Castle of Bristol, and lies within the limits of the royal free Chase, of Kingswood.

Like other British Towns, Bristol had a forest for part of its defences; but all the Land between the Severn and the Ridgeway to Sodbury, (in which tract is Stapleton,) was disafforsted by King Hen. iii. The free chase continued to exist, but that imported no right to the soil.

This important distinction was fully established in the controversy between the Crown and the Proprietors of Barton Regis Manor, in suits temp. Eliz. and in the proceedings of the Comrs. for the Sale of Crown Lands in the time of the Common wealth which after a penetrating search into ancient Records resulted in the Claims of the Proprietors being allowed. As to the Forest see Fosbroke.

While in the Hands of the Crown, several Tenements were granted out as Deliber's Lands. Oldbury Manor; &c. after noticed, but not, as it would seem, Stapleton.

II. iv.—Barton Regis Manor was aliened by the Crown in favor of Edward, Duke of York, in tail; and on his attainder regranted to Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester in tail, which Estate also determined.

24 Hen. vi.—The Reversion was granted to the Earl of Warwick. Reunited to the Crown by the old Countess of Warwick's Claim to Hen. vii. in tail male, a contrivance noted under "Sodbury," the Estate tail in the Crown was by Act of Parliament 28 Hen. viii. made fee simple.

35 Hen. viii.—By that Kings Grant the Manor was part of the Jointure of his last Queen, Katharine Parr.

Edw. vi.—Wm. Earl of Pembroke and W. Clarke as late enjoyed by Queen Katharine (Parr,) by Crown Grant.

7 Edw. vi.—Sir Maurice Dennis Knt. by purchase.

1773.—An Act passed for inclosing of the Waste ground (566 a.) of Kingswood in Stapleton Parish. It has special provisions relating to minerals.

1781.—an Award was made. It is enrolled in the Clerk of the Peace Office, Gloucester. The Allottees are numerous.

II.—Church:

The Priory of St. James, Bristol, were Appropriators the annual Value of their Farm was 53s. (Valor Ecclesie.) The Church was originally a cell of the Priory.

Parts of Stapleton are now in the New Church Districts of Easton and Bishopstons.

The now Impropiator is the Owner of the Heath House Estate.

1833.—At Fishponds in Stapleton, a new Church was built consisting of Chancel, Nave and Tower therein one Bell, and having a Church Yard and 1863, an ecclesiastical district was assigned to it out of Stapleton parish.

Mrs. Mary Webb, built at Fishponds Green the School House for 20 Poor Boys and 10 Poor Girls with one Wing for the Master's Residence, and another for Alms Rooms for 3 poor old Women. She endowed it and others augmented the Endowment as stated in the Benefactions Table.

In this modest mansion was Hannah More born 1745, her Father being the School master. She followed the same Profession conducting with her sisters a Ladies School at Bristol, (in which the mother of Lord Macaulay, was a Pupil.) Thereby she secured competency; and won fame which was increased by her Writings in the interests of Virtue and religion, and her philanthropic labours. In her "Circles" she taught Bachelors how wisely to wive but she herself lived and 1833, died a spinster. She was buried at Wrington, in Somersetshire, the Birth place of Locke, near to which, at Barley Wood, she had lived for many years.

The Fishponds School Room is now used as a Furniture Warehouse, the Tenant occupying the Master's Rooms. It is neglected and out of repair, but the Trustees out of respect to H. More's honored Name will not allow the Tenant to exhibit his Trade sign. The Alms Rooms are still inhabited by charitable objects.

The income of the Free school is applied to the National Schools near at hand called Dr. Bell's being originally carried on upon the Madras system.

STANTON.

near NEWLAND.

THE Church is a double Building supported by Pillars in the Middle, it consists of a Chancel, Nave, small North Aisle, called Higgin's Chancel, and a large South Aisle, part of it divided by a Wooden Skreen, which is called Lord GAGE's Chancel. It hath an handsome Tower in the Middle with pinnacles, therein four Bells. On an Old Pulpit "the Gift of THOMAS DOWLE." [The Church has lately been restored and together with the Church Yard is in excellent order. In the interior the Wooden Skreen which divided the transept (a former Chantry Chapel) called Lord Gage's Chancel,) has been taken away. In that transept are now the flat Stones from Higgins' Chancel, and that of Edward Hall, there remains. The pulpit is of Stone approached by the Tower Stair. A very curious and ancient square font, without pillar or pedestal is preserved tho' disused. There is a Clock in the Church Tower, 1875.]

II.—Church.

The Church has full parochial Rights. It is not mentioned in Pope Nich. Taxation.

It has the same Patron Saint as Stonehouse Church in this County, and probably as that of Newtown, St. Cyr, or Cyres in Devonshire, a Saint said in Polwhele's Devonshire to be Siricus, an Abp of Canterbury.

It was appropriated to the Abbey of St. Peter, Gloucester; and after the dissolution of Monasteries was given to the Bishoprick of Gloucester, by Crown Grant.

Under the powers of the Land Tax Redem. Acts. Bp.
Beadon, sold the Tithes to Trustees for the chief Land Owners namely J. Wallington, W. Purnell, Thos. Morse and Jno. Mabbett. The present Trustees are Sir G. Prevost, Capt. Morse and Mr. Mabbett.

The tithes were commuted at 240£ per Year. 20£ is payable thereout to the Vicar. The living was augmented in 1720, by Mr. Pinfold's Gift of 200£ and a like sum of 200£ from Queen Ann's Bounty. With this Money 30 a. of Land in Berkeley Parish were bought. Of this Land about 2a. have been taken by the Bristol and Birmingham Railway, the remainder and the Railway Company's Compensation Money yield 60£ a year.

The Vicarage House was a small Tenement adjoining the Church Yard. By a recent Exchange a better House has been procured.

There is a National School House lately built near to the new Vicarage House.

Why didst thou not dear Child stay here below
To bless us with the Heav'n lov'd Innocence,
But not for something in thy Face did Shine Above mortality, that shew'd that thou was divine. MILTON.

ON A PLAIN MARBLE MONUMENT.

To the Memory of NORBORNE BERKELEY, BARON de BOTETOURT, who was the only Son of JOHN BERKELEY, Esqr. of Stoke Gifford, and of the Lady VISCOUNTESS HEREFORD, Daughter of WALTER NORBORNE, Esqr. of Calne in the County of Wills. In four successive Parliaments, He was unanimously elected Knight of the Shire for the County, In 1760, He was appointed one of the Grooms of his Majesty's Bedchamber, In 1762, Lord Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum, For the County of Gloucester, &c. The BARONY of BOTETOURT, having been long in Abeyance, In 1764, His Majesty was graciously pleased to restore to him, Those ancient Honours, and soon after appointed him

One of the Lords of his Bedchamber. In 1768,

The Government of Virginia was committed to his Care, During his Residence in that Colony, He was seized with a Fever, which on the 15th. of October in 1770, In the 53rd. Year of his Age, Put a Period to his Life. His Body was deposited. In the College of WILLIAM, and MARY, In the Town of Williamsbourg. How much the Virginians ow'd, To his Paternal and well conducted Government, They have gratefully testified By unanimously voting, In their Council and Assembly. a magnificent Statue to his Memory. Thus were his public Virtues acknowledg'd, But how shall his Relations, and his more intimate Friends, who alone could truly estimate The private Qualities of his Heart, In words expressive of their Greif, lament

Their irreparable Loss? Extensive Charity, unbounded Generosity, ardent Friendship, and affection: An unwearied attention to every public Good, A Strict, and Zealous Loyalty, The politest, the most engaging manners Gave him an indisputable Claim To this most enviable Title The Friend of Mankind. He directed Long before his Death, This plain Marble to be here affixed His Friends have only inscribed His true Character.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Stoke in Letberg Hundred contained 5 Hides taxable, Culture 4 Carucates in Demesne and 8 in Villenage, &c. (8 Villans, 4 Bordars and a Priest.) There were 4 serfs.

It had been worth 6*£.* and was then worth 8*£.* yearly.

Dunne, had held it, but Osborn Giffard was the Owner at the Survey.

Domesday Book.

This Manor and Parish derives its distinctive Name from the Giffards of Brimpsfield Castle, who were Lords of it from the Conquest to the execution at Gloucester of John Giffard in 1338.

It came by the like means as "Rockhampton" (which see) to Sir Maurice Berkeley. His Son and grandson succeeded, and the latter married Katharine, the Daughter and one of the Coheirs of John de Botetourt, thence with some interruption, (temp. H. vii.) it passed in hereditary succession to Nourse Berkeley, created in 1764, Lord Botetourt. His history as well as the history of several of his Predecessors are recorded in the Monumental Inscriptions. On his death unmarried, the Estate devolved to his Sister the Duchess of Beaufort, and her Descendant the Duke of Beaufort, still holds it.

There are several Hamlets, of which Harris Stoke, seems to have been held under Winterborne Manor. This came to the Berkeleys by purchase. The former Owners were.

(4 Edw. iii.) Elias de Filton.

(7 Ric. ii.)—Sir Thomas Fitz Nichols.

(6 Hen. v.)—John Browning, by marriage with Fitz Nichols' Daughter.

Tillie Cote, partly in Stapleton and partly in Stoke Giffard belonged 11 Edw. ii. to Richard de Rodney and in 11 Car. i. belonged to Coxo.

A Messuage and 60*a.* were held of Margaret Giffard, by Walter Gaselyne, from which family it passed to that of Stowell.

1776. At the County Election, No freeholder Voted.

1811. At the County Election the following Voted as Freeholders.

Bevan, Wm.	Parker, (3) G. J. W.
Close, Isaac.	Phillips, Silas.
Curtis, John.	Pinnell, Jno.
Isles, Benjamin.	Stephens, John.
Moss, Isaac.	Winstone, John.

It is probable that most of these were Holders of freehold Leases.

II.—Church:

In Pope Nicholas Taxation 20 Edw. i. £ 10 0 0.

The Tithes and Advowson were given by Giffard to the Priory of Little Malvern, Co. Worcester.

After the dissolution of Monasteries they came into the same Ownership as the Manor.

In Clifton, now Barton Regis Union.

Stoke House is erected in a commanding situation. A View of it as it stood in the beginning of the last Century is given in Atkyns' Hist. of Gloucestershire. But in 1760, it was rebuilt by Lord Botetourt, in a modern style.

"Watch Elm" the name of a spot N. W. of the Church recalls to the memory the Watch and Ward, that is the Night Police of ancient times. At the Elm the Wardstaff met to proceed on their several rounds. A View of it in 1765, (then a hollow stump,) is given in the Gentleman's Magazine, for 1766.

THIS is a Chapel of Ease to Berkeley, [but it has parochial Rights.] It is dedicated to All Saints and consists of one intire Aisle and Chancel. It has a handsome Spire at the West-end, containing two Bells. [five 1875.]

This Church was new Pewed in the year of our Lord, 1755. [An Organ Chamber, Vestry and Porch were added in 1865.] There is a Gallery which Gallery was repaired by the Singers. JOHN HOOPER MORSE, and JOHN SHARPE, being Church Wardens.

In the Aisle Windows are painted on Glass these three following Coats of Arms:—1 Gules, three Lions passant in pale Or.—INGLAND. 2. Gules, a Chevron Ermine between ten Roses Argent Six above and four below—BERKELEY, Ancient. 3. Gules, a Chevron, Ermine between ten Crosses patté Argent, six above, & four bel.w.—BERKELEY, Modern. [One of the Windows is blocked up by the Vestry Room Building and these Coats are not all now to be found 1875.]

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate • II.—Church; III.—Population, Taxation, &c

I.—Stone is a small Parish containing about 600 a. It was originally part of Berkeley for all purposes; and although separate in ecclesiastical matters, is still united with Ham in Berkeley for public payments, and in regard to tenure of the Land is a sub-fee of that great Manor.

The Property of the soil is much sub-divided, and yet not so much so as to account for the frequent mention of Stone and the places therein of Woodford, Newport, &c. in Records of Estates and families, and one is led to suppose that there must be several "Stones" or "Woodfords" &c. or that the Properties described as lying therein extend into neighbouring Parishes, the Boundaries of the places being confused.

The Manor Place was called Old Court, Hen. ii. It belonged to a family of the Name of Stone; and afterwards, viz. Edw. ii. was in whole, or part the property of that of Serjeant, in which family it long continued.

10 Hen. viii.—Thomas Serjeant died seized.

Inq. post Mort.
1598.—Stone Manor;—15 Messuages and 500 a. of Land were in the possession of Thomas Bowser, to whom the Trustees of his Brother Anthony Bowser, of Tortworth, had conveyed them. Chy. Pre's. Q. Eliz.

When the subdivision took place, one Lot or part, comprised the Estate with a good House near the Church which afterwards became the property of the family of Jenkins.

Thomas and John Jenkins.

1811.—Rev'd. Stivard Jenkins.

Charity Deed.

This was in Upper Stone.

Lower Stone, was a distinct sub-fee.

Rawlin Trye, by Gift from Berkeley.

29 Eliz.—W. Trye.

Inq. post Mort.

20 Jac.—Nicholas Webb, by purchase. Church Inscript.

In Lower Stone also was a good house and a good Estate of Morse.

Sir R. Atkins.

Thomas, Joseph, William and John Morse, are mentioned in the Church Inscriptions.

John Hooper Morse, Nephew of John Morse, by Devise.

John Hooper Bromedge.

Charity De d

The name of Hickeys also occurs among Proprietors there.

In Woodford and Woodend, Cox, was a considerable Proprietor. Foubroke & Church Inscriptions.

Mills and Land in Stone, Berkeley and Newport:

Wm. Pyke, as Owner, sued Anstis for the Title Deeds.
Ch'g. Proc'gs. Queen Eliz

This Name, Pyke, also occurs in Church Inscriptions.
Middle Mill: was in the ownership of Pearce.

Fosbrooke.

Of "Newpark" in Stone, or Berkeley, the name of Lloyd occurs as Owner.

Morse's and Dudbridges Charities Lands:

1811.—The Trustees, or Feoffees were J. Hooper Bromedge, Thomas and Joseph Bromedge, Revd. Stivard Jenkins, T. Foxwell, Weston Hickes and Heathfield J. Hickes.

Among ancient Proprietors whose Estates cannot be traced are—

Cole, W. who died seized of Lands here leaving a Son and heir Richard. 11 Jac. Inq post Mort

31 Eliz. Mich.—A fine was levied of Lands in Stone in which F. Nevill was Plaintiff and E. Nevill, Lord Bergavenny, Deforciant.

Of Ady, Hickes, Merston, (1544.) Browne, (1544.) Rawlett, (1545.) all of Stone, the Wills are in Gloucester Registry.

1776.—At the County Election, there voted as Freeholders are—

Cullmore, Joseph.	Sharp, John.
Jenkins, John.	Shepherd, George.
Liddiat, John.	Wallington, William.
Pye, Samuel.

In 1811.—At the County Election the following voted as Freeholders.

Foxwell, Thomas.	Lyddiat, Samuel.
Holloway, John.	Phillipps, Samuel.
James, William.	Sheppard, George.
Kingscott, John.

II.—Church.

The Chancel of the present Church was the old Chapel.

The style of the Nave and Tower (Decorated) bespeaks a later date. Views of the Church are given by Fosbrooke and in Mr. S. Lysons' "Antiquities of Gloucestershire."

The Impropriation belonged to Bradenstoke Priory, Wilts. And after the dissolution of that Monastery was given to the Dean and Chapter of Bristol.

In the old Chapel were founded two Chantries:

13 Edw. i.—by Robert de Stone.

30 Edw. iii.—by John Serjeant,

Hen. viii.—The annual Value of the Chantries in rent and farm there (over and above 9d. to the King for suit of Court at Berkeley, 9d. for Chief Rent to Lord of Hill and 11s. 8d. the fee of the Steward and Bayliff) was 8£. 4s. 10½d. Valor Ecc'us.

The Lands of Serjeant's Chantry were on the suppres-son granted to Sir T. Throckmorton and those of Stone's Charity to Sir J. Thynn.

The Living has been augmented as follows—

1726 —200£. given by Mr. W. Morse.

200£. Queen Ann's Bounty.

With the 400 £. 9s. of Land in Old Sodbury were bought.

1817.—200 £. by Parliamentary Grant.

UPON A MONUMENT ENCLOSED WITH PALISADES.

This Monument is erected to perpetuate the Memory of the late Rev'd. Mr. SAMSON HARRIS, A.B.
(Thirty five Years Vicar of this Parish.)
A Divine
Eminently distinguished for his exemplary Piety,
Learning and indefatigable Diligence

In the Work of the Ministry:
Deeply impressed with the sacred Truths of the Gospel,
He recommended them to others
With a most persuasive Energy and truly Christian Example displaying
In his own Conduct the most lively Evidence of Sincerity,
His whole Life being one
Christian and Social Virtue.
He died deservedly lamented
Nov. 10, 1763, in the 66th.
Year of his Age.
Reader, go and imitate.

Here also is interred the Body of SOPHIA, Relict of the late
Revd. SAMSON HARRIS,

UPON ANOTHER MONUMENT
ENCLOSED WITH PALISADES.

This Monument is erected in sincere Regard to the Memory of Mrs. SOPHIA PETTAT, late Wife of the Revd. JOHN
PETTAT, the present,
Vicar of this Parish,
And niece to his worthy Predecessor
the Rev. SAMSON HARRIS.
The unaffected Piety and Affability which regulated her Conduct, might reflect ample Evidence to the Value of her Character Did not a respect to that Modesty, which shunn'd all public
Testimony to her merits, Check the Enlargement of this Tribute
Even to her Lifeless Remains.
The submission and Fortitude with which she sustained the Tortures of a long and painful Illness, Until Patience had her perfect Work, gave amazing Proofs of the Amiability of her Temper and strongly illustrated the Comforts of the Christians Hope.
By the merciful call of divine Providence,
She was admitted to that Place where the weary be at Rest.
April 24th. 1764, Aged 24 Years.

II.—Church:

The Rectory was appropriated to the Nunnery of Helentow a parish in Bedfordshire, better known under the name of Elstow as the birth place of JOHN BUNYAN.

The Patronage of the Vicarage is in the Crown.

The Vicarage was endowed with the rectorial tithes but the Vicar paid 6 £. a Year to the Nunnery.

The Yearly value in Rents, farms and tithes (beyond 6 £. paid to the Abbess and fees to the Archdeacon and Bishop,) £ 21. 1 s 8 d. Valor Eccl'us.

The rateable Value of the Tithe Rent Charge is £423. 10 s.

In 1859, the Vicarage House was rebuilt on its former site. And the Church was renovated in 1855.

The first entry in the Parish Register is under the date
of 1558.

List of Incumbents of the Church.

1524. Richard Browne.

1556. Edward Fowler.

John Pygotts.

1564. Edward Grosse.

1573. John Groom.

The succession for a considerable period of great political vicissitude is thus stated in the Register of date 1711:
in the hand-writing of John Hilton, the then Vicar.

Thurston Shaw, Vicar was buried in 1609, to him succeeded Mr. W. Norris, who was buried in 1642; after him his Son got the place, Mr. John Norris, but enjoyed it not long for he was ousted by the Parliament party in 1644.
One Mr. Thomas Wallace, a Scotsman, put in who was married here Sept. 29, 1645. He died, and was buried Jany.
1653. Mr. Thomas Thache, succeeded him, and he kept the the place till the return of King Charles the 2nd. when he was forced to leave it to Mr. John Norris, who had been turned out and was removed to Saperton to which he was presented by Sir Robert Atkins, the Judge. Mr. Norris, held it till the beginning of 1670. Mr. William Robson, succeeded him about March 1669, or April 1670, he kept it till 1689, when refusing to take the Oaths to King William and Queen Mary at Feby. the 7th. the Vicarage became void.
But getting the place supplied by Mr. Bond, of Saint Clear, he continued at Stonehouse without disturbance till the May following when going up to London, he fell sick by the way and died at Reading in 1690. To him succeeded the same year Mr. Robert Kitchiff, who died Jany. 7th. 1707. and upon March following John Hilton, (before Minister of St.
Nicholas in the City of Gloucester.) was inducted and took upon him the care of the place in Easter following.

1722. Samuel Laurence.

1723. Samson Harris.

1763. John Pettat.

W. Baker.

18.... Henry Cripps.

1861. W. Farren White.

The Caincross Ecclesiastical District comprises Ebley, part of which is in Stonehouse, and in 1837, a Church was built at Ebley.

There is a large Chapel of The Independents at Ebley.

In 1775, J. Elliot, Esqr. and others founded an Elementary School and endowed it with a Messuage (the Swan Inn,) and 3a. of Land in Stonehouse worth, 37 £. a Year.

The Trustees in 1807, were T. Skip, the Revd. John Dimock, Revd. W. Baker, T. Harmer Shephard and W.
Taylor. Two School Houses were built one at Stonehouse to which 25 £. of the Income of the Endowment was assigned and the other at Ebley taking the residue 12 £. of the Income.

The Benefaction Table in the Church states that the Schools were founded for educating and instructing Poor Children legally settled in the Parish in the principles of the Church of England, as by Law established and teaching them to read. The subscribers were Mr. J. Elliott, £ 222.
J. Andrews, 50 £. Nathl. Fowler, 50 £. Thos. Ellis, 30 £.
Mrs. Christofer Ellis, 50 £. John Harmer, 50 £. Revd. John Pettat, Vicar, 30 £. Miss Elizabeth McCrete, 20 £. Mr.
Arundel, 20 £. J. D. Dimock, Gent. 10 £. Thos. Turner, Richd. Stephens, 10 £. each. And Mr. Elliott, gave by Will, 100 £.

1872. By a Scheme of the Endowed School Comrs. confirmed by Privy Council Order the School is become a public Elementary one under the Act of 1870, with a Conscience Clause. It is under the management of the Vicar, as Ex Officio Governor, two Representative Governors elected at the Easter Vestry Meeting, out of annual Subscribers, to serve for 5 Years and 2 Co-optative Governors elected by the governing Body.

The Estate and Funds of the School are vested in the Official Trustees of Charity Lands and Funds.

Also a Parochial Library was founded by the Revd.
Samson Harris, Vicar, as appears by the following Extract from his Will, dated 29 Sept. 1763.

"I give and bequeath unto the Church Wardens of the Parish of Stonehouse for the time being, all my Books and Furniture in the Library in the Vicarage House at Stonehouse aforesaid and the Pictures therein (except such as I shall otherwise dispose of by this my will.) Upon trust to be by them applied to and for the uses intents and purposes and under and subject to the Provisoes restrictions and limitations mentioned, expressed and declared of and concerning Parochial Libraries in a certain Act of Parliament passed in the 7th. Year of the Reign of her late Majesty Queen Anne.

It appears by a Catalogue of the Books made in the Year 1868, that the Library then consisted of 561 Volumes.

viz. 240 Divinity.
96 History, Law, Travels.
46 Natural Science.
29 Morals and Logic.
26 Poetry.
48 Miscellaneous.
76 Classics.

561

As Mr. Harris, died 1763, the Collection, as might be expected is somewhat ancient.

An account of the Institution of Parochial Libraries will be found in the "Bibliotheca Parochialis," of the Revd. Thomas Bray, and in the Memoir of his Life. The Act was due to his exertions. It was brought in by Sir Peter King, afterwards Lord Chancellor King.

The Act directs that when a Library is founded in a Parish it shall be preserved for the uses directed by the founder. The Incumbent and Ministers are to give security for the care and to make a Catalogue of the Books. No Books to be disposed of without the consent of the Bishop. Books unlawfully taken may be recovered by Search Warrant. The Bishop to make Rules as to using the Books. The design of this Act was good; but the so called Parochial Library was mainly intended for the use of the Clergy. Its regulations excluded the variety necessary to suit the popular taste. The efforts of the Revd. Thos. Bray, were well known in the Colony of Georgia and there perhaps better appreciated.

1833-4-5. Average of 3 Years Expenditure on Poor 997 £.

In Stroud Union.

The Clothing trade was here introduced at an early period. A fulling Mill established in this Parish, formed part of the possessions of the Abbey of Gloucester. Another belonged to Lanthony Abbey. There are still two large Mills on the Straem.

The place is intersected by Roads, Railways, a Canal and Brooks. One of the latter is the Brook, or River Frome, which coming from Frampton, passed through Stonehouse on its way to Framilode where it joins the Severn. The Stroudwater Canal keeps alongside the Frome.

The fame of the Water of this Brook of the Stroud Valley for its particular quality in dyeing Scarlet Cloth and other gwin colours seems to have led to the name Stroud Water superseding that of the Frome.

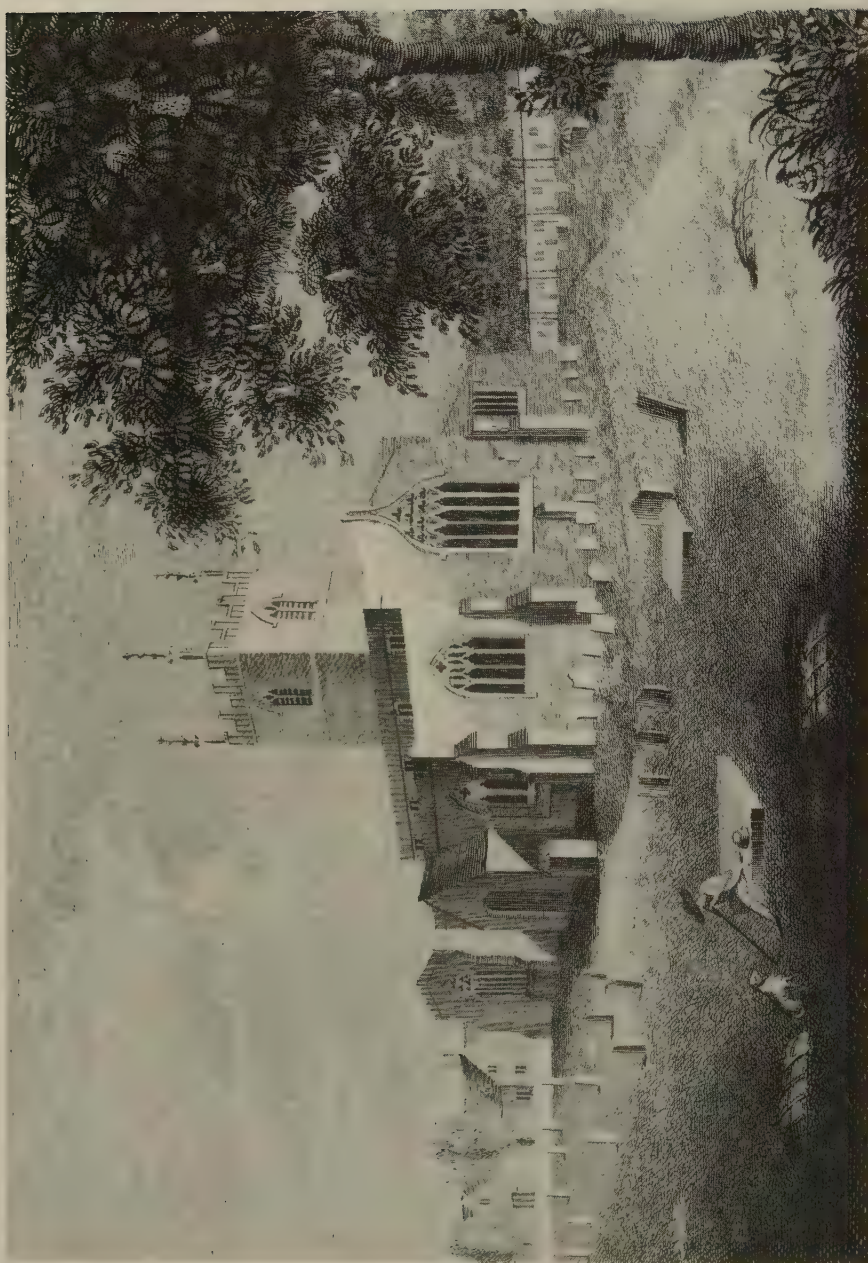

The Bridge at Dudbrook consisted of 3 Arches and of old time, the men of Stonehouse had to repair one viz. the Westernmost.

With this place is honorably connected the name of the Revd. George Whitefield, the great Revivalist Missionary of the middle of the 18th. Century to the heathen at home and abroad baptised and unbaptised.

This Church was his first curacy (about 1737.) and here at the request of the Minister (Rev. Samson Harris,) and people he preached (after his Return from his first Voyage to America,) in the Church Yard the Church not being large enough for the Assembly. The Audience rivetted in their attention disregarded the incessant rain. He afterwards often preached on Stonehouse Green, (now buried under the Railway Embankment,) with much acceptance to his "dear flock" as he affectionately terms them.

In a Copy of "A Collection of Articles Canons, &c. concerning Ecclesiastical Matters, &c. printed 1713. (pence Edit.) is this MS. Note in a handwriting of the middle of last Century. "At a private conference between Benson Bishop of Gloucester, George Whitfield, and some others on the subject of Field Preaching, &c. the Bishop urged the irregularity of such conduct, and especially as there was an express Canon against it. But honest George instantly plucked a small Bible out of his sleeve and declared that alone should ever be his pocket pistol and he would fire it against all the Canons on earth." Correspondence between the Bishop and Whitefield, on this subject is preserved in the Journal of the latter. It does not appear to what Canon the Bishop alluded.

For information of this place kindly afforded, thanks are due to Richd. Mullings, Esqr. and the Vicar.

STOW.

THE Church consists of a Chancel, Nave, South and North Aisles, with a Chapel at the East-end of the North Aisle, and a large Gallery at the West-end of the Nave. The Church is twenty-two yards long, lightsome and large. It hath on the South side a Tower, therein six Bells and a Clock. The Church stands on a high hill as also the Town which is seen on all sides at a great distance.

From a MSS. of ABEL WANTNER.

Stow:—And first of its original name. The word Stow in the English Saxon Tongue, implieth a Bright Dwelling, or a High and Illustrious Place.—Secondly why called Stow on the Woulds.—The word Wold, or Woold implieth Hills, or Sheepfolds, for Mountains and Hills in times of Old were called by the ancient Englishmen, Wolds, which were not so well replenished with People as they were stocked with Flocks of Sheep and Herds of Cattle.

Thirdly why called Coats Wold, some are of the opinion that it took the name of Coats Wold from a little Town in the Wold, called Coats: Others there are who say that it was called Coates Wold from the Huts, or Cots that are erected on many of the Hilly parts for the sheltering of the Sheppards, in Storms, or Rain. But the most probable assertion is this, (viz.)—That it was called Coats wold from the Wool, or fleeces that grew upon the Sheep's backs, where-with they make Cloth and with that Cloth, Coats to keep them warm, or to cover them from the Cold.

Of Stow's Situation and Government.

The Town is seated upon the Top, or Highest site of a Lofty Hill, whose Church may be seen (much like a Pharos, or Watch Tower,) all round that part of the Country. Their first Charter of Privileges was granted to the Town by King Edward the fourth and since renewed in the Reign of King James the first. [A mistake, the first Charter was to Evesham Abbey for the fair, and the second for establishing the free grammar school.]

Of Stow's Church.

Leland, in his Itineraries, saith that Ailmore, Earl of Cornwall, built Stow Church upon a certain peice of Ground called St. Edward's Close, not far from St. Edward's Well, near unto which in former days there was a Religious House called an Eremit's Stage, or Place of Reception, for Pilgrims, or other devout Christians who traveling over those Mountaneous and desert Places might there find comfortable refreshment both for their Souls and Bodies.

The Tower(?) Church(?) of Stow, being not in good repair, (through the violence of a great Storm,) was thrown to the ground, Anno Dom. 1683, but by the Providence of the Almighty did no harm in its fall, to Man Woman, or Child. And lest the pious benefactions of those Honourable and Worthy Gentlemen, who shewed themselves bountiful Benefactors towards the rebuilding this Church again, should in time be forgotten I have here inserted their names who were Contributors thereunto as also what sums of Money they each of them gave:—

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate ; II.—Church ; III.—Population, Taxation, &c

Malgaresberie at Edward Stow in Salemones Hundred, contained 8 Hides, in King Edward's time. The 9th. Hide belonged to the Church of St. Edward. King Adelfred (Ethelred) gave it quit of tax.

Culture:—3 Carucates in demesne and 7 among 12 Villans, one Freeman and a Priest: There were six serfs. A Mill of 8 s. yearly Value and a little Quantity of Meadow The yearly Value in King Edward's time was 6 £., at the Survey 7 £.

The Church of St. Mary at Evesham, held this Manor. Domesday Book.

It would appear by this entry, that the site of the Church of St. Edward, was a well known place to describe by. And that Maugersbury, was near it, or included it.

As a Town or borough, Stow is small, its site once a Close of 16 a. As a Parish large—Maugersbury and Donington, (separate hamlets for rating purposes,) lying within the jurisdiction of its Church.

The Town may have sprung up from the resort of pilgrims to the Cell of the Patron Saint of the Church—Edward, or Edwald; and the crossing of the great roads here (one being the Roman Fosseway) would naturally account for the building of Houses for the accommodation of travellers on a spot where rest and shelter were so much needed. The Name of "Edwardstow" was succinct and distinct and might well have been retained.

The 9th Hide the Property of the Church of Stow, was acquired by the Gift of Walter.

Lands in Donnington and Stow of the Gift in 708 of Kenric King of the Mercians and Egwin, Bishop of the Wicci in 714, and confirmation of King Ethelred in 1016, were acquired by the Abbey of Evesham.

Copies of the Charters of Egwin and Ethelred are given in "Codex Diplomaticus Anglo-Saxonicus." (Vol. i. page 74. and iii. page 364.)

And there the boundaries of Mathelegaresbyrig and Donnington, are given.

Hen. i.—Grant to the Abbey of a Weekly Market, at Stow Borough.

34 Hen. iii. and 4 Edw. iii.—Grants of free-warren in Stow and Malgarsburie and of a market in Stow were made to the Abbey.

9 Edw. i.—Assize of Bread and Ale in Stow was claimed by the Abbey.

16 Edw. iv.—The Abbey obtained a Charter for 2 fairs at Stow yearly of 4 days each.

Under Licences to hold land in Mortmain and after Inquisitions ad quod damnum the Abbey acquired:—

24 Edw. iii.—5 Messuages 102 a. Land in Stow St. Edward, Donnington and Malgarsbury—by Grant of T. Harald and W. Umbersley, (Chaplains.)

37 Edw. iii.—Two Messuages 8 Virgates of Land and 18 s. 1d. Rent in Broadwell, Stow St. Edward, and Malgarsbury—by Grant of Richard Patty, (Chaplain,) after decease of Jeffray, Bradewell and Colles, Life holders.

49 Edw. iii.—A Messuage Toft and 3 Virgates of Land in Stow St. Edward and Malgarsbury, Burghon, (Bourton,) and Wyke Kysingdon—by Grant of John le Rouse, W. Gille, (Clerk, W. Aleway and Richard Patty, Chaplain.)

Particulars of the Licences to alien the above Premises are given in Rev. D. Royce's "History of Stow."

A contention between the Abbots of Fiscamp, (claiming in respect of Salesmansbury Hundred,) and of Evesham, as to View of frank pledge and perquisites in Stow was compromised on the terms of the Evesham Abbot, paying early 74. 9s. 6d. to Fiscamp. This came to the Crown.

Stow and Mangersbury.

Hen. viii.—The Crown by Surrender.

Chuntries Endowed with Lands:—

St. Mary's with 3 Messuages and Lands at Mangersbury, Yearly Value £ 7 0s. 6d.

All Saints with Messuage and Lands at Mangersbury Green, Yearly Value £ 3 5s. 2d.

Speed and Tanner mention a Hospital founded here by Ailmer, Earl of Cornwall, A. D. 1010.

The Holy Trinity was a Hospital for the Poor and School as well as a Chantry. It had Lands and Tenements ... of the Yearly Value of £ 25, 4s 0d Valor Eccl'us.

Part of the Property of the Holy Trinity Hospital and Chantry was in Gleane Alley Southwark of Chesters Gift In the 26 Eliz. there was a Commission concerning it and by Crown Grant the property came to the hands of Richard Stepham. His rebuilding of the Almshouses and School House, and his Gift by Will 1604, of 40 £. Yearly out of the property (i. e. £ 26, 13s. 4d. to the Almshouse and £ 13 6s. 8d. to the Schoolmaster) were probably owing to the consideration that as to its Charitable purposes the endowment was still good in law.

1610.—A Royal Charter was obtained for the School.

By a Scheme of the Charity Com'rs. the Grammar School has been discontinued, and the building is used for an Institute or Reading Room.

1682 —G. Townsend, by Will gave his Messuage in Stow to charitable uses i. e. £ 4 of the Rent to the Poor's School, 2s. weekly in Bread at the Church, and the residue for mending the Pumps erected by him.

It appears by the 21st. Report of the Charity Inquiry Com'rs that Townsend's House was leased in 1760, for 300 years in consideration of a fine of 140 £. and of building Clauses, and that the Income of the Fine goes to pay the Mistress of the Girl's School.

From the same source, we learn how other benefactions were laid out.

Laid out in purchase of Land:—

1722 —Greyhurst's Aylworth's & Freeman's 170 £. in the Horse lease and Hay bank Closes near Bampton, Oxfordshire.

Comper's 159 £. with his Benefaction to Wincombe in the Poor Hill Closes, Winchcomb.

D. Hodges, gave £ 3. a Year out of an Estate in Broadwell, in Bread.

Selvin, gave £ ... a Year out of a house in Stow, and another person 13s. 4d. Yearly out of the Court House Stow in Bread.

In Revd. D. Royce's History of Stow, p 21. is an Extract from a Pamphlet of Hon. Roger North, about 1688 impugning the system of Poor Law Relief and citing Stow as a place where the Poor subsisted without it, and that well by their honest Labour aided by the charity of more substantial Neighbours given in kind in cases of Necessity. It does appear that there was no Poor Rate at Stow till after that date. But there were settled poor and numerous beggars and as we have seen ancient Charities for their Relief, Besides the following:—

To Stow Parish:—

An Allotment of about 4, or 5 acres out of the Common-fields of Mangersbury, for Fuel to Stow Poor.

1691.—Sir W. Cope, of Icomb and John Chamberlayne, Esqr. put in the hands of Sergeant Geers, 100 £. In Trust for erecting a Workhouse and settlement of a Manufacture for better employing the poor inhabitants of Stow.

Royce, History of Stow, p. 23

Dissenting Places of Worship at Stow:

1690.—Quakers.

1700.—Baptist.

1736.—Thos. Sandford's House.

Baptist Charities:

1718.—F. Thayer 200 £. to be laid out in Land and the rents applied to teach female children the Assembly's Catechism 100 £ lost by bad Security 1782.—Joseph Morse, by Will gave 100 £. the interest for the Baptist meeting at Stow.

This was invested with other funds, in purchase of a Message in Sheep Street, Stow.

Mr G Townsends, Well and Pumphouse, (a round building near the Church Yard,) have been long discontinued and the Town remained to a proverb deficient in the supply of Water.

At Donnington was fought 21 March 1645-6, the battle between the troops of King Charles I. under Lord Ascham and Sir Charles Lucas, and those of the Parliament under Cols. Morgan, Birch and Brereton, wherein the Royalists were totally defeated.—It was the King's last effort in the field. Clarendon's History 2 Vol. ad finem, and Bibliog. Gloucestersiensis par. 3. cxiii.

On the Wolds of Gloucestershire, the Royal cause met with its first repulse, (on the hills above Prestbury and Charlton King's whence Gloucester City saw Relief in hand) and its final defeat (near Stow.)

Acknowledgments are due to Revd. D. Royce, of Fisher Sugell, for information kindly given in reference to this place.

Arms : On a Lozenge, Or, a Griffin segreant Sable, for MORGAN.

In Memory of the truly excellent
Mrs. ANNE MORGAN,
Daughter and Coheirress of Sir EDWARD MORGAN, late of Lanternham in the County of Monmouth, Bart. who died the 24th. of August, 1712, in the 35th. Year of the Age.

Her Person was beautifully agreeable.
She had Wit, without Levity;
Knowledge, without Affectation;
a penetrating Understanding,
with a sound Judgement.

ON MARBLE MONUMENTS.

She was pleasant in Conversation;
modestly reserved, without Severity;
Just, Beneficent, Charitable, and Generous; endued with a sweetness and firmness of Temper above the Power of common Accidents;
civil and well-bred towards all;
but where she professed Friendship, in every Part of that Duty without equal; for ever to be honoured, loved, and lamented.

The LORD giveth, and the LORD taketh away; blessed be the Name of the LORD!

Bend Or, for SCROPE.

In Memory of the truly pious,
the LADY ANNABELLA HOWE, one of the Daughters of EMANUEL, LORD SCROPE, EARL of SUNDERLAND,
the Widow of JOHN HOWE, of Compton, and the most indulgent Mother of JOHN GRUBHAM HOWE,
of Stowell, in the Co. of Gloucster.
She died the 20th. day of March, 1703-4.

Supplemental Notes as to Devolution of I. Estates. II. Church. III. Taxation, Population, &c.

I.—This small Parish, from its proximity to the ancient Foss Way contains many remains of Roman Occupation, and in comparatively modern times is remarkable for many of the Possessors of the Estate of which alone it consists.
being persons of historical celebrity.

Its old and right name is Stonewell, so called it is said from a Well there whose Waters have petrifying properties.

Stanwelle in Bradlege Hundred, belonged to the Manor of Iccce. (North Ilesch.) Culture: There were 7 Plow tillages whereof two were in demesne and 5 in Villenage, (5 Villains.) there was a Water Mill of 40d. Rent. There were 4 Serfs and 2 Bond Women.

Iccce belonged to St. Peter's Gloucester, but of the Land of that Manor, Walter the son of Pons, held 12 Hides.
Domesday Book.

It was for a long period from Hen. iii. to Edw. iii. time in the Martell family.

Adam de Martell being Lord, 9 Edw. ii. (Nom. Vill.)

W. Clifford, held afterwards:

63 a. in Northfield near Eean Lands [Chedworth.]

Winchcomb Abbey, by exchange with R. Clifford, for Land in Lanworth. Winch. Regis.

1 Edw. iii.—It appears by the Subsidy Roll, that John de Stonewell, was the great Tax Payer for Land here.

13 Hen. vii.—Richard Hercourt and his Wife Agnes, levied a fine of Lands in Norleach, Hampnet and Stowell to Simon Hercourt.

23 Hen. vii.—Agnes Hercourt.

..... Tame, of the elder branch, by purchase.

Hen. vii.—His Daughter and Heir married Horn.

2 Mar.—Horn's Daughter and Heir married Bourne.

Atkinson, by purchase.

Lady Atkinson of Stowell, gave a Meadow in Hampnet and 340 Sheep pastures, the Rents to teach Children to read.

William, Earl of Strafford, son of the great Earl, by Gift of his Uncle Atkinson.

John Howe, by purchase. He died 1721, and was buried at Stowell, As to this character, see Macaulay Hist. of England, last paragraph of the last Vol.

John Howe, his son created 1741, Viscount Chedworth, during Sir Robt. Walpole's Administration.

1742.—John Thynne Howe, son and heir, marr. a dau. of Col Parker Long, He was Lord Lieutenant of Gloucestershire, and died 1762.

1762.—Henry Frederick Howe, brother and heir, died 1781, unmarried.

1781.—John Howe, nephew and heir being Son of Hon. and Rev. Thomas Howe, next Brother of the last Lord, he died unmarried 1804.

A full account of the life of the last Lord Chedworth and the disposal which he made of the great Estates of his family in this and other Counties will be found in the Gentleman's Magazine for 1804, page 1242. He was born in 1724 lived a retired life at Ipswich and died unmarried at the age of 60. He directed his Estates to be sold by his Trustees and Executors, Wilson and Pennrice, and out of the proceeds he gave Legacies to them (very large,) to many of his theatrical acquaintances and others and amongst them (£ 3000.) to the Honbl. C. J. Fox, for his patriotism.

1821, Sir William Scott, by purchase from Lord Chedworth's Trustees.—This was the great Civilian, who on being ennobled took his Title from this place. He was born in 1745, at Heyworth in Co. Durham, whither his Mother had retreated from Newcastle on Tyne when it was invested by the Scots at the time of the Rebellion of 1745. He was for 20 years Judge of the Admiralty Court. He died 1836.

Lady Sidmouth, his only surviving child succeeded him and held for her life.

Earl of Eldon, a descendant of Lord Stowell's younger Brother John, Lord Eldon, by the Will of Lord Stowell.

II.—Church:

The Benefice is a Rectory.

The Church is dedicated to St. Peter. It consists of a Nave (the ancient Chapel) a Chancel and one Transept.

There was another but that its now no longer standing.

1591.—It was united with Hampnet under Licence from the Archbp. of Canterbury, upon condition that neither Church should be defrauded of its due services.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

(Information given by R. Mullings, Esqr. and others)

Of the Towns, and Villages upon the "Strata Viarum", of the Romans in Britain, this is one, standing on Irmin-Street, about a mile, and a quarter, from Cirencester towards Gloucester. If the place had the affix of "Irmin Way," its name would be more distinctive.

It is called "Stratone," in Domesday Survey. It was then in Cirencester Hundred though now in that of Crowthorne. Sir R. Atkyns, says that the Name of this Hundred is due to a Bush so called in Stratton-field, a notion which Ruider, deemed vulgar, and improbable, but which nevertheless is well founded. The Register of Cirencester Abbey, A. f. 385. states that the View of Crowthorn Hundred, was held twice a Year, in the Demesne of Stratton, and thereto came the Lord of Sodington Musard, (by his Bailiff,) to pray the Livory of his Manor, &c.

In Stratton-field there was a spot near the Irmin-Street, or Gloucester-Road, called Court Hill, which Name is still retained, and near which spot Thorn Bushes, are still found, and this probably was the Justice Seat, of the H.

At Domesday Survey, Stratton contained 5 Hides taxed, besides the Demesne. It was advanced in Culture having 12 Plow tillages, three whereof, were in Demesne, and 9 in the Hands of 16 Villans, and 7 Bordars; on it were 5 Serfs. It had also Two Mills of 20 s. value, and there was a Priest. Its yearly Value was 6 £. and had been 8 £.

The Saxon Owner was Edmund. After the Conquest, He was dispossessed in favor of Roger de Laci. W. de Laci, by descent Son, and Heir.

Parcelled off: 1 Villenage, and Two-thirds of the tithes of the Demesnes.—

Temp. W. 1. St. Peter's Priory Hereford, by Grant of W. de Laci, confirmed by King Wm. 1.

This Charity being limited to 4 poor men in its objects, and specific in bounty on them (a pension of 8d. a Week each,) the whole amount was 6£. 1hs. 8d.

This sum, says the 20th. Charity Inquiry Report, p. 69. "is paid out of an estate near Thornbury in Gloucestershire, but how the Rent came to be transferred from the property originally made subject, to that out of which it is at present paid we (the Comrs.) could not learn." It may admit of this explanation: The Estate near Thornbury, may be the Erdicote of the Gift, and the amount of the pension money taken as the extent of the benefaction.

The Church of this Parish escaped, what Ayliffe, on his Parergon calls the "horrid evil of appropriation" to a religious house; an escape the more remarkable from its close vicinity to a mighty Abbey. The Advowson remaining in lay hands appendant to the Manor, the Priest of the Parish has enjoyed all the fruits of the Benefice. Under an appropriation those fruits (saving the legal Endowment for the vicar of the smaller tythes which Law of Endowment was wholly evaded by the device of appropriating ad mensam monachorum) would have gone to the religious house, and upon its dissolution would have become a lay, or temporal fee, to the "Bondage" as a learned Judge termed it, of the Church.

The Cirencester Abbey Register contains copies of Grants to the Alter of St. Peter at Stratton A. 95b. 97a.

1776. At County Election as Freeholders of Stratton, voted W. Tombs, J. Norris, N. Haynes, Rev. Jas. Danbuey.

At the passing of the Reform Act of 1861.—Stratton was joined to the Borough of Cirencester for the purpose of Election. It sends a contingent of between 80, and 90 Voters.

Until the Inclosure (1772,) this place must have retained much of its pristine appearance. It had its two Mills, (Baunton Mill being in the Parish,) and its Priest, There were in it no extensive Downes, or open Lands, though such there were in Daglingworth, formerly parcel of this Manor. But there were two large common-fields, Foss Field, and Woodfield, and a common Meadow, Dole Mead. Foss-field extended from the Brook to the Church, and Daglingworth Road; the Allotments are now intersected by the new Road from Cheltenham to Cirencester. Woodfield lay on the South side of the Irmin Way, and extended to Lord Bathurst's Park, and Woods, Dolemead was by the River Churn. Mill Lane led from Parson's Mill, & Dole Mead, to the Gloucester Road in a line now shown by the footpath. It crossed that Road, and was continued on the other side under the name of Back Lane, terminating in a Bridle-Way. The way from Stratton to Baunton, was a Green-way from "Crowthorn," in Court Hill over the Foss (common arable) field to the Churn, by the Upper, or Baunton Mill.

The application of the term Foss Way, and Fossfield relatively to the Gloucester Road is explained by the local use of the Term "Foss" to designate any Roman Road.

The Act for making the Turnpike Road from Cirencester to Cheltenham, was passed 1826.

Further Confirmation of the Crowthorn Hundred point is derived from the relation made to the Editor by the Revd. E. A. Fuller, of an Extract from the Register of the Lady Chapel within St. John's Church, Cirencester. fol. 12 a. now among the Dugdale MSS. in the Ashmolean Library No. 6530.

"Temp. E. III. Grant by Wm. Comes de Cyrencester, of an Acre of Meadow in the Common Mead of Stratton.

Another Grant of a Dovecote "in murca meâ." de Stratton with two acres, one of which situate in the East-field, "extendit se super viridem viam inter Crawthorn et Baudenton." To this Grant Ric. De Spensatore of Daglingworth, is one of the Witnesses.

The following is a List of Places in the Hundred of Crowthorn, taken from the Cirencester Abby Register, in the Library of Sir T. Phillips, Bart. viz. Chesterton, Sodynton-in-the-More, Sodynton Musard, South Sarneye, Cotes, Toileston, Stratton, Daglingworth, Downesbourn Rous, Bagynedene, Amenev, Harabull, and Dryfield.

THE CHURCH consists of two Chancels, Nave, North and South Aisles with Galleries over them and at the West-end, with a Steeple, therein eight Bells, [The Church all except the Steeple was rebuilt 1869, It now consists of a Nave, North and South Aisles and Transepts, Chancel and Side Aisles The Galleries have been taken away and all the Monuments in the Church removed (except two of the Stephens family) and all the flat stones removed or covered over with Tiles. Several of the Monuments or at least their Tablets have been re-erected against the Walls of Tower inside But some are so high up that they cannot be read. The Monument of the Wye family (as shown by the Arms over the frame Work and uninscribed Tablet,) which was in the old Church has not been replaced. There are 10 Bells in the Steeple.]

[The inner Chancel was the original Chapel of Stroud, It had a small Spire in which were hung two little Bells, just above the roof. This small spire and its two little Bells have been taken away.]

On Boards against the North Wall were inscriptions recording the erection of the Aisle and Galleries in 1759 and 1787, at the expence of:—WATHEN, DALLAWAY, PEGLER, ARUNDEL, ALDRIDGE, J. ALLOWAY, N. PEACH, W. CAPEL, T. BAYLIS, B. GRAZEBROOKE, H. BURGH, E. THORNTON, W. ELLIS, Clerk. [These Tables are removed.]

Best earthly gifts, the fond devoted Wife,
The first born Child, best gifts which Life!

He who from these, so soon is called to part,
Erects this tablet with an aching heart;
Yet lowly bows before his chastening God,
And meekly strives to kiss his Father's Rod;
Nor would he, could the power e'en now be given,
Detain those happy souls, one hour from Heaven
For they oh! blest assurance of God's Word
Are present now in glory with the Lord
Blessed are they, nor we unblest are left,
If when our homes below are thus bereft
We hear the Voice of God in tones of Love,
Urging us on to better homes above.

Sacred to the Memory of
EMMA, the beloved Wife of HENRY SMITH, of London, Merchant. and Daughter of THOMAS and MARY COLBORNE, late of this Parish.
She died rejoicing in hope 27 day of July 1782, Aged ... Years.
In her were united those excellent Qualities which exalt and adorn Humanity, As a Daughter.
Her filial Duty was Exemplary; As a Sister,
Her Affection was Warm and Sincere. As a Wife,
The purity of her Mind the Amiability of Her Disposition and her Virtuous Conduct may possibly be equalled but cannot be surpassed.

As a Mother,
Her Tenderness and Care will ever endear her Memory to her two Surviving Daughters.

As a Christian,
She was truly devout and Charitable and bore a long and painful Illness with patient Resignation to the Will of God.

Reader let her Example animate thee, and thou wilt, like her, assuredly obtain a Crown of Righteousness.

Rest gentle Shade in peaceful Slumbers lie,
Till the last Trump proclaims Salvation nigh,
Then joyful rise, shake off this cumbrous Load
Hail the bright morning and adore thy God.

Here lie the Remains of RICHARD MERRITT, Watch and Clockmaker, who died under Inoculation, Decr. 17, 1767, Aged 37 Years.
He was an ingenious Mechanic A sincere Friend,
And a Christian true to the Faith of his Redeemer.

It was his Request, therefore Let no Sacrilegious Hand disturb his Ashes,
But permit them to rest in this gloomy Mansion,
Till the last Trumpet shall awaken him to Life, and Immortality.

Let those who to these awful Cells repair
To waste an Hour or ease the Soul of care
Stop one short moment near this plaintive Stone,
And with the Tears of Friendship mix their own
Then take the last advice by MERRITT given
Be virtuous now, leave all the rest to Heaven.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Stroud now the centre of the West of England Clothing Trade and of a Poor Law Union of Parishes & County Court District, was an outlying portion of the parish of St.
Mary's Bisleigh, and a Vill of the Manor of Bisleigh. In the Ecclesiastical Stroud are included the Vills of Pagenhill, Steanbridge, Lyppiat, (Upper and Lower,) Stancomb and Brimscomb as well as Stroud. It had a Chapel before it became a Parish, and so had Pagenhill.

In Rot. Chart. 1 John.—La Strode and West grove Bosci, then belonging to Ric. de Musgrove, son of Hilary, who was son of William, large Landholders in Gloucestershire, are mentioned.

1304.—In the Church Composition with Bisleigh it is called Strode and La Strode. In the "None" Rolls it is mentioned under Byselegh along with Wyke, Throgham, and Westwood, as Strode and as belonging to Cirencester Abbey.

In the Subsidy Roll 1 E. iii. are several large Tax Payers named from the Place, Alice de Strode and de la Strode, (Payneswyke and Bisleigh.) Rd. de la Strode, (Bisleigh.) Walter and Simon atte Strode and Henr. de Stroderforde.

The devolution of the Manor of Bisleigh is shown in the description of that Place. Vol. 1.

Tithings or Vills,—i. Pagenhill.

Pagenhill, a detached part of Stroud whose Name indicates a former community of ownership with Painswick, furnished to the Subsidy of 1 Edw. iii. 12 Tax Payers, four

IV.—Church:

The Rectory of Bisley to which Stroud belonged was in two portions and each had a Rector; and there was a Vicar besides. One Portion of the Rectory and the Advowson of the Vicarage were appropriated to Stoke Clare College, Suffolk and the other was a Prebend of Westbury College.

26 Hen. viii.—On the Dissolution of Religious Houses the Impropriation of the two Portions of Bisley Rectory passed to the Crown and was—1606.—granted to Baskerville and Blake.

The Impropriation and Great Tithes and Glebe Lands were vested in Lord Keeper Coventry, 1668. The Honble Thos. Coventry Bulkeley, was Owner.

Yarnton Mills, by purchase.

Thomas Mills Goodlake, from him.

1841.—Under the Tithe Commutation Act were assigned to the Rector of Bisley £1200. being the Tithe Rent Charges of Stanbridge and parts of Upper and Lower Lypiatt and of Bisley.

To the Vicar of Bisley 760 £. of the Tithe Rent charges of Paganhill and the other part of Upper and Lower Lypiatt and Bisley.

1304.—The Chapelry of Stroud as already observed obtained parochial Rights under a Composition with the then Bisley Rectors Avery and Le Eyr, and William the Vicar of Bisley, and Thomas of Rodborow, William Proute, Henry of Monmouth, Nichs. le Seymor and Henry le Fremre, Inhabitants of Strode.

The Deed made an Endowment or Grant to these Inhabitants for Stroud out of the Rectory Land of a piece of Ground held by John of Pridie in La Strode under Lease from the Rector, as the site for a manse for a resident Priest, who was to receive a Contribution of 15 s. yearly from the Inhabitants. This is the Pridies' Acre of the Charity Table above mentioned and which has been since built on.

While the Crown had the Impropriation of Bisley it was from time to time under Lease; and by the Lessees the Lessees were bound to find a Minister and Deacon for Stroud Water and by some of them to pay 10 £. to such Minister; but no mention is made in them of any Chapel or Minister of Pagenhill. This has ceased to be paid. But the Vicar of Stroud has received the Annual payment of £20. out of the Pridies Acre Property as mentioned in the Benefaction Table.

The Stroud Living has been augmented out of a benefaction of the Revd. Henry Bond's and other persons and a Grant from the Queen Ann's Bounty with which the Rodway Estate in Randwick has been purchased.

In 1837, a Parsonage House in King-street was acquired. The Living is stated to be of the Value of £300. a Year.

List of Curates or Vicars of Stroud.

The Ministers were chosen or appointed by the Improprators, or Parishioners until 1722; but by a sort of Lapse the Nomination has accrued to the Bishop.

New Churches:—

1813.—The Holy Trinity, Upper Stroud.

1839.—At Brimscomb, the Church of the Holy Trinity.

1840.—The Villages at White's hill, Ruscomb Valley and the Plaies above and part of Pagenhill were formed into an ecclesiastical District and a new Church there built.

1837.—At Ebley & Cainscross, a new Church was built.

1855.—New Cemetery opened.

Non Conformist Chapels:

The Protestant Dissenters of Stroud made early use of the Religious Liberty accorded at the Revolution. In 1689, Robert Vyners' Barn was licensed.

The principal Denominations now have and for a long time have had, their proper places of Worship; with some of which are connected Names of Ministers of celebrity such as Revd. C. Wesley, Revd. Dr. Burder, &c.

At Becches Green the Roman Catholics have a Chapel and Convent.

1721.—The Revd. W. Johns, the founder of the Subscription Charity School of Stroud, also bequeathed his Books for a public Library to be deposited in a convenient place in the Market House. The Master of the Free School there to be Librarian and to have 20 s. a Year for keeping them. Mr P. H. Fisher, in his "Recollections of Stroud" notes that in 1792, the Books were in Heaps confusedly in Jenner's a Booksellers House; and that soon after they disappeared altogether. As to parochial Libraries, see "Stonehouse."

In Stroud Union.

Stroud has a history of its own concerning its Ways by Land and Water. The Country being hilly, the original means of Carriage was the beast of burthen. In "Avening" a pack horse bearing a Bale of Cloth is represented. Vol. I.

The principal mart for Wool and general produce and the largest Town in the Clothing District was Minchinhampton. It had two annual fairs and a Weekly market. Its Fair was, like that of Stow in the Wold a gathering of people from afar and near. Now that town was approached by good roads. But in Owen's "Britannia depicta" 1720. a Work shewing on Maps the principal and Cross Roads, there is no carriage Road seen to Stroud, a name mentioned for a Brook but not for a Town. The main Lines of communication in and about Stroud were narrow winding Roads ill formed and badly repaired. There were Mills on the Streams in the Bottoms, and some good Houses of the Clothiers near. To these Mills and Houses, steep narrow Lanes led from the Roads, repaired, so far as they ever were repaired, by the Mill Owners. Several of these steep narrow Lanes remain (though better repaired) such as that to Capel Mill, the old square brick Mansion with its quaint summer house and trim Gardens on the north side of the G. W. Railway.

The increasing Trade of the District requiring better modes of Conveyance, Water Navigation was sought.

1730, an Act passed for making the River Stroudwater navigable, but it was never carried into execution. It was opposed by the Severnside Land Owners on the ground that it would turn their meadows into Bogs, and by the City of Gloucester, and the compensation claims of Mills for Water Power presented an insurmountable difficulty. Another Navigation was promoted on the petition of the Owners of 71 Mills out of 85 upon and above the proposed Work, and opposed by nine of the others. The Promoters alleged that the Petitioners in its favor, had made the preceding Year 28,590 long cloths and the opponents but 1700. The plan was to keep a pair of Boats to ply between every 2 mills, the Loading to be in Packages and those shifted from one Boat to another in the different Lengths. The Act passed, and the plan was tried, but was not found to answer.

It was stated that most of the cloth was manufactured in the Winter and Spring, great numbers of the Hands being required in the summer time for the Harvest.

1763. The Act for making the Stroudwater Canal Navigation from Wallbridge near Stroud to the Severn at Framilode passed.

The Thames and Severn Canal Navigation Act was passed for making the Canal from Walbridge to Lechlade, see "Saperton."

This did for heavy goods; while for better making and repairing the Roads on Land, Turnpikes were introduced. The Manufacturers feeling no prejudice against that useful Institution it extended itself around the Town, continued to flourish for a period from 1751, when the first was set up, for near a Century; and some still remain.

Stroud and the surrounding Places of Bisley, Painswick, Pitchcom, Randwick, Stonehouse, Leonad Stanley, (except a detached part.) King's Stanley, Rodborough, Minchinhampton, Woodchester, Avening, and Horsley were constituted a Parliamentary Borough, under the Reform Act of 1832, and Boundary Act of 1833. Hayward's field was afterwards added. Under the Reform Act of 1867, and its Boundary Act, parts of Standish and Brockthorp Parishes were added to it. The constituency is large. It was quadrupled by the Reform Act of 1867. The Borough returns two Members.

For the town of Stroud an Improvment Act 6 Geo. iv. was obtained in 1825.

In 1856, a Local Board of Health for the same area was established. By this body 1864, the Springs and Works of the Water Company were purchased, And a system of sewerage laid down, upon the plan of Dr. Bird, for deodorization.

The Town Hall and Market House is a structure of some antiquity and architectural pretension. It consists of two stories the Market house below and the Town Hall for the Local business of the County Court, Bench of Justices Local Board, &c. above.

Stroud can boast of several Names of celebrity. Among them may be mentioned John Canton, F. R. S. a Mathematician and Natural Philosopher, who died 1772. Dr. Joseph White, the Regius Professor of Arabic and Hebrew, at Oxford, who died 1814, now best known as the Author of the Dictionnaire or Harmony of the four Gospels, but whose Bampton Lectures 1784, and other Works at one time attained great fame. Sir George Naylor, Knight, the Garter Principal King of Arms, who died 1831, and who published in 1792, a "Collection of the Coats of Arms, borne by the Nobility and Gentry of the County of Gloucester."

In the Civil Wars, the Stroud water Clothiers were well affected to the Parliament; and suffered in consequence, pillage and Violence from the King's Troops and the Garrisons of Sudely, &c. Lyppatt House, was at first (1642.) garrisoned for the Parliament but afterwards (1644-5.) surrendered to the King.

For further Information see Notes, &c. on Stroud, by P. H. Fisher, 1871.

SUDELY.

THE Church is small but a neat building adorned all round with pinnacles and battlements, &c. A full and particular account of this Church and Castle was published by ROBSON, Bond-street, 1791. written by the Rev. COOPER WILLIAMS, Vicar of Izning in Suffolk.

To supply Bigland's omission of information concerning this place the following Notices are given as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Taxation, Population, &c.

I.—Sudely is a small Parish occupying a tongue of Land and part of the Hill sides of the northern end of the Sevenhampton Valley in the Coteswold Hills. The spot has natural advantages in respect of soil, aspect, wood and water; and from its proximity to the ancient and formerly large town of Winchcomb is convenient of access. These advantages attracted inhabitants from a very early date as shown by British trackways, flint Weapons &c. there-about found.

The name of the place has reference to its situation towards Winchcomb; whereof one part of S. (S. Tenements,) is deemed a hamlet, although it was recognized by a minute of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Gloucester (Epiphany 1740.) that Sudely Manor and Sudely Tenements are distinct from the Parish of Winchcomb.

There were Castles in both places as appears in the "Gesta Stephani" and in William of Malmesbury. By the latter writer (Hist. Nov. Lib. ii. 34.) we are told that Robert Fitzroy, contending against Stephen, on behalf of the Empress Maud, took the Castles of Sudeley and Cernui.

Sudeleg, was taxed at 12 Hides: there were thirty one Plow Tillages whereof four were in demesne. There were six Water Mills and a Wood 3 miles long and 2 miles broad.

Harold, the son of Earl Radulph, held Sudeleg in the reign of King William. His Father held it before him:

Domesday Book.

Radulph, was Earl of Hereford, and was son of Walter de Maunt, by Goda a sister of King Edward the Confessor and he married a daughter of Hugh Lupus, Earl of Chester.

The above Harold, took the name of Sudely.

John de S. was son and heir of Harold. He married a daughter of Henry de Tracy, of Barnstaple in Devonshire, and one of his sons assumed the name of Tracy. Like Tracy he supported King Stephen's cause.

2 Hen. ii.—Ralph, the son and heir of John, married Emma, daughter of W. de Beauchamp, of Elmley Castle, Worcestershire.

Otwell, son and heir, died without issue; and Ralph, son and nephew and heir of Otwell succeeded.

Hen. iii.—Ralph, son and heir, married Joan, Sister of W. Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick.

51 Hen. iii.—Bartholomew, son and heir, died without issue. He purchased a free Warren Charter.

The above Possessors of the Castle were ranked as Barons by Tenure.

15 Ed. i.—John, Nephew and heir, had his free Warren Privilege allowed. He was Baron Sudely, by Writ.

17 Edw. ii.—John de Sudely, was seized of Sudely Manor and Messuages in Greet and Greeton. 27 Edw. iii. (Inq. post Mort.) He marr. Eleanor, dau. of Lord Scales.

35 Edw. iii. John, was his son and heir, and died without issue. 41 Edw. iii. (Esch. Ist. No. 57.)

Margery, Wife of Sir Roger Massey, Knt. his sister and Thos. le Boteler, son of Joan, (who had married W. le Boteler, of Wem,) his other and elder Sister were his Coheirs.

4 Ric. ii.—By partition, Thos. le Boteler, whose son and grandson succeeded. The latter died without issue.

22 Ric. ii.—Ralph, by descent, Brother and Heir; created Lord Baron of Sudely, by Patent. 20 Hen. vi.; Treasurer of England. He rebuilt the castle, partly "ex Spoliis Gallorum" says Leland.

The names of the Barons Sudely and Boteler, often occur in the Parliament Rolls.

8 Edw. iv.—The Crown, by purchase, in the name of Trustees—Earl Rivers, L. of Pembroke and Lord Hastings. Patent Roll.

9 Edw. iv.—Richard, Duke of Gloucester, by grant of Lord Hastings and others by the King's Letters of direction. Cloose Rolls

18 Edw. iv.—Reunited to Crown by Exchange between the Duke of Gloucester and the King of this Castle for Richmond Castle, Yorkshire. Patent Roll.

1 Hen. vii.—Jasper, Duke of Bedford, by Grant in tail. The Crown, by Reverter.

The Manor and Estates:

2 Hen. viii.—The Abbot and Convent of Winchcomb. Patent Roll.

2 Hen. viii.—Constablership of Castle and 30 £. yearly fee from the Abbot, of Winchcomb: W. Compton, for Life.

7 Hen. viii.—Sir James Bridges, on the surrender by Compton

28 Hen. viii.—Regrant to same.

34 Hen. viii.—Grant to J. Brydges and Edmond, his son. The Manor, Estates and Castle:

1 Edw. vi.—Sir Thos Seymour, created Lord Seymour, of Sudley, by Crown Grant.

The greater part of the structure appears to be of his time. Camden, who probably saw it in its glory, calls it "Castrum elegantissimum" (Britannia Gloucestershire, last 4to. Edition.). Its remains shew it to have been a noble pile, mainly of Tudor Architecture.

The Crown by forfeiture on his attainder.

1549.—W. Parr, Marquis of Northampton, by Crown Grant.

1 Mar.—The Crown, by forfeiture, on his attainder.

Sir John Bridges, by Crown Grant. He was Governor of the Tower of London, created Baron Chandos, of Sudely, marr. Elizabeth, dau. of Edmund, Lord Grey, of Wilton.

1557.—Edmund Bridges, 2nd. Lord Chandos of Sudley, by descent son and heir, m. daughter of Lord Bray.

1573.—Giles, 3rd. Lord Chandos, of Sudley, by descent son and heir. He died without male issue.

In 1592, Queen Elizabeth, visited him at Sudely Castle, see Nichols' Progresses, Vol. 1. p. 391, 392. Vol. 3. p. 136, 217, and see Sir Egerton Brydges' Account of speeches on the occasion.

1593.—William, 4th. Lord Chandos, of Sudely, by descent, brother and heir, married Mary, daughter of Sir Owen Hopton.

1602.—Grey, 5th. Lord Chandos, of Sudley, by descent son and heir. married Lady Anne Stanley.

1621.—George, 6th. Lord Chandos, of Sudely, married 1st. Lady Susan Montague. 2nd. Jane, dau. of Savage, Earl Rivers.

1641.—Lord Chandos, was appointed Lord Lieutenant of the County in the interest of the Parliament; but attempted to execute the Commission of Array at Cirencester for the behoof of the King. He failed in the attempt, but held his Castle for the King, and joined him in person at Shrewsbury. During his absence the Castle was attacked by a force under Col. Massey, Governor of Gloucester, to whom it was surrendered after some resistance. Soon afterwards, Cirencester was taken by the Royalists; and then Sudely was abandoned by the Parliamentarians and again garrisoned for the King.

1643, Sept.—The King withdrew from Gloucester and spent 4 days at Sudely Castle.

1644.—The Castle was taken by Sir W. Waller, almost on the first summons. It was garrisoned by the Parliamentary General but so feebly as to be unable to protect Winchcomb from plundering bands of Royalists.

(Lord Chandos, had before left Oxford and come into the Parliament.)

Memorials of English Affairs, temp. C. i. pp. 85-6

1654.—Jane, Lady Chandos, by her Husband's Will.

Lady Chandos, married G. Pitt, for her 3rd. Husband, And says Mr. Stebbing Shaw in his West of E. Tour, 216. "with a gratitude that ought to be remembered," left the Castle & Estates of Sudely to her 2nd. [3rd.] Husb. & her Children by him, in consequence of which it was alienated from the family who had a right to it for ever." This family were the daughters of this Lord George, as to the Castle and Estates; while the Title descended to his Brother William, and from whom 1676, it went to a remote Cousin and Heir, afterwards Duke of Chandos, whose male Descendant failed in 1789, and the Title is supposed to have become extinct.

1803.—The Claim of Revd. Edward Tymewell Brydges to the Barony of Chandos of Sudely, was rejected by the House of Lords,

1822.—Richard Grenville who mar. the Daughter and Heir of the last Duke of Chandos, was created Duke of Buckingham and Chandos

The Castle is supposed, (see Rudder) to have been entire after the sieges. When the contest was over, it was decreed by Ordinance, for reasons of State that those Castles which had escaped destruction, and might yet be dangerous to the public peace, should be "slighted." And then this Castle was so far demolished as to be untenantable.

1646.—Order to slight all the garrisons in Gloucestershire except Gloucester and to reduce the forces there to a less number.

Memorials of English Affairs, tem. C. i. p. 222.

After the alienation to the Pitts, it never appears to have been used as a residence of the family. Part was occupied as a farm house; and that partially, and the rest wholly left to decay, and open to spoil and waste.

In the family of Pitt, afterwards Lord Rivers, it continued for several generations, until by sales—1814.—The Castle and 62a. of Land passed to the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos.

1830.—The Farms to Messrs. John and William Dent, of Worcester, and who sometime after acquired the Castle, by purchase of the Duke.

The demolition of Castles has not occasioned much regret, but they had their uses as well as abuses. The household Establishment of a Castle was a school for the merits of peace on a large scale, and therein as a rule, order and decorum; and, the virtue of hospitality and the graces of courtesy were exhibited, but, it was doubtless at Sudely when the Court, so to speak, of the so called, King of Cotswold, Giles, Lord Chandos, was here held.

As military strong-holds it may be doubted whether Castles were more of a protection from evil doers, than a terror to those willing to do well in their neighbourhood.

They had their day, and that a long one from Saxon to the Common Wealth times.

In the Buildings of this Castle, a considerable restoration has been lately effected by the Messrs. Dent,—a Work in respect to its object and mode of execution highly gratifying to local Antiquaries, and to all who venerate noble historical monuments.

Diverse Lands adjacent to the town of Winchcomb but in Sudely were granted by his Lords in subfee and are appropriately enough called Sudeley Tenements, Amongst them—

Land:—By John, of Sudeley, to Adam Le Hunte.

Other Lands:—to W. Tracy, who sub-eneffed John Benne.

These Lands were severally transferred by Le Hunte, and Benne to Hayles Abbey.

Inq. au q. dam. 13 Edw. ii. 7 Edw. iii.

Baudres Mill: By Harold of Sudeley, to Winchcomb Abbey in free alms.

One Yard Land to Russell, from whom, that Abbey.

There are at Gloucester the Wills of the following Inhabitants of Sudely.

1541. Thos. Brangwaine.

1546. J. Hickes.

25 Geo. iii. chap. 21. A. Private Act, passed for inclosing open and common-fields, common pastures, and arable Lands in the Hamlets of Greet and Sudeley Tenements in Winchcomb.

1815.—By the Award Tythe Allotments were made to Revd. J. Daubney, Rector of Sudeley. Revd. J. J. Lates, Vicar of Winchcomb; F. P. Stratford; and T. Ashmore, Tythe Owners.

Allotments in respect of Commonfield Rights were made to Messrs. Freeman, Robert Baylis, (Farm House Estate.) M. Bridge, J. Heavens. T. Ashmore, S. Wood, and others Land Owners. Exchanges were made between Lord Rivers, and T. Phillips, and between others. In other respects the Castle Estates were not affected by the Act or Award, Allotments for watering places, sand, Gravel, Clay Pits, were made to the Highway Surveyors.

The Award is enrolled at the Clerk of Peace Office, Gloucester and is accompanied with a Map.

II.—Church.

The Parish Church of Sudely is near to the Castle, It is an oblong structure of stone in the perpendicular style; at the west end is a turret and one Bell. A small annex on the North side of Tudor style and date, appears to have been a mortuary Chapel. It is now used as an organ Chamber, Vestry, &c.

1642-3.—The Church was after the surrender of the Castle to Massie turned to profane uses by the Soldiers of the parliamentary Garrison. see Mercurius Rusticus, p. 57.

Church desecration by the King's Soldiers was not unknown, and in the instance of the Church at Oxford, wherein the prisoners from Cirencester were confined, had been complained of. The Author of Mercurius Rusticus, makes the most of the sacrilegious excesses in Sudely Church as he uses them in the way of retort to the above complaint against his Party; whose Commanders, he says, were really to be blamed for lodging any where, Rebels who ought to have been hang'd, &c. But it does not appear by this account that the Chapel was then unroofed or its Walls broken down. And more than 10 years afterwards the last resident Lord Chandos was there buried. It might have been "slighted." In Atkyns' time the Church was quite out of repair and the chapel was the only place used for divine service. And so it remained until its effective restoration by the Dent family, which was finished in 1863, and is commemorated by this Inscription on a Brass plate on the West Wall of the Church, "To the glory of God, and to the Memory of John Dent and William Dent, of Worcester and Sudeley Castle, the restoration of this Church, destroyed in the Civil Wars of the xviii th. Century, was completed by John Coucher Dent, their Nephew, A. D. 1863."

The restoration involved repairs to the Walls; re-roofing; re-seating with open benches assigned to different dwelling-places in the Parish (the Castle, Rectory Water-hatch, &c.) stained or painted Windows in which are figures of the Lords of Sudely; Harold; Boteler; and Brydges; (John and George,) of Queen Katharine Parr; her two last Husbands; her Almoner Dr. Miles Coverdale, Kenelm and Kenulph of the Winchcomb legend, Lady Jane Grey, &c; an oaken screen, a Herodas on the East Wall, an Organ &c. There are also old Royal Arms of Geo. iii.

[The Botelers of Sudely, were buried in St. Nicholas' Chapel, Winchcomb Church. Several of the Lords Chandos were buried in the Church at Sudely; and the Soldiers of the Parliament are charged (as above) with defacing their Monuments, &c. But they were not charged with violating the sanctity of Queen Katharine Parr's tomb: That was done on several occasions about 140 years after the Civil War: see Dr. T. Nash's Account in Archæologia, Vol. ix. p. 1. Of the original monument to this Lady there were few or no remains at the Church restoration.]

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate ; II.—Church ; III.—Population, Taxation, &c

These Villages lie in spots sheltered by hills on the North and East sides. The grounds rise around them on the West, and are open on the south where flows the Dickler Stream towards Bourton. Their name is self denoting.

The Well may be that referred to by Leland, (Itin. Vol. 5. p. 2.) as "a Water rising at Kensdale in Cotteswold running thence to Hinchwicks whereabout it runneth under the ground, thence to Swell Village by Stowe, from Swell to Slaughter and so into Burton Water." The same or a like spring is mentioned as rising at Blockley, there disappearing and reappearing at Swell. Bigland MSS

The historian of the County, Sir R. Atkyns, had a Seat at Lower Swell, which he says was a pleasant one, with a large Park. But he does not dwell in his history much on the place, his account of it being meagre. Rudder adds but little to the information, and as to Upper Swell he says "there is nothing in it worthy the Traveller's notice" Yet if the Traveller would stay his foot a little while, explore the remains and gather the traditions of these places, he would not be disappointed, for they afford a most interesting field for antiquarian research. They have remains of Roman buildings and roads, British trackways, burying places, and hoar stones and other Vestiges of Occupants in very remote ages.

In Upper Swell there was a Church before the Conquest and the Church of Lower Swell is nearly if not quite, as ancient.

Lower Swell is considered to have been part of Pin-nockshire—a district ridiculously small for a County:—not needing, says the distich, more than three days to walk round about it. Pincock its capital is some miles from Swell. It is a Village so small that, according to Ruader it would take but 3 hours to walk round it; and Bigland finding it a farm with its Church demolished, passed it by unnoticed. What-ever might have been the Jurisdiction or privilege of Pin-nockshire, it must have had some offsets, like Lower Swell, to make up its traditional extent.

There are 3 Entries concerning these Places in Domes-day Book:—Two are for Lower Swell and one for Upper Swell.

I.—Swell contained 7 Hides taxable. In demeane 4 carucates. In Villenage (10 Villans.) 6 carucates. And a Mill of 7s. 6d. It then was of 7 £. Yearly Value. It had been of 8 £.

II.—Swell contained 3 Hides taxable. It had been of 40s. and then was of 10s. Yearly Value.

The Saxon Owner of both was Ernesi, [from whom probably like Upper Swell, they passed to the Crown.]

At the Survey Ralph de Todeni held, No. 1 and Drogo under him. And Wm. de Ow, held, No. 2. Domesday Book.

Wm. de Ow's, fee is not traced, but Ralph de Todeni's fee became part of the Honor of Gloucester.

Sub-fee of Drogo Pons or Poyntz:

8 Edw. ii.—Hugo de Poyntz, held six Knight's fees in Tockington and Swell of the Yearly Value 107 £. under the Earl of Gloucester.

16 Ric. ii.—The Manor of Lower Swell was held of the Honor of Gloucester by the service of 5 Knight's fees.

22 Edw. i.—Robert Poyntz, a descendant of Drogo's, had aliened part called a Manor, &c. (14 Ed. ii.) to Richard, Earl of Cornwall and King of the Romans.

Inq. ad q. dam. No. 143.

Of Pointz's subfee, the part retained came to Notley Abbey.

Edw. i.—Richard, made a Park here; in the midst of which ran the King's Highway to Stow. It was diverted by him; but Traces of it are still to be seen.

Nether Swell Manor owed suit to the County Court, and when Richard withdrew suit, his nonfeasance was complained of.

Nether Swell Manor, Park, &c.:—

22 Edw. i.—The Abbot and Convent of Hayles, by Gift of Edmund, son of Richard.

They claimed the Right of frankpledge here on the ground of their fee of Pin-nockshire extending over it. But failed to establish that claim in contest with the Lords of the Hundred of Salmenesbury, (another stiff Ecclesiastical Body—the Abbey of Fiscamp.)

Other Acquisitions by Hayles Abbey:—

(1.) A Virgate of Land by Gift of Simon Poyntz.

(2.) Two Virgates & 19 a. Land from John Sage, 6 E.ii.

(3.) A messuage 26 a. Land, &c. from Godschalk and Benne.

(4.) A messuage 4 Virgates of Land, &c. from Thomas Cole, John de Eberton and John Herberd, Chaplains.

Hayles Abbey held at Sowell, 9 Carucates of Land at 10s. each £4 10 s. 0d.; 2 Mills at 10s. each. £1 0 s. 0d.; Rents and Services £5 4 s. 0d. Pope Nic. Tax.

About 26 Hen. viii. the Abbey had—

Sir R. Atkyns, by purchase.

The Atkyns Estate in Lower Swell, is thus described in their Deeds:

Lower Swell Manor; The "Bold" Message and Firm; Swell Park otherwise Abbots Wood and Bold Mill; The "Gannow" Barcary or Sheep House and Closes thereto belonging. Common of pasture for 400 Sheep and 20 Beasts upon the Hills and fields of Nether Swell at all times of the year except in the opentime, and in the open time for all manner of Beasts without stint; Marden Leasowes and the Barcary or Sheep House there and feeding for 600 Sheep on the Demesne Waste Lands; Tithes; all as held by the late Abbot of Hales Monastery: Grounds of Winsmore's tenancy Half an acre in the Curate of Stow's Tenure: The fishing of the River of Nether Swell.

1669.—Settlement by Sir E. Atkyns and son Sir Robt. on the marriage of Robert, [the Historian.] son of the said Sir Robert, for Life and his issue by Lovice Carteret in special tail male, Remainder to Sir Robert Atkyns, one of settlers in fee with Power for the same Sir Robert, to make a Jointure of the Estate on an after taken Wife.

1681.—Jointure by the same Sir Robert on Ann Dacres, his 2nd. Wife for her Life.

1708.—Will of same Sir Robert, devising his Remainder (after his son's special Estate tail.) to John Tracy, the 2nd. and other younger Sons of his (Testator's) son in Law John Tracy, by Testator's Daughter Ann, in tail male successively, Remainder to Richard Atkyns, son of Testator's Brother Sir Edward Atkyns, in fee.

1710.—Sir Robert Atkyns, [the Historian.] ejected his Father's (the Testator's) Widow and Jointress Ann, and made a Feoffment without joining her, and suffered a Recovery to enlarge his Estate tail into a fee.

1711.—He died without Issue, having devised to his Nephew and Heir Robert Atkyns. Five days after his Death the Jointress Ann, recovered the Estate for her Life.

1712.—She died, when Robert Atkyns, the Nephew and Devisee entered and held till his death 1735. His Daughters and Co-heiresses, 1st. Ann, marr. to Thomas Horde and 2nd. Elizabeth, marr. to Edmund Chamberlayne, succeeded.

2 Geo. ii. (1729).—Fine of a Moiety levied by E. Chamberlayne, and Wife Elizabeth.

24 Geo. ii. (1752).—Fine of the other Moiety levied by T. Horde and Wife Ann.

1752.—J. Tracy, (Atkyns.) Devisee of the Settlor Sir Robert, asserted his Claim against Horde and Chamberlayne, on the ground of the invalidity of the Recovery of 1710, by Sir R. Atkyns, [the Historian.] from the non concurrence in the Recovery Deed of the Jointress Ann. Time however, it was held, barred him.

1 Bur. Rep. 60, temp. L. Mansfield, affirmed in House of Lords.

1772.—John Tracy A. died, having survived his Brothers. He and they died without Issue male. Whereupon Edward Atkyns, heir of Richard Atkyns, recovered the Estate from Horde and Chamberlayne.

The Estate passed to John Atkyns, of Mortlake, (Inclosure Act.) from him to Ann Dorothy Atkyns, then by purchase to Hudson, and then to A. Sartoris, Esqr.

The pleasant seat of the Atkyns has been demolished. A Modern Mansion in the Tudor style has been erected at Abbots Wood, above the Bowld.

2 Geo. ii. by Wm. Banbury, of a Moiety of the Manor of Swell.

1776.—At the County Election the following voted as Free holders for Upper Swell:

Bereford, Francis.
Bradley, Anthony.
Fitzherbert, Richard.
Shore, William.

11. a.—Church of Lower Swell.

Impropriation:—

Nicholas Poyntz, gave and his son confirmed the Chapel in Swell to Notley Abbey, Bucks;

The Crown by Surrender;

Christchurch College by Crown Grant, as above.

The Glebe:

Of the Improprate Rectors:—

Four Yard Lands.

Of the Vicar:—

Two Virgates of Land which came by the gift of Simon Poyntz.

Tythes:—

The Improprate Rectors as above.

Except (1.) Tythes of the Demesne Lands:—

Tewkesbury Abbey, by Gift of Symon Poyntz, their Worth yearly 43 s. 4 d. Valor Eccl'us.

These Lands came to Hayles Abbey.

(2.) Church Piece and Tracy's Ground were tythe free.

(3.) The Vicar had one third part of the Corn Tythe; and by Composition between him and Hayles Abbey, a sum of money annually for Sheep Tythe.

The Church (i. e. Rectory) was Rated at £6 12s. 8 d.

Valor Eccl'us.

The Rector under the Inclosure of 1726, had an annual Rent charge of 80 £. and 6 a. Glebe in lieu of 4 yard Lands and tythes.

Upon this Commutation, Rudge makes remarks on the impropriety of fixed payments in lieu of Tythes. The 4 Yard Lands (supposing the Yard Land to be 20 a.) would be worth, he says, the whole 80 £. while the Tythes might be estimated at above 100 £. But 1 £. an acre would be an overestimate of the Value to let of the Land.

Adwoson—Hayles Abbey.

On its dissolution, Richard Andrews and Leonard Chamberlain, by Crown Grant. Presentations were made:

1574.—by Anthony Stratford.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate; II.—Church; III.—Population, Taxation, &c

I.—In Swindone (Chiltenham Hundred,) were 3 Hides Culture: 2 Carucates in demesne and 7 in Villenage, (7 Villans and 2 Bordars.) There were 4 Serfs. Its Value (Yearly.) late 3 £. then 4 £. 10s.

Proprietors: Stigand, Archbishop of Canterbury had held it; but at the Survey, Thomas, Archbp. of Yorks held it as part of the Lands of St. Oswald's Priory Gloucester.

Domesday Survey.

St. Oswald's was a Chapel of Royal foundation at Gloucester. Its Lands were in the Archbp. of York's hands under some Mortgage Transaction: What interest the Archbp. of Canterbury, had in them is not known. The Lands reverted to St. Oswald's whose they continued to be until the dissolution of Monasteries.

9 Fdw ii.—In Nom. Vill. Robt. Moryn, is returned as Lord of Swindon. He is supposed to have been a Lessee under St. Oswald (Fosbourne.) Alice Moryn, is named in the Subsidy 1. Fdw. iii. (below) as a large Tax Payer in S.

1608.—After the dissolution occurs James Clifford, of the Frampton family.

This and their other Estates were the subject of suit in Chancery James (Clifford, against Henry Clifford, and others arising on a Settlement. (Chanc. Progs. temp. Q. Eliz. p. 169, 207. J. Cage, derived from or in trust for them and presented to the Benefice, 1627.

The Estate then passed to Walwyn.

The next Owner was Trotman who presented in 1687.

It then passed to the Ashmeads.

The Ashmeads sold to Sturmy, but they reserved some Lands (Fairbridge Meadow, Kingsditch Grounds, &c.) and held them with the Moors, another Estate of theirs at Arle.

The family of Sturmy, held for several generations: There were John Sturmy; his son John Sturmy, who died 1650. (Church Inscriptions.) And John Sturmy, who died 1721. (Church Inscriptions.) Mary, the Daughter and Coheir of the last John Sturmy, married John Stratford, of Millham Post in Hayles Parish, and died 1714, John Stratford, her Husband, died 1752. Their son also named John Stratford, succeeded and died 1776. (Church Inscriptions.) Mary, a Daughter of John Stratford and Mary Sturmy, married Thos. Beale, of Stoke Orchard; and to their Descendant Thomas Beale, the Estate passed by the Will of the last John Stratford. In 1782. T. Beale, died see "Cleve." Inscriptions. William Beale, the son of Thomas Beale, succeeded; He married Ann Harvey, and died in 1812, aged 84. Helen, his only Child, married the Revd. Hugh H. Morgan, Canon of Hereford, and their descendant Hugh Stratford Stratford, of Lubbenham Hall, Thorp, Northamptonshire, now holds.

Other Estates:

Messuage and 160 a. Land held of Swindon Manor by fealty &c;

24 Eliz.—J. Baker, died seized leaving John B. son and heir.

It would appear that Bruges, (Brydges.) and Rogers, had Estates here.

36 Hen. vi.—A fine was levied of Land here and in Dowdeswell, by John Hanborough and Thomas Bruges, and his Wife Maud, &c. to T. Whittington. To the use of John, Thomas and Maud.

2 Edw. iv.—William Gearing, or Gernon, or Garine and his Wife Elizabeth, levied a fine of Lands here to Thos. Bruges, and others.

1767.—The Rev. John Rogers, of Dowdeswell, gave by Will his Estate at Swindon to his Nephew Richd. Rogers.

From these ancient Proprietors have been derived the following more recent Estates.

A considerable Estate has for many years been in the family of Surman.

A good Estate has been vested in the family of Long, for more than a hundred years.

The Clarks of Alstone, had an Estate here, afterwards vested in Mr. Gardner, of Cheltenham.

An Estate at Bedlam is vested in the Corporation of Gloucester for the Charitable Use of benefiting the Insane Poor.

1776.—At the County Election, there voted for freeholds here:

Aycocks, John.	Hill, John.
Clark, Thomas.	Surman, John.
Edmunds, Thomas. (Rector.)	Sanford, John.

Among the Wills at Worcester Registry is that of—
 W. Holloway, 1538. And among those at Gloucester, are—W. Hall, Rector, and Roger Payne,—all of Swindon.

LORD OF THE MANOR: MORGAN PRICE.

PATRONS OF THE BENEFICE: DEAN AND CHAPTER OF GLOUCESTER.

RECTOR: R. TOMBS.

THERE was an Old Church here burnt down in the Civil Wars. It stood at the edge of the Parish near Wineford Bridge. The new Church was built by Mr. THOMAS PURY, in the time of OLIVER CROMWELL's usurpation in the Middle of the Parish about half a mile from the old one, it is supposed to be dedicated to St. Laurence.

THIS CHURCH consists of one entire Nave having no division of Chancel from the Nave, the situation stands North and South contrary to all others, but this need not be wondered at because it was built by a Presbyterian Alderman of Gloucester, it has a small wooden steeple, therein one Bell.

[As to the deviation from the prevailing custom of orientation, Rudder suggests that the truly pious Builder wished therein to shew a contempt of religious superstition in things of no moment.

But the error seems to have been since regarded as more serious, seeing the attempts made to correct it: At the end of the Church is now a chancel like extension. It is a School House, for which a piece of Ground in or by the Church Yard affords a play ground. And inside the Church against the East Wall, there is a space cleared and railed in for the Communion Table, &c. Rudge, says that the Table was in the middle of the Church originally. But there is a pannelled recess at the south end which looks as if intended to receive it where are now placed the pulpit and reading Desk. These are handsome and well carved.

There is a new Rectory House adjoining the Church Yard.

1825.—The Church accommodation was enlarged by adding a Gallery containing 161 settings by means of a Grant of the Church Building Society. The Church was restored lately and the Wooden steeple which had been struck by Lightning is now replaced by one of stone.]

There was formerly a Chapel near the South West end of the Parish at the foot of Yarleton Hill, where there is a flowing Well called Monks Well, the stream whereof passes through the greatest part of the parish and with an additional stream from Huntley, driveth a Mill called the Brass Mill, and passing through this Parish and Tibberton to Wineford Bridge, (repaired at the equal charge of each parish,) descends through Tibberton Mead to Barley Bridge in Radford, and at a small distance is conveyed into the Leadon River.

[The site of the old Church is on the side of an old disused Lane from the Newent Road. It is moated round, and is disclosed by its Yew Tree, and by a portion of a Tomb serving for the Stepping stone of a stile by it. The inscribed stones are all over grown with grass. It is glebe Land, but an old half Timber thatched Cottage called the old Church House in the Inclosure, which survived the destruction of the Church, is lay property.]

The following BENEFACTIONS painted up in the CHURCH.

WILLIAM GILDING, gave by Will dated May 3, 1793, to WILLIAM HOLDER, and SAMUEL BULLOCK, and their Administrators for ever the sum of 100 £. to place out at Interest upon real security for the purpose of putting out as apprentice every second Year one Poor Boy whose Parents are of the Parish of Taynton, not receiving pay from the rates of the Parish, the Testator directed that a Son of RICHARD PIMBLE, be the first placed out, and a Son of EDWARD POYNER, be the second placed out.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate ; II.—Church ; III.—Population, Taxation, &c

I.—Taynton consists of Great and Little Taynton, and in Great Taynton; are Oakley, Byford, &c.

It was formerly in the parishes of the forest of Dean. But temp. Edw. I. Taynton with the groves which extended from Hymteley (Huntly), by the middle of Northfield, unto the Mill which is called Abbelands Mull, a certain part of Ocheley (Oakley) and Little Taynton were ordered to be disafforested.

There are Two Entries in Domesday Book concerning this place.

Tetinton in Botelau Hundred—contained 6 Hides Culture, 1 Carucate in demesne, and 9 Villani, and 7 Bordars with 9 Carucates.

Its (Yearly) Value had been 6£. then 3£.

Proprietor:—Alwin, had been the (Saxon) Owner. W. Guizenboded, at the Survey.

Tatinton in Botelau Hundred was free (of tax) and was worth 20 s. (yearly.)

There were six Bordars, with one Carucate. A Virgate of Land in the forest Boundary worth 12 d.

Proprietors:—Ulgar held this in King Edward's time; and William the son of Norman, at the Survey.

Domesday Book.

The first Entry is ascribed to Great, the 2nd. to Little Taynton.

Gozenboded's Estate in Great Taynton, came to the De Quincys Earls of Winchester, (see Ebrington and Guyting Polier, in Vol. i.) and afterwards to La Zouche, who was descended on the female side from De Quincys.

7 E. ii.—Allan La Zouche, died and left 3 Coheirs. Esch.

Under this seignory in chief, the Estate passed through mesne Lords (Avenell, Berdone, Teynton, D'abernon. Cartae Rot. (Virus. 19 Hen. iii.) to De Bosco, and Musgrus held under De Bosco.

29 Edw. i.—Cecily de Musgrus, died seized (Esch. No. 29. Inq. ad q. d. and see Benefaction Table.)

Hanise the heiress of t at family carried the Estate by marriage into the family of Ferrers, (Cartae Ed. iii. No. 29. b.) afterwards Lords of Chartley, Anne, the heir general of whom marr. Sir Walter Devereux, Ancestor to the unfortunate Robert, Earl of Essex. This circumstance may account for his Name being associated with this place in the County Histories. (Fosbroke, ii. p. 214.) although this Estate passed by entail to Edmond Ferrers, a collateral male Heir, His female descendant took it by marriage into the family of Whittington in whose Name it continued for 2 centuries when it fell among Coheirs.

temp. Eliz.—Sir Christopher Blount held. By his attainder for high Treason along with his Patron Robert, Earl of Essex,—the Crown.

1 Jac. i.—Sir Simon Weston and John Wakeman, by Crown Grant.

Patent.

Thomas Pury, acquired a Moiety of the Manor and parcel of the Estate under the Name of the Grove Manor. He was Member of Parliament for Gloucester City, during the Common Wealth and was with his Father conspicuous for courage, zeal and prudence in the cause which they espoused.

At the Restoration he retired to Taynton; and was buried in the Church 1666. (see Church Yard Inscriptions.)

1712.—His Daughter and heir Sarah Pury, died seized.

By subsequent alienation, the Estate has been parcelled out among several Proprietors.

The Grove Estate is one parcel; and to the proprietor of that Parcel, the Revd. Morgan Price, it would appear that Bigland at his survey deemed the Manor to belong, whether rightly or not, is unknown. But "Samuel Grove," is mentioned amongst the County Freeholders here in 1776. Also the name of "Stanhope Grove," appears as Proprietor of Grove and Haines Farms, and Capt. Grove Price, is named as Owner connected with this place in County Registers.

The Little Taynton of Domesday appears to have gone from William the Norman, or Hugh his son, to the Ploketts of Kilpeck, Herefordshire.

28 Hen. iii.—Isabella, the coheir of the family, marr. Walleran.

1 Edw. i.—Matilda Walrond, died seized. (Esch.)

Roger de Knovile or Onvill was Nephew and Heir, (Cartae 4 Edw. i.) This passed to Verdune and Moynce. The Estate was held of the Crown, by the service of keeping the Hay, or boundary forest, of the City of Hereford.

Estates in Great and Little Taynton derived from the above.

Rylands, Taynton House, &c. belonged to the family of Holder now-represented by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Atherton.

An Estate here also belonged to Keys, and came from them to Holder.

Taynton and Pound farm belong to Mr. Laslett.

Hownell, the Howenhill of the Subsidy Roll, belonged to the Ayleways. (Eylway.) see Church Inscriptions.

T. Alway, Gent. and Sir R. Ashfield, are mentioned by Blome, as the Gentry of this place 1673.

Drew's farm partly in Upledon and partly in Taynton; Mr. W. Ellis, Owner.

A Messuage and Lands held of Great Taynton Manor, belonged to John Cassey and William and Leonard Cassey, successively.

Part of this, passed by Fine to Christopher Westerdale, (T. 19 Eliz.) whose son and Heir Thomas, 29 Eliz. took by descent.

Other part being retained passed through Robert,

Henry, and Thomas Cassey, and afterwards come by purchase to Viney.

John de Bures, of Taynton, is named in the Subsidy Roll of 1 Edw. iii. he was the 2nd. Husband of Hawise Musgros.

22 Edw. iv.—Sir J. Barre, Knight, died seized of one fourth part of Lands in Taynton.

Sir Wm. Nottingham and his Wife Elizabeth, levied a fine of their Lands in Great Taynton, by way of settlement Of Lands in Taynton, these Fines were levied:—

E. 25 Eliz.—Thomas Throgmorton, Plaintiff, and Geo. Barrett, Deforciant.

E. 30 Eliz. R. Harbert, Plaintiff and R. Nelme, Deforet.

4 Geo. i.—Thomas Mornment, Plaintiff and W. Mornment, Deforciant.

T. 32 & 33 Geo. ii.—..... Frederick, Plaintiff and John Cocks and Wife Mary, Deforcants.

T. Serjeant, of Cheltenham, had a freehold 1776, (County Voters.) Persons of the name of Serjeant, had lands in Upidon, and there are several Inscriptions to members of the family in Mitchel Dean Church. (for which see Vol. 1.) They were related to the Pury family and are described as of Longhope.

St. Peters' of Gloucester acquired Lands in Taynton and Bulley from Cecilia de Musgrove; and there is a Manor composed of parts of Tibberton, Taynton and Bulley which was granted to the Dean and Chapter of Gloucester by the Charter of King Hen. viii. and is probably the same Estate.

Yearly Rent of divers Tenements at Tyverton, Taynton and Bulleye, 5 £. 19 s.—St. Peter's Glouc. Vabr Ecc'us.

Under Hugh of Kilpeck, the Canons of Studley, held half a Virgate of Land in Little Taynton by free Alms.

Testa. Nevill 374.

Among the early Wills at Gloucester, are the following of Persons of Taynton.

1544. I ale; 1597. Hartland; 1599. Horne; Hill; and 1601. Bennett.

1776.—At the County Election the following Voted for Freeholders in Taynton.

II.—Church.

Hugh the Son of William the Norman, (Hugh Fitz-William,) gave to the Priory of Kylpeck the Church of Taynton, with the Chapel of Sylva, and a Yard Land.

This Priory was a cell of Benedictines, subordinate to St. Peters' of Gloucester. It was (says Leland, Itan. Vol. 8. p. 37. "suppressyd in Thomas Spofford's Bp. of Hereford's time and clerly united to Gloucester."

Kilpeck Priory, paid a pension of six marks and 9s. 6d. to Gloucester Abbey.

Register St. Peter's.

Maude of Teynton, gave to St. Peters' of Gloucester, the Church of St. Lawrence of Taynton, to find Lights in the Church, (at Gloucester) Ralph Avelen confirmed the gift with the further Gift of a Hermitage in the same place and a Villan. (Hocelin) with his Wife and family. This gift was confirmed by Gilbert Foliot, Bp. of Hereford, in the time of Abbot Hamelin. Register St. Peter's Gloucester.

The Church was demolished in the Civil Wars by the Kings party.

1647-8, June 13.—An Ordinance passed the Commons for rebuilding the Church, apparently nothing was done under it.

TETBURY.

THE Church is in the deanery of Stonehouse and dedicated to the Virgin Mary, (or Mary Magdalene.?) The Tower and Steeple are old but handsome and in good condition. Therein are an exceeding good ring of eight Bells, a Clock and a good set of chimes. On the West side without is an Escutcheon with ... a Lion rampant supposed for—MOWBRAY.

The Body is new and elegant consisting of a Chancel, and Nave, with a Gallery at West-end and part of North and South sides. There are North and South Aisles or Cloisters which are not open to the Body (as is usual) but you enter therefrom into Pews by different doors. The New Church was opened for divine Service October 7, 1789.

THE MANOR BELONGS TO SEVEN FROFFRES.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Tetbury has many features of interest to the topographical Inquirer. Its situation at the crossing of Great Highways (probably British and Roman.) made it a place of resort; and its natural position (aided by art) made it a place of strength whereunto resort might be made with safety in bye gone ages. Its strong hold or Castle has a remote date. In speaking of Malmesbury, Camden says that Dunwallo constructed that Town, together with the adjacent Castles of Lacock and Tetbury. This Castle might have been an Earth Work, the site of the feudal Castle mentioned in the Annals of King Stephen's Wars, and still identified by the Name of Castle Green, and the finding of Roman and British Coins on the spot.

At Doughton in Tetbury, there is a Barrow.

Its ecclesiastical History goes far back also; and the distinctive name Tette or Tettan occurs in 2 Charters about 680 of Ethelred King of Mercia of Gifts to Malmesbury Abbey of Land, i. e. Neulton and Charlton near Tectan Monastery. (i. Dugdale Monast. 256. Fosbrooks's Glo-shire.) One of the Charters is considered by Kemble to be a forgery (Cod. Diplon. Anglo. Sax.) but if such, it must still be of ancient date, and it may be safely taken as Evidence that there was such a place in very ancient times.

This Monastery is not to be confused with the Cistercian Cell of a later day. It disappeared before the Conquest; but there was a Priest at Tetbury at the time of Domesday Survey.

From this early origin, its mediæval history is illustrated by public and private Buildings municipal arrangements and customs. In its Streets, the Visitor sees types of domestic architecture in various successive styles from the half timbered Houses of the 16th Century to the Ashlar stone and sashed Window Work of the 18th, many of which attest the wealth and respectability of its former Inhabitants.

In the market square of the Town, the ancient form of recessing the understorey of the Houses and Shops in order to afford a dry foot way for Customers and passengers is still seen, an arrangement whereby as well as by a capacious Market House the accommodation of the public was consulted.

It had a sort of feudal municipality consisting of a Bailiff, associate Bodies of 12 and 24 respectively and the Commonality; and its Manor, Tolls, Commons, Roads instead of being in the Hands of a proprietary seeking private interest therefrom, have been purchased and are held for the general good of the Inhabitants.

It was at one time a Clothing mart, and is and has been a great staple for agricultural produce.

Its clothing trade has degenerated, taking with it a number of its Inhabitants and leaving others, in chargeable poverty. But still it has the appearance of a flourishing agricultural capital. The great Stream of travelling has been diverted from its streets; but there many respectable Residents still continually abide.

Its situation is cold and dry; but has the advantage of securing to the Dwellers there, a measure of health and length of days beyond most other Districts.

Its fine Church with Tower and lofty steeple standing on high ground is a striking object in the place and for miles around it.

We now proceed to the proprietary History of Tetbury:

Teteberie, in Langetrewes Hundred, contained 23 Hides taxable.

Culture:—In den esne 8 Carucates, and 14 among 17 Villans, 2 Bordars, 2 lachchemisters and a Priest. There were 19 Serfs, a Mill of 15a; pasture of 10 s. yearly Value and 10 a. of Meadow.

Upton contained 2 Hides one whereof was taxable.

Culture:—In Domesne, 2 Carucates, In Villenage, (8 Villans, 3 Bordars,) 3 Carucates, There were 8 Serfs.

These Manors were at the survey let for 50 £. yearly. Before that they had been worth but 33 £. yearly.

Proprietors:—Before the conquest Edward held Teteberie; and Aluric Upton.

At the Survey both had passed to Roger de Iveri.

Domesday book.

His son Roger and grandson Jeffry, held successively. After the latter's death without issue, Guy St. Valery, by Crown Grant. His son Reginald, was 1 owner of the Monastery of Tetbury. Bernard, his son, was founder of the Church of Tetbury. Thomas, his son, was (1196.) gave the Advowson of that Church to Eynesham Abbey.

Hen. i. 1219.—Wm. de Braose, by Crown Grant.

Maud, the heiress of the St. Valery's married William, son of said W. Braose, this William died abroad a fugitive from King John. His Wife and William their son, (who had married Matilda de St. Clare,) also fell miserable Victims of that Tyrants power; dying from starvation in Windsor Castle. Their Estate, were seized by John. The greater part appears to have been restored to the Braose family or its friends but some parts were adversely granted away.

1208.—King John, issued a Manifesto, (i. Rymer Fœdera, p. 162. 1st. Ed'n.) in justification of his proceedings against the Baron; the plea was that the Baron was indebted him for Irish Revenues and that he (the King,) distrained his Cattle for the Debt. Of these, rescous was made by Braose, that a mulct or fine was then added to the Debt; and to secure the payment, the Baron's Castles in Wales, &c. were given to the King in pledge; but Braose tried to get these back by force and burnt part of the town of Leominster, Herefordshire. The King then sought his remedy against the persons of Braose and his family. They went to Ireland to make resistance. The King followed them, but Braose escaped to France, and was then outlawed. His Wife and their eldest son fell into the King's power. No Money was recovered. This Narrative which is exparte, was attested by 13 Barons, &c. It does not mention the subsequent sad fate of the Lady and her Son.

William, his eldest son and heir married Isabel de St. Clare and afterwards Mary Roos.

1287, 15 Edw. i.—His manorial franchises at Tetbury, were allowed in a Quo Warranto proceeding. He made a strict settlement which for some time regulated the succession to the Estate.

1291.—William, his son and heir, by Isabel, took under the Entail but died without issue male.—

1322.—leaving 2 daughters, one of whom Aliva, marr. Mowbray. This may account for the connection of that Name with the place, (see above Church) as to the Mowbray's manorial insignia on the Tower, fixing probably the date of the erection.)

Peter, his half Brother, by settlement of William, his Father and Accord with his said Brother Wm. He married Agnes, and assigned to her 'Tetbury' and Upton in dower. He died 1312. 6 Edw. iii. Robert Le Skey, 1st. and Agnes de Brewose, Dejoriant. Fine.

In the days of this Lord we have an instance of the struggles of Trade against feudal restraints:

15 E. i. William the Woolmonger, of Tetbury, sought redress against Peter de Braose, Lord of Tetbury, for imprisoning him and beating his servant, breaking into his House at night and pulling his Wife out of bed, unstraining his goods, &c. all to force William, to pay at Peter's Court suit which he did not owe, to the hindrance of his trade, &c. But William, got only small damages for the assault on his servant. He was Peter's Tenant was in default and at his mercy. Assize Roll, Gloucester.

1812.—Thomas, by descent son and heir, marr. Beatrix Mortimer.

1351.—He obtained a Grant of a seven days fair at Tetbury.

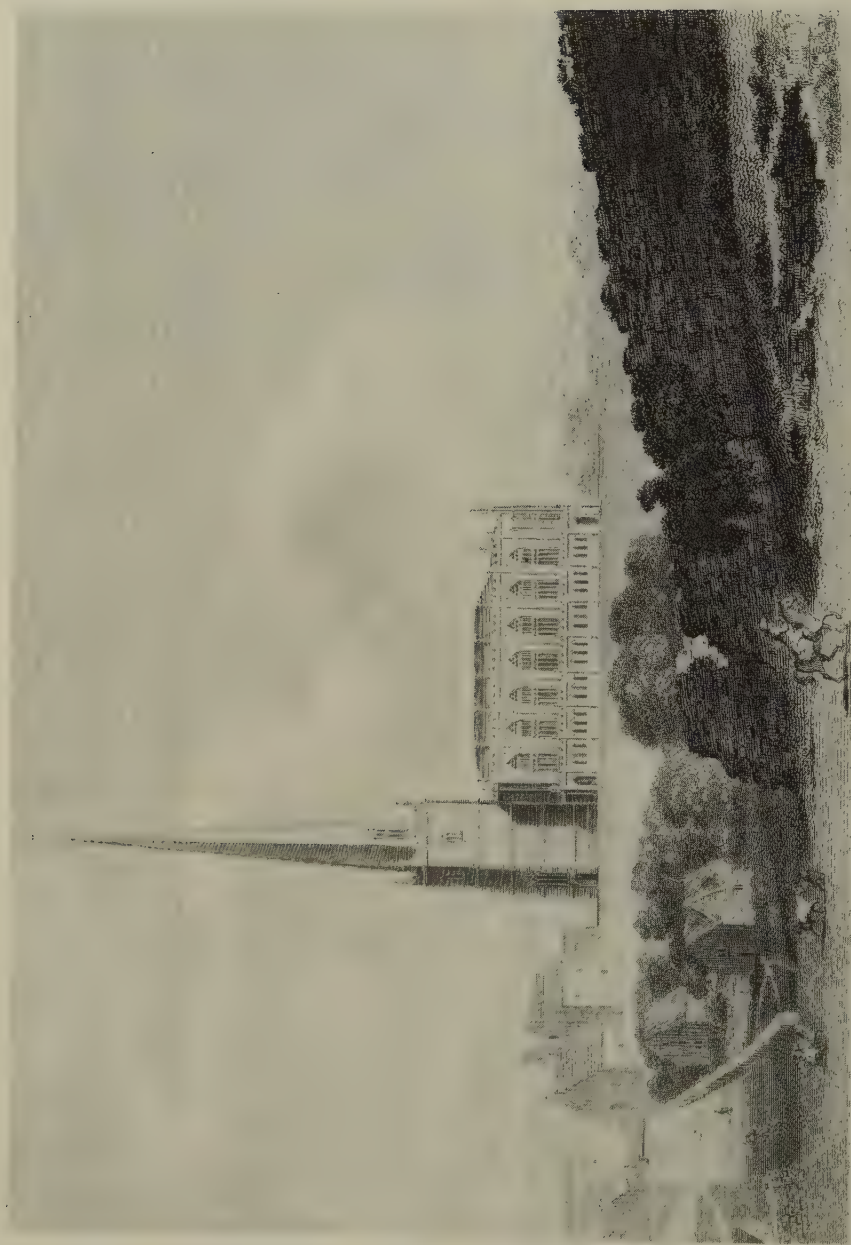

1363.—A Chantry was founded to sing for the souls of Peter and Wife Agnes and Thomas, their son.

1361.—John, by Descent, son and heir in tail. On his death without issue—

1368.—Thomas, his Brother and heir in tail who marr. Margaret, (1396.) And also died without issue, Thomas's Widow married Berkeley and died 1446. and to that family (probably as co-Heirs of Mowbray and heirs general of De Braose) the Estate came.

In the Berkeleys it continued, until the sale by George, Lord Berkeley, to the Feoffees for the Town.

8 Car. i.—George, Lord Berkeley, and his Mother Elizabeth Lady Berkeley, offered to sell to the several Tenants of this Manor the inheritance of their Tenements, and to the Inhabitants of the Town for their general good, the Manor, the Common Lands of North and South Hayes and the Hill, (over which the Lord had rights of Warren and a Sheep Walk,) and the Advowson of the Church. The Offer was, after due deliberation accepted. The purchase Money (£840.) for the public rights was raised by applying 70 £. Charity Money, (interest being reserved for the Charities,) and by Loans to be paid off by the profits from inclosing and letting the Common Lands, the South Hayes, permanently, and the 32 Edw. iii.—Confirmed by W. de Braose, by Fine to Andrew, Abbot of Kingswood.

The Crown on dissolution of Monasteries.

36 Hen. viii.—Richard Andrews and Thos. Hysley, by Crown Grant.

This Estate was for many generations in the family of Gastrell.—see "Church Inscriptions."—then of Fisher, by purchase, then of Byam, by purchase or Settlement.

Of the ancient Grange house, there is the Chapel of the style of the 14th Century still standing though altered and converted into Offices for the house which has been rebuilt in later Style, (Tudor.)

To the Gastrells are Inscriptions in Cirencester Church of 1736, 1767. see "Cirencester." Vol. i.

There are besides in the Parish, the outlying Places of Upton, Charlton, and Doughton which in the older civil administration were tithings or Vills and over which the seignory of De Braose, extended.

Doughton:—

Lands of 14 £ Rent:—

Nonellus de Beauchamp, in dowry with Bertha, daughter of William de Braose.

Part of Beauchamp's Estate called a Manor:

8 Edw. iii.—John de Stonor, of Doughton, in whose family it continued for several generations: The Stonors, also had Lands from Robert de Doughton and Harbulla, temp. Edw. ii. Abbrev. plac.

The residue which the Beauchamps retained of their Estate here, passed as "Warwicks Lands," to the Crown. see "Sodbury."

Manor of Doughton:

Temp. Eliz.—Edw. Alchorne Clerk and Wife Anne, by Crown Grant.

1627.—Richard Talboys, by purchase.

Richard Talboys, in 1611, marr. Mary Machin. (see Cheltenham Register,) and 2ndly. Elizabeth Abarrow.

Benjamin Talboys, his son by Elizabeth, married Alice Garrard.

1688.—Richard, his eldest son,

Thomas, Nephew to Richard, by his devise.

1765.—Thomas, son of Charles Talboys, by descent.

1802.—Thomas, his son by descent.

1818.—J. Paul Paul (Tippetts), by purchase.

1828.—Wm. Matthews Paul, his son.

Part:—Highfield House, and the Manor:

Col. Stracey, by purchase.

1864.—William Yatman, by purchase.

Other part:—R. S. Holford, by purchase.

The Talboys Mansion is now a farm House.

The Family of Oatridge, were owners of an Estate here. Of them, the Church Inscriptions mention Daniel, who died 1771. Another Daniel, who died 1787, and Simon, who died 1801.

Mr. Clark, of Tetbury, had Lands here (Rudder) which from this Name passed into that of Paul.

The large Barrow here, and the name Danes-End to the field near it, afford traces of the battle between the Danes and Saxons, Anno 1016. Kuduer.

Charlton in Tetbury:—was the subject of Grants by the Crown on the confiscation of the Braose Estates where by and by the partial restoration to the family of their Estate's confusion is introduced into the Chronicle of Devolution.

Six Tenements in Doughton and Charlton:

Ed. iii.—Edm. Langley. Duke of York, by Crown Grant.

1406.—Edward, son and heir.

1416.—Richard, nephew and heir, Father of K. Ed. iv.

6 Ric. ii.—Edmund Mortimer, had lands here.

T. 8 & 9 Geo. ii.—R. Bennett, Plaintiff, Nathl. Cripps, and Wife, Deforciants. Fine.

H. 11 Geo. ii.—Richard Lockey, Plaintiff. And Preen, and Wife; Jones and Wife, and Nathl. Cripps, Deforciants. Fine.

Mr. Maskelyne, possessed Lands here.

Upton was held at the Conquest by Aluric, while Tetbury was held by Edward. But they were in one farm or tenancy at the Survey, and passed together to Braose. Peter Fitzherbert a descendant of Reginald Braose and a grantee under the crown, of Wm. de Braose's forfeited Lands in Tetbury, held Lands in Upton when devested of the rest.

Manor of Upton:

47 Edw. iii.—Richard, Earl of Gloucester, and Hereford, was Lord.

In the time of Hen. vi. George Braose, who appears to have been a descendant of Peter Braose, held Upton.

From him, Sir Edward Tame, of Falford and Cirencester, the great Wool Merchant of the Southern Cotswolds.

From him, Coheirresses,—1 Alice, who married Verney 2 Margaret, who married 1st. Stafford. 2nd. Cope. 3 Isabella, who married Watkin.

1 Edw. vi.—The Verneys purchased the other shares.

Sir T. Verney.

1667.—R. Verney, died seized of the whole.

1674.—George, his son, died seized.

Richard, his son; George, and Constance Huntley, by purchase from him.

Other Part of Upton:—A Farm, still belonged to the chief house of Braose, from whom Lord Berkeley.

A Lord Berkeley, subsequently sold to a Mr. J. Berkeley. His Daughters and Coheirs, by descent.

42 Eliz.—George and Constance Huntley, by purchase.

By the Huntleys these Estates were parcelled out:—

Upton Grove:—W. Veizey.

1677.—J. Veizey, gave his ground adjoining the Way from Upton to Tetbury, to J. Winney, charged with 30 s. a Year to a Charity in Tetbury. Charity Inquiry Report.

M. Saunders, by purchase.

Samuel Albin Saunders, see "Church Inscriptions."

1844.—R. S. Holford, by purchase.

The Upton House Estate:—belonged to the family of Cripps, see "Charlton."

From them Maskelyne.

It is said in Fostbrooke that the manorial rights of Upton, still remain in the Huntleys, but it would appear that they were sold to Sir R. Ducie, from whose Descendant they came to R. S. Holford,

The Godstow Nunnery Lands in Tetbury, Charlton and Doughton, were on the dissolution of that Monastery parcelled out among several Grantees to hold of the Manor of Godstow. Sir E. Tame, was the Chief Grantee and the Rent

North Hayes, for a period, and from the Tolls of the Markets, to which the Town was already entitled under a Benefaction (Romney's.) The purchase was completed by the ancient Conveyance called a Feoffment, date of 8 Car. i. to Richard Talboys and John Gastrell, Gentlemen, and Richard Boxe, Yeoman, and Toby Chapman, Clothier, who were as their Successors have since been, the "Feoffees" of the Manor, &c. for the Town.

The purchase of the Markets, Tolls, soil of the Chipping Croft, and of the Streets was effected soon after viz. 16 Car. i. by Conveyance by the Lord's Steward, John Smith, Esqr. and others his Officers, (As he was a great Linguist and Traveller he was probably abroad at the time) to Richard Talboys and 15 others.

In these Instruments the constitution of the Borough is shown—the Bailiff, and 12 Associates, there called the Thirteen, the Company or Society called the Four and Twenty and the Number called the Commonalty of the Borough i. e. Owners of Burgage Tenements. The Tenants Enfranchisements were probably settled by the Individual Owners and the Lord's Agent. There is a Survey about this date which is interesting as late a 16th. century Local Domesday Book. Before the purchase the Burgage Tenement Holders had stinted pasture in the fields of Tetbury in common with the Lord's unstinted Flock, in the fallows all the Year long, but in the Stubble fields from St. Luke's day till they were sown again. The Lord's flock had sole pasture in the "Sleight" part of Tetbury Warren, from May to Sept. i.; and the South Hayes field, the Town herd, first grazed.

After the Purchase the Common fields of the North Hayes and the Hill were used as Commons by the Inhabitant Householdiers in the Summer and Autumn, and let by Auction for Winter Pasture; until by a private Act of 1814, they were vested in Trustees discharged of Common Rights, but subject to a Trust for inclosing and letting the same, and applying the Income to the use of the Inhabitants of the Town. The practice has been to let the Land in Allotments.

The Advowson of the Church was afterwards sold by Trustees, as below noted, under "Church."

Houses and Lands in Tetbury Town, purchased of Lord Berkeley, temp. Car. i.:—
Toby Chapman.

1683.—Settlement by Henry Chapman, of Tedbury, Gentleman, and Jasper Chapman, of Lincolns Inn, Esqr. his eldest son and heir at Law on Jasper's marriage with Johanna Hawkins, eldest daughter of J. Hawkins, of Ashton Kaynes. They appear to have had a son, Hawkins Chapman. This family was settled at Stratton near Cirencester, and their Estate passed by Marriage of Johanna Chapman, into the family of Master.

The "Close" 3*a.* a fine old House in the Town, with Close in the rear:
Sir G. Huntley.

Charles Savage and Wife Elizabeth.

1617.—Settlement by Charles Savage, on his Wife, Elizabeth, (Abington, of Upper Dowsdewell,) and their Issue. This family held the above House and other estates here late Poole and Estcourt's for several centuries.

From the Savage family, this house passed to "Wood" and from Wood to Paul.

There are some Remains of the Cell in Tetbury of the Cistercian Monastery of Kingswood. But the Building has been converted into Cottages. It is situate in the Chipping. A description of it before its last conversion is given xxxi. Archaeologia, p. 513-16. and in Lee's History of Tetbury.

The Priory a House at the east-end of the Town, reputed to be on the site of the old Manor House and called Hacket's Court, said to have been the Prior's Dwelling, (see Archaeologia, Vol. xxxi. p. 513.) of the old Buildings of which are some remains in the adjacent Alley, and there is said to have been a passage of communication between it and the Cell of the Cistercian Monastery: This House and Estate belonged to the family of Sloper, from them it passed to the Revd. J. Frampton, by purchase, 183...., and from him 1866, to C. H. Bill, by purchase.

Not far from this is Gumstod Street, a Name indicative of the old Practice of ducking Scolds, a spirited representation of which punishment is given in the Gentleman's Magazine 1831, Jany. p. 42.

Shipton's House:

1710.—Jonathan Shipton, by Will to his Wife Mary.

now possessed by Messrs. Paul, and used as Offices.

The Church Rebuilding Fund consisted of benefactions among which the Vicar's (Wight) was most considerable, monies arising from the sale of a House in the Town, sold under an Act of 4 Geo. iii. and 20 Years accumulations under the care of a Society.

1749.—The Chimes were given by Vicar Wight, and have been lately adjusted and improved.

St. Saviours's Church is a new structure of the decorated Style. The interior is fitted up with open Benches, and the sittings are free. It has stained glass Windows, which being mostly small in size, and low in position, cast but a dim light.

It is a Chapel of Ease to the mother Church; and was erected in 1848, with part of the Sale Proceeds of the Advowson and subscriptions in aid.

The Parish Register does not go back further than 1631; but there some earlier Transcripts at Gloucester.

There is or was a Lecturer appointed by the Feoffees of the Town.

Other Places of Worship there are in Tetbury for—Baptists.

Wesleyans.

Plymouth Brethern.

Independants.

In Tetbury Union

Water supply:—

Tetbury like some other Towns in Cotswold has not a good supply of Water altho' there is a long List of Names of the Wells about it:—

Maudhn Mead Well,
Wrightwell,
Cubwell,
Field Well,
Worwell,
Limewell,
Sharp's Well.
Home Well,
And in Upton—Chad's Well.

30 Edw. iii.—Licence of John de Breons, Lord of Tetbury, to the Inhabitants to fetch Water from the Spring in Magdalen Mead.

19 Hen. vii.—Licence by John Lymerick, Gent. to the Inhabitants to fetch Water from a Well in Tetbury field abutting upon Maudlin Mead.

The Worthy Vicar Wight procured the erection by Subscription of a pump in the Wool Market.

Notwithstanding the general Salubrity of this place it has been severely visited with epidemic diseases.

1710.—by small pox, when over 750 persons died. On that occasion the Inhabitants with the approbation of the Justices of the Peace near to T. appointed a Committee of Householders to guard against its introduction by strangers, &c. (Lee's History, p. 25.)

The Gloucester Journal of 14 July 1761, contains an Advertisement by the Minister, Church Wardens and Overseers of the Poor of Tetbury, certifying that the Small Pox Distemper lately raging in Tetbury, had ceased that none had been sick for more than 10 days and the utmost care had been taken to cleanse and purify all Houses in which the Distemper had prevailed.

Corporation Municipality:—

It is said that King Hen. i. granted a Charter to the Borough.

Matilda Long Espee, Lady of the Manor confirmed the Charter to the Burgesses.

The Bailiff and his Assistants were chosen at the Leet, The latter are twelve grave and discreet men of the Town, chosen as his Brethren. Hence the body of the 13. The 24 were another set, but that has ceased.

Tolls:—

19 Edw. i.—The tolls of the Market were leased by W. De Braose, to the Burgesses. Ranald, of Scatley, and John of the Old House, confirmed the Lease.

At the beginning of the 17th. Century they were held under Lease from the Lord by Sir W. Romney, the term and benefit of which he gave for the use of the Town.

The Value of this Lease went towards the purchase Money of the Manor, Tolls Advowson, &c. from Lord Berkeley.

The Rent paid for the Tolls of the Fairs and Markets to the Feoffees was 100 £. a hundred years ago, and has gradually diminished to between 10 £. and 20 £.

A large part of the tolls till the end of the last century was for Wool; the last entry for which is in 1815.

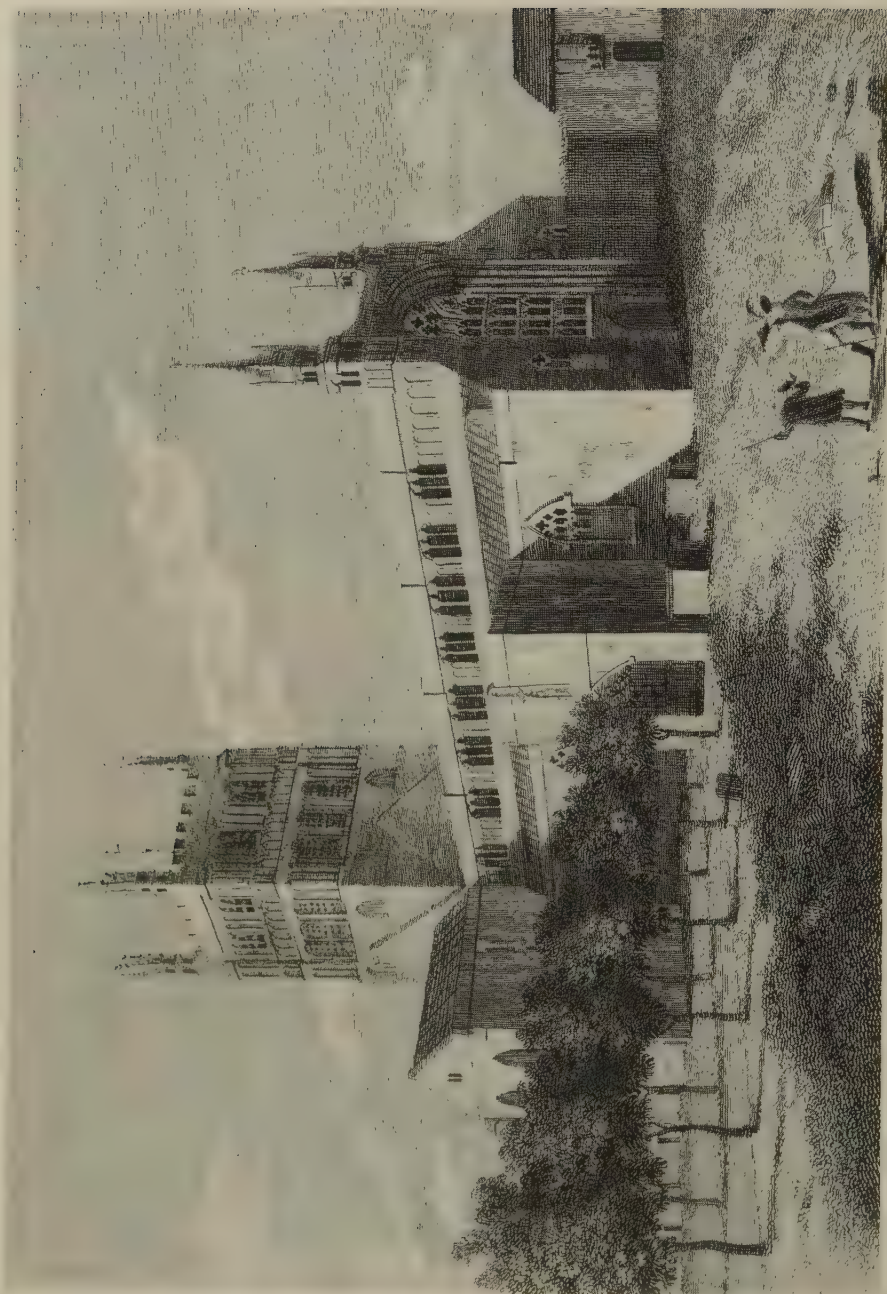

The Corn Market is independent of these Tolls, It has sprung up since 1794, and is a good market still.

Roads:—

1775.—The Bridge and Causeway at the West-end of the Town in the Road to Bristol and Bath was erected by the Turnpike Commissioners.

For information furnished by Mr. Paul, Junr. Solicitor, acknowledgment is due.

TEWKESBURY.

Tewkesbury Abbey

TEWKESBURY.

THE CHURCH consists of a Porch (North); a Nave and Aisles divided by rows of seven massive pillars on each side, Transepts (North and South;) a choir with an apsidal chancel, about which is an ambulatory or aisle and over the choir arches a triforium. Seven chapels (chantry or sepulchral) are built round the Walls and open into the Ambulatory or Transepts. Another on the North is ruinous. Its internal dimensions are large, the whole length being 317 feet, whereof the Nave is 167 feet, under Tower 33 feet, the Choir, Chancel and Aisles 116 feet. The Width of Nave and its Aisles is 71 feet, across the Transepts and Tower area 122 feet. The height of the Nave 60 feet. The height of the Tower, Pinnacles excluded, 132 feet.

The Nave, Choir or Chancel and Transepts are vaulted with stone, the Roofs over are of a flat pitch covered with lead, though once steeper as if for tile covering. The Nave has a recessed West-end with corner Pinnacles, a large Window fills the Recess. The Nave and its Aisles, the Transepts, the lower portion of the choir and chancel are Norman Work, but in the choir and chancel, a structure in the pointed style has been erected over the low Norman Pillars, and its Walls pierced with lofty Gothic Windows. There is a low Triforium or Gallery over the Nave Arches. The Tower is Norman. This (with the addition of the Lady Chapel, at the East-end—a structure, of which are now no remains above ground,) was the Church of the great Abbey of Tewkesbury. The Abbey was originally a Saxon foundation but it was refounded of 1102, by Robert Fitzhamon, who under Crown Grant then was Lord of the Town, Manor and Castle, and by whom the Norman parts of the Church were built. The Nave or body of the Monastery Church, was the Parish Church of the Town. (Pre Reformation MS. quoted in Bennett's Hist. of Tewkesbury, page 330.) "Leland in his Itinerary, observes that "there was no other parochie chirche in the Town but the weste ende of the Abbey Church," (Vol. 6, page 90, Ed. 1769.) The inference that it belonged to the Town receives further support from the fact that at the dissolution of the Monastery the Inhabitants purchased of King Hen. viii. the Chancel, Steeple, Bells, Clock, Chimes and Church Yard, no mention being made of the Nave, which the Parish continued to enjoy. The size of the Nave is so great as to have required the services of reading from the Scriptures to have been performed in it, for the same to be audible of all such as might be present there; although some of the ceremonies performed in the Chancel might have been seen, and some of the music of the Choir heard at a distance. The chantries or chapels were not integral parts but rather excrescences on the Church. Several were built for obituary services, for the performance of which the Abbey had been richly endowed by Benefactor, who sought, as they were taught, to turn to their own use after their deaths the possessions of this world which they otherwise must have relinquished to their Heirs. The sepulchral chapels were for the Founder and his descendants and other illustrious personages buried in the Church or connected with the place—Of several of these a List with a reference to the position of their tombs, shrines or other memorials, some of which are singularly magnificent and interesting, is given below. Since the Reformation, the care and sustentation of this vast fabric, has devolved on the Town and Parish, by the Church Rates of which aided by Voluntary Contributions and by Collections in England and Wales, formerly by the authority of "Briefs," various Repairs have been done:—

In 1684.—Great West Window, (blown down in 8661.) rebuilt.

In 1720.—Extensive Repairs, Collections by Brief £ 1470.

In 1724.—Long Roof repaired.

In 1727.—A new Altar piece in stone, (1oric.) put up (see Copner's Tablet.)

In 1737.—The Organ set up in an Organ Loft; and the Nave and its Aisles divided from the Eastward portions of the Church, by a screen. The Organ is said to have been originally from Magdalen College, Oxford.

In 1796.—The Church was new pewed in Oak, Galleries erected in the Transepts, &c. at a Cost of 2000 £. defrayed part 900 £. raised on mortgage of pew Rents, the rest by Receipts from a Music festival and by subscriptions.

In 1824.—Extensive internal and external Repairs were done, the cost defrayed part by rate, the rest 697 £. Subscriptions.

And in 1875.—The Work of "restoration" undertaken involving a clearance of the pews, Organ-Loft and Transept-Galleries, and other arrangements intended for the forms of Church of England Worship, and introducing a number of alterations calculated to bring back the building to its antient state of high decoration, &c. suitable to more ornate services. The Cost to be defrayed by Subscriptions. In the course of this Work much of the flagging has been removed in the Choir, Transepts and Chancel, and thus the means of verifying Bigland's account of the flat stone Inscriptions taken away. The Nave is boarded off and used for public Worship. but as it is entirely covered with Matting and Chairs, &c. Inscriptions on the flat stones there cannot be got at to be read.

The Tower contains 8 Bells, there were originally 4, recast into 6 in 1631, and the 6 into 8 in 1696, There are a set of Chimes and Clock. There was at one time a separate Campanile.

In Memory of

JOHN HART,
who died January 22, 1800,
(the sixth descendant from the Poet Shakspeare,) Aged 55 Years.

Here lies the only comfort of my life,
Who was the best of husbands to a wife,
Since he is not, no joy I e'er shall have,
Till laid by him within this silent grave,
Here we shall sleep, and quietly remain,
Till by God's pow'r we meet in heaven again;
There with Christ eternally to dwell,
And until that blest time, my love, farewell!

Also of MARY, Wife of the above

JOHN HART,
who died June 24, 1814,
Aged 70 Years.

Also of SARAH, Daughter of the above JOHN and MARY HART, and Wife of WILLIAM WHITEHEAD, who died March 29, 1849,
Aged 72 Years.

Also of the said
WILLIAM WHITEHEAD,
who died August 26, 1856,
in the 78 Year of his Age.
His End was Peace.

On the Stone to JOHN EVANS, seafaring man (1 of 34.) is this nautical Epitaph.

Rough Boreas blasts and Neptune's Waves,
Have toss'd me to and fro,
Yet spite of all by God's decree,
I harbour here below.

And since at anchor here I lie
With many of our fleet,
I trust I shall set sail with them,
Our General Christ to meet.

(And see CHURCH YARD.)

[THE length of the account here given of Inscriptions in the Church and Church Yard of Tewkesbury, and the difficulty, and delay which have been experienced in making an examination into its accuracy, in consequence of the Church being in the process of Restoration have led to reflections on the part of the Editor, and in his judgment call for some explanatory remarks:—(i.) on the nature and value of this description of Evidence of local History;—(ii.) its condition and probable duration and—(iii.) its Care and custody—as illustrated by what is observable in this cemetery which is the one of the greatest repositories of such Information in the County of Gloucester.

(i.)—Monumental Memorials, besides their uses as Monitors to the living, and tributes of respectful remembrance to deceased friends, afford what is more important to our purpose, authentic and valuable materials for the history of the places to which the Individuals thus recorded once belonged. The usual particulars of Names, Ages and Conditions serve as links to identify the persons, and such particulars are sometimes accompanied with indications of their character and notices of the transactions in which they were prominent which by association recall to the mind the manners, opinions, customs and usages of the ages and countries in which the persons lived. The local changes in those and other respects, shewn in this Dance of Death, are sometimes so remarkable as to draw the readers attention and supply matter for his serious meditation. The Cemetery of Tewkesbury, for its monuments to the former Residents of the Town should be venerated by their successors, and it is of national interest for its early memorials to the great Nobility of the Castle and the great Ecclesiastics of the Abbey. The records here to the latter Classes extend farther back than those to the Towns people. Of this, the explanation may be, that the Parish Church was of old in another part of the Town, and that when afterwards the nave of the Abbey Church, was assigned for the use of the Laity as a place of worship with the services of a stipendiary Curate, in consideration of the tithes of the Parish having been appropriated to the Abbey.—(Knight's Cursory Disquisition on Tewkesbury Church, page 75, 78.)—the older Church was pulled down or, suffered to fall into decay and any Monuments in it perished with it. And when by the above arrangement the Nave of the Church became parochial as to services it might not be so as to burial.

It cannot be doubted that this ancient and stately town had of old a mercantile community many of whom were wealthy, and of whose property large portions went to pious uses, as their Wills referred to below, testify. Now Brasses, Tombs and Inscriptions of early date to members of the trading classes are found at Campden, Northleach and Cirencester; and it is reasonable to look for them in the Church and Church Yard at Tewkesbury, a Town which was of old a mart for cloth, and hosiery as well as for mustard balls. It was when this Church ceased to be the sepulchre of the great people connected with the place, and became by purchase the property of the Town that the names of Townsfolk were inscribed in memoriam, on its Walls and floors, and attracted some though comparatively but little attention from Topographers.

The former County Historians give an account of the tombs, &c. of the ancient Nobles spiritual and temporal, thus Sir H. Atkins who does not profess to give Inscriptions furnishes a list of about 10 names inscribed on post reformation Tablets the earliest being 1608. While Ruader who is accurate but not copious in his account of monumental Inscriptions here found three to copy from the modern Tablets, he indeed names 5 or 6 others, but with the remark "that there are very few modern Inscriptions in the church worth transcribing." The Historians of the Town, Hyde and Bennett, have given the Inscriptions noted by the County Historians and several others, to the number of 25. And Bennett has also added a few from the Church Yard.

ii.—The condition of Monuments in a cemetery is one of decay from the operation of various forces—time, and Violence, Displacements in the course of alterations and restorations of the Buildings, The ravages of time are seldom arrested by repairs. In times of violence, Monuments often suffer from the propensity to destroy things afore held in reverence, and the spirit of Mischievous and pilfering is always at work. But most injurious, is the Displacement of Tombs, &c. in the course of Church alterations; and when the Doers of these Works are animated by religious Views or tastes to which the monuments are not conformable these are designedly sacrificed for their gratification, and thus two forces are contributory to the Damage.

The Zeal of the Puritans against Romish Doctrines led them to deface figures emblematic of what they abhorred, the pilferers tore off Brasses and other Ornaments, and the Church Restorer takes away altogether, or removes from their places the Tablets which offend him.

In this Church there was it is said a Monument deploring the removal on a former Church Alteration from its resting place of a body. And to gratify Curiosity such Liberties are too often taken with human remains.

It is noted that the Brasses on what was supposed to have been the flat Tombstone of Prince Edward, are gone, (Knight.) A loss which Vicar Knight, supplied by the small plate (Col. 55.) fixed in the stone. At the present Restoration, the stone itself is removed from its place to make room for the new floor of tiles; but the part of the stone on which the plate was fixed is laid aside, it is said, for replacement.

In this Church not only are the Flatstones now taken up, but it appears by a Notice for a Faculty on the Doors, that it is intended to remove when requisite the Monuments in the Church and to re-erect them in the same or some other parts of the Church. And then passing into the Church Yard—"to place the upright Head Stones flat on the ground and to level the Church Yard." Now on such a rearrangement the grave stones would occupy a good deal more room; and from the quality of the stones and the style of carving thereon (both intended and only fit for their upright position) their speedy destruction will be ensured.

The duration of the Evidence of monumental Records cannot at the present rate of disturbance be otherwise than short.

III.—Graves and their contents and the Tablets, &c. belonging to them have in all ages been felt to be and have been regarded as sacred; and by the Laws of most civilized Countries have been protected from spoliation accordingly. Upon this, it may suffice to refer to the causa violationis sepulchri of the antient Roman Law and the prohibition against removing Bodies, &c. without necessary cause and ("sine jussu Principis") previous Order. of the State.

The Voice from the Tomb in the formular expression on pagan Tablets "Rogo ossa nostra ne violes" And the Appeals such as that on R. Smith's Tomb in Tewkesbury Church Yard, "By desire this Tomb not to be moved;" express the universal feeling of mankind.

For disturbance of grave stones, monuments, Coats of Arms, &c. an action lay in the temporal courts, and proceedings might be taken in the Ecclesiastical Courts, by the Law of England. But such Remedies were not within the reach of many for they were not only too costly but were available only to Heirs or next Kindred of the deceased. And families die out, decay or remove from their places. As to the public or official Care and custody, the Cemetery as well as the Church is under the care of the Church Wardens; and the charge for performing the duty of protecting Tombs would fall on them if the Parishioners should think fit to grant a Church Rate to defray it—a fund too slender and precarious for so great a responsibility. And the duty itself is found to be intrusted to wrong hands, when the Church Officers are themselves active in promoting Works injurious to the Tombs.

The Legislature found it necessary to prohibit Burials in Churches, a practice so wholly wrong that it has been discontinued without compensation being made to the Clergy who made some profit by it, but were not displeased to forego it. In like manner the Civil Power should in the case of Church Restorations step in officially to make proper Inquiry, and take effectual means to prevent the violation of sepulchres without absolute necessity, and the undue removal of Tablets, &c. The promoting of such inquiry should be an easy and inexpensive thing to do, and it should lie on the Restorers to make out a case for removal of Bodies, Tablets, &c; as whatever exists should be presumed to be lawful and right, and opinions of taste should not put a false colouring on proceedings wrong in Law and morals.

Vicar Knight in his "Cursory Disquisition" remarks that "Antiquaries and Visitors contribute but little to the support of the Objects which they admire" He is speaking of Visitors to the Church and Town. The obligation to contribute is admitted; and whether it be true or not that it is neglected generally or locally, the above at last is intended as part performance thereof]

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

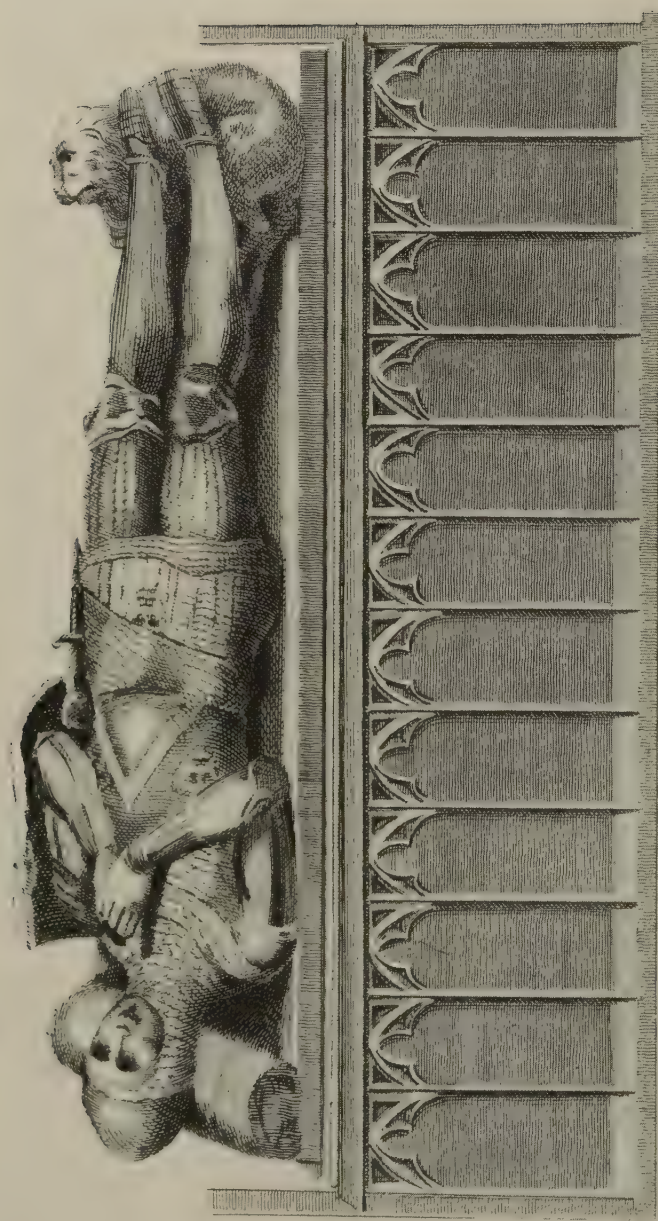

THE site of the Town of Tewkesbury, is the tract of rising ground near to the confluence of the River Avon, running from Warwickshire and the Swilgate and other Brooks running from the Cotswold Hills, with the River Severn. In shape it is almost an island and in time of high flood of the two Rivers quite so. A position so commanding would naturally be, from a very remote period the resort of Men of busy Life. The Soldier would there have his Station and strong hold, the Trader his Wharf, and store, the Waterman his port. The fertility of the soil would thither draw the Husbandman to fix his Habitation; and possibly on the Banks hanging over some of these streams, the Hermit might find a solitude fit for his retreat. It is to a hermit (Theocus) that monkish tradition assigned the origin and name of the Town. But if it were of more remote antiquity than his time, it would seem more likely that the Hermit took his Name from the place than the place from him; and another derivation should be sought for it. That it has been suggested, (Baxter, Glossar. Antiq. Britan.) is to be found in the name "Etoecessa," or according to Ravensas (Epocessa) met with in the Roman Itineraries as a place about these parts and not yet identified; that latinized form of the British "Etoec is cen" i. e. faux fluminum agreeing with the spot, and with the name of Theocysbrig, the Saxon appellation of the Town. Confirmatory of the idea of a Roman or British Origin to the Town is the existence of Roman Roads about Ripple and the Mythe, and the probability that one of the Roads east of the Town was the Kicing Way, (Stukeley's Itinr. 65.) in connection with the ferries over the Severn. Also the finding of Roman Coins about the Oldbury, and other places in Tewkesbury, noticed so far ago as 1730, by Mr. Lethulier, who from his frequent, perhaps annual visits on such searches to Gloucestershire, might be called a Gloucestershire Antiquary, (Gough's Camden's Britannia and Minutes of Society of Antiquaries.) And there were said to have been Traces of Roman Walls discovered in the cutting of the Line of Railway from the High Street, (about the Oldbury,) to Ashchurch.

The foundation of the Monastery, was in Saxon times (about 715,) and in the names of its Founders Odo and Dodo, traces of that of Tewkesbury have been detected or fancied. It became a considerable establishment and drew settlers to the Place. It flourished under Aylward, Snow, and Algar, Ancestors of the great but unfortunate Britric who was the Patron and Lord of the fee at the Conquest, and one of the reasons which induced Fitzhamon, in the next age, on rebuilding the Abbey to make the Priory of Cranborn, Dorsetshire, a cell to Tewkesbury, he being Patron of both, (thus reversing their former relation,) was that Tewkesbury was by reason of its navigable Rivers the most frequented of the two places.

I.—Devolution of Estates:

At Domesday Survey the Manor and Estate of Tewkesbury, was terra Regis. Britric had been imprisoned, his Estate confiscated, Queen Matilda's hate (spretat injuria forme) of the man she once loved, gratified with the spoil not long to be hers, however, to enjoy, and at her death it had reverted to the King.

TOMB OF LORD WENLOCK IN TEWKESBURY ABBEY

It was a capital Manor, with several others subordinate to it as named below; and it contained 95 Hides, whereof 45 were in demesne and free from royal Tax Sub-Manors.

Southwick, (Sudwicham.) containing 3 Hides.
Tredington, (Trotintune,) —	6 —
Fidington, (Fitentun,) —	6 —
Paminton, (Pamintone,) —	8 —
Natton, (Naton,) —	3½ —
Walton Cardiff, (Waltone,) —	3 —
Aston upon Carant, —	6 —

Three Radchenisters belonged to Tewkesbury in King Edward's time. There were others in Aston upon Carant and Walton, and Tredington, besides Coliberts, Villans and Bordars. Several other Thanes with their Manors were under Brictric's Jurisdiction,—Ashton under Hill, Kemerton, Bodington, Wincot, Alderton, Dixon, Hardwick, Twining, and Stoke Orchard.

It is not easy to separate the particulars of the Sub-Manors from the account of the Capital Manor; but the following appears to relate to Tewkesbury.

Burgesses :

At Tewkesbury 13, paying 20 s. a Year; At Gloucester 8, paying 5 s. 4 d. a Year, and serving at the Court; At Winchcomb 3.

A Market had been erected at Tewkesbury, by the Queen.

The whole of the Manor of Tewkesbury, was in King Edw. time worth 100 £. But when Ralph received it, 12 £. because it was destroyed and ruined. It was at the census rated at 40 £. and Ralph paid 50 £.

Tewkesbury Crown Manor :

Odo and Dodo, founders of the Monastery, gave to the Abbey certain Lands here in fee, and retained the Residue:

800 Hugh.

980 Aylward Snow, descendant of King Edward the Elder.

Algar, by descent son and heir.

Brictric, by descent son and heir.

King William, by forfeiture.

Queen Matilda, by Crown Grant.

1083.—King William, By Reverter upon her death.

King Wm. ii.—Robert Fitz-hamon, by Crown Grant.

1105.—Fitz Hamon, gave Two Mills, a Fishery, &c. to the Abbey.

As to the Residue.

His Daughter Mabel, Married to Robert Fitzroy natural son of King Henry ;
William, their son, by descent.

His 3 Daughters and Coheirs: Mabel the eldest married 1213, Montfort. Their only child died without issue.

Isabel, the 3^d. daughter, marr. 1st. to John, Earl of Cornwall, (afterwards King.) 2nd. on being divorced, to Mandeville, Earl of Essex. 3^d. to De Burgh, and died without issue.

Of John's journeys and visitings at Tewkesbury, many entries are on record about his Purveyance Equipage, &c. He built the Long Bridge at Tewkesbury, over the Old Avon.

Anne, the 2nd. daughter, married Richard de Clare; Gilbert, by descent son and heir;

Gilbert, 1st Earl of Gloucester and Hereford, son and heir; 1230.—Richard, by descent son and heir.

1262.—Gilbert, by descent son and heir; married Joan, daughter of King Edw. i.

By her (1295.) Gilbert, Earl of Gloucester, by Descent, son and heir, slain at Burnockburn. "He in some degree inherited the noble character of his Grandfather Edw. i." (Stubbs Const. His. ii. 335.)

7 Edw. ii.—The 1st Clares Tewkesbury Estate according to Inq. post Mort. on this Earls death.

47½ Customary Tenements—a Virgate in each.

His 3 Sisters by Coheirship: Eleanor, had T. She marr. Hugh de Spencer, the Younger, who was hanged at Hereford. 1327.—Hugh, their son by descent, He died without issue.

Edward, son of Edward, who was 2nd. son of the first Hugh.

Thomas, by descent; Richard, by descent.

On his death without Issue, his Sister Isabel, by descent. She marr. Richard Beauchamp, Lord Abergavenny, whose Daughter and heir Isabel, marr. Henry, Lord Beauchamp, of Warwick.

Anne, their daughter and only child, married Richard Nevil, Earl of Salisbury, slain at Barnet fight.

Edw. iv.—Their Daughters, Isabel and Anne by private Act of Parliament. Isabel, marr. George, Duke of Clarence, and Anne, King Richard iii.

1 Hen. vii.—The Countess Anne, by private Act of Resumption. In this Act Tewkesbury Lordship, Park & Lodge are described to be in the stewardship of R. Nanfan, Esqr. Nothing is specified as to Holmes Castle. It had probably fallen into neglect and ruin, before this time, by the non residence and overthrow of the great family.

"The Clares" says Leland "lay much at Holmes." Of the residence there of De Spencers, Beauchamps and Nevilles, he says nothing. He does say that there had been "in time of mynd some part of the Castle stonyngs," and there were bottoms of its walls, visible when he was at Tewkesbury.

In the "Cursory Disquisition," of the Rev. R. Knight, it is said that marks of a considerable portion of the Building are still sufficiently manifest on the shelving ground called the Vine Yard about 2 or 3 hundred Yards on the south side of the Church, the little River Swilgate running below."

King Hen. vii.—by Grant, As to this Transaction, see "Sodbury."

By Hen. vii. the Park and site of Holme Castle, was granted or leased to the Abbey.

As to the residue:

The Crown in 2 descents.

Hen. viii.—On the Dissolution of Monasteries, the Abbey fee and Lands reverted to the Crown.

4 Edw. vi.—Sir Thomas Seymour, of Sudeley, by Crown Grant.

6 Edw. vi.—The Crown on his attainder, and for 3 Descents.

2 Jac. i.—The Corporation of Tewkesbury, by Crown Grant acquired the Abbey fee, in the Manor and Borough and the Manor, Borough and Hundred of Tewkesbury. (i. e. the ancient Crown fee,) by purchase for £2453. Whether the Holmes Castle, or its site was included in this grant or had been granted away before does not appear. But the greater part of Warwicks and Spencer's Lands, was not so included.

As to the Park and Lodge:—

The Lodge "a fair maner place of Timber and stone where the Lord Edward Spencer lay, and late my Lady Mary," [Princess afterwards Queen.] Leland Itiner.

1 Mar.—Sir Henry Jerningham, by Crown Grant, whence Harford, and after him, Bartlett, then Popham, Chief Justice of England.

Culverhouse:

1 Edw. vi.—E. Cooper, and Val. Fairweather.

gy.—If not in Deerhurst; and may not this be the "Cloveshoe" of the ancient Saxon Synod A. D. 825, and Saxon Charters of Edeldred and others, see v. Kemble Codex Diplom. Anglo Sax. It was in Westminster Hundred and the spot is still called the Hoo:

Deerhurst place:

7 Edw. vi.—William and J. Read.

There were Questions of the Boundary of the ancient lay and church fees, involving Tith Rights:

17 Jac. i.—as to the Park.

1653.—as to the Southwick Grounds.

1655.—as to Gippesill Grounds.

Gospel (heretofore Gubbshill) and Southwick, at the Western extremity of the Parish, two ancient Messuages between the old Road to Southwick and the Tewkesbury and Gloucester (late Turnpike) Road and in the field opposite that Road, a round inclosure:

One of the ancient messuages was long held by the families of Conquest and Cotton, (4 Hen. vi. T. Mortyn, T. Cotton, from J. Conquest, Fine.) and before that by Norrys and Hoghton.

Southwick House and Estate:—

25 Hen. iii.—W. de Suwyk, Plaintiff, and Robert Fro-mond, Deforciant. Fine.

10 Edw. ii.—W. de Shipton, John Clyve, John Adhelan, Richard de Cryklade. Fine. This Estate was in the family of Tracy, temp. Eliz. and long afterwards.

In Subsidy Roll, 8 Jac. i.—are returned Thomas Ward, for Lands, John Nanfan, and J. Bradford, for goods in South-wick.

Temp. Eliz.—Woodward, alias Smyth, occurs as Owner (John Ferris Creditor, by Extent, v. John Woodward, alias Smyth, Ch'y. Pro'gs F. f. 1 No. 59.)

83 Eliz.—Thomas Wakeman, v. the same, Bill for Redemption of a Conveyance. Ch'y. Pro'gs.

The Mythe:—

The high Ground in the Parish of Tewkesbury, over-hanging the Rivers Avon and Severn came to a point at the Mythe foot.

Mythe hoke, of the Subsidy Roll. It was a separate Manor though parcel of the Manor of Tewkesbury, and was therewith granted to 7 Edw. vi. as part of "Warwick's Lands to Sir T. Seymour, and on his attainder to Perte, Afterwards Wakeman and Spencer.

1580.—Thomas Warne, was Lord.

J. Warne, by descent, grandson and Heir.

1581. Temp. Q. Eliz.—Suit against J. Warne and W. Warne for a customary Tenement held of the Maour, Ch'y. Pro'gs.

But the Mythe Wood was a subfee granted by De Clare to the Abbey, and on its Dissolution it passed to Jern-ingham, by Crown Grant.

Estates here were in the Possession of Bridges, Wake-man, Buckle, Beyzand. (Church Inscr.) (13 Geo. 2, Fine.

Afterwards Bridges became Jackson's (County Election 1776,) whence successively Lucas, Taylor, Longmore.

Buckle's became Dillon's, afterwards Porter's.

Wakeman's became Martin's.

"King John's Castle." This ancient House, described in Gent. Magaz. 1818, is on the side of the way to the Ferry over the Severn adjoining late Wakeman's.

1681.—W. Wakeman, by Will gave in Charity an Annuity out of his Red pool and Middle Ground Closes in the Mythe.

Of the Abbey Estate in Tewkesbury proper, part after the dissolution went to T. Stroud, W. Earl, and J. Paget, part to Sir Baptist Hicks, or his Trustees thence Sir C. & Lady Morrison, thence for a long period the Lords Essex. This parcel has been subdivided and it has passed into various Names by Sale:—amongst others Messrs. Hartland, Gardner, &c.

For a Summary of the Abbey Estates, see Valor Ecc'lia.

The Rents of assize for free and customary Tenements held of the Abbey fee were at time of the Grant to the Cor-poration, 2 Jac. 8 £. 8 s. 8 d. and those of the Crown fee 9 £. 17 s. 11 d. Subsequently, they were reduced the first to 7 £. 16 s. 6 d. the last to 6 £. 17 d. 3 s. 22 Charity Report 1829.

1836.—Thirteen Persons appointed to act with 5 Town Councillors as Trustees for Corporation Charities.

Aims of the Abbey:—

Some of the foregoing were originally Benefactions of of the Abbey, or rather to the Abbey, for doubtless to it as other monastic Bodies, property had been largely given to serve such charitable uses. The above Gift to thirteen Poor Men, &c. is not however mentioned in the Valor Eccles which professes to be (and being for purposes of Taxation of the Clergy ought to give) a full and particular Account of the Revenues of the Church and of the deductions to which they were liable.

In the "Valor" the revenues are distributed under the Names of the Abbot and certain Officers of the House, and where any specific property thus allotted was charged with a Trust or payment, that is noticed as a "Reprize" or Incumbrance, and the net Fund is the stock of the Officer and as we must infer, shews the extent of his Duty. It was not his Property—(his Vow precluding him from acquiring private Property,) but the Portion entrusted to his charge of the Property of the Monastic community, whose wealth he had every inducement to increase. The Property consisted not only of lay Tenures, as Manors, Parks, Woods, Farms, Rents, &c. but of ecclesiastical also as Rectories, and Vicarages, for this Abbey had procured appropriations of 21 Rectories (several ad mensam to supply their Tables without the obligation of endowing a Vicar) and 27 Vicarages besides Tithes, Portions with Oblations, &c. &c. Amongst these Livings were nearly all those about their great Seat, as Tredington, Walton Cardiff, Deerhurst, Bushley, Pull, Staverton.

The Valor does not state that the Account embraces all the Revenues of the Abbey, nor that those whom it names were all of the officers of the Abbey. And indeed as a Treasurer is not named, the Account could not well be complete.
 Yet Tanner in his Notitia states that the Revenues of the Abbey amounted to 1598 £. which is the sum of the Revenues allotted to the several named Officers in the Valor.

The Abbey had distant Cells which were separate Establishments, such as the Priors of Cranbourn, (Dorset). and St. James and St. Philips in Bristol. The Revenues of these amounted to £238. 14s. 9d. and were subject to special Obligations of which this, on Cranbourn, may be noticed:—Bread Dole on Founder's Ailward Mayow's, [Snow.] Anniversary 10 s.

There remained, say £1350. for the Abbey Revenue, including Deerhurst Priory of £134. 8s. 0d. whose Endowment was charged with the payment of the Tirley Rector, 6 £. the Elmston Hardwick Vicar £8.

The Abbot's gross Revenue was subject to these special Obligations:

Pence to Poor Persons on the Exequies of King Henry vii and his Father and of Prince Edward, son of King H.
 vi. £1. 6s. 8d.; of George and Isabella, Duke and Duchess of Clarence, £4. 16s. 8d.; of Abbot Cheltenham £3. 16s.
 8d.; of Richard and Isabella Beauchamp, £3. 15s. 0d.
 and of Westbury College Poor £2. 1s. 10d. leaving him £274. 18s. 0d. net yearly, which does not seem considerable as he had some Establishment to keep up separately.

The Cellarer or Butler had a yearly Revenue more than 3 times greater than the Abbot's; amongst the items were Stanway Estates over 100 £. and Tewkesbury 150 £. in the way of Reprizes there was the obligation to pay for Bread and Herrings to the Poor in March yearly on the obits of the Original Founders, R. Fitzhamon and Wife, and Dukes Odo and Dodo, £1. 10s. 0d. And out of the Welsh Revenues he had to pay amongst other things for Refreshments and Gowns to 100 Poor on Hugh De Spencer's obit £4. 10s. 0d.
 These and the expences of Agency, Pensions, &c. left him £842. 17s. 11d. net yearly Revenue, to discharge the duty of his office, which was to find food for the table of the ordinary Monks, and as their rule allowed a generous Diet, the expence was proportional. The great Abbey practised hospitality to a large extent, out of what funds does not appear by the Valor.

The High Prior's yearly Revenue was subject to Re-prizes for Agency, &c. and 9s. 4d. for Alms on the Anniversary of W. Norton, the Founder of a Chantry, and left him £9. 9s. 8d. net.

The Hostiller had a Revenue of 6 £. subject to Reprizes of £2 14s. 10d. for Alms distributed to poor Guests in Vituals, beds and necessaries at the Inn, leaving to him £3. 5s.
 2d. net. The Infirmary Precentor and Lector had small incomes which after deducting Agency fees yielded respectively £4. 5s. 0d.; £2. 0s. 4d.; £1. 3s. 4d.

The Sacristan had a gross Revenue of £54. 8s. 5d.
 Subject to Reprizes for Agency, and for Tredington Curate.
 (6 £.) Tewkesbury Parish Priest (6 £.) to Poor on Abbot
 Robert's Anniversary £1. 2s. 8d., leaving him net £42.
 4s. 7d. yearly to take care of the Vessels, Books and Vestments in the Church.

The Chamberlain had a Revenue subject to Reprizes—Agency, &c. which left net £83. 1s. 16d. to find Clothing for the Monks.

The Master of the Chapel of St. Mary had a net
 Revenue of £12. 3s. 1d.

The Almoner's Revenue was subject to Reprizes:—
 Alms to the Poor £5. 13s. 8d.
 Clothing for 16 Poor Scholars 7 13 4
 Food for Poor Boys 3 11 8
 Oxenton Curate 3 0 8

And Agency, leaving him £35. 13s. 9d. net yearly Revenue to discharge the Duty of his Office, a sum which appears very inadequate. But the Table Crumb Alms daily distributed at the Gate to the mendicant Poor were not probably taken into this account.

The Master of the Spices' yearly Revenue after the Re-prizes and Agency left £47. 15s. 2d. net. This went to provide Drugs, Incense, spice of all kinds; articles in part necessary but more for luxury.

The Cook's yearly Revenue after deductions for Agency left £32 13s. 1d. net.

The Prior of Deerhurst, had the Revenues from Demesne Lands, rents and Rectories in Deerhurst, Okynton, Hardwick, Bodington, Staverton, and free and customary Rents and Rectory in Iye, Rents in Wolston, the Haw, and Trinley, which after deductions for certain Pensions and a payment of 6 £. to the Chaplain of Deerhurst Church (to which it seems that there was a Chapel annexed) and fees for Agency, left him £134. 8s. 0d. net Yearly.

In calculating the Revenue of Abbies from the Valor Eccles Returns; it is to be noted that Rents of Assize were fixed in money; but Farms of Lands and Houses, Rectories, Vicarages and Tithes were variable contract Rents.
 Monastic Possessions are considered to have been let moderately, How far the practice of taking fines on renewal of their Leases prevailed does not clearly appear. Nasmyth in his Edition of Tanner's Notitia, considers the practice to have been unknown to them, but in the string of Queries prescribed for the guidance of the Commissioners of Suppression are some that clearly refer to it.

There have been and still are Congregations and Chapels for Nonconformists to the Established Church :—

(1.) Independents.

With this is connected the venerated Name of Doddridge. Dr. Philip D. died prematurely in 1751, and was buried at Lisbon, whither he had gone for his health leaving a Widow, son, and two daughters Mary (Humphreys,) and Anna Cecilia, who lie buried in the ground at the back of the Chapel at Tewkesbury.

(2.) Baptists.

(3.) Wesleyans.

At the Mythe a Roman Catholic Chapel has been lately erected.

The Society of Friends had in the early days of toleration (1690,) a place of Meeting in St. Mary's Lane. The Meeting was afterwards removed to Barton Street, but is discontinued—and the House is now used for other purposes.

The Revd. G. Whitfield visited this place in July 1739, but was not well received by the Town Authorities who breathed threatenings against him in order to keep him away. He remonstrated with them on their blameable and inconsistent conduct in tolerating evil doings at Horse Races and the like; and shaking the dust off his feet went to Evesham; whence however he returned to Tewkesbury, on the evening of the next, day and preached unmolested to a large Auditory in a field on the Park Side of the Town.

In the "Gentleman's Magazine, Vol. 9. page 41. (1739.) there is a letter from Ben. Gough, of Tewkesbury, in support of the View that G. Whitfield's Tenets were in conformity to the Articles of the Church of England.

The Academy for training Dissenting Ministers, in which many distinguished men were educated, and amongst them the Prelates of the Church—Bishop Butler, and Archbishop Secker, while it was kept by Mr. Samuel Jones, see his Epitaph Col. 10. was in the High Street, in a House lately occupied by Mr. Croome, Surveyor.

The Cemetery of 7 a. of Land on the Gloucester Road (part consecrated and part unconsecrated,) with two Chapels was provided under the New Burial Grounds Acts and is under the management of a Burial Board.

III.—Taxation, Population, &c.

Area of the Parish 2333 acres.

Subsidy Roll 8 Jac. i. Tewkesbury gives the Names of:—

Rayer, Chambers, Packer, Underhill, Gage, Dowdeswell, Sentlow, Herman, Weaver, (2) Mynbridge, Slougher, Bike, Higgins, (2) Surman, Jeynes, Harding, Hilley, Cook, Far-sons, Morrey, Vicarage, Hewes, Seller, Phelps, Lancaster, Pace, Greenow, Bradford, Geaste, Peart, Wakeman, Poulton, Greenwood, Cotterell, Abye, Barston, Turberville, Roberts, Marner, Whyte, Hill, Orell.

1815.—Annual Value of Real Property Assessment £17,250.

1861.—Rateable Value £. 19,187

1833-4-5.—Average of 3 Years Expenditure on Poor, £2823.

In Tewkesbury Union

The Union House had been the House of Industry erected by the Parish under a local Poor Act 1792. The size of the House shews what vast provision was deemed necessary for relief of the mass of the Inhabitants in times of depression of the Hosiery and Silk Trades.

Tewkesbury was a feudal Borough, the houses (Burgages) within which, were enfranchised by Charters of the Lords of the fee William, Robert and Gilbert de Clare, to the Owners (Burgesses) that is, the Houses were held at fixed Rents (12 d. Burgage,) and by suit of Court, and were alienable by Deed and devisable by Will and descendible. These Charters were confirmed by King Edw. iii.

Queen Elizabeth, made the Town and its two Manors (Warwick's and the Abbey fees) a free Borough corporate in Bailiffs, Burgesses and Commonalty with Power to make Bye Laws for the rule of Artificers and Inhabitants.

1580.—The same Queen made the Town a free Port.

7 Jac. i.—The Hundred was incorporated with the Borough, and the Borough received the Parliamentary franchise.

The Crown Grant of the Manor and the New Charters of Jac. i. cost the Inhabitants £2891. which appears to have been defrayed partly by Sale of the new purchased Land and some old Town Lands, and the rest by Taxation levied by the Corporation and enforced by imprisonment of Defaulters, a sanction sustained by the Privy Council on appeal. By King Chas. ii. the Charters were annulled, King Jas. ii gave a new Charter, which was not acted upon.

King William iii. granted the present Charter which (subject to the modification of the Municipal Corporation and Parliamentary Reform Acts.) still governs the Town.

The first Members for the Borough were Sir Dudley Digges, (Author of the Compleat Ambassador,) and Mr. Ferrers, or Ferris, of Southwyke, which see.)

In 1640. Sir A. A. Cooper, (afterwards Earl of Shaftesbury,) was Member and in 1658, Secretary Thurloe, was invited to become member, and to name his Colleague. In 1660. Mr. Richard Dowdeswell, (who was one of the signatories to the invitatory Letter to Sec. Thurloe,) was returned to the Convention Parliament.

1711.—The Name of Martin, first occurs as Member, That family was connected with the Bromleys, of Upton upon Severn, of whom see "Church Inscriptions"

A Belfry Tower once stood in the Church Yard. It was for some time used as a Prison for half the shire. But the Borough Jurisdiction had a Gaol of its own which 1816, was rebuilt. 1788, the Town Hall was erected. 1782, the Market House built. This is lately demolished.

Trade:

The Cloth Trade at one period flourished in and about the Town.

Subsidy Roll of 1327, gives the Trade names of Tanner, Dyer, Tailor, Barber, Lorimer, Goldsmith, Butler, Cook, Farrier, Spicer, Glaswright.

Pope Nich. Taxation.—Notes that there where 15 Merchants in Tewkesbury, but only names 3.

Pavements and Roads:

1736.—Foot pavement laid on one side of the High Street called Ladies Pavement as having been promoted by them.

1786.—Paving Act.

1736, 1774.—Cheltenham and Tewkesbury Road, made Turnpike. Under these Acts with the aid of private Subscriptions (1751.) the cumbersome Lanes about the Town were raised, straightened and repaired and in several cases new Lines made. While the Turnpike System remained in force, the main Roads about Tewkesbury, managed by Trustees, were remarkable for their excellence and the moderate scale of the Tolls taken on them.

The old Road from Gloucester to Tewkesbury went through Twigworth, Norton, and Lye. At Lye it branched into (1) the low level Road over the Lye and Deerhurst Commons and thence into the lane at Deerhurst Walton, east of Notchiff up the Bank at Salter's Hill and crossing the Hoo Lane it proceeded in front of the Houses at Southwick and Lincoln Green, and at Gupshill was joined by the old Road from Cheltenham. (2.) The High Level crossed the Ridge at Byington and descended north eastwardly to the Slade Mill Meadows and crossing the Hardwick Brook at Knightsbridge went over the Lower field and into the old Lanes at Hardwick joined the old Cheltenham Road at the Ridgeway Lane, thence along the old Green Lane still existing called Cursey thence across the Tredington Lane, into the Gaston fields on their North east side, and thence between the sites of King Edwards Camp and that of Queen Margaret. (the latter being the round inclosure at Gupshill) where the branches united. The Fesham Road ran through Walton Cardiff, Nutton and Beckford, and crossed the Avon near Sedgeworow in a Line now neglected and part disused In 1777, a subscription raised for its improvement about Stanway.

Bridges:—On the Avon:—The Long Bridge.

1638.—County contributed to repair the old Avon B.

1747.—Brick and Stone Arches put for Wooden near Mythe Stone Arch.

Severn:

1826.—Mythe Bridge of 170 feetspan, Telford Engineer.

1842.—Severn Navigation Improvement Act passed.

Swilgate:—1620.—First Bridge.

1635.—Holme Bridge, This a Drawbridge, with a causeway.

1471.—The decisive Battle in the Civil Wars of the Roses fought here with great slaughter on the field and barbarous executions, two days after of the vanquished Lancastrians, made the town, long so quiet, famous in History. Mr. Sydney Corner, in his "Rural Churches" (among which Tewkesbury finds a place,) wonders why the power of the Church then here displayed in full pride and glory could not restrain the laity from such direful excesses. It was used, but the prize was too great for it to be felt; and indeed the Clergy could not always wage strife amongst themselves for civil rights without bloodshed. In the annals of this Abbey it appears, that the contention 1231, between the Bishop of Worcester's Men and the monks of Tewkesbury in and concerning Hairford Church was so fierce and violent that the monks there barely escaped with their Lives from the sacred precincts.

Henry vii. then Earl of Richmond, was with the Earl of Pembroke on the further side of the Severn almost within hearing of the Battle of Tewkesbury. Prince Edward, son of Hen. vi. was either killed on the field, or taken there and murdered afterwards and "homely interred amongst simple corpses, in the Church of the Black Monks."

1556.—How confidently it was expected that Queen Mary, would be delivered of a Child about this time is manifested by the circumstance that their Serjeant was sent by the Tewkesbury Authorities to their neighbours of Gloucester, with the news that "the Queen's Grace was delivered" a delusive message, for which, it appears by the Gloucester Corporation Book, he received half a mark reward from Mr. Bell, the Mayor of that City.

In 1588, the Town provided and equipped a Vessel against the Spanish Armada.

Tewkesbury was the sport of the fortune of its neighbour Cities in the great Civil War.

1642.—Parliamentarian for 6 months, then it fell to the Royalists under Russell and Carew. For a slight interval of time it was occupied by Col. Fiennes, for the Parliament.

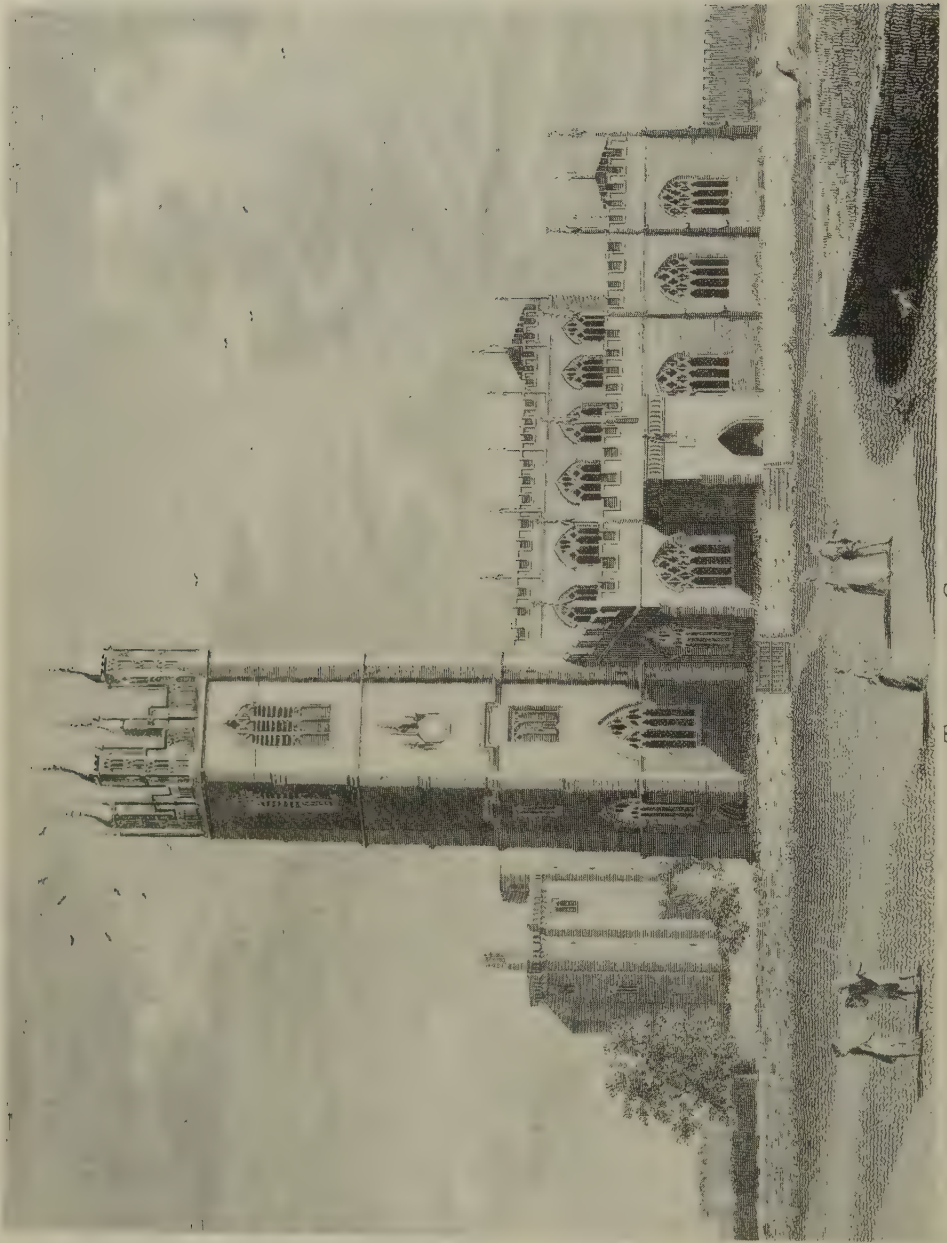

1643, April.—Prince Maurice threw a Bridge of Boats over the Severn at the Mythe and marched out of the Town in order to overtake Sir William Waller.

1643, June.—Taking advantage of his absence, Massey, the Governor of Gloucester, surprised the Royal Garrison and took the Town.

Sir W. Vavasour from Worcester, seized it, but his men mutinying he left it. (Corbet, 63.) Meanwhile Waller got safe to Gloucester, and the Prince retraced his steps to the Mythe. Waller again repaired to and passed through it to meet Prince Maurice; and the Armies fought in Ripple fields with loss to Waller, who retreated to Tewkesbury.

1643.—Lord Essex, relieving Gloucester, went Sept. 10, to Tewkesbury, whence he dated his Letter to the Speaker of the House of Commons. He then countermarched and surprized Cirencester, leaving Tewkesbury to the Enemy who under Sir W. Vavasour, reentered, and afterwards Prince Rupert and General Myn, held it. 1644, Governor Massey, recaptured it. He found the Bridge at Swilgate, (which must have been a Drawbridge) down and surprized the Royalist General Myn.

King Charles, had a Camp at Bredon Hill and thence came in person close to the Town but Massey confronted him and he withdrew.

THORNBURY CHURCH

THORNBURY.

THIS Town consists of a long broad Street, and two lanes (something like a ) in the tything of Kington. The borough is governed by a Mayor and 12 Aldermen, who annually appoint a Serjeant at ye Mace, two Constables, two Aletasters, two Searchers and Sealers of Leather and two Carnalls for the said borough. It did belong to the Honour of Gloucester. King JOHN, gave it with his repudiated Wife, to JEFFERY DE MANDEVILLE. King HENRY, the eighth with his Queen [ANNE BULLEN] in 1535, staid ten days here, and was presented with ten fat Oxen, and four fat Sheep, from the Town of Bristol; the Queen had also presents made to her.

The Market Days are on Saturdays; Three fairs Yearly for the Sale of Horned cattle and Hogs:—

1st.—On Easter Monday; 2nd.—On the 16 of August; 3rd.—On the Monday before St. Thomas's Day.

The Parish is about 24 or 25 Miles in Circumference. The Breadth from Sheperdine to Hope about 6 Miles.

It has a Church and three Chapels of Ease:—1 Oldbury on Severn;—2 Rangworthy;—3 Falfield alias St. Tyrrel, (in some of the Manor Books called Falfold alias Mars of Falfield.) It is in the Deanery of Dursley.

The Church is at the North-end of the Town, and is large and handsome consisting of a Chancel, Nave and two Aisles and Cross Aisles with a beautiful high tower, at the West-end, containing eight well Cast Bells and one commonly called the Saint's bell. There were four Chauntries, one Saint Mary's, another called Barnes Chauntry, the others Brinscomb and Slimbridge Chauntries.

The Middle Aisle and Tower were built by one FITZHARDING, who had his Country Mansion at a House called Rolls Place, mentioned in Old Records and supposed to be near Buckover, but no one can ascertain the spot.

The South Aisle seems to have been built by HUGH, Lord STAFFORD, who at the upper end of it erected a Chauntry Chapel called our Lady's Chauntry now converted into a Vestry.

Over the Vestry Door is the following Inscription.

Erigitur et stratumatur hic ex benevolo et solo sumtu WILLIMI. STAFFORD, Armig. unius hujus Eccles. paroch. Gardinor. 1640.

Under the Capital of the pillar facing the Mayors Seat are the Arms of BERKELEY, Viz.—Gules, a Chevron between ten Crosses formée, Argent, six and four, but there is no Coronet, and it is held by an Angel.

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE CHURCH.

ON THE WALL OF THE EAST END OF THE CHANCEL TOWARDS THE SOUTH WAS A MONUMENT PAINTED WITH THIS INSCRIPTION (BUT NOW ENTIRELY GONE.)

Here lyeth the Body of the Right Hon'ble. MARY, Baroness STAFFORD, sometime Wife of EDWARD, Lord STAFFORD, who was Grandson to the potent and excellent

Prince EDWARD, Duke of BUCKINGHAM,

this Good Lady after the Death of her Husband passing the rest of her days a Widow in this Town, and having in the Course of her life tasted of both Fortunes, deceased the 3rd. day of September, 1609, about the LXX. Year of her Age. She was the Daughter to the Most Noble and pious EDWARD, Earl of Darby, by the Lady DOROTHY, his Wife, Daughter to the high and Mighty Prince THOMAS HOWARD, Duke of Norfolk.
Her Body was committed to this Earth; and her Soul lyeth at the Mercy of our sweet Saviour.

Here lieth the Body of Sir JOHN STAFFORD, Knight.
A Gentleman Pensioner during the Space of 47 Yeares to Queene Elizabeth and King James, Hee had as a Reward of his Valour and fidelity conferred upon Him by her Majestie the Constable-ship of Bristol Castle, wherein he continued a long time. He lived (as himselfe on his Death Bed confessed) in the frail and slippery course of a souldier and a courtier from the time of his manhood neere unto the Time of his Death: Notwithstanding, sensible of his End and that accomt hee was to give at the last day, Hee did fully and freely forgive all men, sealing the same by calling for and receiving the blessed Sacrament as a Pledge of his forgiving other men and of the forgiveness of his owne sins for whatsoever the Fruity of his Life, or bitterness of the disease, whereof Hee died might be. His Hope of a better Life through the mercies and sufferings of his Redeemer made Him a Conquerour over and beyond those humane frailties, hee dying in the sound faith of a Penitent Sinner, a Loyal Servant to his prince, a lover of his Country wherein Hee did beare the chieftest Offices of trust and credit, and a founder of an Almshouse in the Parish where he lived, endowing the same with 10 Pounds per Annum, to be paid for ever, EVIDENCE.

Heavens settles Crownes on Childrens Innocence.
This Branch ere soone cropt off, earth cast thereon,
Adds TURFE to TWIG, and gives POSSESSION.
Thy TITLE's good, thy TENURE's CAPTIVE;
Death past the FIRE, Christ the RECOVERY.

There was formerly a raised Tomb of Black Marble which stood at the foot of the Altar, but when the Chancel was repaired the Tomb was taken down and the slab let into the floor with this Inscription on Brass and the figures of a Man and Woman, Son and Daughter, with an Inscrption upon a Scroll over their heads but all gone except the Woman's At the four corners were Coats of Arms, the only one remaining is on the right hand corner at the bottom viz.—Argent on a fess Gules, betw.
three Garbs Sable, a Martlet.

THOMAS TYNDALL,
dyed the xxviii, of April 1571.

Ye see how Death dothe spare no Age no Kynde
How I am lapt in claye and dedd you fynde,
My Wife and Children lye here with me
No Gould no Frende no strenthe could ransom me
[be.

The End of Care and matter to repent
The End of wayne Delight and ill intent,
The End of feare for frende and worldly wo
By Deathe we have and of lyke Thousands me.

And Deathe of Tyme in us hath made an End
So that nothing can our Estate amend.
Who would not be content such change to make
For worldly Things, eternall Lyfe to take.

ON GRAVE STONES IN THE CHANCEL.

Sacred to the Memory of
Mrs. MARTHA BENDYSH,
Daughter of Sir JOHN BENDYSH,
Bart. of Steeple Bumpstead, in Essex, who lies deposited under this marble.

Weary'd with Care, and ridd out with Grief,
In this Asylum I have found Relief
I here enjoy a most profound Repose,
No longer Ruffled by my Friends nor Foes.
Long I had left the world and all that's Great,
To Enjoy my Friend in a Remote Retreat.
Thus Peace and Quiet's all I did pursue,
But 'till Entomb'd, was what I never knew.
The world with Censures treated ill my Name,
And for my Friendship loaded me with Blame.
But whilst g't David's Friendship was my Guide,
I hop't for Pity. Tho' ever met with Pride,
With Base Insult: from those that never knew,
What is to Vows and Sacred Friendship due.

If the Remembrance of what e'er was dear
 Deserves the pious tribute of a tear,
 Bestow it on the Dust that sleepeth near;
 That precious Dust which living did comprise
 The Fair, the Good, the Gracious, and the Wise,
 Bestow a tear for thank thy sorrow lost,
 Another and Another should it cost.
 The real worth of Virtue ne'er is known
 'Till ravish'd from before our Eyes and gone.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estate; II.—Church; III.—Population, Tazation, &c.

THIS extensive Parish comprises the tythings or hamlets of (1.) Kingston, which is the site of the Church, Town and Castle, and was once the fortified residence of a British Prince, (Fosbrooke ii, 128, citing Turner's Hist. Anglo Sax.)
(2.) Oldbury on Severn, whose name indicates its antiquity which is confirmed by old Camps and Coins, found there and other vestiges of Roman occupation, and through which passed the ancient Trackway to the Mill on the Severn, and according to some authorities, (Gough's Camden, &c.) to the passage across the Severn. (3.) Moreton, And (4.)
Falfield, or the Marsh of Falfield.

From the Romans, Thornbury passed to the Saxon Princes of Mercia. It is mentioned in a Charter of Duke Ethelred, A. D. 896. (Kemble's Codex Dip. Ang. Sax.
Vol. 5, No. MLXXIII.) and it came to Aylward Snow, from him to his son Algar, from him to his son Brictric, whom it was at the time of the Conquest. Between the dates of the Conquest and Domesday Survey, Brictric had been despoiled and destroyed as stated under Tewkesbury, (No.
CCCLV.) Queen Matilda, thereby had acquired this possession, and after her death, it had fallen to the Crown.

The Survey records that in the time of King Edward, (Confessor) Thornbury contained 11 Hides. Culture: there were 4 Carucates in demesne and 44 Villans and 18 Radchenishers with 16 Carucates.—Besides these, were 24 Borderers, 15 Serfs, and 4 Coliberts. There were—two Mills of 6s. 4d. And the Steward also had a Mill of 8d.—A Wood a mile long, and a mile wide.—And a Market of 20s. Han-frid rented this Estate at £50. in money told. Also there was a Meadow of 40s.—At Wich 40 sextaries of Salt, of 20d.
And a fishery at Gloucester of 58d. Domesday.

The area above stated is small compared with the present extent of Thornbury; but the "Meadow" which probably extended to, and along the Severn, might have been a large one.

By Grant of King William ii, it passed as Tewkesbury, to Fitzhamon, and descended through the Clares to the Lord Stafford, by marriage with Margaret, the only Child of a coheirress of Clare.

46 Edw. iii. Their son Hugh succeeded. Edmund, his son and a successor marr. Ann, daughter and heir of Thomas, of Woodstock, Duke of Gloucester, by Eleanor, daughter and heir of Humphry Bohun, Earl of Hereford. He was slain, 4 Hen. iv. Humphry, his son succeeded, who 13 Hen.
vi. was created Duke of Buckingham. To whom succeeded Hen. his grandson, slain without trial by Richard iii; and to him Edward his son. Duke Edward, had (2 Hen. viii.) licence to impark 1000 a. here; and accordingly he made a new Park, hard by the Castle, and enlarged Morelewood, and Eastwood Parks. As such Enclosures took in much Land which was good for corn, and in the hands of Cultivators it excited against the Duke local obloquy. He chose Thornbury, for his chief seat, and planned, & partly made the magnificent additions called the new Buildings to the Castle. Unfinished at his Execution, they are a striking monument of the grandeur of his designs, and of his fall. Of the Castle, Views are given in Lysons' Antiquities of Gloucestershire, and in Fosbroke's History. There is also description in Leland's Itinerary, and in Rudder.

Hen. viii.—The Crown by attainder. 1535.—The King visited Thornbury.

1547, 1 Edw. vi.—The Duke's only son Henry, was restored in blood and created Lord Stafford, by Act of Parliament.

1553.—Letter by Lord Stafford, to Queen Mary, of his distressed condition, services of his Father the Duke of Buckingham, to the Queen's Mother, Anecdotes of Wolsey, and Buckingham. Printed Calendar of State Papers, p. 55.

2 Mar.—The Thornbury Estate was granted to this

THORNBURY CASTLE

Henry, and Ursula Pole, his Wife, whose Mother was a Daughter of King Edward iv. Three Generations succeeded; and the last (Edward,) left Henry, an only son who died unmarried, and Mary an only Daughter who married Sir W. Howard. To this Lady, the Estate came, but the barren Title vested in Roger a grandson of the Henry, Lord Stafford, of 1547; and (16 Car. i.) it was, by Roger, surrendered to the Crown on account of his poverty.

1640.—a new Barony was created in Sir W. Howard and his said Wife in fee.

1678.—Sir W. Howard, being attainted, this Title was suspended till 1824, when the attainder was reversed by Act of Parliament.

1688.—Meanwhile a new Title, Earl of Stafford, had been created in Sir W. Howard's son which title went through four descents and terminated by failure of Issue in 1762.

The Estate including the Honor of Gloucester, continued in this branch of the family of Howard, devolving by Settlements, &c. down to the present Possessor—(Several of the Settlements are enrolled in the Office of the Clerk of the Peace for the County.) It is a remarkable instance of the continuance of an Estate through Heirs general for several centuries.

The Honour of Gloucester, was a baronial Jurisdiction as well as an Estate. It extended not only over Thornbury, and places adjacent as Tockington, Tytherington, Bitton, &c. but also places about Tewkesbury, as Bodington, Kemerton, Ashton, Oxenton, Alderton, Walton Cardiff, and places about Cirencester, as Maysey Hampton, Holyrood Ampney, &c. once parts of the Estate. There were Courts held from Three Weeks to 3 Weeks at Thornbury, for recovery of Debts and the Defendant's Goods in the Jurisdiction could be attached until he put in as pledges, persons resident within it to answer the Plaintiffs Claim.

The customary Estates of Copyholders of Thornbury Manor were numerous and valuable. Several Agreements were made between the Lords and the Tenants at different dates for modifying, or explaining the customs, many of which are curious. One Agreement is of the early date of Ric. ii between Hugh B*, then Lord, and the Tenants.

In 1550, Twenty six Tenants made Presentment of the Customs of the Manor, Of these Eleven signed their Names, Fukes, Daunte, Merricke, Hilpe, Tayer, Hall, Thurston, Jones, Wood, Cullimore, Pitcher. But Patch, Adye, Pope, Martin, Ogborne, Thurner, White, Browne, Dunster, Stone, Fowler, Wyther, Spencer, Linke, Longe, made marks.

22 Car. ii.—an Agreement was come to between Vist. Stafford and Mary, Lady Stafford, his Wife, Lord and Lady, (in her right,) of the Manor of Thornbury, and divers copyholders and customary Tenants of that Manor. The Names of Tayer, Thurston, Jones, Pitcher, Thurner, Adye, Wythen, Linke, Ogborne, of the former List are among them. This Agreement provided, amongst other things that Falfield, and Oldbury, then distinct Manors should be reunited to Thornbury. It was confirmed by Act of Parliament 25 Car. ii. Extracts from which are given in the Appendix to Watkins on Copyholds. Some Copyholds the Tenants of which did not come into Agreement retain their ancient Customs.

Large portions of the forfeited Estate of Buckingham, were granted out by the Crown. These may be mentioned with other freehold and customary Properties under the Hamlets.

Kington:—The Subsidy Roll, 1 Edw. iii. mentions the names of Walter of Marlwood, at iiij. ix. d. Hoke, Pleystude, Wylemot, Smyth, Neucumen, Theyn, Atte Broke, Baroun, Dryn, Colyar, Lupeyete, Wylles, Atte More, Kyng-ton, Bolecroft, Wayte, Malhar, Lagraste.

A branch of the Berkeley family had an Estate here, the then possessor of which went with a Quota of Men to the fight at Nibley Green.

15 Hen. viii.—W. Berkeley, Esq. Thornbury, Subsidy. Part has been alienated by that family: 18 Eliz. Davies and Search from Berkeley. Fine.

The Abbey of Tewkesbury, had Lands at Thornbury, of the Gift of De Clare. Their Register records that Pulton, and Kingston, attorned to them to be Tenants at Will only.

In 1832, an Inclosure of the Commonfields, (about 214 a. and Common of Thornbury (806 a.) took place, the Award 1836, is enrolled in Office of Clerk of the Peace for the County with several Maps, Henry Howard was then Lord of the Manor.)

By the Act an Allotment of Land in Milbury Heath, was made to the Lord of the Manor. And thereby Power was given to the Comrs. with consent of Lord and Tenant to enfranchise customary Estates of Inheritance by assigning before the Award to the Lord compensation in money or Land equivalent to his Interest. Allotments were also made for common Rights and for a Quarry; and to the Reeve, Beadle, and Hayward. The Greens, at Poole End, Falfield, Moorslade, Sundays Hill, Avening, &c. were defined, and Allotments made of the residue of the Land.

"Avening" occurs in the ancient Saxon Charters. It means a place for Sun Worship.

II.—Church.

There was no Church here at Domesday Survey.

But there are some remains of a very ancient edifice in the present Church.

The font is an interesting specimen of Transition from the Norman to the Early English style, Height 2 feet. 4 inch. depth of bowl 9 inches.

From the Castle there was a Gallery to the Parish Church, and at the South end a Room with a Window looking into the Church for hearing Divine Service.

The Advowson of the Rectory was given by De Clare, Earl of Gloucester, to Tewkesbury Abbey.

1315.—It was appropriated with assent of Walter, Bp. of Worcester, to that Abbey. A Vicarage being endowed.

The Grant of appropriation of this Rectory to Tewkesbury Abbey, and the Endowment of the Vicarage are given by Sir Robt. Atkyns, in his History, with this reflection:—"In the 12th. and 13th. centuries the laity began to think they had done enough for Monasteries; therefore the Monks seek out other means to increase their Revenues by despoiling the secular clergy who are the true Labourers in the Church, and thereupon appropriations of Tithes to regular monks became more frequent." This Appropriation Grant (1314) sets forth as the Bishop's inducement thereto his sense of duty to assist the Religious under his care who were busied in good works and reduced without fault of their own to want, such was the Abbey of Tewkesbury, founded by De Clare's progenitors and endowed but meanly with spiritualities and temporalities chiefly in Wales, and these liable to the incursions and malice of Enemies, calamities of fire and inundation; while at the same time the Abbey was charged with the entertaining of people travelling to Tewkesbury, a place of much resort from its situation between the great Rivers of Severn and Avon. It also alleges that the Patronage of this Church belonged to the Abbey and that the Church had been duly and canonically appropriated to the Abbey and they had enjoyed the possession thereof until deprived by the injustice of secular men. By this Grant after the death of Master Roger Marshall, then the Rector, all the possessions of the Church were diverted to the proper uses of the Monastery for the better support of their Charges, reserving to the Vicar a moderate portion out of the profits. By the Endowment of the Vicarage, oblations, Obventions, & Small Tithes estimated at 25 Marks, were assigned to the Vicar. And the Bishop as Ordinary laid upon the Church a perpetual Annuity of 4 marks yearly payable to the see of Worcester.

The Town consists now as it did in Leland's time of one long Street, and "two Horns goyne out of it."

The Clothing Trade here flourished at one time when the advantages of Water for a motive power and for washing and of a for population Mill and Cottage hands spread that Trade in many places, where it has long since ceased to exist. But Idleness reigned here in Leland's time.

There is a Commission of Sewers for the Lower Level of Thornbury. The area rateable for the Sea Wall Repair is over 2000 a.

The Borough has a feudal Corporation.

By the Inclosure Act a Quarry of Stone on Milbury Heath, was assigned for the use of the Copyholders,—A Cottage to be there erected for the Manager who was removable by these customary Tenants.

Under the Inclosure Act, Rhines and Drains were to be made.

Joseph Hume, (see Church Inscriptions.) this Gentleman, was a well known scientific Chemist of London, and a corresponding Member of several of the learned Societies of Europe.

1643.—A Brigade of the Irish Army consisting of from 800 to 1000 foot and 100 Horse, with 8 pieces of Cannon landed at Bristol, and under the Command of Col. Myn, and Sir W. St. Leger, advanced to Thornbury. They were ill disciplined and part of them deserted to the Common Wealth Commanders, the bulk however proceeded to Wotton-under-Eghe, and there sustaining an attack from an inferior force (200 Horse and Dragoons,) they rose thence and made over the Hills to Charlton Kings, and Cheltenham, with 4 Pieces of Ordnance, and after a skirmish there, went the next day to the great Royalist Rendezvous of Tewkesbury.

THE Church is a small neat building, in good repair dedicated to the Trinity. It consists of a Chancel and Nave with a low Tower, at the West-end, therein three Bells.

Mr. ELTON, THE PRESENT LORD OF THE MANOR.

Mr. BATES, Curate, (there is no Rector, as there is a dispute about the presentation.)

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Tebtriston in Bottelowe Hundred, contained 5 Hides. Culture; In Demesne 3 Carucates; In Villenage, (10 Villans, 8 Borderers,) 8 Carucates. There were 4 Serfs; 6 a. of Meadow; A Wood 3 miles long and one broad.

The Value of the Estate had been £6. 10 s. but was at the Survey only 5 £.

Ulfelin, a free resiant held of King Edwd. Confessor. At the Survey, William, son of Baderon held. Domesday.

There were several Descents in this family, but whether such posterity succeeded to this Estate does not appear. Hen. iii. It came into possession of the Earls of Lancaster, whose Heiress married John of Gaunt, son of Edward iii.

50 Edw. iii.—It was severed from the Hundred, and formed with other Estates of the Duchy of Lancaster, in Gloucestershire, the Duchy Hundred.

His son and heir King Hen. iv. becoming King, severed the Duchy Estates from the Crown, by Act of Parliament. It went in lineal descent to his son and Grandson Kings Hen. v. and Hen. vi.

In the Act of Resumption (34 Hen. vi.) of Grants by that too facile King, (v. Rot. Parl. 386, and 212, b.) there is a saving to Thomas and Elizabeth Rothwell, of Elizabeth's life Estate in this manor. (which Grant was however of Hen. v.) Elizabeth, had been the Wife of Sir Thomas Swinford, Knight. King Hen. vii. was a descendant of Duke, John and Catherine Swinford, whose Marriage was legalized by Act of Parliament.

With the Crown, the Duchy Estate fell to Edw. iv.; and it remained Crown Land till 1608, when E. and R. Ramsey, took by Crown Grant, who 1634 made a Demise of 1000

Years of the Estate. Subsequent Owners were Payne and Twitty 1720, then Peter Haynes, to whom 1740, his Daughter, 1766, Edw. Elton, of Gloucester.

THE Church (a vicarage in the Forest Deanery,) is dedicated to St. Mary. It is a double building supported by pillars in the middle and has a Cross Aisle, and a low tower with six Bells, at the West-end. It stands on very high ground, and is seen from many parts at a considerable distance on the other side of the Severn. The Lands are chiefly pasture, and some good arable, there is also plenty of Coal here, and in most other parts of the Forest. [The Church has been restored. It has now a Porch with a Parish Room over. The Font is of lead of great antiquity set on a modern stand.]

THE PRESENT LORD OF THE MANOR;

THOMAS THOMAS, M. A. Vicar.

BENEFACTIONS TO THE POOR.

Mrs. BRIDGET MADOCKE, of Widden, Gave five Pounds a Year in Land, for ever to the poor of Tiddenham, to be disposed of in the following manner:—50 shillings a year to teach the poor Children of the Parish of Tiddenham, to read; Forty shillings a Year to the Minister, or Curate of the said Parish for the time being to catechise the Children, and expound to them thereon from the first Sunday in April to the first Sunday in June, every Year; Ten Shillings a Year to maintain, and uphold the Tombs of her Ancestors in Tiddenham Church Yard, to keep the Inscriptions thereon legible and the Coat of Arms; with the Inscription on this Table.

The Lands above mentioned were enrolled in the High Court of Chancery in October, MDCCXXXVI.

A Table containing an Account of the several annual Benefactions given to the Church or Poor of the Parish of Tiddenham, for ever:—

King James I. in money 1s. 1d. and in Wheat thirteen Bushel payable out of the impropriated Tythes.

William Stevens, of Bristol, for 5 poor Widows. £0. 5s. 0d.

John Stephens, of Bristol, 0 10 0.

[A Table records that 100 £. was given in 1859, by the Incorporated Society for building Churches, to the Restoration of this Church, 227 Seats being set apart for the poorer Inhabitants to be assigned by the Church Wardens annually to those most regular in attendance.]

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE CHURCH.

[The floor is now covered with square tiles, but some of the inscribed flat stones have been] removed and put in the Tower ground floor.]

[There are Tablets put up in the Church since Bigload's time to the following persons:]

CHARLES JAMES WILLIAMS, Son of THOMAS WILLIAMS, of Tidenham House, died
10 Jany. 1804, Aged 10 Years.

THOMAS WILLIAMS, Esqr.
died 4 May 1806, Aged 45.
In the meridian of an exemplary and useful life was he called away.
How uniform and amiable,
Were his domestic and social Virtues,
Or how unspotted his integrity,
In the more public duties of a Magistrate,
The Regrets of his Friends and Neighbours,
Bear no doubtful testimony,
But vain is the applause of earth,
Whose Reward is with the Most High.

FRANCES SUSANNAH,
the beloved Wife, of the Revd. C. H. MORGAN, of Tidenham House, and eldest Daughter of the late T. WILLIAMS, Esq.
With a hope full of immortality,
Gave up her soul into his Hands,
Who is the resurrection and the Life,
8 April 1831, Aged 41 Years.

MARGARET HUGHES ELLIOTT,
Widow of the late O. E. ELLIOTT,
Esqr. of Binfield House, Berks.
died 9 Sept. 1828, Aged 59 Years.
"She hath done what she could."

ANN CAMPLIN,
Wife of JOSEPH CAMPLIN,
Esqr. M. D. of Beachley, and Daughter of
W. LIGHTBODY, of Liverpool, died 22 Aug. 1842, Aged 55.

While sculptured piles invite the idle gaze,
And those who liv'd unhonor'd crown with praise,
In vain the marble would its subject save,
One record only can survive the grave,
That record is thine own O best beloved!
Whose Life was Virtue most in death approv'd.
If Charity unseen as nightly showers,
If friendship fond to soothe our suffering
Hours,
If wedded Love, be to thy bosom dear,
Then o'er my Anna, Reader! drop a tear.

JOSEPH CAMPBELL, Esqr. M. D.
of Larkfield near Chesham,
2nd. Son of the Revd. THOMAS
CAMPELL, Archdeacon of Taunton,
Pure in heart, humble in spirit,
full of loving kindness and charity
Trusting in the merits of the Redeemer,
He gently resigned his Breath,
on 22 March 1836,
Aged 67 Years.
"He delivered the poor that cried."
Arms: Quarterly 1 & 4, Az. on a chief Or. three Mulletts Sable, 2 &
3, Arg. a bar Azure.

DRUMMOND THATCHER,
born 1811.
died in his passage from the Red Sea to Bombay, May 1835,
Aged 24 Years.

URSULA, the beloved Child of ANTHONY and ELIZABETH GARDNER, of this Parish, died March 15, 1843,
Aged 19 Years.

Mrs. RACHEL PUNTER, formerly of Clifton, died in the Dayhouse of this Parish,
17 May 1830, Aged 71 Years.

This Monument was erected,
By Voluntary Contribution,
As a lasting mark of the esteem and respect
Felt by the Parishioners for their lamented Pastor,
The Revd. THOMAS THOMAS, M.A. who died the 16 December 1838,
Aged 69 Years.
He held the living of Tidenham, 37 years; thirty six of which he resided in the Parish.
Which he never quitted for more than a month at one time.
In him this County has lost an active Magistrate,
The Poor a firm friend,
The Church an orthodox and zealous Minister,
The State and Crown a warm and unflinching Advocate.

WILLIAM STOOKE,
Timber Merchant, Son of
W. STOOKE, of Palington, Devonshire, died March 1829, Aged 68 Years.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estates; II.—Church; III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

The large tract of Land forming the Parish of Tidenham, the Saxon Dyddanhamme, consists of several Villages or places which were the abode in very remote ages of men of whose occupation many interesting Vestiges remain.

It is bounded on two sides by the Severn and Wye Rivers, and terminates at Wyemouth the point of their Junction.

The landing Places at Beachley and Sedbury of the ferry across the Severn from Aust and Oldbury, and Shepperton Pills, (see Thornbury, No.) in connexion with the Akeman Street from Bath, and which Road here crossed the Wye, in its continuation into Wales and whose Track between the Rivers, although in some parts disused is still traceable, are British; and there are the name Tutshill, the Hoar stones, at Gaerston, &c. and tumuli referable to the same era.

The camp or Station at Madgetts, the Road at Street (now Stroet) were in Roman occupation, and this a Roman Altar and Coins there found testify.

Of Saxon Remains which are numerous, Offa's Dyke is most remarkable. This runs between Beachley and Sedbury and is the Southernmost portion of a Line of works made for the defence of the Kingdom of Mercia, against the Welch. A description of this part was given by the late Dr. Ormerod, who lived at Sedbury Park, in a Memoir, sent to the Society of Antiquaries and published in the Archæologia, Vol. 29, p. 13. 1840.—Fosbrooke however considered the Dyke to be a track of communication between stations or camps established by the Romans to check the Silures. (Genl. Mag. 1835, III. N. S. part 1, page 490.) This might have been its origin, and there is in this, nothing inconsistent with its subsequent use by Offa for the like purpose of defending his Dominion Line of the Wye, against the Welch. At Buttingdune are the remains of an Encampment, And this, and not Bodington near Cheltenham, (Hume) is considered by Dr. Ormerod, to have been the Danish stronghold besieged by Alfred the Great.

King Edwy's Grant to the Secular College of Bath, names the boundaries of Dyddanham as at present—Wyemouth and Twyfyrd's Pool,—and the still known Places of Street (now Stroet), Mideltune (now Church End and Widdon,) Cyngestune (Kington, a royal possession) now Sedbury, Biscopstone now Bishton, and Utanhamme (Outham,) now Beachley (iii. Kemble Diplomatica Anglo-Sax. p. 444, 454.) This Charter also refers to the Dyke, as the boundary between Cyngestune and Utanhamme.

This leads us to the Domesday Survey:

1.—Tedenham in Tedenham Hundred, contained 80 Hides whereof 10 were in Domesne: 38 Villans held 38 Carucates; 18 Pordars. In Severn 11 fisheries in Domesne, and 42 in Villenage. In Wye 1 Fishery, and 24 in Villenage. A Wood 2 Miles long, 1½ mile broad. There was a Mill of 40 d.

T. R. E. This Manor was not taxed except for maintenance for the Monks.

At the Survey it paid 25£. whereof 20£. in Ore, and 5£. in flint chalk.

This Manor, as above mentioned had belonged to the Abbey of Bath, by King Edwy's Gift. By Grant for Life, from them, Stigand, held, until deprived of his possessions and liberty by William I. How the Estate came to the Crown in King Edward's time is not seen, but the Bath Monks (then become Benedictines,) had Maintenance out of it. Yet it appears by the Survey that they must have lost that, as at the Survey Earl William (Fitzosborne) held at a Money Rent payable to the Crown. This Earl was the Builder of (Chepstow Castle, and thus began the long dependence of this Estate on that fortress.

There are other Estates in Tidenham, which are stated in Domesday to have been held by Archbishop Stigand, and therefore probably were of Lath Abbey; Manor;—viz.

II.—Half a Hide in Tidenham, with 1 Villan having one Carucate, and 4½ Fisheries of a yearly Value of 20s. Archbishop Stigand, had held—But Roger de Laci, held at Survey.

Domesday.

[This Roger, was son of Walter de Lacy.]

III.—In Twyford Hundred :—1½ Carucates in Tidenham taxed, 1 Villan with one Carucate, 2 fisheries worth 10 s. Archbp. Stigand, had held; But W. de Owe, held it at the Survey.

Domesday.

IV.—And one not Stigand's.—Modietre in Twyford Hundred :—[This is now called Madgetts.]

It contained one Hide : And T. R. K. Brietric, held it.

Here the King had two fisheries in Domesne.

One fishery and half a Hide of Land:

Roger de Laci, held.

One fishery and half a hide of Land:

The Abbot of Malmesbury, held.

Wm. de Owe, claimed to have by Gift of the King, 2 Hides of Land, and claimed the above 4 fisheries.—They were in the Wye and were worth 4£.

Domesday.

As to 1.—there were Subfees created by Earl William :

1 Yard Land with one Villan,—to his Brother the Bishop.

Fisheries :—2 in Severn and ½ in Wye : to Walter de Laci. 2 in the Wye, with 1 Villan : to Ralph de Limesi.

Half a Hide of Land with the Church and Tithes : to the Abbot of Lyr.

Domesday.

Roger, the successor of Earl William, made 2 new fisheries in the Wye and appears to have added twelve Bordars. Earl Roger forfeited his Estate by rebellion.

All these Lands were seized by the Welsh; but reconquered, by de Clare; and Fitz-herbert Count of Eu, obtained a Crown Grant of the whole, or the parts which had been held by Fitzosborne, and de Eu, or Cwe.

The Counts of Eu, branched into two Lines, and the elder Line became united with Fitzosborne's Descendants in the family of de Clare, of whom was Richard, Earl of Pembroke, (Strongbow,) whose daughter and heir, married William Marchal, and he became in her right, Earl of Pembroke.

His five Sons successively Earls of Pembroke, took. All died without issue. His five daughters took by their ship, Maud, the eldest, marr. Hugh Pigot, Earl of Norfolk, and Pembroke, and acquired this Estate by Partition.

Edw. I.—It came to the Crown by Settlement.

Edw. II.—Thomas, of Brotherton, 5th. Son of King Edw. I. by Crown Grant; in whose heirs general it continued until the Earl of Worcester purchased, and in his Descendants it continued until—1644. On the sequestration of the Marquis of Worcester's Estates, the Lord General Cromwell, by Parliament Gift.

1648.—Cromwell's Settlement on his son Richard's Marriage,—see Letter to Col. Richard Norton, dated April 3, 1648; in which he refers to the Land to be settled as being partly what the Parliament gave him and partly his own and being little less than £3000. per Annum, and shows that the Land so given had been the Marquis of Worcester's by the circumstance which he (Cromwell) mentions that the Marq. of Worcester's Writings had fallen into the Hands of the Parliament on the taking of Ragland Castle, and having been perused by a Lawyer of Lincoln's Inn, the title had been approved.

1649.—Court of Survey held for the Lord General's Manor of Tidenham.

1659.—In the Schedule given in by Richard Cromwell, of the Estates of his deceased Father, the Yearly Value of Tydenham is put at £ 321.	9 s.	6 d.	} £ 1477. 6 s. 0 d.

Woolston is put at 654	18	6
Chaulton with Woods 501	0	6

See—Noble's Memoirs of the Protectorate House of Cromwell.

1660.—The Son of the deprived Marquis of Worcester, and Lord Herbert, his son, were by the Act 12, Car. II. cap. xxx. on the King's restoration, reinstated.

The Tidenham and Wollaston Estates of the Marquis of Worcester's family (Duke of Beaufort:)

S. S. Marling, by purchase.

Subfees created out of this Manor by former Owners :

Sheep pasture, Underwood and Hedge bote:

Tintern Abbey, by Gift of Roger, Earl of Norfolk.

Other Lands :

Domesday Survey.

Strigul Priory.

6 Edw. II.—Mill at Tidenham and 160 a. of Land lying within the liberties of Chepstow :

John Ap Adam, Baron of Beverstone.

Ap adam, held of Milo de Rodberg and Wife Matilda.

For the purpose of retrospect of Estates, &c, in this large Parish, it will be convenient to travel along Beachley Road and the main Roads branching therefrom and take the objects on either side thereof.

Bettesley, now Beachley :

At the point on a Rock are the submerged remains of the Chapel of St. Trecla, the British Goddess of Health.

Hen. VIII.—The Chapel of St. Triac, was not rated as it stood in the sea, and yielded no profit.

Valor Eccl'us.

At the Beachley landing place of the Old Passage Ferry, a new pier was built about fifty years ago by the Old Passage Ferry Association, in length near 500 feet; in width 30 feet; in height 7 feet, 6 inches.

Even's Cliff on the Wye is a natural gravelly beach once used as a landing Place. The Single fields forming the Isthmus between the Wye and the Severn the sites of frequent fortifications, are called the Bulwarks.

Badam's Court was the House of Ap Adam. The site is marked by a moat and some ruins. Their Arms were in an old Window of Tidenham Church.

Beachley, is an Ecclesiastical, as well as manorial division.

The Manor was in the family of Herbert of Lanlo-well from whom it passed to the Badams by marriage.

10 Geo.—Until the middle of the last century, it was in the name of Lewis.

Sedbury : This is separated from Beachley, by Offa's Dyke, above mentioned. Here it is a cutting across the Beachley promontory from River to River. Alongside it, is a Track way from the Pill or Landing Place on the Severn to the Wye opposite the Old Wall of Chepstow Town. The Southern End of the Dyke is on the Cliffs in Sedbury Park over hanging the Severn. But the Line turns from the aforesaid cutting Northwards and may be traced in Tidenham particularly across the Isthmus of Lancoat and under Gerswell Wood and so on to St. Briavels.

An Estate here—the Mead House and Anward's was long held by the Webleys of Tidenham and London.

see Church Inscriptions.

Tutshill Lodge : Burr. Scudamore.

From Tutshill is a Road in the Line of the Roman Vicinal Road to Lydney and towards Gloucester.

On the one side thereof, Woodcroft.

Wibden a House and Estate of Madock, afterwards of Church End:—Here were Estates held in the Names of Jones and Williams and others.

Tidenham House Estate:—1804.—T. Williams.

Frances Susannah, his Daughter and Heiress. married Revd. C. H. Morgan.

Jones' Estate:—Somerset Jones, Vicar of Tidenham. His Daughters Jane and Anne. Jane, died unmarried. Anne, married Charles James, who died 1818. 1831.—Will of Ann James.

Bishopston or Bishton:—part of the T. Manor Estate. Here are Lines of an old narrow Track way.

Phillipotts Court:—This is now a farm House. 1 Jac. i.—John, William George and Agnes Phillipotts (Subsidy Rolls).

Stroat or Street was a Roman Station in the Vicinal Road. The family of Darling, long were Proprietors of Stroat House and Estate, see Church Inscriptions. It afterwards passed to James.

At Oldbury field, near to it was a Roman Encampment traces whereof are visible.

On the Severn side of the vicinal Road are:—

High Hall, the House and Estate of James. 1694. Francis James; 1735, Charles James; 1805, Selwyn James, Church Inscriptions.

Sulwell, was also their Estate. see Athys.

On Hill farm is the Long stone and on Gaerston farm Hoar stones. Waldings is a manor of which the Lewis family were Proprietors, as afterwards was Jenkins.

To the North is a tumulus.

Between the Pills or landing places called Horse pill and Waldings pill is a large Hoar Stone.

From Tutshill also is the Road to Coleford, which runs through the north-eastward parts of Tidenham.

On the side towards the Wye, are Penmoyle, the Land late in the Chase, now under the inclosure Act, allotted in farms which retain the Name.—Here is a public elementary School.

Broad Rock, 1776; Jane W. County Election. Jane W. H. see Allotments Inclosure Award.

Lancaut:—This remarkable peninsula is in the Manor of Tidenham, but is a separate Parish with an ancient Church, now a ruin. There was in it a font resembling that at Tidenham Church.

The spot is defended by Bulwarks on the Landside. 1644, Sir John Wintour, the Royalist General intended to fortify it, but Governor Massie, drove him off, Winter, made his escape to the Wye, down the cliffs where a track is still called Winter's Leap.

Alexander James, had a good House near the Church and good Estate. Athys. Also Stephens;—M. 27, and 28 Eliz. Stevyns, Plaintiff. K. Wylington, Deforciant, Fine.

On the other side of the Coleford Road are Walhope; Spittal Neand, once it would seem by the name, in the possession of some Hospital; Madgetts where are Earth Works; Stowle Grove; Wirewood.

59 Geo. iii.—Tidenham. Lancaut and Wollaston, Inclosure Act. The Award under which of Thomas Fulljames, is in the Office of the Clerk of Peace at Gloucester. It states that the Luke of Beaufort, was then Lord of the Manor of Tidenham, and Wollaston. Lancaut, was part of the Manor of Tidenham, but in the same Church Patronage as Wollaston.

Among the Owners of Estates were the Duke of Beaufort, who had Manerial and 38 general Allotments; D. Burr, 12 Allotments; Nathl. Wells, 4 Allotments; James, 9 Allotments. The Devises of J. C. Smart; Representatives of J. Netot, and the Trustees of Bridget Maddock's Charity and of the Bream Church Charity also had allotments.

There were Allotments made to the Poor, 2 as Horse, Cow and Sheep Pastures and one Potatoe Ground.

Fisheries in Severn and Wye:—The proprietorship has not been traced, but Claims to County Votes in respect thereof are recorded in the name of "Clay" in the Register for 1876. The "Cytwers" of the ancient Charters answers to the modern fishing apparatus.

1776.—At the County Election the following Voted as Free-holders of Tidenham.

Badham, William; baugh, Hen. Cha. Esqr.; Davis, Jas. Esqr.; Daniel, Richard; Hill, Saml.; Holloway, John; Hitchings, Thomas; James, John; Do. Selwyn; Do. William; James, Warren, Esqr.; Lewis Morgan, Esqr.; Morgan, Paul; Seys, William, Clerk; Seys, Warren; Stephens, Saml. Gent.; Lo.

Of Chepstow Bridge over the Wye, half is in this Parish and County. It was originally built of Wood, at the joint cost of the Counties of Gloucester and Monmouth in substitution of the ferry (A View of it is given in Atkyns.) The Monmouthshire half was afterwards built of Stone, while the Gloucestershire half remained of Wood. The present bridge which is of Iron, was built in 1816, after a design by Mr. Kenzie, for the Counties jointly. There was a Chapel close to the bridge and the name St. David's juxta pontem, shows the antiquity of the Wooden Bridge.

There are two Lines of Railway in Tidenham, Great Western and Wye Valley uniting at Sedbury, the Railway crosses the Wye at Beachley, by a span Bridge.

Todenham now in Westminster Hundred, was at the time of Domesday Survey, in that of Deerhurst being one of the Wicks or Members of Deerhurst Manor and it contained 7 Hides. The other Wicks were Hardwick, (part of Elmstope Hardwick,) 5 Hides; Bortune, (Bourton-on-the Hill,) 8 Hides; Sndtune, (Sutton-under-Brayles,) 5 Hides; Total 25 Hides; Deerhurst Manor, contained 59 Hides. The bond which annexed places so distant as Todenham and Sutton, (locally in Warwickshire,) and Bourton with Deerhurst near Tewkesbury and Hardwick adjoining it, was the common Ownership of the Abbey of Westminster.

In the 25 Hides, (for they are taken together) there were 13 Plough Tillages in Demesne and 24 in Villenage. (45 Villans and 27 Bordars.) There were 37 serfs. Four Mills; 20 a. of Meadow; A Wood; 1 Mile long and $\frac{1}{2}$ Mile broad; A Broce $\frac{1}{2}$ Mile long and 1 Wide.

Of this Manor of Deerhurst, Radchenisters held Lands. These were freemen but they ploughed, harrowed, reaped and mowed in the Lord's Work. D. mesday Survey.

Two Carucates of Land worth 20s:—
Abbot of Westminster.

Pope Nich. Taxation.

On the dissolution of Monasteries the Manor of Todenham, passed by Crown Grant to the Bishop of Westminster, 1543. But that Bishoprick was soon after suppressed, and this part of its Revenues was by the King given in exchange to Sir W. Petre, for property of his in Warwickshire.

In Sir W. Petre and his descendants, the Lords Petre, it continued for nearly 3 centuries, when it passed by purchase to Mr. Pole, and it is now the property of Sir C. Van Notten Pole, Bart.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Estates; II.—Church; III.—Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Estates:—

Todinton, contained 10 Hides taxed. Culture: 21 plow tillages whereof 3 were in Demesne, 8 among 17 Villans, 7 Bordars and 2 free men, and 10 among the Serfs and Bond Women. 2 Mills of 20s. A Salt pit, paid 50 measures (mittas) of salt.

Herald held both this Manor and that of Sudlege, Sudley, (see No. CCLVIII.) and his Father Ralph the Earl (of Hereford,) had held them. They were worth 40 £ a Year.

Domesday Survey.

To Herald succeeded his son John, and Ralph, to John, his Father.

Hen. ii.—Ralph enfeoffed his Brother William, of Todinton, to be held as a sub-fee of Sudley. William, took his Mother's Name of Tracy. This William, was one of the four Knights who hastily resolved to avenge the quarrel of King Henry ii. (the Representative of the Sovereign Power of the Realm,) with Arch-Bishop Becket, (the Champion of the claim of clerical supremacy,) and in that rash enterprize slew that prelate (A.D. 1171.) For this sin he afterwards made his peace with the Church, and the crime did not involve the forfeiture of his Estates, which he continued to enjoy, and transmitted to a long posterity. Of his descendants many held offices of Trust and honour in the County, several were Knights of the Shire, and between 1269 and 1609, ten were High Sheriffs of Gloucestershire. Of this family 8 were Peers of Ireland namely:—

1. Sir John Tracy, created 1642, Baron Tracy, of Rath-coole.
2. Robert.
3. John.
4. William.
5. Thomas-Charles.
6. Thomas-Charles.
7. John, his son.
8. Henry, Brother of John.

Several were zealous Reformers in Religion. In particular Sir William Tracy, in his Will, 22 Hen. viii. made a declaration of his faith and hope of salvation in a strain very unusual at that time. Instead of invoking the saints by Prayers and propitiating the Church by Gifts, he committed himself to God's Mercy trusting to the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ alone for pardon without others' Works or merits. When after the Testator's death this Will was brought into the Bishop of London's Consistory for probate, these Opinions were deemed heretical, and he though deceased was summoned to appear, and failing to comply, condemned. An Order was sent to the Chancellor of Worcester to raise his body from its grave. This the Chancellor did, and his zeal outrunning his discretion, burnt it also; for which stretch of authority, the Chancellor was afterwards sued by the Heir of the deceased and fined. B

Richard, the son of this Sir William, and the first of the Stanway branch, was a notable Reformer. Fuller, (Worthies—Gloucestershire; 384.) A

.p. Usher, (Letters No. 100, 101,) and Anthony A'Wood, (Zethen Ozon. Vol. i. 245. Bliss, Ed.) ascribe to him several learned Books of Religion, some in "Confutation of Papism" of these the "Preparation to the Cross and to Death" 1540; was the best known:—A Copy of this Book, and of two others was found in a Codfish, brought from Lyn Regis to Cambridge Market, 1626. It was reprinted under the Title of "Vox Piscis," or Book-fish, 1627, with a Preface in which the work was ascribed to John Frith. A'Wood, says that in 1555. (3, & 4 Ph. and M.)—R. Tracy, lived in an "absconded condition." Ten Years after however we find him recorded as having written to the Lord of Leicester, recommending that the Queen (Elizabeth,) should forbid graven Images being in Churches.

State Papers, Domestic Elizth. p. 251.

1578.—Sir John Tracy, and others were Com'rs. for Piracy in Glo'shire. Presentment of Dealers with Pirates within the County. State Papers, Domestic Elizth. p. 609.

Henry the last Viscount Tracy, died 1797, without male issue, leaving a daughter and heir who married Charles Hanbury (Tracy) who was High Sheriff of the County, M. P. for Tewkesbury, and in 1838, created Lord Sudeley.

The Title of Viscount Tracy, was claimed in 1839, by James Tracey, of Ireland, but this claim was reported against by the Lords Committee and disallowed.

The ancient Seat of the Tracy family was a large handsome House situate near the Church. It is depicted in Atkins, and is mentioned in Rudge's History, as then being modernized, but was afterwards entirely taken down. The new House, was built by C. H. Tracy, the first Lord Sudeley. A view and description of it are given in the Gentleman's Magazine, March 1837; with Remarks by John Britton, F. S. A., "On modern Gothic Domestic Architecture." Mr. Britton, also published 1841, an elaborate historical and descriptive account of the Building in 4to. with Views of the exterior fronts—1. the Residence.—2. Domestic Offices. 3. Stables, and of several Rooms in the Interior.

The new House is situate on the opposite Bank of the Isbourn Brook a tributary to the Warwickshire Avon. A branch of this Brook comes from Postlip, on the other side of Winchcomb, and the Water is much affected by the operations at the Postlip Paper Mills, from the effect of which it has not recovered at Todington.

*Note:—*Mr. Britton, gives the Tracy Pedigree thus introduced "The Todding-ton, or Tracy family is descended on the paternal side from Ethelred, whose daughter Goda, married Walter, Earl of Mauntz, a noble Norman. From this marriage came Ralph, who was created Earl of Hertford, by his Uncle, Edward the Confessor. Harold, son of Ralph, married Maud, daughter of Hugh Lupas, Earl of Chester, and nephew to William the Conqueror. This Harold, who settled at Sudeley and Todington, had two sons Ralph and John, the latter of whom married Grace, Daughter of Wm. de Traci, natural son of King Hen. the first. Their offspring were Ralph and William, the last assumed his Mother's Name of Traci, and retained the family Arms of Sudeley, with an escallop shell for difference."

The ancient Manor place was destroyed in the fight between the King's forces and Sir William Waller, in the great Civil Wars. Kudder and Bibliotheca Gloucestren. Map. "Thormerton House ruined."

Of this House it is said by Aubrey:—

At Tormarton, in the ancient seat of the Rivers, is a dungeon 13 or 14 feet deep, about 4 feet high are iron rings fastened to the Wall, which was probably to tie offending Villains to, as all Lords of Manors had this power over their Villains, (as socage tenants,) and had all of them no doubt such places of punishment. It is well known that all Castles had Dungeons and so I believe had monasteries for they had often within themselves power of Life and Death:—Aubrey's Papers on the customs and manners of the English, in Ashmolean Museum, Oxford. quoted in Astle's Antiquarian Repository, p. 45.

THIS is a Dairy Parish appropriated wholly to keeping Milch Cows and making Butter and Cheese.

In this Parish is [was] an Antient Seat near the Church, where the Lords DUCIE, some times resided. The Park [a mile distant from the Church, and where the present Seat stands,] is enclosed with a high Stone Wall. There is a Chesnut Tree in the garden [of the old House] of the time of WILLIAM the Conqueror, [King John.] About thirty Years back, great part of it was dead but some of the branches bear fruit every Year. It measured Nineteen yards at the bottom of the butt. In the House is a fair picture of Sir ROBERT DUCY, with this inscription underneath:—

"Sir ROBERT DUCY, Knt. and Bart. in the year 1630, Lord Mayor of the City of London, a man of singular Prudence and other rare Gifts of Mind, he was whilst he lived highly in the gracious esteem of King Charles I. to whom upon sundry occasions he did much faithful and eminent service, and was generally beloved and honoured, leaving after his decease a great miss of his exemplary Virtue. He died 13 June 1634, in the 60 Year of his Age."

This was the Estate of the THROCKMORTONS who took their name from Throckmorton in the Parish of Fladbury, Co. Wigorn. their original Seat. This family sold it to Sir HORATIO VERE, and that to Sir ROBERT DUCY, Lord Mayor of London, and for want of heir male, it came to Madam MORTON, the heir General of the DUCCYS.

Right. Hon'ble. Lord DUCIE, PRESENT LORD OF THE MANOR.

T H E C H U R C H is a Rectory in the Deanery of Hawkesbury, is dedicated to St. Leonard, with an Aisle on the South side and an embattled tower at the West-end, therein four Bells. [The Church was rebuilt by Lord DUCIE, and others.]

Revd. GEORGE COOKE, Rector.

Supplementary Notes as to I. Devolution of Estates. II. Church. III. Population, Taxation, &c.

I.—Estates:

Tortworde in Bachestones Hundred. [Bagstone a place in Wickwar.] contained One Hide. Culture 2 plough lands in Demesne and 7 in Villenage, (six Villans and 7 Bordars.) there were six Bondmen; Three Mills of 15s; 10a. of Meadow; And a Wood, (1 mile long and 1/2 broad, pays 5s. The Estate had been worth 7 £. but at the Survey 5 £. [a Year.] Domesday Survey.

The name of the Hundred in which lay a small portion of the present parish of Tortworth, Bagston, points out the site of the Domesday Village. The park site and other Lands south and west, were doubtless taken into the Parish when the Church was built and when the motive power of the Brooks and the quality of the Water drew the trades of the Fuller, Clothier and Dyer to the place. That Tract of Land was in Grymbalde-Ash Hundred, as the whole Parish now is.

Alwold (The Saxon), had held, but the Norman Turstin, son of Rolf, held this Manor (Domesday.) Turstin had other Lands in Gloucestershire, (Gotherington in Bishop's Cleeve, Amney Crucis, Fretherne, Staunton, (Forest,) and Austre Clive in Westbury on Trym, and in other counties. Thurston and Rolph, are local Names, but it does not appear that this Norman Noble ever resided here.

Most of his Estates are found soon after his time in the name of "Newmarch" a family claiming probably by consanguinity to him.

Frechingthor, (Frethern) Totteworth fee.—

Edw. iii.—John de Moels. Inq. post Mort.

23 Edw. iii.—Margaret, Wife of Nich. de Moels. Inq. post Mort. 2nd. part No. 168.

Sub-fees:

1.—Nich. Kingston, under De Moels, 1306. Nom. Vill.

2.—The 8th. part of a Knight's fee, under Jas. Newmarch: Sir William Mansell, see Pedigree "Saperton." No. CCXXIII.

27 Edw. i.—Sir William Mansell, and Wife Margaret released all their right in the Manor and Advowson of Tortworth to N. Kingston. Sir Robt. Atkyns, supposes that N. Kingston's Mother was one of the Daughters and Coheirs of a former Proprietor and that the other Coheir was Margaret, the Wife of Sir Wm. Mansell, (27 Edw. i.) seeing that N. Kingston, released his right in other Lands to Mansell and Wife, when they released Tortworth to him.

32 Edw. i.—N. Kingston, purchased the franchise of a fair &c. 9 Edw. ii. he died; and Johanna late Wife of N. Kingston, paid to the subsidy. 9 Edw. iii.

14 Edw. iii.—I.owise, Daughter and heir of Nicholas Kingston, marr. Peter Le Veel. In this family the Estate continued for several generations.

12 Edw. iv.—William and Edward Mountford, had the Manor and Advowson: John Le Veel, and Wife Alice, by purchase from them.

Alice the daughter and heir of Robert Veel, married Sir David Mathew. And their Daughter and heir married Sir William Throckmorton.

Master Throckmorton lived in the Manor place near the parish Church when Leland, in his peregrinations visited it. Sir Robt. Atkyns, gives a View of the North side of Manor House and Church and Fosbrooke, of the South side thereof. The Chestnut Tree, is conspicuous in both Views. Nothing remains of the House except an ivy clad Ruin.

In that family it remained for many years.

Lands in Tortworth and Cromhall:

28 Eliz.—..... Throckmorton, Esqr. Plaintiff. Fine.
R. Davies, Gent. Deforciant.

11 Jac. i.—Licence to Sir W. Throckmorton, to alienate to W. Holliday. Pat.

1619.—Sir Horatio Vere, by purchase.

Sir Robert Ducie, by purchase;

From him Sir Richard, his son, who died unmarried—His Brother Sir William, (Viscount Down), succeeded and dying without issue left Elizabeth, the only Child of his deceased Brother Robert, his Heir. She married Moreton, (see Church Inscriptions.) whence the Descent to Earl Ducie.

Sir W. Ducie, is mentioned several times in the Diary of his friend John Evelyn, as a Collector of Paintings, &c. He then lived at Charlton in Kent, but was buried at Tortworth. A Mr. Ducie, is also mentioned in that Diary.

The southern and western portions, of the Parish comprise the Park, (inclosed by Licence, temp. Car. ii.) the site of the modern Mansion.

There is a Roman Encampment in the Park.

The Crown had an Estate in Grumbalds Ash Hundred, (Fosbrooke.) This might be the services of the Tenants in this Place.

Three Messuages and 100 a. Land:—

3 & 4 Ph. & M.—On death of Wm. Stumpe, descent to Sir W. Stumpe, Esch.

Avoning:—An Estate here belonged to Matthews, (Church Inscriptions.) and passed by purchase to Lord Ducie.

Wood end, an Estate also of Matthews. see "Cromhall."

No. LXXXVIII.

Damery, Crockley and Old Court, are farms or Houses in the Parish. Hicks and Durswell, were Owners of fulling Mills, and Estates here.

1838.—For the inclosure of 90 a. of open and common fields and 600 a. of commonable Land in Wickwar, Cromhall and Tortworth. Act 1 & 2. Vic. c. 9. Earl Ducie, was Lord of the Manors but the rights of Lord Segrave, as Lord Royal of Cromhall, were saved. The Award is enrolled in the Office of the Clerk of the Peace. All the Allotments in Tortworth, are to Lord Ducie, except one to the Church-Wardens of that parish.

1776.—At the County Election, the following Voted for Freeholds at Tortworth.

Bosworth, Revd. John.

Roberts, Richard.

II.—Church:

Glebe 60 a. or 93 a. according to Rudge.

1773-79.—In Rector Bosworth's time a Tithe suit was prosecuted in the Court of Exchequer and carried by appeal to the House of Lords. The Contention was concerning Tythe Milk, the Rector claiming the 10th. days milk morning and evening, the Occupiers, Cullimore and Limbrick, contending that the 10th. Meal's Milk should be taken. The Rector's claim was sustained in the suit, and the Appeal was dismissed notwithstanding the farmers Objection that the taking of the whole of a days Milk deprived the Calves of their natural sustenance. It was alleged in the suit that in the Parish 400 Cows were milked, and there were not above 8 a. of Arable Land. This case is referred to in the Gent. Magazine, for 1785, Part II. page 877.

TO THE READER.

If teares of friends may be a pollincture,
To make my Dust to after times endure;
Or Hearts of men are tombs, and are a good Name
Makes Epitaphs and pyramids of fame;
What means this Pile? It stands that thou maist see
Time's hand now jogs the glass that runs for thee.
Perfect thy loose accounts and copy
mine, Thy few surviving days. So shall we joyn
In triumph over Death and Time and
be
Most happy consorts of Eternitie

At the Haw, was a Passage over the Severn. By an Act 4 Geo. 4. cap. i. (Local and Personal,) amended 5 Geo. 4. cap. cl. a Bridge was here built and approaches thereto on either side, made. The Bridge was built in 3 Girders supported on Stone Piers, the Cost of the Works £25000. James Walker, Engineer.

The Bridge, was projected to shorten and improve the Mail Coach Communication between London and South Wales, through Oxford, Cheltenham, Ledbury, and Hereford, a Line which avoided Tewkesbury. But the Mythe Bridge, was soon afterwards built over the Severn at Tewkesbury; and the convenient Roads to the Haw Bridge, which its Act authorized to be made never having been made for want of means; such communication as there was from Oxford and Cheltenham to Ledbury and Hereford, passed over the Mythe and avoided the Haw Bridge.

Supplementary Notes as to I.—Devolution of Estates. II.—Church. III.—Taxation, Population, &c.

I.—Estates:

The site of Twining Parish is the tongue of Land between the Rivers Severn and Avon, with the exception of the tip at the Mythe which is in Tewkesbury. In Twining on the Avon side are extensive Marshes and Water Meadows.

Twining in Grestane Hundred, contained three Hides taxed. In Twine were two plow tillages. In Villenage, (27 Villans and eight borders,) 27 plow tillages. There were a Meadow of 40 acres and a Wood 2 furlongs long by one broad. It had been worth 8 £. and then 7 £.

This belonged to the Church of St. Mary of Winchcombe.

Domesday Survey.

Twining contained 2 Hides: There were a Thune and 4 Villans having 4 Plow Tillages, a Meadow 3a. It was worth 35s. [This was under the jurisdiction of Brictric, son of Algar.] It was given by the Queen [Matilda, see "Tewkesbury," No. CCLXV.] to John the Chamberlain.

Domesday Survey.

Brictric, was Lord of the Manor of Tewkesbury, and his see here was at or near to the Mythe. The ecclesiastical fee of Winchcombe Abbey was probably centered at the Church and extended about it. The Parish formed chiefly if not entirely of these fees, is divided into places or ends as Twining proper, Church End, Hill End, Woodend, Southonger, Puckrup, Greenend, Mythechock, Brockeridge.

Some of these Divisions were tythings at an early period, but the boundaries not having been kept distinct by separate ratings are confused.

The Ecclesiastical fee was a large Manor. It was of the Gift of Knulph, King of the Mercians to the Abbot and Convent of Winchcombe, and with some additions, (see Moryn below,) continued in their hands till the Dissolution of Monasteries. After which it was for some years in the Crown.

1 Edw. vi.—This Estate (59 Messuages, 78 Virgates of Land.) was granted with the Tythes to Sir Ralph Sadleir. His son and grandson by successive descent.

1624.—Edw. Paugh, by purchase. This family had been tenants for a long period. In H. 9. Geo. i. Edward Paugh, levied a fine thereof, and their Heir General carried it to Hancock, by marriage, thence it passed to Lumby and Maxwell in like manner. Maxwell's descendant Mrs. Stocker, now holds this Manor and the bulk of the Estate.

Customary Estates:—These were numerous, the Rents amounting to 47 £. and smoke pence or hearth money to 2 £. 13s.

There was a suit temp. 17th. between Sir Ralph Sadleir, Lord of the Manor and John Moore, Margaret Moore, Widow, and Cosham and Newman and their Wives, claiming under the Will of William Badger.

Chancery Proceedings temp. Eliz.

As to Other Estates:

The distinctive Names in the Subsidy Roll, 1 Edw. iii. (Taxation,) are not identified with those of the present inhabitants with the exception perhaps of "Passour," which may be the modern "Passy" here flourishing.

A Rental of the Hundred of Holford and Greststone, (now Lower Kilgiate,) let in farm to Winchcomb Abbey, temp. Hen. vii. gives some information—Rents and fines payable to the Crown:—Twining paid 20s. at Hockday and 10s. Michaelmas yearly.

It had two tythings paying 1d. each.

And among the Free Sutors of the Hundred paying fines to the Crown there were for Tenements in Twining:—

John Albury, for a tenement called Gilberts Hill, 2s.

John Moryn, for a Tenement, 2s.

Walter Irye, for a Tenement, 2s.

William Akull, for a Tenement, 2s.

Richard Freeman, for a Tenement, 11s.

Sherburne MSS. ii. Fosbrooke, 290.

Gilberts Hill or Gubber Hill, a moated house, near Rippled. Albury's was, afterwards Keas, and is still standing.

William Moryn, gave a Virgate of Land to Winchcombe Abbey, still retaining an Estate. John Moryn, had licence to enclose his Acres, see ii. Fosbrooke, 292.

Moryn's Estate passed to Morion.

Mythe Hook:—

Brictric's or the Lay fee.

This was in the hundred of Tewkesbury. A Messuage and 2 Virgates of land held of Tewkesbury Manor by service (part money, part postal and pecuniary) to the Lord.

This, Thomas Canynghe, alienated to Tewkesbury Abbey.
see 2 Fo Brooke 293.

The Master of the Spices and Infirmer of that Abbey had their fees 10 s. and 4 s. out of Twynning Estate

In 1776, the Name of Patrick and Buckle and in 1809, that of Jackson occur as Owners here together with those of Sperry and Bennett.

On the Tewkesbury and Worcester Road: At and near to Shuthonger Common were the Houses and Estates of—Turberville, afterwards Higfords.

9 Wm. iii.—Wm. Higford, Plaintiff, Cotterell and Wife and others, Defendants.

Ayerigg afterwards Wooley's.

Wood End, is a farm north east of Shuthonger Common, the name of Kemble occurs as a former Owner here. The Heiress of that family married Martin and afterwards Bland. 1776, John Martin, of Ham Court, voted in the County Election on a qualification in Twining, probably this farm.

The family of Brydges had an Estate here which by marriage passed into the Name of Neast. As to this family here and in Tewkesbury. see Church Inscriptions.

Capt. Wm. Neast, of this place was recommended as a fit Member of Oliver Cromwell's Council.

Milton's State Papers.

A farm house and 50 a. of Land in Twining Mythe and Tewkesbury in 1718, belonged to Philip Surman, with Reversion to his son Robert Surman, Banker of London, who as Director of the South Sea Company, was involved in its ruin.

Twynning House and Land came into the name of Proctor. In 1825, Messrs. Baldwin and Jones, were Trustees of the Will of M. Proctor.

1807—Neast Greville Prideaux, to Proctor, Grant of Tithes.

Puckrup:—A house and Estate formerly in part Baldwin and in part Phelps, became vested in W. L. Phelps, from whose family it passed into the name of Pocock and afterwards of Townend.

1683.—Stephen Baldwin, had a messuage and Land at Puckrup; from him Revd. Mr. Vernon; from whom, Dolphin Phelps, had 3 Virgates of Land here, As to this family. see Church Inscriptions.

1734.—A portion of the Puckrup Property went to J. Clark, Gent.

Between Puckrup Hall and the Severn is Towbury, and about half a mile from the Severn is Towbury Camp. It is noticed by Leland who considered it to be a Roman Work. It was in his time overgrown with Bushes, the area about 20 a. is now in pasture and the sides fringed with a belt of Trees.

2 Messuages and 2½ Virgates of Land at Towbury belonged to Froyle and Ayleworth, Elton and Gover.

Lord Wharton, had land at Towbury.

Gubber Hall, near Ripple has been noticed already.

Brockridge is another common in the same Road.

Stub Hill, a Garden House, belonged to the Warrens and afterwards to Woodman. The House, is now taken down. On the Estate there is now a new House of Mr. Woodman Hastings.

Twynning Church and Village lie to the north east of the Tewkesbury and Worcester Road approached by two Branch Roads from it, on one of which is the New Vicarage House.

Church end:—

The Grange or Mansion of the Abbot of Winchcombe, called Abbots Court near the Church, passed with a share of the Manor to Mr. Embury, who married Hancock's Coheir the Court house and a farm were afterwards disposed of to Mr. Sadds, and have come to Mr. Joseph Wilson, who has taken down and rebuilt the House.

Beyond the Church:—

The Park late Mr. Fowke.

Mr. Trewman, a House with a Close of 12 a. (Rudder) who says that there was a medicinal spring here.

From Brockridge Common to Twining proper and Fleet. Here a Mansion was built and for many years occupied by the Maxwell family. It is now deserted for the modern Manor House. This is the most populous part of the Parish.

Hillend:—Freeman's Court was the residence of the Freeman family.

Charles Freeman, died 1742.

Kemmett Freeman, a name which occurs in the "Church Inscriptions," here and at Tewkesbury.

This and other Estates (Rugg's, Harrington's, Portman's,) together 300 a. were purchased under the Trusts of the Will (1740.) of James Martin, Citizen and Goldsmith, of London and entailed on his Nephews, 1.—John, who married Judith Bromley, of Ham, but died without issue. 2.—Joseph, whose son and Grandson, succeeded. By the latter of whom James Thomas Martin, the entail was by Recovery barred and the Estate sold in Lots 1829.

The Showborough Estate belonged to James Williams Martin, of a Branch of the Martin family of Overbury.

1776.—In the Election for Gloucestershire, the following voted for Freeholds:—In Lower Kington Hundred.

The Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society

Hon. Secretary: D.J.H. Smith, 22 Beaumont Rd., Gloucester GL2 0EJ

The Society was established in 1876. Its objects are to promote the study of the history and antiquities of Bristol and the historic county of Gloucestershire, to encourage their conservation and to publish relevant records, excavation reports and other papers. The Society maintains a library in Gloucester.

A volume of Transactions is published annually in the Spring and is issued free of charge to all (except Associate) Members of the Society. The Society also publishes annually a volume of historical records of Gloucestershire which Members who subscribe at an enhanced rate receive each Autumn. The Society's Newsletter is published twice a year, and is issued free of charge to Ordinary Members.

Meetings are normally held as follows:

Annual General Meeting	Saturday Meeting in March held at Bristol and Gloucester alternately
Spring and Autumn Meetings	One-day Field Meetings, mid-May and mid-September
Summer Meeting	Four-day Field Meeting
Overseas Meeting	Six-day Field Meeting, late Spring/early Summer

Appropriate charges are made for Field Meetings, and if necessary a ballot is held to allocate places.

Lectures:

In the Winter months the Northern Section of the Society holds evening lectures in Gloucester and the Bristol Section holds lectures in Bristol. Both sections also arrange visits to major exhibitions and local field trips. Appropriate charges are made for these activities, which are open to any Member, subject to availability of places.
